SOMETHING OF INTEREST

About Pianos!

—:o:—

It Is An Actual Fact

That J. W. CROSBY sells Better Pianos for Less Money than any traveller or outside agent.

1st. Because he has no big salaries or commissions to pay to agents.

2nd. Because his expenses, rent, taxes, etc. in Peterborough, are more than one-half less than travellers and representatives living in the cities.

3rd. Because having the control of the best instruments of all the best Piano makers in the country, competition between the different makers gives him the advantage over the representatives of any one single Piano firm.

J. W. Crosby has sold about 200 Pianos in and near Peterborough. He sells the Williams, Morris, Rheinhart, Uxbridge and Gerhard Heintzman Pianos, and can undersell for quality of goods, price and terms, any and all outsiders. Try him.

Pianos from $200 to $400. He can save you $50 over outsiders or won't ask you to buy.

Sole Agent for the celebrated Karn Organ.

A New Grocer

COME TO TOWN.

I take pleasure in announcing that I have purchased the Grocery and Provision Business, lately carried on by Mr. W. J. HALL, in the well-known and long established premises at

No. 355 George St., Burnham's Block.

The present stock, which has been well bought, and is in first-class condition, will be replenished with a more complete assortment of FAMILY GROCERIES, PROVISIONS and everything in the culinary line.

Also PRIME SUGAR CURED HAM, BACON, PORK, FLOUR, EGGS, BUTTER, &c. In every case the best goods will be bought, then we know what we are selling. If there are two qualities we will always get the better one.

My buisness will be conducted on the CASH principle—buying for cash and selling for cash—which is the only way to get and to give the best values and lowest prices. My motto will be "Small Profits for Cash."

All I ask is a call from my old friends in the country, as well as my new friends in town, and as many more as may favour me with their custom. I mean business. I am here to stay. I mean to grow.

SHE IS STILL WELL.

Many People Thought that Mrs. Reany's Recovery was only Temporary—A Pleasant Disappointment—She is Better than Ever.

SHELBURNE, August 27.—When Mrs. Reany's letter appeared in a local paper here some time ago, giving a history of her long illness and final cure of kidney disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, many readers thought her improvement was only temporary. All such have been most successfully contradicted, as a letter recently received here from Mrs. Reany states that she has all along been gaining in general health, since her kidneys were restored to a sound state, and that for many years she has not enjoyed such good health and spirits. Mrs. Reany, therefore, still pins her faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills, and recommends them as strongly as ever to afflicted members of her sex.

PETERBOROUGH BOARD OF TRADE.

Subjects for Discussion at the Board's Coming Meeting.

The Board of Trade will hold a meeting on Tuesday evening, Sept. 11th, at 8 p.m. A large attendance of members is requested. The following subjects will come up for discussion:

Report of meeting of Intercolonial Trade Conference at Ottawa, by the president.

Adjustment of fire insurance. Correspondence between secretary of the Board and Underwriters' Association.

New industries.

Appointment of delegates to convention in Toronto on "Deep Waterways."

New infantry school. Correspondence with Militia Department.

Action with regard to present low water in River Otonabee, and management of reservoirs.

The secretary of the Board of Trade has received from the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, copies of the customs tariff of all the different nations of the world, for the information of exporters, manufacturers and others. They are on file in the secretary's office and can be inspected by anyone wishing to do so.

AID THE SUFFERER.

The Ontario Government, the Toronto News says, deserves credit for its prompt action in sending relief to the settlers in Rainy River district.

But a grant of $500 is only sufficient to relieve the immediate necessities of those in distress. A much larger sum must be provided, if people who have lost buildings, crop and stock are to be saved from want during the coming winter, and the Council of this and other cities should act promptly in providing the money necessary for this purpose.

The Rainy River settlement is one of the most promising in North-Western Ontario and we cannot be too generous in relieving from the suffering, caused by an unavoidable calamity those who have made it such.

LARGE SORES ON FACE

Lost Use of Hands from Blood Poisoning. Physicians and Remedies No Benefit. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

I have used your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and can truthfully say that they are everything and more than you represent them. Last spring I was greatly troubled with blood poisoning caused by Diphtheria. Large sores made their appearance on my face, and my hands were in such a condition that I could not use them. After trying numerous physicians and remedies and receiving no benefit therefrom, I was advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and did so, and I am now free from all my skin trouble. I cannot speak praise enough for your remedies.

SAMUEL J. KEELER,
2823 Fairmount Avenue, Baltimore, Md.

BABY SEVERELY AFFLICTED

My baby was severely afflicted with some dreadful skin disease. Its head, face and hands for awhile were nearly one solid sore. I had doctors prescribe for it, tried several remedies, but all seemed to do no good. I saw an advertisement of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and concluded to try them. I bought a complete set, and began using, and now my little girl seems to be completely cured.

GEO. W. TURNE, Teacher, Bryan, Texas.

CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS

Since a single cake of CUTICURA SOAP, costing 25c., is sufficient to test the virtues of these great curatives, there is now no reason why thousands should go through life tortured, disfigured and humiliated by blood and skin diseases, which are speedily cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES at a trifling cost.

Sold throughout the world. Price, CUTICURA, 75c.; SOAP, 35c.; RESOLVENT, $1.50 POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Proprietors, Boston.

No Let-up to the Rousing Autumn Values.
No Reserve in Our Great Reduction of Prices.
No Exemptions--No Subterfuges--No Trifling.
Everything Fair, Square, Vigorous and Decisive.
Every Department Loaded With Bargains.

These are the FACTS connected with the opening week of our special reduction sale—facts that every buyer can substantiate. The success of our sale, so far, will outshine anything hitherto attempted. Purse-pleasing prices combined with courtesy, activity and attention, are the powerful inducements which have drawn the hundreds of buyers to JOS. ARMSTRONGS & CO'S

Bona-fide Reduction Sale of New Fall and Winter Dry Goods.

During the past seven days customers have flocked to our store and carried away large parcels of tempting bargains, many of whom have gladly returned to repeat the operation. And still they come.

Our prices need no comment. They stand out boldly and speak for themselves. Ladies can see, and compare and investigate the truth.

REGULAR PRICES PLAINLY MARKED IN BLACK INK.
REDUCED PRICES PLAINLY MARKED IN BLUE INK.

Its easy to note the difference—you examine the goods, the ticket does the rest.

All our early shipments of new and fashionable Fall Goods share the same fate, and bear the Reduced Blue Ink Prices, which are taking like wild fire.

Therefore, Ladies, Take Time by the Forelock!

There's nothing like being on time. The early buyers usually have an advantage in the bargains, but we have enough to go round.

How We Forged

Our way to the front, is largely due to close buying, close application, and an appreciative class of customers. Our whole hobby has been to excel in selling Groceries, Provisions, etc., which we know to be the best, the purest, and the cleanest, for the smallest margin of profit. We cannot afford to mistake anything. We never do. If you are so prejudiced that you're willing to go on paying too much, no argument need be wasted, but if you are open to conviction and a fair judge of values, a sample order will prove to you how true our contention is.

We are especially pleased to know that our past six months business has been the most satisfactory, as well as the largest in Peterborough.

OUR SPECIALS for the next week will consist chiefly in Sugars for Preserving, Vinegars and Spices for Pickling, and Teas. Come early—better late than ever—but come, sure.

GERMAN MANTLES!

Lovely creations of the most celebrated Berlin makers, which we have marked so slightly over actual cost, that ladies will be surprised as much at the cheapness as the style and nattiness. Comparison of Prices and Styles will result in our favour.

Our Mantle Department is in full swing again, stocked with stylish new Cloths, and unexcelled for superior values. Mantles cut, fitted and made to order in approved styles, without extra charge.

English Dress Goods

New Covert Cloths, Box Cloths, Priestley's Serges, Etamines, English Worsted Serges, Real Scotch Tweed Suitings, Black and White Goods, and other European and American Novelties.

A correct impression of these goods will be better formed by the eye than the type. Ladies are welcome to inspect the new styles, whether ready to buy or not.

Most of the stock being bought direct from the manufacturers, purchasers are enabled to have the best possible values offered.

Dress Making.

This department has begun with unusual activity. MISS NEILD, so well and favourably known, is again in charge. Now is the time to place your orders. Ladies entrusting us with their orders may feel assured of promptness, courtesy, satisfaction, and moderate charges.

—AT—
TURNBULL'S

Fresh from the German Manufacturers. Our new stock has arrived and is now opened out. It contains all new and desirable cuts to date. New colourings, new trimmings, and also new prices, as we ourselves were surprised at the Mantle the manufacturer has given us to sell for $3.00, while for $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00 they are just beauties, both in cloth and trimmings; for $9.00, $10.00, $11.00 you get the pick of the bulk of the stock. Also we are showing a line of Fur Lined Capes at $16.00 and $20.00 which have to be seen and tried on to be appreciated. We have not forgotten the children as we are showing a nice range of Ulsters in all sizes and shades. Our Mantle Cloths are now opened out and we believe we have never shown as pretty and cheap a range. MISS TULLY, who is head of this department, is well known and needs no introduction. She always gives a perfect fit. We have made preparations for a very large Mantle trade this season and are confident we will do it as we have the goods direct from the makers, and our long experience has taught us to know a good selling line when we see it. A cordial invitation is given to look through and inspect our stock whether you intend to buy that particular day or not. No trouble to show goods.

COMPTE DE PARIS DEAD

The Head of the Royal House of France Passes Away Peacefully.

HIS STIRRING, EVENTFUL LIFE

He Passed Through the Stormy Period of the Revolution When Monarchy in France Was Laid Low—He Will Be Buried in England.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Comte de Paris died on Saturday. The family and the oldest servants of the family were all in attendance, and to each one the head of the royal house of France feebly said a few kind words of farewell, after which the family knelt at the bedside and offered up heartfelt prayers for the dying.

Death had marked the Count beyond hope for many days past, but the sick man lingered on hour after hour, day after day, the light of life flickering fainter every moment, until at last it gently went out, so gently, indeed, that some time elapsed before the fatal verdict was announced.

Louis Philippe Albert D'Orleans was a son of the late Duc D'Orleans and a grandson of the late King Louis Philippe of France. He was born in Paris on August, 1838, and accompanied by his mother, the late Duchess D'Orleans, he witnessed the stormy scene in the French Chambers which followed the revolution of February, 1848. The Comte de Paris was educated at Claremont, England, by his mother, who died there in 1858. During the Civil War the Comte de Paris and his brother, the Duc de Chartres, accompanied by their uncle, the Prince de Joinville, visited America and were welcomed by the United States government and by Gen. McClellan, upon whose staff the two young princes served with the rank of captains.

At the conclusion of the year 1871 the Comte de Paris was admitted a member of the National Assembly at Versailles, under President Thiers, and on December 22, 1872, the Assembly voted the restitution of the property of the Orleans family. The late Comte de Chambord, the representative of the older branch of the Bourbons, and the Comte de Paris had an interview at Frohsdorf, August 5, 1873, during which the latter acknowledged the Comte de Chambord as the head of the royal house of France.

After the death of the Comte de Chambord, August 24, 1883, the great majority of the legitimists acknowledged the Comte de Paris as his successor. Accompanied by his eldest son, the Duc D'Orleans, the Comte again visited the United States in 1890.

The Comte de Paris married his cousin, Princess Marie Isabel Francoise D'Assise Antonia Louisa Fernanda, eldest daughter of the Duc de Montpensier, May 30, 1864, and has six children, three sons and three daughters. His eldest son is Prince Louis Philippe Robert Duc D'Orleans, born at Twickenham, England, February 6, 1869; his eldest daughter, born at the same place September 28, 1865, is queen of Portugal.

The remains of the Comte de Paris will be buried at Weybridge, Surrey.

Besides the late Comte's son there are two other pretenders to the throne of France, Don Carlos, Duke of Madrid, and General de Bourbon, who styles himself Duc D'Anjou, and who claims the throne. Their pretensions, however, are ridiculed.

The Spanish Court in Mourning.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Berlin correspondent says that the German dailies speak of the Count of Paris as an amiable man who never expected and probably never wished to become king. The Vienna press makes a similar comment. The Spanish court has gone into mourning for eighteen days.

The News in France.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Several of the newspapers of this city printed special editions containing the announcement of the death of the Count of Paris, but their sale was confined to a few thousands. The interest throughout the provinces, however, was very great. Details of the scenes at the death bed were printed in extra editions of the provincial papers, and were read with avidity by everyone able to obtain possession of a copy. Expressions of sorrow and sympathy were heard on all sides.

The Gaulois says a council of ministers will be held to discuss the question of permitting the interment of the body of the Count of Paris at Dreux, in the event of a request on behalf of the family for this privilege.

Another Uprising in Brazil.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—A cable from Buenos Ayres says: News comes from Rio Janeiro that the Federals in the Province of Rio Grande do Sul have taken Tacnay City and killed the garrison. The town of Melo, Uruguay, is full of revolutionists, who are preparing to cross into Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, join Gen. Saraiva and renew the fight. They declare that they will raise the flag of monarchy upon their arrival. Admiral Saldahana Da Gama, who is now in Montevideo, Uruguay, is in active communication with the federal leaders in Rio Grande do Sul. It is the general impression in Rio that events stirring in character will take place in Brazil before the end of the year.

IN FAVOR OF A SUBSIDY

This is Said to be the Substance of the Earl of Jersey's Report.

LORD BRASSEY CREATES A STIR

His Espousal of Huddart's Scheme for a Fast Atlantic Steamship Service Makes a Decided Impression in Circles Favorable to the Project.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The letter of Lord Brassey to the Times is making considerable of a stir here in circles favorable to or interested in the fast Atlantic line.

Lord Brassey, while not saying so directly, insinuates that the Earl of Jersey has reported to the Imperial Government in favor of the fast Atlantic subsidy, basing his request on the discussion at Ottawa on that subject. The impression that the Earl has so recommended has been prevalent here among those interested for the past few days. Now, the assertion of Lord Brassey makes this assertion more of a certainty.

Lord Brassey points out that when the Imperial Government shall have paid £75,000 subsidy, Australia must contribute £50,000 and Canada £75,000 for the respective Pacific and Atlantic services.

His Lordship is an ex-member of the Rosebery government and his espousal of Mr. Huddart's scheme has drawn still more attention to the matter.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

A Dairying Pamphlet Shortly to be Issued From the Printing Bureau.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 10.—Mr. George Johnson Dominion statistician, expects to receive from the printing bureau shortly 2,000 copies of a pamphlet entitled "Butter and Cheese," a small volume, which, however, is bristlings with useful facts and figures taken from various sources. Mr. Johnson says that he sent out to the different creameries 500 circulars asking for information and received 451 in reply, so that the information is very complete. This little book will now be issued every year and its comparative statements will become of value to the farmers. Mr. Robertson, of the Central Farm has ordered 1,000 copies.

Bessie Maxwell and Marie Jurardt, the representatives of the Dundee Courier, Scotland, who are travelling around the world looking into the social and industrial condition of women, passed through here yesterday on their way to Montreal.

An incipient blaze took place last night at the Chaudiere. The fire started amidst some blocks at Morrill's foundry. The brigade soon extinguished it. Damage trifling.

A Unique Case in Court.

HAMILTON, Sept. 10.—An action was tried some months ago in the suit of Nelles v. Nelles, in which the courts were asked to declare Samuel H. Smith, formerly of Grimsby, to be a dead man. The suit is unique in the annals of Canada. Smith went out to the western states ten years ago, and there disappeared as completely from public ken as if the earth had taken him down bodily. The last letter received from him was dated June 19, 1884, and since that no trace has been obtained of him, though every effort has been made by detectives and through the medium of the newspapers. Smith had a life interest in certain Canada permanent stock valued at $10,000, and as he is believed to be dead, the heirs want the courts to say he is dead and divide the money. The action is a friendly one, but is necessary to protect the executors. J. E. O'Reilly, local master in chancery, has been authorized to make the order by the courts, and all the necessary preliminaries have been complied with.

The Industrial Exhibition.

TORONTO, Sept. 10.—The Industrial Exhibition is being attended with splendid weather and the attendance at the grounds is rapidly increasing. The fair is already pronounced a success and the coming week promises to be a continued round of interest and amusement. Ladies' day on Saturday was a decided success. One of the best attractions at the fair is the "Living Pastures," of which so much has been said of late. The pictures consist of representations of classical pictures, but instead of paint and canvass the subjects consist of human beings. In fact the pictures are a species of high-class tableau vivants, in which the actors are well trained performers.

The Cataract Power Company.

HAMILTON, Sept. 10.—The Cataract Power Company, of Hamilton, has applied for incorporation. The members are W. H. Glassco, William Southam, Richard Fuller, J. W. Hendrie, W. A. Wood, W. W. Osborne and John Patterson, all of Hamilton. The company proposes to bring electrical power from Niagara Falls to Hamilton. The capital stock of the company is $100,000. The first attempt, which will be in the nature of an experiment, will be made in four or five months.

A Well Known Yachtsman Dead.

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—Phil H. Levin, one of the most popular and best known members of the M. A. A. A., died here yesterday after a long and painful illness. The deceased was the youngest son of B. Levin, the well known furrier, and a brother of Charles Levin, commodore of the St. Lawrence Yacht Club, who was drowned in the terrible yachting accident on Lake St. Louis a couple of years ago.

Burglars at Work in Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Ont., Sept. 10.—For a few nights we have been visited by sneak thieves. The G.T.R. station was broken into and they forced open a cash drawer getting $12 in loose change. The night before Mr. G. Cardiff's store was entered by the robbers taking tacks out of a screen window and entering and stealing a ladies watch and some money.

McCarthy at Winchester.

WINCHESTER, Ont., Sept. 10.—Mr. McCarthy addressed the electors here on Saturday. He dealt particularly with the tariff and referred to the Curran bridge affair, winding up his after meeting by calling on the electors to strengthen his arm and send a candidate to support him in his effort.

FLOODS PROTECT PEKIN

Advance of the Japanese Troops Prevented by Water.

CHINESE ADMIRAL IN DISGRACE

He Is Deprived of the Peacock Feather for Cowardice and Incapacity—Sickness Is Prevalent in the Chinese Camp at Ping-Yang.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says: That the Chinese have ceased sending reinforcements to Corea via Manchuria. Troops are now being drafted from the interior for the coast garrisons, presumably in anticipation of an attack.

The Japanese are repairing the roads around Seoul to facilitate the movements of troops. Sickness is prevalent in the Chinese camp near Ping Yang, owing to the continued rains and the bad condition of the provisions.

The Morning Post to-day prints this despatch from Shanghai: "Admiral Ting, commanding the Chinese fleet in the Gulf of Pechili has been degraded for cowardice and incapacity, deprived of the peacock feather and ordered to leave the fleet and take a minor command ashore. The reason for this summary action is not given. Hitherto Ting has been regarded as an able officer. His disgrace is believed to be due to his failures to prevent the entrance of the Japanese fleet into the Gulf of Pechili and consequent capture of an island in Society bay.

"The native newspapers state that Li Hung Chang is trying to procure the mediation of the United Kingdom or Russia. The Emperor and Dowager Empress are furious on this account and will not listen to the suggestion.

"The country in the neighborhood of Pekin is inundated. The government has ordered that no attempt be made to reduce the flood since the water would be protection against a Japanese advance upon Pekin, which is feared. The Chinese menace the lives of all Japanese. They try to prevent neutrals from loading cargoes for Japan."

The Times publishes this despatch from Shanghai: An extraordinary mission has arrived in Tien-Tain conveying birthday presents from the King of Corea to the Dowager Empress. The mission will proceed to Pekin. There was a collision between the Chinese and Japanese near Ping Yang on the 7th. The high water almost prevents military operations.

The Times correspondent in Tien-Tsin says: The British minister and the Viceroy have signed a convention by which the telegraphs are to be connected with those of Burmah and India. The American gunboat Monocacy has arrived here. The war news received here is regarded as worthless.

WRECKED IN A TUNNEL.

A Blunder of the Signal Operator Costs the Lives of Two Men.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Sept. 10.—By the railroad wreck in Hoosac tunnel Saturday night two men lost their lives and three others were very seriously injured.

A freight train had to stop in the tunnel to repair a break on the engine. By some blunder a second freight train was permitted to follow into the tunnel before the first was out of the way, and crashed into the standing train. The two men killed were William Turpeny, Fort Edward, N.Y., brakeman, and George Minnick, Fitchburg, brakeman.

The tunnel was completely blockaded by the wreck, and it was impossible to get trains through yesterday. The accident was due to the blunder of the operator in the signal tower at the entrance to the tunnel.

A. W. Hodgkins, the operator, has been arrested and a warrant has been issued for the arrest of A. M. Crosier, the operator at the other end of the tunnel.

Deed of Two Inhuman Brutes.

CRESTON, Iowa, Sept. 10.—News has reached here of a fiendish outrage upon the person of Miss Winslow, the daughter of a well-to do farmer who lives near Lennox. Melville Philpott and his cousin, Charles Philpott, were visiting in the neighborhood of Lennox and attended a Sunday school picnic. Miss Winslow, who resides near Lennox, was also in attendance. The Philpotts offered to take Miss Winslow home. Miss Winslow accepted the offer and got in the buggy. When they reached a desolate spot in the woods the boys dragged her from the buggy and assaulted her. Miss Winslow struggled hard, but was overcome. They released the girl with threats of death if she divulged what had occurred. Miss Winslow when she reached home related the diabolical deed of the Philpotts. One of the brutes has been captured.

A Life Assurance Company Insolvent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Wm. H. Whiton, president of the Mutual Benefit Life Association, has admitted that the association was insolvent and that it was going to reinsure its members in another company. "Our members will not lose anything; they will all be insured in a stronger company. I cannot mention the name of the company, because we have not yet decided which offer to accept. I have no idea who will be appointed receiver. We have not written any policies since last month. We ceased to do business then."

Suit Against the New York World.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Charles E. Bolles, a Brooklyn photographer has sued the publishers of the New York World for $817,000 for infringements of copyrights. He says in the complaint that he copyrighted on June 30, 1893 a photograph of the sloop yacht Colonia, taken in the waters of Narraganett Bay, and the defendants without his consent reproduced this photograph.

Thirty-One Victims of a Feud.

PHOENIX, Arizona, Sept. 10.—Another chapter of the famous and bloody Pleasant Valley feud has apparently been entered upon. Horace B. Schilly, a cattle man, was found riddled with rifle balls and badly mutilated on Reno Mountains. He was waylaid on his way to Phoenix. It is thought this is the work of the Tewksbury faction. Schilly is the last of his family. The feud has now numbered 31 victims.

Daily Examiner.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1894.

THE heated discussion of social questions in England has led to an examination into the comparative distribution of wealth in Britain which has brought to light some striking facts concerning the unequal division of land as well as the great inequalities of fortune. Exclusive of the metropolitan district, the area of England and Wales is 33,013,514 acres and the total number of owners is 974,876, or about one-twenty-fourth of the population. But what is more remarkable is that 293 persons own 5,392,304 acres, or about one-sixth of the whole of England and Wales. The figures for Scotland are even more startling. The total area is 18,946,694 acres and the the total number of owners is 132,230, or one-twenty-fifth of the population. Three hundred and thirty persons own 13,178,839 acres or about two-thirds of the whole of Scotland, and less than 17,000 persons own nine-tenths of the whole. Twelve persons own 4,339,722 acres, or about one-fourth of the whole of Scotland, and one person owns 1,326,000 acres in Scotland and 32,095 acres in England. These figures place in a striking light the monopoly of the land of Great Britain, enjoyed by a few persons and the extent to which the rest of the population must depend upon them for the soil necessary for the purpose of residence, business and agriculture. Again, the total wealth of England is valued at £10,954,134,011 and the working classes own of this £185,086,591, or one-fifty-ninth of the whole. The wealth of the country is, undoubtedly, in the hands of the few, and in the opinion of Prof. Cairnes, the class which absorbs the enormous annual increase of wealth is neither the labourer nor the capitalist, but the landlord. The large addition to the wealth of the country, says Prof. Cairnes, "has gone neither to profits nor to wages, nor yet to the public at large, but to swell a fund ever growing, even when its proprietors sleep--the rent roll of the owners of the soil."

REV. DR. CORNISH read a statistical report of the growth of Methodism, at the London Conference on Friday last, which showed a total membership, including those on trial, of 290,953, an increase of 8,772 for the year, and for the quadrennium of 27,085. The number of scholars who have taken the total abstinance pledge is 76,129, an increase of 26,710. The Epworth League numbers 1,032, members of same, 47,135. The number of Sunday schools is 3,251, and the increase for the quadrennium is 274. The number of officers and teachers, adding those reported in Japan Conference minutes, is 30,807. The number of local preachers is 2,295. The number of local exhorters is 1,213. The number of class leaders, male, is 6,049; the number of class leaders, females, is 1,203. The amount contributed during the quadrennium for the connexional funds is $1,387,717.27, an increase of $88,843.14. For circuit purposes there has been paid $4,708,391; for ministerial support there has been paid $3,602,056, an increase of $330,115, and yet the deficiency on salaries is reported as $254,033, but this is less than the deficiencies of the preceding quadrennium by $134,326. The grand total of amounts raised by circuits and missions for all purposes was $9,169,679, an increase of $1,187,404. The number of churches is 3,211; other preaching places, 1,374; parsonages, 1,064; burial grounds, 1,208. The total value of church property is $14,852,-900. The number of children baptized is 64,329; the number of adults baptized is 11,631; total baptized, 75,960. Number of marriages solemnized, 30,313; number of burials, 42,456.

THE terrible fires in the Western States have caused the authorities in the States to bestir themselves a little in the direction of doing something to prevent such calamities in the future. The question is what to do. It is a very serious one and should be carefully considered in Canada. Our forests are as liable to destruction as those in the United States, and forest fires are to some familiar enough on this side of the line. It is reasonably argued that there are no fires, or virtually none, in the great forest ranges of Europe. The reason for this is that forestry there is dealt with as a branch of science, and the woods are all under government supervision, and forest guards patrol them regularly, remove dry and dead timber and underbrush. Fires are carefully watched for, and if they do break out they are checked at the outset. In India, where from the nature of the climate and the frequent lack of water, such fires are highly probable, the same conditions are seen. But the difference between the care of th forests in America, Europe and Asia is tha in the two latter the supervision is in the hands of the Government. In the United States and Canada they are under the control of license holders and other private people. Under these conditions they become a public danger, as has recently been painfully demonstrated in the Western States. Some stringent reform in this respect should be instituted, and Canada would do well to profit by the lesson recently taught.

THE Empire refers to Mr. Laurier's promise made in his speech at Winnipeg, that the Liberal party would have no such system of conducting public affairs as would permit public undertakings to run ahead of the estimates. It adds, sneeringly, that Mr. Mackenzie confessed to a friend that he had to keep watch day and night over the public works department to protect it from his political supporters. He protested it at any rate. His government, at least, showed no such record as the following, which is inscribed on the banners of the present administration.

Tay canal, original estimate, $122,620; Actual cost, $478,132, annual expenditure on it, $2,500; revenue, $126.

Little Rapids, lock and dam, estimated cost, $44,000; actual cost, $260,000, and paid claims amounting to another $90,000: no traffic and no receipts from the work.

Curran bridges, estimated cost $122,000; government commission's estimate of reasonable cost, $160,000; actual cost, $430,325, of which $326,000 has been paid. Deliberate frauds committed; no prosecution.

Sheik's Island dam, Cornwall canal, original contract cancelled and another given without tenders being asked for, to a different firm of contractors; loss to the country, more than $125,000.

St. Charles branch, Intercolonial railway, fourteen miles in length, estimated total cost, $1,750,000, besides some unpaid claims.

And a great deal of the same kind. The protection which Mr. Mackenzie extended to the public treasury is the kind of protection Canada needs and it is of the kind Mr. Laurier, when in power, will give her. If one Liberal statesman kept his promise in this regard, another who has a stainless record, can well be trusted.

THE forest fires in the north western states are said to have destroyed 700,000,000 feet of white pine, an article now becoming scarce and expensive and of which the largest remaining area lies within the Dominion. Ontario has lost, it is estimated, over 500,000,000 feet of valuable timber in the same way this season. The policy of the Ontario Conservatives would be to hold the pine and continue to allow it to be destroyed by fire. Over a portion of the devastated country railroad traffic is suspended, the rails being warped by the heat and the ties burned out. Telegraph poles on all the lines are burned up so that intelligence from the immediate seats of the disaster cannot be procured in detail. Harvested crops are burned in the fields and stacks, and every kind of combustible property is destroyed. Many domestic animals, perhaps thousands, wild and crazed by the heat and smoke, ran into the flames and perishrd. Unless abundant showers of rain shall fall soon the suffering and loss will be still greater. The irregular extent of country where the fires are raging includes not less than 300 square miles. The money loss will reach millions of dollars.

THE statement of revenue and expenditure for the Dominion for the fiscal year ended 30th June last, shows that the revenue for the year, as it appeared on the books of the Finance department on 31st August, was $1,894,947 less than last year, while the expenditure was $648,251 more, and that instead of a surplus of $386,576 on account of Consolidated fund, as there was on 31st August, 1893, there is a deficit of $1,156,620. The expenses of the Dominion Government and the rapid increase of the debt of the Dominion is a question that the electors should discountenance and disapprove of at the earliest opportunity.

THE Canada Presbyterian evidently has very little respect for the P. P. A. In its last issue it has two very pungent, pointed and epigrammatic slaps at that remarkable semi-Orange, semi-Tory organization. It says: "Some of the P.P.A. people have a novel way of getting at a man who opposes them. If they can say nothing bad about the man, they declare that his wife is a Roman Catholic." Again, "If the late Christopher Finlay Fraser were taken as a specimen of the kind of men produced by the teaching of Rome, and some of the P. P. A. leaders taken as model Protestants, the comparison would go hard with Protestantism."

A Bad Wreck

—of the constitution may follow in the track of a disordered system, due to impure blood or inactive liver. Don't run the risk! The proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery take all the chances. They make a straightforward offer to return your money if their remedy fails to benefit or cure in all disorders and affections due to impure blood or inactive liver. The germs of disease circulate through the blood; the liver is the filter which permits the germs to enter or not. The liver active, and the blood pure, and you escape disease.

When you're run down, debilitated, weak, and your weight below a healthy standard, you regain health, strength, and wholesome flesh, by using the "Discovery." It builds uy the body faster than nauseating Cod liver oil or emulsions.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation, piles, billiousness, indigestion, or dyspepsia, and headaches.

Skin Diseases are more or less occasioned by bad blood. B. B. B. cures the following Skin Diseases: Shingles, Erysipelas, Itching Rashes. Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Eruptions, Pimples, and Blotches, by removing all impurities from the blood from a common Pimple to the worst Scrofulous Sore.

"Gentlemen:—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For five years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the soreness had gone, and before I had finished the second the bunches had entirely disappeared." BLANCHE ATWOOD, Sangerville, Maine.

A New Grocer
COME TO TOWN.

I take pleasure in announcing that I have purchased the Grocery and Provision Business, lately carried on by Mr. W. J. HALL, in the well-known and long established premises at

No. 355 George St., Burnham's Block.

The present stock, which has been well bought, and is in first-class condition, will be replenished with a more complete assortment of FAMILY GROCERIES, PROVISIONS and everything in the culinary line.
Also PRIME SUGAR CURED HAM, BACON, PORK, FLOUR, EGGS, BUTTER, &c. In every case the best goods will be bought, then we know what we are selling. If there are two qualities we will always get the better one.
My business will be conducted on the CASH principle—buying for cash and selling for cash—which is the only way to get and to give the best values and lowest prices. My motto will be "Small Profits for Cash."
All I ask is a call from my old friends in the country, as well as my new friends in town, and as many more as may favour me with their custom. I mean business. I am here to stay. I mean to grow.

ALFRED DAWSON,
Formerly of Ballibere, Successor to Mr. W. J. HALL,

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS
—ON THE—
SUN LIFE ASSURANCE CO.
OF CANADA.

From the CANADIAN TRADE REVIEW.
"There is no invidiousness involved in the assertion that no other Canadian company in existence can point to such a record of rapid, substantial and uninterrupted progress and prosperity as that exhibited in the successive annual reports of the Sun Life. . . . Most assuredly are its directors, shareholders and policy holders to be congratulated upon the very flourishing condition of the Company, and especially upon the result of the business of a year which was marked by the prevalence of conditions—the influenza epidemic, for instance—which proved disastrous for so many life companies. And with no less certainty can it be said that the very great progress made by the institution has been mainly due to the able and energetic efforts, guided by the sagacity and prudence which practical experience alone can bring, of the President and Managing-Director, who has been efficiently assisted by the Secretary. From the contemplation of so successful a past the management may reasonably draw most sanguine anticipations as to the prosperity of the future.

How We Forged

Our way to the front, is largely due to close buying, close application, and an appreciative class of customers. Our whole hobby has been to excel in selling Groceries, Provisions, etc., which we know to be the best, the purest, and the cleanest, for the smallest margin of profit. We cannot afford to mistake anything. We never do. If you are so prejudiced that you're willing to go on paying too much, no argument need be wasted, but if you are open to conviction and a fair judge of values, a sample order will prove to you how true our contention is.

We are especially pleased to know that our past six months business has been the most satisfactory, as well as the largest in Peterborough.

OUR SPECIALS for the next week will consist chiefly in Sugars for Preserving, Vinegars and Spices for Pickling, and Teas. Come early—better late than ever—but come, sure.

METHODISTS AT LONDON.

Fourth Quadrennial Meeting of the General Conference—Dr. Carman's Address—Figures for Eighteen Years Show Wonderful Progress.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 7.—The Quadrennial Methodist conference opened in Queen's avenue Methodist church yesterday with about 300 delegates in attendance. On the third ballot Dr. Shaw, president of the Wesleyan Theological College was elected secretary of the conference. In the afternoon Dr. Carman, general superintendent, delivered his address, showing the progress made by Methodism during the last four years. A decade has passed, he said, since the consummation of the union of Canadian Methodism. At the Ratification Conference of 1882, the membership of the church was 169,803; now it was 226,921, an advance of nearly 100,000, or over sixty per cent. in eighteen years. (Applause.)

MINISTERS AND PROBATIONERS.

In 1823 the number of ministers and probationers was 1,023, to-day it was 1,906; in 1833 the Sabbath schools numbered 2,707, the teachers 22,434 and the scholars 175,052, now there are 3,251 schools, 30,807 teachers and 252,546 scholars.

In 1833 the college and educational property was worth $493,719.37; to-day the educational plant was worth $1,504,523.

And they could also point to fifty per cent. increase in piety and brotherly love.

In 1833 the missionary income was $193,769 and book room property was valued at $149,603; now the missionary collections are $249,000 and the publishing room property worth $321,080. At the Union the superannuation and supernumerary funds, of all the churches amounted to $238,832, now the sums total was $279,897.

The doctor referred to the resolution of the previous conference, calling the attention of the Governor-General and parliament to the order of procedure on state occasions, which it was declared ignored the existence of those Protestant churches that represent a majority of the people, and gave pre-eminence to the appointees of the Primate of Rome. The correspondence on this subject would be submitted. The committee on conferences boundaries have agreed on a report which favours a reduction in the number of annual conferences in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec from 6 to 4.

DOURO.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The swell event of the season was a picnic, held under the auspices of Mr. H. Fox. The principal attraction of the day was a football match between the Indian River team and a junior eleven team from Asphodel. The game was interesting and ended in a score by the juniors. "Hank" proved a genial host and ably served the refreshments, which seemed to be well appreciated.

Some of our boys took advantage of the Keene football excursion and report a pleasant time. We are, however, deeply in sympathy with the poor young man that broke his buggy on the way home.

The native genius, of this place, has just showed itself in the production of an unique road cart, under the co-operation M. McCann and P. J. Towns. It is arranged with brakes and drafts of cunning devices and is known as the "Chicago bullet."

The house and store of Mr. Jas. Barrie is rapidly nearing completion. Mr. Barrie has contracted with Mr. M. Keech, of Toronto, for his line of stock and all may feel assured that the best goods will be kept in stock, and sold at right prices.

A social was held at the residence of Mr. John Devlin, of this place, and all enjoyed a pleasant evening. Preparatory to the social, "Jack" held a stoning-bee, cleaning up his farm and make straight the way for the future Mrs. Devlin.

The friends of Mr. Maurice O'Leary will be pleased to know that he is able to be around again, after his long confinement with a broken limb.

WATCH WELL.

The present administration was not unfitly termed during the revision of the "clerical errors" in the tariff a "managing committee of the manufacturing monopolists of Canada." The simile was a happy one. As long as the combines rule so long will the members who are sent to Ottawa be affected by their overshadowing presence. But what the country needs is men to represent the people and not certain interests. The office of a member of Parliament, the attorney of his constituency, is one of honour. Degraded to the position of a mere delegate of a ring it is one of which the possessor ought to feel thoroughly ashamed. And yet the Commons house is, if its conduct for voting blindly for sectional interests is any good indication, laying itself open to the suspicion that it is not wholly disinterested when the public weal is in the balance as against the demands of combines and ring masters. This is no time for the character of representative bodies to be lowered, or for the members thereof to permit themselves to sink in public estimation. Nor should the people, if they believe in representative institutions, allow the great council of the nation to fall to the low position referred to. They should see to it that they send truly representative men to parliament and watch them well when they get there. The approaching general election will be an exceedingly critical one and a turning point in our national history. The various constituencies have never had a more important duty to perform than they will find before them when the writs are next issued. Let them do it faithfully.—Ottawa Free Press.

The torture of dyspepsia and sick headache, the agonizing itching and pain of salt rheum, are removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

DEAR SIRS,—I have been using Burdock Bitters for Boils and skin diseases, and I find it very good as a cure. As a dyspepsia cure I have also found it unequalled. MRS. SARAH HAMILTON, Montreal, Que.

Port Hope, Feb. 14th, 1894.

Dr. Andrew Grant & Co.,

DEAR SIRS,—This is to certify that my hair began to fall out when I was about 18 years of age. I at once commenced the use of hair tonics, etc., with the result that I kept on losing my hair, until at about 25 years of age, I had become quite bald and had concluded to buy a "wig." Just at that time I came across your "HAIRENE," and began its use. Now, before I had used one bottle I could see a decided change for the better, inasmuch as a new growth of hair appeared quite distinctly. By continuing its use my hair has improved greatly, and I take great pleasure in stating that after quite an extended experience in the drug trade, your "HAIRENE" is the only remedy I know of that really has produced a healthy scalp, and a growth of hair.

Yours truly,
J. B. BURNHAM.

GENTLEMEN,—I have used your Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, pains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. All who use it recommend it.
MRS. HIGHT, Montreal, Que.

The Nicaraguan Squabble.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—A San Jose, Costa Rica, special says: News from Corinto indicates that there is great excitement there. Crowds in the streets are crying: "Death to Zelaya!" and "Viva Libertad!" The fights early in the week were more serious than had been reported. The Nicaraguan government is endeavoring to suppress news, and correspondents have been frightened away. The people threatened revolution, which it appears impossible to prevent, and then will come a crucial test for Zelaya, as he has alienated the church party and many of his former supporters in his own party.

To be Tried for Lynching.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 10.—The grand jury has returned six true bills against M. Strickfaden, Jim Perley and Ed Smith for murder. They are charged with being parties to the lynching of the six negroes at Millington on the night of August 31. It is now reported that the mob which lynched the negroes did not consist of over ten persons and this looks bad for Richardson, the detective, who stated that it consisted of fifty men. Ten men would not have made the attack unless they had an understanding with Richardson. The officers say the whole plot will be laid bare in a day or so.

In the Hands of a Maniac.

ANDERSON, Ind., Sept. 10.—Mrs. William Adams is dying from injuries inflicted by her husband. In a fit of delirium he leaped from his bed and bit, choked, pounded and dragged his wife for half an hour. A neighbor and two policemen finally overpowered the maniac and landed him in jail. Mrs. Adams was choked into insensibility and big pieces of flesh were torn from her face and arms. He also demolished the household furniture and broke all the windows, after which he ran into the street entirely nude and was captured.

A Chicago Lawyer Shot.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Claude Waller, a member of the firm of Patterson and Waller, lawyers, was shot in the groin and probably fatally injured by Leo Roeder, chief clerk for Brand and Hoffman, lawyers. Waller is a member of the famous Waller family, which owns the Ashland block and several million dollars worth of other property throughout the city.

Fatal Wreck on the Wabash.

STAUNTON, Ill., Sept. 10.—Train No. 42, the Toledo fast mail on the Wabash road was wrecked near this place and James W. Dixon, of Taylorville, and an unknown tramp were killed. Flanney, the engineer, was scalded and had his leg broken. C. A. Samms had a foot broken and was badly scalded.

Alarming Reports From Minnesota.

DULUTH, Sept. 10.—Forest fires are again raging in the vicinity of the country devastated a week ago, and there is a general scare at half a dozen towns on the line of the St. Paul and Duluth and Eastern Minnesota roads. Trains delayed.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affection, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The private parts are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the warmth causes worms in bed. So terrible is the torture, that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and fistulous sores, from which offensive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly afflicted with this disease, causing unbearable irritation and discomfort. These are but a few of the symptoms of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation, characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic in all such cases and affords relief from this torment.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

September Beauties.

Early shipments of Fall Stuffs have been afloat all August and crowding in upon us the past week.

The autumnal styles rapidly opening up in almost all departments plainly say to everybody—"No steps backward, whatever the times." No let up to the into-the-store tramp, tramp, tramp of visitors to inspect our elegant Fall Dress Goods gathered from Germany, from France, from England, from home looms. Every counter nicer and brighter for this inflow.

FIGURED NOVELTIES—tempting to the quietest taste.

FLEECY, FUZZY, WARM NOVELTIES—all wool weaves.

BLACK STUFFS—Nearly every design that is making talk in the Coloured Goods has its double in the Blacks.

Miss a day at our Dress Goods Counters and you miss the first sight of some of the prettiest stuffs that ever crossed the ocean.

There is already a demand for the dressmaker, especially for the little girls that can't wear shabby old things to school.

Several lots of Underwear and Hosiery that were a little too much for mid-summer comfort, but will work right in for wear now, for Misses, Youth's and Children, at prices to suit economical buyers.

We go to the farthest extreme in providing every safe guard for those who deal here as to qualities and values.

A wedding took place at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning at 5:30 o'clock. Mr. Richard Weatherhead and Miss E. Galvin, daughter of the late Maurice Galvin, both of Peterborough, were united in marriage by Rev. Father Casey. The bride was assisted throughout by Miss E. Condon, and the groom by his brother, Mr. Albert Weatherhead. After the ceremony the young couple left for their wedding trip, which will include a visit to the Toronto exhibition.

Drowned while Duck Shooting.

A farmer named James Houghtaling, of Alnwick township, six miles from Hastings, was drowned Saturday afternoon. He was out duck shooting on the Trent river, and when near the mouth of the river his canoe upset while he was in the act of firing at some ducks, and as he could not not swim, he sank and did not rise again. The accident was witnessed by a neighboring farmer from the opposite shore, who got assistance, but before the body was recovered life was extinct.

Rain Subdued the Fires.

In Hindon there has been a heavy fire raging for some time, there is also said to be fire in some of the timber limits in the northern part of this county, while Snowdon is also suffering from the devastating element, fire having started in the limits of Mr. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, and Mr. Ellis, of Fenelon Falls. Should the present dry, warm weather continue much longer the consequences will be most disastrous in this section of the country, the pastures being in many cases burnt dry, and spring water is becoming so scarce that some of our citizens have a constant warfare over its ownership. The above was crowded out last week. Tuesday afternoon last a most welcome rain fell that has greatly subdued the fires, some of them being quite extinguished and the heavier fires prevented from further spreading.—Echo.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Town Council meets this evening.

—Meeting of the Board of Trade to-morrow night.

—This morning's downpour of rain will be welcomed throughout the country.

—A large number of people viewed the Gilmour alligator in Little Lake yesterday.

—Mr. B. Shortly's harness shop is being brightened and improved by the painter's brush.

—The different fruit merchants in town report splendid sales on Saturday evening, especially in grapes and peaches.

—The sewerage committee of the town council met Saturday evening. They will present their report at the council meeting this evening.

—A copy of the Advertiser, a new Cobourg newspaper, has reached the EXAMINER sanctum. It is a newsy four page sheet.

—A large number of citizens left this morning to attend the Toronto exhibition. The 7.20 C.P.R. express took on over two hundred passengers.

—Mr. Thos. Dunn, of the "Bodega," last evening, lost a valuable fox terrier pup. He has a clue to the person who picked it up. By returning the dog, he will save a little unnecessary trouble.

—The steamer City of Peterborough will make her last trip of the season, Friday next, to Hastings. She will run her regular trips throughout the season, to Victoria Park, Jubilee Point and intermediate stages along Rice Lake.

—People who pick up a nice luscious peach, and eat it without peeling, are probably not aware that they are also getting away with about ten million microbes. The doubter can be satisfied by placing a ten cent microscope over the furry skin of the fruit.

—Mr. O. Jennings, of the "Ontarios," the Guide says, left for Toronto this morning to spend a few days at the exhibition before resuming to his home in the west. "Ollie" is one of the best home players in Canada, and his playing in Port Hope this year has won for him a reputation of no mean order. He takes with him the best wishes of his numerous friends in Port Hope.

—The latest place suggested for a summer hotel is the old Victoria College building, Cobourg. We were informed on Tuesday last by a gentleman from across the line that the buildings had been inspected by some capitalists from Baltimore with a view to purchasing the property for that purpose. We have no doubt old Vic would make a grand hotel, and one that would be favourably received by the Americans who make Cobourg their summer home.—Post.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. W. Salisbury has returned home to Peterborough.—Post.

Mr. John Green, town, is spending a few days in Toronto visiting friends.

Mr. Wm. Begley, Lindsay, left for home Saturday, after a pleasant visit with friends in town.

Mr. W. Kelly and Miss M. E. Kelly have returned home, after a pleasant visit with friends in Havelock.

Mr. Perry Goldsmith left this morning, for Toronto, where he will pursue his studies at Trinity Medical School.

Mr. R. Mulholland, of Peterborough, was in Cobourg Tuesday attending the meeting of the C. N. & P. R. Board.—Post.

Mr. Jas. Dolan has arrived home from his trip to Ireland. He reports that everything is prospering in the Green Isle.

Mr. O. O'Boyle, of the Post, Lindsay, who has been visiting in town and vicinity, returned home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Gibson sailed from Liverpool, Thursday, Sept. 6th, for Canada, and will arrive home early this week.

The many friends of Mr. Harry Stock, formerly of this town, will regret to learn that he is confined in Hamilton Hospital, with a serious attack of typhoid fever.

Among the names of the invited guests present at the banquet at the Queen's hotel, Toronto, Saturday, to Mr. E. B. Harper, president of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, are noticed those of Messrs. Mayor Kendry, J. J. McBain, J. R. Graham and W. G. Sexsmith.

AN IMMENSE DRIVE OF LOGS

Belonging to the Gilmour Company Passing down the River.

The first batch of Gilmour's drive of logs is now passing through Peterborough. There are 65,000 logs in the first two drives, 37,500 in the third, and 32,500 in the fourth. The Gilmour company operated last winter in the townships of Peck and McClintock in the Algonquin Park, and cut 150,000 logs, 15,000 of which were left the other side of Dorset. At this place the comyany has spent no less a sum than $150,000 in appliances necessary to transfer the logs from one chain of waters to the other, over the heigth of land. It will probably take two years to bring the full cut to their mill.

POLICE COURT.

The Black and the Blue.

The drop in prices of new fall goods, announced by Joseph Armstrong & Co., has proved a strong attraction to the ladies, so early in the season. This firm has had many strong features to offer during the summer season, and they seem determined to pursue an equally vigorous and pushing policy during the fall. The black and the blue ink prices on the goods make it easy to accept the reductions on the goods as genuine. You examine the goods—the tickets do the rest. dw

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

SPRIGHTLY SUMMER SPORTS.

On the Lacrosse Field, the Grease and the Diamond Triple A. Topics—The Bicycle and Football.

LACROSSE.

The members of the Peterborough lacrosse club are urgently requested to turn out for practice every evening from now until Wednesday, the day they cross sticks with the Orillias. This will undoubtedly be the best match of the season, as both teams are about evenly matched. The lovers of the game in town should turn out in large numbers and encourage the boys. This will probably be the last match of the season, and everyone should make an effort to take it in.

FOOTBALL.

A Rugby football match was played on the P. A. A. A. grounds, on Saturday afternoon, between the Lock Works and town teams. The game lasted an hour, the town boys having the wind in their favour for the first half, in which they scored two rouges and one goal from field, making six in all. In the second half, the town team scored one rouge and the Lock Works a rouge and a touch-down, making a total of seven for town, and five for Lock Works. Mr. Parsons, of the Bank of Montreal, acted as referee. As this was the first match, since organization, for the Lock Works team, they made a good showing, having only had two or three practices. The Lock Works club is composed of splendid material, several of the players making some fine runs. The playing of the town team throughout is also worthy of special mention.

HARD TIME DELICACIES.

Rice Waffles.—Separate the whites and yolks of two eggs and beat light. Sift a pint or more of flour in a bowl, add salt to taste, two teaspoonsful of yeast powder, enough milk to make a good batter, and then put in the half cupful of cold rice, the yolks, and lastly the whites, well beaten. Bake in hot waffle irons.

Hot Water Cake.—Two cupsful of sugar, two cupsful of flour, two teaspoonsful of yeast powder, four eggs, three-fourths of a cupful of boiling water. Break eggs (whites and yolks) in sugar and beat well. Sift in the flour, then the yeast powder, and last of all the boiling water. Bake whole or in layers. A caramel filling converts it into a delicious cake.

Cornmeal Pudding.—Put one cupful of milk on to boil, with a few bits of cinnamon. Mix one teaspoonful of cornmeal with one cupful of cold milk and add, with a pinch of salt, to the boiling milk. Cook thoroughly, stirring all the time. When nearly done add a half cupful of sugar and one spoonful of butter. Cook a few minutes longer, and then pour into a shallow dish. Dust with cinnamon and serve hot or cold.

Mold of Cornmeal.—Take two cupsful of coarse cornmeal and cook for twenty minutes with one pint of water, three cloves and a few bits of cinnamon. Add, a little at a time, two cupsful of milk, stirring constantly; then add two tablespoonsful of lard and two of butter, and one teaspoonful of salt. Cook for one hour, then add a half-pound of brown sugar and pour into two one-quart bowls. On each press a tin plate, which must be filled with red hot coals, and leave until brown on top. Serve at once.—Good Housekeeping.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Miss Code's Bible class will be opened to-morrow evening in the Y. W. C. A. hall.

The regular meeting of the board of management of the Y.W.C.A. was held this afternoon at 3.30.

Rev. Father Collins took charge of the services at the Roman Catholic church, Bowmanville, yesterday.

At the evening service in the George street Methodist church yesterday Misses Clara and Annie Belleghem contributed a duet with excellent taste.

At the George street church yesterday Rev. W. Limbert, Lakefield, occupied the pulpit both morning and evening. His addresses were earnest and practical.

The Gospel and Song Service in the Y. M.C.A. hall last evening was well attended. Rev. J. J. Rae, of the Charlotte street church, delivered the address.

The Sunday school classes at the different Separate schools in town were formed again after the vacation at St. Peter's cathedral, yesterday. They were largely attended.

Rev. Father Conway, who left a few days ago for Toronto, to receive treatment for an injured eye, is improving rapidly and will be able to resume his duties in a few days.

Rev. R. E. Spence, of Manitoba, delivered a thoughtful and convincing sermon on "The Likeness to Christ" at the morning service in the Mark street Methodist church yesterday.

Yesterday, large congregations were present in St. Andrews' church. The evening congregation was exceptionally large, there being many strangers present. Two excellent and stirring sermons were delivered by the pastor, in his usual racy style. In the morning, his topic was, "The temptation of Adam." The severity of the text, the obedience and the reward were all considered. The picturing of Abraham offering up his son, was vivid and dramatic, and will not soon be forgotten. In the evening, the text was, Jeremiah 8, 22, "Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no physician there, etc. ?" Having shown the primary application of the text, it was then applied to the unconverted. The speaker then showed that their soul was wounded, that there was balm in Gilead, that there was a great physician there, and why their wounds was not healed, etc. The discourse was most impressive. Very special praise is due the large and excellent choir. Two anthems were rendered both morning and evening in beautiful style. Under the able leadership of Mr. Mulligan this choir has attained great excellence.

ST. JOHN'S.

At St. John's, yesterday morning, the choir, in memory of the late Emily Lina Rountree, formerly a member, sang the hymn :

Let saints on earth in concert sing,
With those whose work is done,
For all the servants of the King
In heaven and earth are one.

The annual harvest festival will take place on Thursday evening, Sept. 20th. The church, as usual, will be beautifully decorated with fruits and flowers, and Rev. Wm. Farncomb, of Fenelon Falls, will preach the sermon.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES

Yesterday morning the rector delivered special addresses to the members of the congregation on the work of the church. He referred to the fact that it was just two years since he took up his residence amongst them. A retrospect of those two years showed some gains, yet the work accomplished fell far short of the ideal he had set before him. Looking on to the future he earnestly pleaded for an unanimity of spirit, which should manifest itself in the united determination to render their services better attended and more heartily rendered. In connection with the address the Rector announced that on Sunday next two series of sermons would be commenced. In the morning a series of short practical addresses on the 1st Epistle to the Corinthians, and in the evening a course of five sermons on "Religion." The week-day services will be resumed on Friday 21st September. Two lectures will be given on Early Church History, and then the Book of Revelation will be taken up for systematic study. A course of free lectures in the school house on Everyday Hygiene, are being arranged, to be delivered by the doctors of Peterborough. Further notice of these will be given in due course.

CHARLOTTE STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

At this church on Sunday evening Rev. J. J. Rae, the pastor, preached upon the subject of "The all round man." He said that some fifteen years ago he had heard a sermon by Rev. Phillip Brooks that had produced an indelible impression. The text was Rev. xxi, 16—"The length, the breadth, and the height of it are equal." The preacher prefaced his sermon with the remark that whatever strength there might be in his remarks was due to the greatest preacher of the age.

After referring to the beauty and completeness of the heavenly pictures displayed in the book of Revelations, the speaker pointed out that the pictures were the more vivid from the darkness of our point of view in this sordid world, and this fact conveyed the important lesson that humanity must before it can entertain and enjoy the heavenly beauties, undergo a mighty transformation. As the length, and breadth and height of the Temple of God were equal, so must be the dimensions of the life of an all round good man on earth. There was in humanity an intense individuality of life—of choice of nature. There is a bound to every human life into which the nearest and dearest friends cannot enter—a realm into which man must develop by himself. Each man is a puzzle to every man but himself. Reasoning from this, the preacher pointed out that till man could live agreeably with himself — till he could be grand, and good and true—could he take his proper place in a relation of usefulness to his fellow men. Till a man stood in the strength of his own will power, and had a well defined ambition, faithfully wrought out, his individuality was not completed.

As to breadth of a man he could not dissociate himself from his influence upon his fellowmen. There was not, the preacher said, a social or political question in this evil age but presented an opportunity to a good man to multiply himself by means of his influence upon his fellowmen and hence the life to be thus multiplied, must be a good and true one. Man was not made for a life of seclusion. He had a relation to his fellow man that must be sustained. There was need of a broadening of the ideals of life, and men were made broader only that they might come more largely in living touch with the humanity with which they lived. The world was not to be made better because men and women stand so much aloof from their fellow men because they do not reach the breadth of life whose opportunities are presented. A man should have height. He should an inspiration towards God. A man never becomes an all round man till hungered for God. Religion demanded the best powers, talents, passions and will dedicated to God. The lives that touched the world were those lives in touch with God. This life was a distinct life and the great quest of a man should be after God. Christianity alone makes a man, a man. The true growth of man was the rising into better things. When a man realized that life was a ceaseless, aspiration for absorption into the infinity of God, he was near the truth. The preacher said he pleaded for symmetry of life, symmetry of character. A man with self will and well defined ambition, alone was incomplete, though that in itself, that was right. He must have breadth and height to attain symmetry of character, which would ultimately fit him for the enjoyment of the heavenly city whose length and breadth and height were equal. The preacher concluded by urging his hearers to strive for the symmetery of character which would approximate the ideal of the all-round man he had endeavored to present.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

The announcement of the date of the final examinations for the nurses who have passed through the prescribed course of training, has at last been made and the candidates will receive their papers on the morning of the 17th inst. The examining board is this year comprised of Drs. Halliday, King, Boucher and Fife.

Miss Jessie Bolster, head nurse, returned from a short visit in Toronto, Saturday evening.

Miss Violet Dixon has been compelled to postpone her proposed trip to Winnipeg, on account of illness.

Miss Friend, a graduate of the Training School, who is now attached to the permanent staff of the Toronto General Hospital, has evidently not forgotten her friends at her Alma Mater, as several baskets of luscious peaches arrived Saturday evening from her as a present to the lady superintendent and the nurses now in training.

Gardner Head's spaniel brought a huge muskrat to bay in the hospital potato patch the other day. A little chloroform soon settled the animal, which is now being stuffed and mounted. It is a query as to how it came to wander so far from its native haunts.

The proofs of the views, which were taken in the hospital grounds, last week, by Mr. Byers, Peterborough's new photographer, give evidence that the pictures, when toned and finished, will be a credit to the artist. Mr. Byers will repeat his visit next week, when a picture will be taken of the graduating class of nurses, together with the subjects, fully bandaged, whom they used when competing for the prize awarded for the best practical proof of their skill in bandaging. The prize consists of a hypodermic syringe. Another view will also be taken of the staff of nurses, as the entire number at present in the hospital were not included in last week's picture.

An exceedingly large number of visitors were out to see their sick friends, yesterday, and the wards were considerably brightened by the large quantity of flowers which were brought.

Mr. Isaac Dixon, who has lately returned from the Northwest, where he has been sojourning for some time for the benefit of his health, and who is now being treated for lung trouble in the hospital, received a visit from his father and sister of Keene, last week.

The condition of Mr. James Harper and Mr. Joseph Sutton remain unchanged, the former lying in a semi-unconscious condition.

Another typhoid patient was admitted to the hospital on Saturday.

Miss May Roberts is progressing favourably, and is approaching convalescence after a comparatively light siege of typhoid fever.

The infectious ward has again an occupant in the person of Master Percy Fisher, of Lakefield, who is suffering from an attack of diphtheria. He was admitted on Sunday morning.

The three young ladies whose applications have been accepted by the lady superintendent for the vacancies in the nursing staff, occasioned by the graduation of the senior class from the training school, are Miss Edith Johnson, of Belleville, and Misses Nattrass and Fanny Dixon, town. They will enter upon their duties later on in the fall, on the different dates upon which the graduates complete their two years' course.

A SATURDAY EVENING RUNAWAY.

The Residents of Brock Street Witness an Exciting Runaway.

An exciting runaway took place on Brock street about eight o'clock Saturday evening, in which four horses took part. It appears that while a trio of ladies who are said to reside in North Monaghan, outside of the limits of the town, were leaving Dr. Brennan's surgery in a buggy they came in contact with Mr. V. Best's team of horses which were being driven into the entrance between Mr. Best's residence and the surgery. In order to prevent a collision, one of the trio used the whip too forcibly, and the result was that the colts became frightened at the crack of the whip and started away. In their flight they came into collision with the buggy driven by the girls upsetting the trio into the ditch, dashed into Dr. Brennan's buggy, which was standing outside the surgery, against the trees and knocked out Mr. Wm. Logan, who attempted to stop their mad gallop. The ponies then turned completely around and started east towards Water street, coming in contact with a buggy containing two ladies and two children, opposite Dr. Goldsmith's, but the driver of this vehicle held bravely to the lines and no serious results followed. On the ponies galloped, turning south at Water street, down Water to Charlotte and out Charlotte to Downie street where they turned west and were lost track of. By this time a large number had gathered around the trio who were dumped into the ditch, as it was thought they were seriously injured. Dr. Brennan was quickly on hand, and it was found that the three North Monaghan ladies had sustained severe bruises and were considerably shaken up, one of the number receiving serious bruises from the horses' feet about the back and shoulders. All the buggies in the runaway were more or less badly damaged. Mr. Best's ponies were captured yesterday, one at nine o'clock in the morning near the quarry, and the other was found in the afternoon in the stables of Mr. John Edmison, Smith

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success.

WE COVER ALL.

It is one thing to cover up your body, Robinson Crusoe like, with goat skins and tanned palm leaves. It is quite another thing to get well-fitting, neatly-made Suits, Boots and Hats of the latest designs, without paying an exhorbitant price.

MEN'S HATS!
MEN'S SHOES!
MEN'S CLOTHING!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR!
MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

This store appeals to Men—and to Women also. The field of trade is widening continually. Instead of confining ourselves to Clothing, we have, for the fall of 1894, brought together under one roof such things for men's wear as they have shown themselves to want.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $2.65.

On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.

On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 80c.

On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.

On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.

Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

On the best $3 Men's Selected Shell Cordovan Balmoral or Congress, with Dunraven toe, we take off 40c., and ask only $2 60.

On the best Men's Fine Waxed Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1 25.

On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.20.

On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 63c., and ask only $1.98.

Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

BROKEN DOWN

—by disease is the natural result if you allow your liver to become inactive, your blood impure, and your system run down.

The germs of Consumption, Grip, or Malaria, wait for this time of weakness—this is their opportunity.

If you rouse the liver to activity, so it will throw off these germs, purify the blood so there will be no weak spots; build up healthy weight where there is a falling off, you will rest secure from disease, for you'll be germ-proof.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does this as nothing else can. That's the reason it can be guaranteed. In convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, or other wasting diseases, it's an appetizing, restorative tonic to build up needed flesh and strength.

For all diseases of the liver or blood if "Discovery" fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

M'CARTHY WILL RETIRE.

Tim Healy Will Likely Succeed to the Presidency of the League.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The explanations of Justin McCarthy and John Dillon in regard to the circular issued in the name of the Irish party appealing for funds leave the Healyites as greatly dissatisfied as ever. The executive committee of the Irish National League of Great Britain assume the responsibility for the issuance of the circular, but flatly deny that they forwarded a copy of the letter to Mr. Gladstone or to any member of the ministry. Taking this denial for what it is worth, it is inexplicable in the face of the now well-known fact that 12,000 copies of the circular were distributed. It was obviously a general appeal to the English liberals to contribute to the Irish parliamentary fund, and Messrs. McCarthy, Dillon and Tom O'Connor must have been cognizant of it. The event assumes the proportions of a matter of first importance as assisting Tim Healy to exercise control of the next meeting of the Irish party when the matter of selecting an executive officer to succeed Mr. McCarthy will be acted upon. Mr. McCarthy is certain to retire from the presidency at the expiration of his term, and Healy apparently has it in his power to name his successor if not to assume the office himself.

Mr. Sexton maintains a discreet silence in regard to the new turn of affairs, and the belief is becoming general that his reticence is due to the fact that he has discovered, as everybody else has, that he compromised himself by his assertion in the course of debate in the House of Commons that neither to the Government nor to any wealthy English partisan of Irish home rule has any member of the Irish party been indebted for a penny, nor will any of them ever be. This declaration is the theme of sarcastic comment on the part of the Unionist organs and Mr. Sexton is no doubt ashamed of his positive utterances in view of the subsequent developments.

Michael Davitt, however, strikes a different attitude. He warmly defends the acceptance of the contributions of Mr. Gladstone and Lord Tweedmouth and frankly says he wishes more Liberals would follow their examples. Mr. Davitt refutes the charge of want of independence in taking the money. No possible humiliation of the Irish party, he declares, is associated with the acceptance of this money any more than there is in the receipt and acceptance of funds from any other source. He accuses Mr. Healy of being a malignant enemy to the unity of the party and says that he would make a model Parnellite of the later school.

Mr. Healey's suggestion that the contribution of Mr. Gladstone and Lord Tweedmouth ought to be returned to those gentlemen is ridiculed by Mr. Davitt, who insinuates that Mr. Healy for his own advantage would not hesitate to accept the same money. The present outlook is that the upshot of the whole affair will be the triumph of Healy, temporary though it may be. The Healyite members already number thirty in the House of Commons and as they are likely to obtain accessions through the Gladstone-Tweedmouth affair they threaten to control the Irish party. Mr. Healy is making arrangements to start in Dublin a daily newspaper devoted to his interests. In the meantime the Parnellite members are complacently relying upon the disruption of their opponent factions as a means of strengthening their position at the coming elections.

The Trades Union Congress.

Certain resolutions passed by the Trades Union Congress which has been sitting at Norwich throughout the week have placed British workmen at a great disadvantage. In an article endeavoring to excuse them the thorough-going radical Chronicle admits that it is staggered by the crude socialism which has dominated the Congress and thinks that the delegates have been seeing visions. The Chronicle expresses the hope that things practical have not been banished with the advent of the Congress millenial announcements.

Nothing Strange

Intelligent people, who realize the important part the blood holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, find nothing strange in the number of diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles result from impure blood, the best way to treat them is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes the blood.

THE WORK OF THE STORM.

Several Farmers Lose Heavily From Damage Caused by Lightning.

HARRISTON, Ont., Sept. 10.—One of the heaviest electric and rain storms of the season visited this town on Saturday. Thomas Grill's barn was struck with lightning and burned to the ground, together with all the season's crop. It was partly insured, but the loss will be heavy.

HAMILTON, Sept. 10.—On Saturday, while the storm was at its height, a barn on the premises of John Dalton, about a mile over the mountain, was struck by lightning. The barn, sheds and slaughter house were destroyed and two buggies, two pigs, ten tons of hay and some harness were consumed. Loss not known; insurance $200. In Glanford township the barns on William Gage's property were struck and consumed.

SEAFORTH, Ont., Sept. 10.—During a storm lightning destroyed Thomas Lapetie's barn. All the season's crop, including a valuable California colt and four pigs, were burned. Insurance $700 on barn and $1,200 on contents in the McKillop Mutual.

There were also burned two barns belonging to Matthew Scott, Tuckersmith township, with three years' wheat, two years' hay and this season's crop.

HUNTSVILLE, Ont., Sept. 10.—W. Marrin, of the township of Chaffey, had his barn struck by lightning. One horse and a calf were killed and the whole of this year's crop of grain and a threshing machine were totally burned up. No insurance.

Large Woollen Mills Destroyed.

ANTIGONISH, N.S., Sept. 10.—The woollen mill of McKay and Brine, situated at the west end of the town, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. When the alarm was sounded the flames had broken through the roof and all efforts to save either stock or machinery were in vain. The carding machines, looms and machinery in general are complete wrecks, owing to the inflammable nature of the material in the interior of the building. It was with great difficulty that the fire was prevented from spreading to the adjoining lumber yards and mill of John McDonald. Insurance as follows: Western, $3,000; Manchester, $2,000; Phœnix, London, $1,500; Sun, $3,500. The estimated value of the property destroyed is $20,000.

Hawaiian Natives Still Hopeful.

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 10.—Honolulu advices per steamer Warrimoo under date of Sept. 1 say: The president and cabinet have appointed the election of the legislature to take place Oct. 29. Registration is in progress. In a majority of the districts not more than 10 per cent. of the native voters have come forward. They are waiting to know whether the Queen is to be restored. Notwithstanding President Cleveland's recognition of the recognition of the republic of Hawaii some native papers continue to assure the people that the Queen will certainly be restored

An M. P. P.'s Son in Trouble.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 10.—A young man named Hetherington, son of Thomas H. Hetherington, M. P. P. for Queen's county, was arrested last night charged with bigamy. A few days ago a child was found on a door step in this city and the mother was tracked to Queen's county, where she was arrested. She told of her marriage on the quiet to Hetherington, and said he was the father of the child. The child died in the almshouse on Saturday. Hetherington's other wife resides in Queen's county, and he is about 30 years of age.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 189 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

FACTS IN FEW WORDS.

HOW TO DISTINGUISH THE "POOR MAN'S WEATHER-GLASS."

Wife-Beating in Germany and Its Punishment—The Perfect Damascus Sword and Its Triple Excellence—The Alaska Mail—Electricity and How It Affects Labor.

"If you chance to be in the fields when the clouds threaten rain, and notice a plant, whose solitary, five-parted scarlet flowers, rising from the axils of opposite green leaves, are rapidly closing, be wise enough to seek shelter, for this is the 'Pimpernel,' or 'Poor Man's Weather-glass,' and the closing flowers indicate that rain is coming speedily."

In some of the German towns when a man is convicted of beating his wife he is allowed to go to his work as usual, but his wife gets his wages and he is locked up on Saturday nights, and remains in prison untill the following Monday. The punishment usually lasts for ten weeks.

The number of millionaires in England is not so great as one might believe. According to the report of the income tax officials there are in England seventy-one persons with an annual income of $250,000, over 1,100 draw $50,000 annually, and only about 10,000 have an income of $10,000.

A Damascus sword is made of alternate layers of iron and steel, tempered so nicely that the point can be bent back to the hilt, the edge so keen that it will penetrate a coat of mail, and so fine a polish that the Moslem can use it as a looking-glass to arrange his turban.

Alaska's mail service has heretofore been dependent upon Esquimau dogs. Reindeers, however, are so much better for the purpose that the government has imported several families of Laplanders to teach the natives of Alaska how to train and use this animal.

Prof. Asa Gray says that the Washington elm, at Cambridge, has been estimated to produce 7,000,000 leaves, which would make a surface radiation of about five acres in extent, and give out every fair day in the growing season seven and three-quarter tons of moisture.

The capitol at Washington has cost more than $30,000,000. It covers three and a half acres, the dome is 307 feet high and 135 in diameter and is exceeded in size only by St. Peter's in Rome, St. Paul's in London, the Invalides in Paris and St. Isaac's in St. Petersburg.

The displacement of labor by labor-saving appliances is markedly illustrated by the fact that eleven electric power traveling cranes recently put into use in the yards of the Carnegie Steel Company at Homestead, has dispensed with the services of fifty men.

Branding live stock as well as dressed meats by electricity has come largely into use. The ham is held only for a few seconds against the white heat electric brand, and a clear, deep-cut impression remains. It is extremely rapid and cleanly.

In health and during exercise the average man has about twenty respirations a minute and forty cubic inches are inhaled at each respiration; in an hour 48,000 cubic inches of air will be inspired; in twenty-four hours 1,152,000 cubic inches.

A new kind of a thermometer is advocated by a Mr. Grosse, of Ilmenau, Germany, who has taken out a patent, or rather a trademark, for the new instrument, in which tonlene is to be employed instead of mercury or alcohol, as at present.

What is generally believed to be the first iron bridge ever built is still in use. It spans a small stream on the Worcester and Shrewsbury Railroad in England, and was erected in 1778. It is 96 feet long.

The test for symmetery is to turn a man with his face toward the wall. If he is perfectly formed his chest will touch it, his nose will be four inches away, his thighs five, the tips of his toes three.

A foxhound owned by Policeman Byrnes, of Manayunk, Pa., followed his master into the water after a drowning boy and succeeded in reaching the boy first and keeping him up until help arrived.

In 1893 3,341 ships passed through the Suez Canal, yielding $68,000,000 in dues. The canal is only 88 miles long, but it reduced the distance from England to India, by sea, nearly 4,000 miles.

Some people call the stormy petrel the "lamp bird." It is so oily that the fishermen of St. Kilda stick a wick in the mouth of a dead specimen, light it and it burns for an hour.

A New York syndicate has been formed for the purpose of buying an island off the coast of Maine, stocking it with black foxes and engaging in the fur trade.

Twenty-four days after the opening of the London tower bridge no fewer than 1,275,000 persons had passed over it, and in twelve days 75,000 vehicles.

The oldest and biggest carving fork in the world is kept in the old castle of Pau, in France. It was the property of King Henry of Navarre.

POINTS FROM THE BICYCLE.

A Revolution in Steam and Electricity May Be Brought About.

For many years man has attempted the construction of a successful road machine to be propelled by the rider, says the Scientific American. The first signs of real success came in the application of crank propulsion to the old velocipede. The next development was the introduction of elastic tires of India rubber. Then came the last and greatest improvement, the pneumatic tire. Meanwhile the proportions and details of the machine were constantly changing, until the wheel of to-day was evolved with its ball bearings, wherever possible, and with air-inflated tires. Where he has to propel himself, man naturally has done everything to facilitate the work. The principal bearings of a bicycle, all except those of the chain gearing, work on hard steel balls, running with a minimum of friction and readilo adjustable for end shake. The solid rubber tire enabled the average rider to make high speed; the modern pneumatic tire adds three or four miles an hour more to his rate. But while man has effected these improvements where his own individual exertions are concerned, does it not seem as if he had neglected to extend his ingenuity to the horse, steam and electricity-propelled vehicles? An impression that the bicycle has engrossed all the time of the constructor and inventor of improvements in vehicles is created—the carriage and the rail car seem awaiting their turn.

A few solid rubber-tired carriages still fewer pneumatic-tired vehicles, are seen upon our roads and streets. The pneumatic sulky used on the race track is a side issue. Roller or ball bearings are a rarity among carriages and on railroads. It is unquestionable that, if it could be done, a veritable revolution in steam and electrical transportation might be brought about by the further application of these improvements. It seems absurd to suggest a steam railroad car on pneumatic tires. But light short cars could certainly be carried on elastic tires of some kind, which would do away with the greater part of the noise and injurious jarring of iron wheels against steel rails. The friction of car wheels is greatly diminished by roller or ball bearings. By every improvement in the direction of preventing jarring, lightness of construction would be favored. The whole system of transporting passengers in vehicles operated by steam or electricity is subject to radical modifications. The rail car as now used, is open to criticism in many respects. Possibly the whole system of operating railroads, may yet be changed. But it is hard to believe that the lesson taught by the bicycle cannot be of use to the railroad engineer. Elastic tires, light construction, almost frictionless bearings, should have some place in his economy.

Going In for Style.

I sat on the veranda of the village tavern reading a newspaper when a colored man came up the steps, hat in hand, and when I looked up he said:

"Boss, I'ze collectin' fur de church. Our church got blowed down by the sighclone, an' we want to build it up agin."

"I gave him a quarter, and it wasn't twenty minutes before a second man came along and asked for a similar donation. I gave him the same amount, and he was hardly out of sight when No. 3 showed up.

"But I've given to two churches already," I explained. "There couldn't have been three churches wrecked by a cyclone."

"Deed, but there was, sah!" he replied. "Dat sighclone just blowed free churches all to smash."

"But only three?"

"Only tree, sah."

I gave him a quarter, and ten minutes later a fourth man ascended the steps and said he was collecting for a church.

"Was the church building destroyed?" I asked.

"Yes, sah—knocked all to pieces."

"But I have it that the cyclone only destroyed three."

"Dat's all, sah. I'ze no sighclone collector, like dem odder pussons. Didn't no wind cum along an' blow our church over, same as a mule shed."

"Then what happened it?"

"Why, sah, I has de extinguished honor to disform yo' dat our church had de pomposity to be struck by one of de most 'rhistocratic thunderbolts eber seen in dis locality an' was smashed to sq'ash in de twinklin' of an eye. Yas, sah, an' de same bolt had de premeditated fecility to strike de hogpen of de richest man in town doorin' de same emoshunal conflict of de elements."

It was worth fifty cents, and I gave it to him.—St. Louis Republic.

HE BOBS UP AGAIN.

Sam Murray, Whom the Doctors had Pronounced as Incurable, Still on Deck—Now Acting as Foreman for a Big Lumber Concern.

North Bay, Sept. 3,—Sam Murray's name is one that has often figured in newspaper columns during the past eighteen months because he was cured of paralysis and blood poisoning by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after half a dozen physicians had pronounced him incurable. On the strength of physicians' certificates, Murray was paid his disability claim by the Grand Trunk. Since he was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, he has been accepted as a first-class risk by a leading life insurance company. About a year ago, he got a position as foreman for the big lumber concern of Davidson & Hay, of Toronto, and the fact that he was able to satisfactorily to attend to the trying duties of such a position, is ample evidence of the permanency of his cure.

SOMETHING OF INTEREST

About Pianos!

—:o:—

It Is An Actual Fact

That J. W. CROSBY sells Better Pianos for Less Money than any traveller or outside agent.

1st. Because he has no big salaries or commissions to pay to agents.

2nd. Because his expenses, rent, taxes, etc. in Peterborough, are more than one-half less than travellers and representatives living in the cities.

3rd. Because having the control of the best instruments of all the best Piano makers in the country, competition between the different makers gives him the advantage over the representatives of any one single Piano firm.

J. W. Crosby has sold about 200 Pianos in and near Peterborough. He sells the Williams, Morris, Rheinhart, Uxbridge and Gerhard Heintzman Pianos, and can undersell for quality of goods, price and terms, any and all outsiders. Try him.

Pianos from $200 to $400. He can save you $50 over outsiders or won't ask you to buy.

HEALTH AND HYGIENE.

PRACTICAL HINTS OF VALUE TO MARRIED AND SINGLE PEOPLE.

A Simple Treatment for Burns—How to Take a Lung Bath—Treating a Cut—Keep the Shoes Dry—Eating the Skins of Fruit.

In these days of experiment when, as an eminent surgeon recently remarked, "the profession seems mainly interested in trying to see how much of the human frame they can cut away and still have the victim live," it is interesting to record, says a contemporary, an instance wherein doctors have been willing to depart slightly from the scientific and try the efficacy of what some of their contemporaries contemptuously call "old women's remedies." A young woman, aged 18, was burned by the igniting of a quantity of gasoline. The arms, face, neck, shoulders, and the inside of the mouth and throat were badly burned, the hands especially being so charred that the flesh crumbled into black powder upon being touched. The treatment consisted of applications of soft paste made of lard and flour. This was renewed as fast as the flour became dried and crumbly by the absorption of the fat. Upon the first application there was a decided sense of relief, which was increased by the free use of opiates. No other remedy was used, and the burns, although very deep in some places, involving not less than half an inch of the flesh, healed without a scar.

How to Take a Lung Bath.

Did you ever hold a watch and see for how many seconds you could keep a stream of air flowing into your lungs? If not, make the test, and you will find that, no matter how small the stream, you cannot keep it constantly flowing in for more than fifteen, twenty, or possibly thirty seconds; but if you will try two or three times each day you can double the time within two weeks. The boy or girl who will try this and keep it up regularly for a year will not be likely to die of consumption, and should they ever become public speakers or singers they will be very thankful that they commenced when young to take "lung baths." Harper's Young People, in speaking about breathing, says: Did you ever think of taking a lung bath? One's lungs need cleansing as surely as do the hands and face. This is especially true after one has been in a crowded hall or church, breathing in so many impurities. How can one take a lung bath? By simply drawing a deep breath and then expelling the air from your lungs. You will feel wonderfully refreshed thereby and the general health will be improved.

How to Treat a Cut.

Adhesive plaster ought to be the best procurable, and instead of keeping it in a roll in the drawer it ought to be cut into strips of different breadths. It is thus ready for immediate use and there is no chance of it sticking together as it does if kept in bulk. When it is necessary to use this plaster to keep the edges of the wound together, first and foremost care must be exercised to see that the wound is perfectly clean, and that no sand, glass, or grit is in it, which would cause festering and prevent it from healing. Never cover a wound wholly up with a piece of plaster; whatever be its size use narrow strips. Warm the plaster up by holding the back of it against a can of boiling water for a few seconds, then apply it across the wound, leaving a small space between each strip to give exit to the lymph. Remember that sticking plaster has no healing action in itself; the benefits derived from its use are of a purely mechanical nature. Clean cuts are better bound up with the blood, simply with a linen rag, for sticking plaster is of no use until the bleeding has ceased.

Keep the Shoes Dry.

Keeping the feet dry is of quite as much importance in summer as in winter, though many persons do not seem to realize this.

In the heavy dews of morning and evening the shoes get damp and suffer seriously, even though the health may not. It is worth while to keep a strict lookout as to the coverings of little feet. When they come off at night it is well to have an old stocking full of dry oats or beans. Put these into the shoes, tie a string around the stocking just at the ankle, and set the shoes away for the night. The grain will not only draw out all the moisture from the leather, but will keep the shoes in shape without allowing them to shrink.

Rubber boots for men and boys may be filled with beans or oats and dried out when all other means have failed. There is nothing more uncomfortable than to put on damp and soggy shoe leather, and with forethought and precaution it is entirely unnecessary.—Ledger.

Never Eat the Skins of Fruit.

The skins of fruit should never be eaten, not because they are not palatable or digestible or are unhealthy in themselves, but on account of the danger arising from microbes which have penetrated into the covering of the fruit. Everybody has noticed, remarks the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, that at times a slight scratch will create a considerable sore on the human body. It is generally ascribed to an unhealthy condition of the blood, but a close microscopical examination will show that it is due to the presence of microbes thus introduced into the system. So with an apple, a peach, a pear or a grape. The fruit may be perfectly sound and healthy, but on the skin or covering may be microbes, which introduced into the human system, will breed disease. These germs are not uncommon, neither are they always present. It is possible to eat this covering without injury, but the danger is such that it is best not to incur the risk.

There is no instance on record of any class possessing power without abusing it.—Buckle.

Hensall Planing Mill Destroyed.

HENSALL, Ont., Sept. 10.—Fire broke out in the planing mill owned and occupied by Robert Patterson, contractor, consuming the building and a quantity of lumber in the yard. The building contained most of the finished material for this year's contracts. Loss on buildings and contents $7,000; no insurance. It is not known how the fire originated, but it is supposed to have commenced on the second flat.

An Antipodean Embezzler Arrested.

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 10.—A man named Bollman, a fugitive from justice, was arrested on the arrival of the Australian steamer Warrimoo yesterday, charged with embezzling £1,200 from his employers in Sydney, N.S.W. He offered a large sum of money to be let go.

West Durham Liberals.

BOWMANVILLE, Ont., Sept. 10.—At the Reform convention held here to nominate a candidate for the Commons contest in West Durham. Mr. Robt. Beith, the present member, received the unanimous vote of the convention.

NEW ZEALAND PROTESTS.

Antipodean Colonies Indignant at the Annexation of Necker Island.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The London agent of the Colony, of New Zealand, has received a cable despatch instructing him to protest to the Imperial Government against the annexation by Hawaii of Necker Island. The London agents of Victoria, Tasmania and South Australia have received instructions to support the protest of New Zealand.

The Law Has Him at Last.

DENTON, Tex., Sept. 10.—Spence Holder, who was indicted by a Denton county grand jury twenty-three years ago for killing Frank Copenhaver, and who made his escape and has been at large ever since, came in on Saturday and gave himself up. He sued out a writ of habeas corpus in the district court and was granted bail in the sum of $3,000, which he readily gave. Since the killing he has spent sixteen years in Kansas and the remaining seven years in Southern Texas.

A Horseman Badly Injured.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 10.—Archie Sample, aged 18, was speeding his horse at the fair grounds. The wire at the judge's stand dropped and caught him under the chin, almost tearing his head from his shoulders. He was thrown violently to the ground, fracturing his thigh and being otherwise injured. His injuries are believed to be fatal.

Damage Done by a Cloudburst.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 10.—The cloudburst here did damage to the extent of $60,000. The flooded district is more than a mile square. Residences in many places were flooded to their second stories. The people in the flooded districts are very poor and assistance will be needed.

Two Bathers Drowned.

CRANSTONS, Sept. 10.—Joseph Gaffney and Philip Nandick, of New York, aged 17 and 20 years respectively, were drowned while bathing in the Hudson river near here yesterday.

The New Cable a Success.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The Commercial Cable Company's new cable, which was laid up the bay from Coney Island by the steamer Mackay Bennett last Sunday, was joined up yesterday and messages were exchanged between the company's station in this city and Canso, N.S. The signals are perfect and the company's officials are highly pleased with the improvement effected. This is the first and only ocean cable actually landing in the city of New York.

Destructive Gale in Illinois.

ELGIN, Ill., Sept. 10.—A gale with destructive results visited this city and its vicinity on Saturday, continuing for hours. Basements of business houses were flooded, and much damage was caused. Several places here were struck by lightning and burned, while in the surrounding country a storm resembling a cyclone swept a patch three miles in width, leveling outbuildings and corn to the ground.

Killed His Brother in a Quarrel.

WESTFORD, Mass., Sept. 10.—In a quarrel between two brothers, Charles and Willard Reed, Willard shot his brother, the bullet taking effect over the eye, killing him.

Hygienic Conference Adjourned.

BUDA PESTH, Sept. 10.—The international hygienic congress adjourned yesterday after selecting Madrid for the next place of meeting.

TURNBULL'S

Fresh from the German Manufacturers. Our new stock has arrived and is now opened out. It contains all new and desirable cuts to date. New colourings, new trimmings, and also new prices, as we ourselves were surprised at the Mantle the manufacturer has given us to sell for $3.00, while for $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00 they are just beauties, both in cloth and trimmings; for $9.00, $10.00, $11.00 you get the pick of the bulk of the stock. Also we are showing a line of Fur Lined Capes at $16.00 and $20.00 which have to be seen and tried on to be appreciated. We have not forgotten the children as we are showing a nice range of Ulsters in all sizes and shades. Our Mantle Cloths are now opened out and we believe we have never shown as pretty and cheap a range. MISS TULLY, who is head of this department, is well known and needs no introduction. She always gives a perfect fit. We have made preparations for a very large Mantle trade this season and are confident we will do it as we have the goods direct from the makers, and our long experience has taught us to know a good selling line when we see it. A cordial invitation is given to look through and inspect our stock whether you intend to buy that particular day or not. No trouble to show goods.

AS BAD AS SMUGGLING

Three Montreal Firms Have Been Regularly Defrauding the Customs.

IMPORTED JUTE FREE OF DUTY

But Upon This a Duty of Twenty Per Cent. Should Have Been Paid—The Firms Claim the Circumstance the Result of a Misunderstanding.

MONTREAL, Sept. 11.—The customs officials in Montreal have made one of the biggest seizures in the history of the port. The firms implicated are the Canada Jute Company, Consumers' Cordage Company and Dominion Bag Company. The companies have been asked to produce and hand over all invoices, bills, accounts and statements of goods imported and entered by them during the last six years.

The charge preferred against the firms in question is that for a period of three years or longer they have been importing free of duty jute known as "cream hessian" from Dundee, Scotland, and which had been partly manufactured, and upon which there is a duty of 20 per cent. It is claimed that the duty accruing to the Government, say in three years, would in round figures amount to $50,000 besides penalties, which are roughly put down at $50,000.

The steamship Teutonic, now entered at customs, has on board a quantity of the goods for Montreal. These of course will be detained until a settlement has been arrived at.

The Canada Jute Company has been in existence for nearly twenty years and employs a good many hands. It does an annual business of about $350,000, out of which goods to the extent of about $160,000 are shipped to it from Dundee annually. The firms claim that they will be able to clear themselves, and that it is more of a misunderstanding than any attempt to defraud the customs.

AFTER OUR PINE LOGS.

A Venezuelan Lumber Merchant Will Open Up Trade With Canada.

OTTAWA, Sept. 11.—Johnna Reuter, a Spanish lumber merchant of Venezula, is at the Russell. He is in Ottawa for the purpose of establishing a trade in Canadian pine logs between here and Venezula. Mr. Reuyer says that New York has been his market for logs for many years, but as a result of his trip to Canada he has discovered that he can do much better by shipping from Montreal or Quebec and at the same time get a better class of logs. His contract with the New York firm expires in December, after that date he will make Ottawa his purchasing point for Canadian pine. His yearly shipment will be one million and a half feet or three or four vessel loads each year, each vessel carrying between three and four thousand feet of logs. Montreal or Quebec will be the shipping ports. Before coming to Ottawa Mr. Reuter visited the Michigan lumber districts, but he thinks the Michigan pine is not half as good quality as that floated down the Ottawa. Mr. Reuter states that Canadian pine is very much in demand in Venezuela and is now being more used for building purposes than any other timber imported into Central America.

Chief of Police McVeity detailed one of the police force to make the rounds of the city and see if any of the liquor bars were open. The policeman was in plain clothes and caught no less than nine bars wide open for business. In one case he got the same bar open at two different times. This action of the chief was brought about by the great number of people who on the Sunday previous were noticed going about the streets more or less intoxicated. It is said that a conviction can be secured in each case.

A Prominent Hamiltonian Dead.

HAMILTON, Sept. 11.—Mr. Lyman Moore, for many years one of Hamilton's best known and most enterprising business merchants and manufacturers, died at his residence here on Saturday evening, aged 66 years. He had been an invalid for four years, having lost his health through too close attention to business. For many years he was partner in the firm of J. Winer & Co. But at the time of his retirement from business he was manager of the Hamilton glass works, in which concern he was a big stockholder. He was for many years president of the Hamilton street railway. In politics he was a reformer and was one of the proprietors of the Hamilton Times. He was universally respected by all who know him. He leaves a widow, one son and four daughters.

Incendiary Fire in Bradford.

BRADFORD, Ont., Sept. 11.—Last evening a fire broke out in the large skating rink in this village, and in about ten minutes the entire structure was a sheet of flames. On account of its close proximity to the business portion of the village great fears were entertained that another disastrous conflagration was going to overtake our town, but by hard work with the hand fire engine the fire was confined to the rink and adjoining shed. Loss about $1,500; insured for $400. The fire was the work of incendiaries.

JUST A PRACTICAL JOKE

But it Caused Philip Reaves, a Montreal Man, to End His Life.

HE SUICIDED AT SEABRIGHT

He Was a Man of Sensitive Mind and a Jest Made at His Expense Caused Him to Brood—His Mind Said to Have Been Unhinged.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Philip Reaves, the man who hanged himself at Seabright on Saturday, is well known in this city and in the Canadian colony on Staten Island. He was a Montrealer by birth, but has lived in this city for the past twelve years. He was head bookkeeper and confidential clerk in the office of W. Bayard Cutting, and was in addition a personal friend of the Cutting family. In Montreal Mr. Reaves was well known socially.

By his friends Reaves has been considered erratic for years. He was an extremely sensitive man and those who knew him best declare that his suicide was the direct result of a practical joke. Reaves went to Seabright early in June. He was a morose man and made few friends in his boarding house where he was stopping. Every morning he used to go bathing by himself. The suit he wore was a peculiar one.

About three weeks ago Reaves received a letter written on the blank letter-head of Peter Hall Parker. The letter protested that his bathing suit was immodest and ordered him not to wear it again. The letter was unsigned. Mr. Parker assured Mr. Reaves that the letter-head had been stolen and that he had nothing to do with the writing of it. The letter worried Reaves extremely, but he continued to wear his bathing suit, however. On Saturday morning he left his boarding house directly after breakfast and went in bathing. After his swim he returned to the house and shut himself up in his room.

Later in the day his body was found hanging by a rope, which he had tied around the transom.

A man who knew Reaves well said to day: "Reaves was the last man in the world who would commit suicide when he was in his right mind. In an inoffensive way Reaves has been as mad as a hatter for the past few years. He was a punctilious sort of a chap and that affair about the bathing suit was just the sort of thing that would worry him to death.

"About two years ago one of his brothers died in Montreal and left him a good deal of money. He made no change in his manner of living, however. He was a hypochrondiac and always lived in terror of catching cold. Another queer trick of his was to ask you the same question over and over again. During the last year his peculiarities became so marked that he did not go out to any extent. He was a good musician and passionately fond of music. Before his peculiarities became so marked Reaves was as white a man as you would meet anywhere."

The body, which now lies at the Long Branch morgue, will be taken in charge of by Mr. Cutting until his relatives in Montreal have been heard from. In all probability his body will be forwarded to Montreal. Mr. Reaves was 36 years old.

A DASTARDLY CRIME.

The Town of Dalton, Ohio, Fired by an Incendiary.

MASSILLON, Ohio, Sept. 11.—The town of Dalton, eight miles from this city, was fired by an incendiary yesterday and forty-seven buildings, exclusive of barns, were burned entailing a loss of $250,000 and rendering eleven families destitute. Suspicion points to Otto Hartle as being the incendiary. He has served time for criminal assault committed in Dalton, and citizens here feel certain that he set fire to the town for the purpose of revenge, as he made threats of this kind after his release. Hartle, suspected incendiary, is but 24 years old, but has earned a very bad reputation. He has disappeared.

Mrs. Stanford Pays Up.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—The Examiner says that Mrs. Stanford has paid off the last of the debts due from the Stanford estate and is now anxious for a distribution of the estate so that she may secure personal control of the property of which she is now executrix. As soon as the distribution is ordered the erection of nearly a half million dollars worth of new buildings and the early extension of the university at Palo Alto to three times its present magnitude will begin.

Refused to Take a Reduction.

FITCHBURG, Mass., Sept. 11.—The employes of the Parkhill mill refused to resume work at from 3 to 7 per cent. reduction in wages when the mill was re-opened yesterday after a three weeks' shut-down and the mill was closed again.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

Chinese Soldiers, Hemmed in by Japs, Are in a Most Destitute Condition.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A despatch to the Times from Shanghai says that Corean reports agree with those of the Chinese concerning the defeat of the Chinese troops at Tatung river. Wounded Japanese soldiers are arriving at Chemulpo daily.

Another despatch from Shanghai says the Chinese forces in the northern part of Corea are being hemmed in by Japanese, and, being without supplies, are obliged to kill their cavalry horses for food.

All the foreign employes in the Japanese dock yards are being dismissed, presumably to conceal the extent of the injuries sustained by the Japanese warships in recent engagements with the Chinese. The Japanese cruiser Yayeyama Kan has been docked at Nagasaki for repairs. The dock is carefully guarded and no foreigners are permitted near it.

Japanese advices say that the Mikado and the Japanese Ministers of War and Marine have gone to Hiroshima to observe the embarkation of large detachments of troops which are being sent to the seat of war.

A despatch from Shanghai says that according to statements of Chinese officials the Japanese warship Hiyei after an engagement with the Chinese cruiser Chen Yuen sank while endeavoring to reach Japan in order to make repairs.

BEATTY'S BIG SCHEME

Light Wanted on the Transactions of His Irrigation Company.

CANUCK CAPITAL INTERESTED

How it is Claimed John C. Beatty Intended Realizing Several Million Dollars on a Section of Worthless Land to Which He Had No Title.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—According to the allegations contained in a complaint filed in the United States Circuit Court, Judge Lacombe has been called upon to take action with the object of preventing the continuation and final consummation of one of the most colossal frauds in modern times.

The chief actor in this scheme, John C. Beatty, although an American, is at present resident in Mexico, and his victims include prominent New Yorkers and other residents of the United States and Canada.

How far the scheme has succeeded has not yet been determined, but one victim, James H. Beatty, president of the German and Northwest Insurance Company of Ontario, and of the Federal Life Assurance Company of Hamilton, Ont., swears he has lost $87,500, and it is charged that the goal of John C. Beatty's ambition was to fraudulently obtain possession of $7,500,000. The complainants in the case, in addition to James H. Beatty, are James C. Aiken, Benj. H. Doane and Leo Wormser, of New York.

The defendants are all directors or trustees of the Colorado River Irrigation Company.

The company was first organized on January 7, 1893 under the name of the Arizona and Sonora Land and Irrigation Co., but the title was changed on January 9, 1893, to its present form. Its ostensible object was to carry on the irrigation of lava in California, Arizona, Lower California and Mexico. Its capital stock was $7,500,000, divided into 150,000 shares of $50 each.

According to the complaint, the company was organized by John C. Beatty for his sole interest and benefit and to enable him to realize $7,500,000 on a tract of worthless land containing 1,500,000 acres on the Altar river in the province of Sonora in Mexico, to which he did not even have a title.

Having organized the company and obtained the issue of the capital stock by alleged fraudulent and fictitious statements John C. Beatty went about negotiations with the object of transferring the land to the company for the whole of its total stock or $7,500,000. The land formed part of what is known in Mexico as the Jecker concession, the meaning of which is not explained in the complaint but it is charged that John C. Beatty had no title to it.

The board of directors, it is charged, were then, as now, the mere tools and creatures of John C. Beatty, ready and willing to carry out his behest. The president of the board was Charles H. Dow, and by a vote of the majority it was agreed to transfer 250,000 shares of the company to John C. Beatty for $7,750,000 as soon as it was possible to carry out the transaction. Beatty's factotums made no effort to investigate either the character of the land or the genuineness of Beatty's claim to it. To further facilitate matters, Beatty's board of directors decided to appoint him manager with exclusive control of the company at a salary of $6,000, while Frank A. Miller, concerned with Beatty, was elected vice president of the company and also given a salary of $6,000 a year, both of which transactions are charged to be illegal.

The first actual transfer of stock was made on January 10, 1894, by the board of directors, when 56,000 shares were transferred to John C. Beatty on the basis of 560,000 acres of land, or one share for ten acres. John C. Beatty himself presided at the meeting, and against protests of James H. Beatty, a stockholder, it was agreed to issue 56,000 shares of new stock.

In March last James H. Beatty obtained from the Supreme Court of the state of New York a mandamus requiring the directors to show him the books, but John C. Beatty went off to California taking the minute book of the transfer with him, and James H. Beatty was unable to get the evidence he wanted concerning the title of the Jecker concession.

The known assets of the company did not exceed $40,000. It had no bank account since last October and was obliged to give up its offices at 66 Broad street, this city, last July for non-payment of rent. Its offices in Philadelphia, Washington, Denver and other cities had previously been given up, after the country for miles around had been flooded with prospectus and pamphlets describing the land as an Eldorado. The only place where the company now has an office is in Providence, R.I.

The company's known property in California consists of chattels worth $39,617.39, which John C. Beatty by a bill of sale alleged to be fraudulent transferred to the engineer, Charles T. Rockwood, without any consideration. In addition to this, Rockwood, it is said, is still drawing $400 a month for doing nothing, and the company owes him $10,000, although he never did anything for it. Judge Lacombe will be asked to appoint a receiver to take charge of the company's affairs. He will also be asked to declare that the issue of the $56,000 of stock was spurious and illegal, and that the contract between the directors on the one side and John C. Beatty on the other was fraudulent and ultra vires, and that the whole transaction was void. An injunction is asked for to prevent Beatty from selling or transferring any part of the stock or certificates except under direction of the court.

James H. Beatty, the Canadian, purchased 10,000 shares and paid $35,500, and each one of those mentioned as complainants held 550 shares. At the time it is impossible to ascertain how much money has been paid into the company, but all that has been paid, it is declared, has gone into the pockets of John C. Beatty.

By an international agreement the waters of the Colorado river, except under certain conditions, cannot be used for purposes of irrigation.

REGISTER! REGISTER.

THE preparation of the voters' lists is now well under way, and it is high time for those who by their circumstances will not be enrolled unless they take personal pains to see that they are, to bestir themselves and take the steps necessary. Every person should, sometime towards the end of this month, when the lists are nearing completion, call at the office of the revising barrister, Judge Weller, and find out whether or not he is on. If not, a sworn application can be made.

All others should lose no time in making the necessary application. Blank forms for this purpose can be obtained at the EXAMINER office, and these, after being filled up and sworn to before a Justice of the Peace, should be filed with the revising barrister. It may not be out of place to again state the qualifications :—

All applicants must be of the full age of twenty-one years and British subjects, and may qualify under :

1. Owner.
2. Tenant.
3. Occupant.
4. Income.
5. Farmer's son.
6. Owner's son.

2. Tenant—Tenant of real property worth least at $300. In a town worth at least $200, or in a place other than a city or town worth at least $150.

2. Tenant—Tenant of real property at a monthly rental of at least $2, or a quarterly rental of at least $6, or a half yearly rental of at lest $12, or an annual rental of at least $20, and possession thereof as such tenant for at least one year prior to date of application, and has bona fide paid one year's rent for such real property.

3. Occupant—Occupant of real property in a city, worth at least $300, or a town worth at least $200, and in any place other than a town or city, worth at least $150. Must have been in occupation of such real property for at least a year before date of application.

3. Income,—If a resident within electoral district and derives an income annually from his earnings in money or money's worth or from some investment in Canada of at least $300 and has so derived such income and been a resident of Canada for one year next before date of application.

5. Farmer's son,—If father is living, is and has been a resident for one year next before date of application with his father. Father's land must be sufficient in value to qualify himself and his sons. If not, elder sons to have preference.

If father is dead, is and has been resident for one year next before date of application with mother or part of time with mother and part with father.

6. Owner's son,—Same rule as in case of farmer's son.

THE DOMINION DEFICIT.

The financial statement of the Dominion Government, which is being published in the Conservative journals, records a deficit of considerable size. No doubt every device has been resorted to to prevent this showing, yet it has reached the respectable mount of $1,156,620. The statement for the twelve months in brief is made up as follows :

	Year 1893-94.
Revenue—
Customs	$19,198,546
Excise	8,280,131
Post office	2,809,341
Public Works, including railways	3,700,143
Miscellaneous	2,248,593
Total	$36,236,753
Expenditure	$37,393,373

There was a decline in customs revenue of $1,755,154, the other resources of revenue yielding about as much as they did before. But despite the falling revenue, the national expenditure increased during the year by $648,252. During the year the net debt increased by $4,483,948, and is now $246,163,926. With a few more Curran bridge scandals, and a continual waste of public money, the people may look forward to an era of deficits, unless a change in the administration of affairs takes place during the coming year, when it is expected a general election will take place.

MILLBROOK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Davidson, of the Turner Drug Co., is spending his holidays in Omemee.

East Durham and Cavan fall show will take place in Millbrook on Oct. 4th and 5th.

B Raper has been elected assistant chief of the fire company in place of J. Richardson, resigned.

Geo. Hetherington and party who have been camping at Pigeon Creek, returned home last Friday.

The town council will leave on Wednesday to visit Newmarket, Cannington, Beaverton and several other places for the purpose or looking into the electric light plants of each place and deciding on what kind will be placed in Millbrook.

The Citizens Band intend giving a grand concert on fall show night.

The Queen's hotel is in full swing again. John Crocker is the new proprietor.

Rev. R. A. Spence, of Manitoba, will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church next Sunday.

A Mechanic's Institute will be established in Millbrook shortly.

The Royal Templars have moved into their new quarters, on the third flat of the Might block. Last Friday night, they gave a concert in their new rooms, which was a grand success.

Quite a number left town for Toronto, on Monday, to take in the exhibition.

Safe, Sure and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure-pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painlessly. Do not be imposed upon by substitutes.

SIRS,—My baby was very bad with summer complaint, and I thought he would die, until I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. With the first dose I noticed a change for the better, and now he is cured, and fat and healthy. MRS. A. NORMANDIN, London, Ont.

MEET THE APPROACH.

The Toronto News says: The new American tariff contains an offer of an open market for salt, coal oil and agricultural implements from any country that will admit like products from the United States free of duty.

This offer should be accepted by the Canadian Government. The latter ought to go even further and reduce the duty on bituminous coal to forty cents a ton so as to meet the American reduction and abolish all taxation on lumber just as the Americans have done.

Continental free trade in lumber, coal, coal oil, agricultural implements and salt would be an excellent thing. The consumers on both sides of the line would be benefitted under it, and nothing could be imagined better calculated to boom the coal mines of Nova Scotia, the farm implement factories and the salt industry of Western Ontario. By all means let us have it as soon as possible.

CRISPI SPEAKS AT NAPLES.

His Remarks Considered to Express More Than Usual Significance.

ROME, Sept. 11.—Premier Crispi inaugurated in Naples yesterday the memorial erected in honor of King Humbert's visit to the city during the cholera epidemic of 1884.

He made a notable speech, beginning with a review of recent Italian politics and closing with a declaration as to the social problems of the day and especially the revolutionary movement. The social system was now passing, he said, through a momentous crisis. The situation had become so acute that it seemed absolutely necessary for civil and religious authority to unite and work harmoniously against that infamous band on whose flag were inscribed the words "No God, no King." This band had declared war on society. Let society accept the declaration and shout back the battle cry, "For God, King and Country."

The politicians and clergy here regard this speech as the weightiest utterance of years. Its whole letter and spirit, they say, suggest the approach to an understanding between the government and the church.

STILL THE FOREST FIRES.

They Are Burning Fiercely in Several Districts—Saxon in Danger.

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 11.—Strong winds have fanned the forest fires in this vicinity and they are burning fiercely in nearly every direction. Washburn has been enveloped in a cloud of smoke all day. The following despatch was received from Saxon last night:

"Forest fires are raging about here. Water is being hauled by running teams. Citizens are moving out of their homes with all possible speed. If the wind continues for a few hours the town is lost."

Saxon is a small town on the Northwestern road. It was threatened last week and it was supposed that the timber there was sufficiently burned off to prevent further damage.

A Bad Wreck

—of the constitution may follow in the track of a disordered system, due to impure blood or inactive liver. Don't run the risk! The proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery take all the chances. They make a straightforward offer to return your money if their remedy fails to benefit or cure in all disorders and affections due to impure blood or inactive liver. The germs of disease circulate through the blood; the liver is the filter which permits the germs to enter or not. The liver active, and the blood pure, and you escape disease.

When you're run down, debilitated, weak, and your weight below a healthy standard, you regain health, strength, and wholesome flesh, by using the "Discovery." It builds uy the body faster than nauseating Cod liver oil or emulsions.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation, piles, biliousness, indigestion, or dyspepsia, and headaches.

GENTLEMEN,—I have used your Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, prains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. All who use it recommend it.

After the Grip

No Strength, No Ambition

Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Perfect Health.

The following letter is from a well-known merchant tailor of St. George, N. B.:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen—I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills have done me a great deal of good. I had a severe attack of the grip in the winter, and after getting over the fever I did not seem to gather strength, and had no ambition. Hood's Sarsaparilla proved to be just what I needed. The results were very satisfactory, and I recommend this medicine to all who are afflicted with rheumatism or other

A New Grocer
COME TO TOWN.

I take pleasure in announcing that I have purchased the Grocery and Provision Business, lately carried on by Mr. W. J. HALL, in the well-known and long established premises at

No. 355 George St., Burnham's Block.

The present stock, which has been well bought, and is in first-class condition, will be replenished with a more complete assortment of FAMILY GROCERIES, PROVISIONS and everything in the culinary line.

Also PRIME SUGAR CURED HAM, BACON, PORK, FLOUR, EGGS, BUTTER, &c. In every case the best goods will be bought, then we know what we are selling. If there are two qualities we will always get the better one.

My business will be conducted on the CASH principle—buying for cash and selling for cash—which is the only way to get and to give the best values and lowest prices. My motto will be "Small Profits for Cash."

All I ask is a call from my old friends in the country, as well as my new friends in town, and as many more as may favour me with their custom. I mean business. I am here to stay. I mean to grow.

How We Forged
Our way to the front, is largely due to close buying, close application, and an appreciative class of customers. Our whole hobby has been to excel in selling Groceries, Provisions, etc., which we know to be the best, the purest, and the cleanest, for the smallest margin of profit. We cannot afford to mistake anything. We never do. If you are so prejudiced that you're willing to go on paying too much, no argument need be wasted, but if you are open to conviction and a fair judge of values, a sample order will prove to you how true our contention is.

We are especially pleased to know that our past six months business has been the most satisfactory, as well as the largest in Peterborough.

OUR SPECIALS for the next week will consist chiefly in Sugars for Preserving, Vinegars and Spices for Pickling, and Teas. Come early—better late than ever—but come, sure.

A REMARKABLE EXPERIENCE.

Six Days Without Food. Hanging to the Beams of a Wharf.

MONTREAL, Sept 11—A most extraordinary story, one which seems to have no precedent, was circulated on the wharves yesterday, and formed the sole topic of conversation among the hundreds of workingmen employed at the loading and unloading of the various vessels.

It appears, according to eye-witnesses, that an aged man was picked up from under the long wharf in a semi-unconscious condition and thoroughly exhausted. Upon further investigation it was ascertained that the man over a week ago had fallen from the long wharf, and, despite the assistance which was rendered him, he never rose to the surface, and it was thought that he was drowned.

Fortunately the man was an excellent swimmer and after much trouble he swam directly under the wharf, where he hung to some of the cross-beams under the wharf and there remained for six days and six nights without provisions. He had a little to eat, however, being able by holding by one hand to the wharf to reach with the other rotten fruit or vegetables, meat or fish, with which he managed to keep himself up until rescued.

When seen by a reporter, Mr. Jos. Macquarrie, first mate of the Argentina, and Messrs. Favreau, Gauthier, Henderson, Daly, Knowles, Gariepy, Brazeau, Benoit and other wharf laborers testified as to having heard of the story. Messrs. Favreau, Demers and Gauthier say that they were present when the man was taken from the water, but they do not know his name, but say he was taken care of by a friend.

FARMERS SUFFER BY THE STORM.

Lightning and High Winds Play Havoc With Buildings and Crops.

EXETER, Ont., Sept. 11.—Yesterday one of the worst thunder and rain storms of the season, accompanied by a very high wind, passed over this place, partly unroofing a barn just outside the village belonging to Isaac Carling. The dwelling house of Mr. John Harris, township of Urbourne, was struck by lightning and badly wrecked, no one was hurt. Mr. Harris' son had a narrow escape, as a partition was shattered to pieces close by the bed he was sleeping in.

DUNNVILLE, Ont., Sept. 11.—The heavy storm of rain and lightning yesterday was very disastrous to barns in this vicinity. The storm was accompanied by very heavy wind, unroofing buildings and doing much damage. The barn of Mr. Wm. Topp was struck by lightning and was consumed, together with 1,200 bushels of wheat and much other grains, also a lot of fat hogs. Mr. George Beamer lost a barn which was filled with hay. He had a small insurance. The barn of his neighbor, Mr. Johnson, was also struck and burned, together with the season's crop.

Swindled by Their Clerk.

MONTREAL, Sept. 11.—John Swift has been for some time clerk of the Bushnell Oil Company works. Tancrede Labelle was a cooper and barrel manufacturer who supplied the works with oil barrels. The barrels were delivered to Swift, who gave Labelle the receipts on which he got payment at the Bushnell shed office in the Board of Trade building. The management lately became suspicious that the company was paying for many more barrels than it received, and suspected that there was collusion somewhere. The case was put into the hands of Detective Carpenter, who believes that Labelle and Swift were in a conspiracy to defraud the Bushnell company. Swift, the detectives say, was giving Labelle receipts for barrels he never delivered, and Mr. Carpenter says that since last September the Bushnell company has been swindled out of a cool $1,500 in this way. Both men were arrested, arraigned in court yesterday and remanded.

Daring Burglary in Millbrook.

MILBROOK, Ont., Sept. 11.—The residence of Mr. John Eakins was burglarized in this town yesterday. Mr. Eakins, who is a cattle dealer, was absent in Montreal on business and his wife left their residence to visit at a neighbor's. During her absence the house was broken into, the back door being pried open with an axe and about $200 worth of jewelry, consisting of several valuable rings, a pair of gold bracelets and a gold watch, was taken. The burglar also took two suits of clothes belonging to Mr. Eakins, one of which he coolly donned before taking his departure, leaving his own dilapidated suit in exchange. Several tramps have been prowling around the last day or so, and it is believed that one of them is the guilty party.

Fatal Accident in a Mine.

HALIFAX, Sept. 11.—There was a fatal accident at South Uniacke mines yesterday. David Lively, an employe at the mines, went down to set off a blast. He lit the fuse and then began to climb the ladder leading to the mouth of the shaft. He climbed twenty feet, when he lost his hold and fell to the bottom. The blast went off almost immediately. When miners went down they found Lively dead. He leaves a wife and seven children.

In all that goes to strengthen and build up the system weakened by disease and pain, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the superior medicine. It neutralizes the poisons left in the system after diphtheria and scarlet fever, and restores the debiliated patient to perfect health and vigor.

Port Hope, Feb. 14th, 1894.

Dr. Andrew Grant & Co.,

DEAR SIRS,—This is to certify that my hair began to fall out when I was about 18 years of age. I at once commenced the use of hair tonics, etc., with the result that I kept on losing my hair, until at about 25 years of age, I had become quite bald and had concluded to buy a "wig." Just at that time I came across your "HAIRENE," and began its use. Now, before I had used one bottle I could see a decided change for the better, inasmuch as a new growth of hair appeared quite distinctly. By continuing its use my hair has improved greatly, and I take great pleasure in stating that after quite an extended experience in the drug trade, your "HAIRENE" is the only remedy I know of that really has produced a healthy scalp, and a growth of hair.

Yours truly,
J. B. BURNHAM.

Unknown Body Found at Little Harbor.

NEW GLASGOW, N.S., Sept. 11.—A man was found dead at Little Harbor by a man named McKinnon, near where the wreck of the barque Melmorby occurred. The body was injured, but the flesh was gone from the face, eyes and scalp and the hair from the skull. There was nothing to show how he came there or where he came from. How he lost his life is a mystery.

Ballman Confesses His Crime.

VICTORIA, B. C. Sept. 11.—Eberhardt, alias Ballman, the Australian embezzler arrested on the arrival of the steamer Warrimoo on Sunday morning, has confessed his crime and will return with a special officer coming over on the steamer Arawa for the steamer. He pleads that business pressure became so great that he collected all the money and decamped.

At the Methodist General Conference.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 11.—The Methodist General Conference devoted the whole of yesterday to committee work. There was an interesting discussion on the advisability of obliging candidates for the ministry to pass a university matriculation. A sub-committee was appointed to further consider the question.

Burned by Sparks From a Thresher.

PAISLEY, Ont., Sept. 11.—The barns and outbuildings of Mr. Kenneth Mackenzie, near here, were yesterday destroyed by fire, caused by sparks from a steam thresher. Loss about $1,500.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, Sept. 11, 1894.

Flour receipts at Montreal were 5,000 barrels. The market was quiet and unchanged. Manitoba wheat No. 2 brought 66c to 68c, corn brought 66c to 68c, oats 33c to 35c and barley 50c to 53c.

Wheat was about steady in Chicago, the close being ¼c lower. Corn showed an equal loss on the day's trading, the feeling, however, being firm. Oats were dull but firm.

Barley in Buffalo is coming in rapidly to principal points. Visible supply is now 1,131,000, as against 570,000 last week and 349,000 the corresponding week of last year. No trading yet reported in Canada barley here, the nominal value being 65c to 70c.

At East Liberty the sheep supply was fair. Good, $2.10 to $2.40; fair, $1.25 to $1.60; yearlings, $1.50 to $3; lambs, $2 to $3.75.

The London stock markets were quiet because of the settlement beginning today. The tone was very firm, with a bullish feeling that the market is preparing for a general rise at the next account, including Americans. The firmness of South Americans remains the feature.

This week in New York is to be marked by a series of incidents to which stock speculators are attaching some importance. Yesterday the government's September crop report was made public; to-day the sugar trust directors will act on the dividend; to-morrow the Western Union quarterly statement will appear; Thursday the St. Paul's dividend is to be announced. Yesterday's advancing market reflected the expectations of the stock exchange community regarding these various developments.

The people quickly recognize merit, and this is the reason the sales of Hood's Sarsaparilla are continually increasing. Hood's on top."

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhœa, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and now I can thank this excellent remedy for saving my life. MRS. S. KELLETT, Minden Ont.

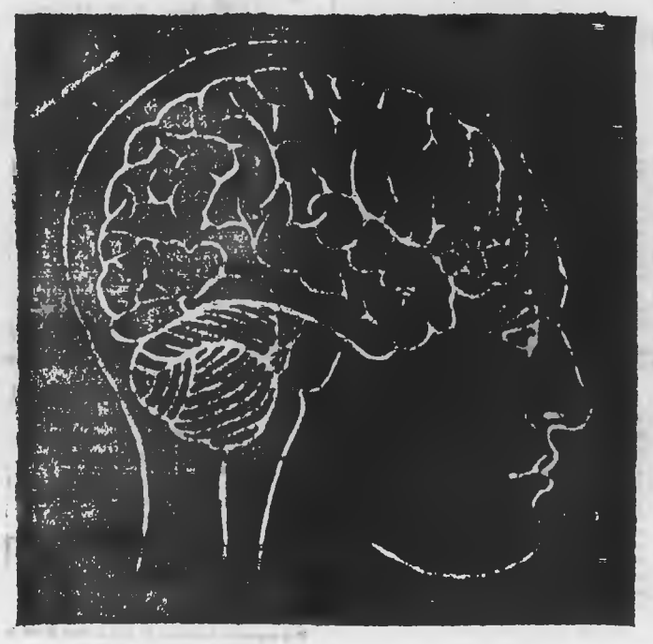
Mysteries of the HUMAN BRAIN!



The latest discovery in the scientific world is that nerve centres located in or near the base of the brain control all the organs of the body, and when these nerve centres are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid, or nerve force, are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralysed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centres will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force; that is, when a nerve centre is deranged or in any way diseased it is impossible for it to supply the same quantity of nerve force as when in a healthful condition; hence the organs which depend upon it for nerve force suffer, and are unable to properly perform their work, and as a result disease makes its appearance.

At least two-thirds of our chronic diseases and ailments are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centres at the base of the brain, and not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organs and not the nerve centres, which are the cause of the trouble.

The wonderful cures wrought by the Great South American Nervine Tonic are due alone to the fact that this remedy is based upon the foregoing principle. It cures by rebuilding and strengthening the nerve centres, and thereby increasing the supply of nerve force or nervous energy.

This remedy has been found of infinite value for the cure of Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Paroxysms, Sleeplessness, Forgetfulness, Mental Despondency, Nervousness of Females, Hot Flashes, Sick Headache, Heart Disease. The first bottle will convince anyone that a cure is certain.

South American Nervine is without doubt the greatest remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all Chronic Stomach Troubles, because it acts through the nerves. It gives relief in one day, and absolutely effects a permanent cure in every instance. Do not allow your prejudices, or the prejudices of others, to keep you from using this health-giving remedy. It is based on the result of years of scientific research and study. A single bottle will convince the most incredulous.

After the ceremony the couple repaired to the residence of the bride's mother, Aylmer street, where a wedding breakfast was partaken of, after which they left on an extended wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan will take up their residence at Sault Ste. Marie.

Persistence in Advertising.

One of the secrets of successful advertising consists in keeping your establishment and the wares you have to sell before the eyes of the public continually. The great advertisers of the country never cease reminding you of their existence. Their names, the location and nature of their establishments are thrust before you continually in the great daily and weekly publications, and at the moment you are ready to buy anything they have to sell, at the same moment the names of these advertisers flash before your mind's eye, and unconscious of the influence their advertisements have worked upon you, you find yourself going to their places for what you require.

FIRE INSURANCE AND MORTGAGES.

Citizens' Insurance Company v. Salterio.—A condition of a policy of insurance against fire provided that the policy should not be assignable without the consent of the company endorsed thereon, and that in the event of any sale, transfer or change of title in the property insured the liability of the company should thenceforth cease. S., the insured under this policy, gave a chattel mortgage to a creditor of all his stock-in-trade insured thereby, and also "all policies of insurance on said stock and all renewals thereof." The consent of the company to the giving of this mortgage was not endorsed on the policy. The Supreme Court of Canada held, reversing the decision of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, that as the chattel mortgage and subsequent transactions showed that S. intended the policy to pass to the creditor, there was a breach of the condition and the policy was void. Held further, that though the chattel mortgage was not a "sale" or a "transfer" of the insured property within the meaning of the condition it was a "change of title" therein which freed the company from liability.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success.

MANY PERISH BY NEGLECT.

Lactated Food Provides Life and Strength.

Rescue the perishing babes—the little ones who are weak and puny—who are dropping off from day to day owing to poor and unwholesome dieting.

A physician of note emphatically asserts that hundreds of mothers in every large town and city are unable to properly nurse their babies owing to an impoverished, scanty and poor quality of breast milk.

Lactated Food is known as the safest of all infant foods; it is easily digested, pleasant to the taste, and never produces irritation and inflammation as other foods do. Babies thrive fast, sleep well and are never cross and peevish when fed on Lactated Food from day to day.

The Black and the Blue.

The drop in prices of new fall goods, announced by Joseph Armstrong & Co., has proved a strong attraction to the ladies, so early in the season. This firm has had many strong features to offer during the summer season, and they seem determined to pursue an equally vigorous and pushing policy during the fall. The black and the blue ink prices on the goods make it easy to accept the reductions on the goods as genuine. You examine the goods—the tickets do the rest. dw

THE STUDY OF HUMAN NATURE.

The Understanding of Ourselves and the Study of Others.

Bradburn's Opera House was crowded to the doors last evening by an audience gathered together for the purpose of hearing Prof. W. G. Alexander, member of Fowler & Wells' Institute, N. Y., deliver the first of his series of lectures on "Human Nature." The lecturer had before him on the stage the skull of a Flathead Indian, a bear, cat and dog, and explained to the audience where the brain power existed in these different animals. He then proceeded to describe the different dispositions and peculiarities of man, giving wholesome advice to parents and guardians as to how to control and not to control their children and to start them aright in life. Prof. Alexander is a speaker of marked ability and his lecture last evening was interspersed with sparkling witticisms, which kept the audience in good humour. His remarks throughout were frequently interrupted by bursts of applause. At the close of his lecture the Professor invited a number of prominent citizens to the platform for the purpose of a public examination. Messrs Barton Earle, R. Winch, D. H. Moore and E. B. Stone accepted the invitation. The speaker then proceeded with a phrenological examination of the four gentlemen, delineating the strong and weak points and noting the characteristics of the four gentlemen with marked success and correctness. Whenever the Professor would refer to a strong or weak point in any of the four gentlemen examined the audience showed their appreciation by loud applause. At the close Messrs. E. B. Stone and B. Earle endorsed the correctness of the examination.

This evening the Professor will speak on the subject, "Success in Life and How to Attain It." Admission free. Silver collection after lecture.

A NEW SEASON BRINGS
NEW DRESS GOODS.

We open the new season to-day with the new fabrics for autumn wear displayed in plenty on our counters. New shades, new styles, new weaves—selected productions of the manufacturing countries of the world—are ready to-day for your inspection.

There is much to note, as our assortment this year is a magnificent one. What can we not show? Here are cheviots, camel hairs, and rough, soft, smooth, wiry, glossy or dull cloths, as you choose—Serges, Broadcloths, Wool Figures, Crepes, etc.

We shall be glad to show all the new goods to you, and consider it no trouble whether you buy or not.

JACKETS AND CAPES
—AT—
HALL, GILCHRIST & CO'Y.

WHY DO WE SELL more Jackets, Capes, Ulsters and Wraps, than all the other houses in town together.

REASONS WHY
1st. Because we buy them 6 months later (which can only be done by going direct to the makers) thereby getting the latest styles.
2nd. Because we buy them in larger quantities for cash, thereby getting the lowest possible prices.
3rd. Because we sell them for spot cash which means that we can sell them on smaller profits.

14,500

Is about the number of Jackets, Capes, Wraps and Ulsters that our syndicate buys for every Fall and Winter season, direct from the German Manufacturers (not from agents) and pay spot cash for every garment. That is reason enough why we sell cheaper than any one else in the trade. Just imagine any house that only buys 250 to 300 garments (and that from a commission agent) pretending to buy as cheap as we do who have such opportunities.

THE STYLES OF THIS SEASON.

No matter what others tell you MAKE A NOTE OF THIS.—That Long Jackets with tight waists, mostly plain except when trimmed with Fur or narrow Sutache Braids are the correct styles for this season. We show them from 36 to 48 inches long, in the best goods. DON'T BUY TILL YOU SEE OUR IMMENSE STOCK. It is always a pleasure for us to show you our stock whether you buy or not.

DRESS GOODS.

Our sales in this department surpass all previous records. The choice selection of Novelties in Dress Lengths, in Tweeds and Covert Cloths are the finest ever shown here. The way they are selling is a proof that styles are correct.

DRESS MAKING.

Our workroom is now booming with orders. Our low prices for really first-class work is sure to keep this department full of work all through the season.

DRESS TRIMMINGS AND BUTTONS.

The newest styles in Trimmings and Buttons are now in stock, styles exclusive. Many lines are selling fast. The new buttons and clasps are not to be approached by any one for style or cheapness. These buttons are correct for Tailor-Made Tweed Costumes, (next season other houses will have them.)

Our Linen Sale keeps right up. Several new lines have been added this week. Table Linen, Towels and Napkins, Quilts, Blankets and Comforters, at Bargain sale prices.

Always pleased to show our goods.

THE LICENSE REPEAL BY-LAW PETITION PRESENTED.

Total Expenditure to Date, $14,045.95—Total Receipts to Date, $17,374.54—Several Anti-Repeal Petitions—Sewerage—Sherbrooke Street Drain—Other Matters.

Council met in regular session on Monday night. Present—Mayor Kendry, and Messrs Cahill, Best, Kelly, Dawson, Roger, Sutton, Mason, Hughes and Brady.

After routine,

The following petition, signed by between 600 and 700 persons, was presented:

We the undersigned ratepayers of the town of Peterborough, respectfully submit that the complaints of those coming to Peterborough on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and who require yard and hotel accommodation, justify the town council in repealing the bylaw passed a short time ago reducing the number of licenses to be issued by the License Commissioners. It was amply demonstrated during the visit of the High Court of I. O. F. to Peterborough, and again on the 13th of August, during the 'Prentice Boys' demonstration, that the accommodation was inadequate for the travelling public, and should those who have deprived of their licenses close their hotels and yards the accommodation will not be sufficient for the farmers during the fall and winter months.

Your petitioners therefore submit that so long as no more licenses are issued than those that were in force during the last year, the travelling public will be benefitted, and the town suffer no loss or inconvenience.

We therefore ask that your honourable body re-consider your action and repeal the bylaw referred to.

Referred to License Committee.

An invitation to send a delegation to the Deep Waterways convention in Toronto was received.

From the secretary of the Toronto Hospital asking municipal aid for James Telford, confined in that institution for treatment of his eyes.—Charity Committee.

THOMAS CAHILL, Chairman.

The report was adopted, except as to the account for street roller, which was allowed to stand.

LICENSES.

Mr. Hughes, chairman, presented the report of the License committee.

GENTLEMEN—Your License committee beg leave to report and recommend:

1. That Mrs. Rose Drake be granted a refund of $7 00 on two back licenses paid for by her late husband and us d only a few months.

2. That Jos. Fennel be given a refund of $15 off the fee paid by him for a peddlar's license.

3. Your committee instructed the Chief of Police to see that the by-laws of the town regarding liquor licenses are carried out.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
J. L. HUGHES, Chairman.

Report adopted.

Mr. Hughes asked on behalf of Harry Stephens, permission for the use of a "Ferris Wheel," for a very small, or no license.—License fee of $5 per year was fixed.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Mr. Kelly, chairman, presented the report of this committee:

Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report as follows:

We recommend that the petition of residents on Parnell street that the council give permission to the Water Company to lay a water pipe along Parnell street be granted.

T. KELLY, Chairman.

Report adopted.

HUNTER STREET BRIDGE.

Mr. Best, chairman, presented the following report:

Your Street and Bridge committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee, in order to take advantage of the season favorable to the work, gave instructions to have the damaged stonework of the bridge on Hunter street across the creek repaired. Mr. Jas. Hogue was placed in charge of the work, which is nearly completed. We recommend that pay lists for the work on the bridge be paid when certified to by the chairman of this committee, and also that the charges for freight for stone brought from London be paid to the Grand Trunk on the freight bills being certified to by the chairman of this committee.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
H. BEST, Chairman.

SHERBROOKE STREET DRAIN.

Moved by Mr. Best, seconded by Mr. Cahill, that the town engineer be instructed to make an examination of the area to be drained according to the petition of G. Learmouth and others, and to prepare a report, plans, specifications and estimates of the drainage work, and to make an assessment of the lands and roads within said area to be benefitted, and of any other lands and roads liable to assessment, stating as nearly as may be in our opinion the proportion of the cost to be paid by every road and lot, or portion of lot in accordance with the drainage act of '94. That when the engineer's report is filed, the clerk send the necessary notices to the parties assessed. That the mayor name the time when the council shall meet to consider the report and call a meeting for that purpose.—Carried.

On motion to adopt the report, Mr. Brady pointed out that the report contained no reference to the Auburn bridge. If the committee did not intend to take action they should say so.

Mr. Kelly pointed out the necessity of the Auburn bridge.

The report was adopted.

SEWERAGE.

Mr. Best presented the report of the Sewerage Committe as follows:

Your Sewerage Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee having learned that the town of Berlin had adopted the Sewage Farm system, decided that it would be well to learn more about it. Accordingly the chairman and Mr. Hughes were sent to Berlin, and were courteously received there and shown the whole system. After receiving their report, which was that the system at Berlin was largely experimental, your committee cannot recommend that system for Peterborough. We recommend that a cheque for $22.00 be issued to defray the expenses of the deputation.

2. The arbitrators appointed to arbitrate on the question of whether the town should be permitted to extend the outfall sewer into North Monaghan, have made their award in which they award that they town should be permitted to do so. The costs of the arbitration payable by the town in accordance with the arbitrators' award, amounts to $121 25, made up of arbitrators' fees and costs, $90, and witnesses' fees, telegraphing and express, $31.25. We recommend that a cheque be issued to Mr. Edwards, town solicitor, for the amount.

3. Your committee have been preparing to ask for tenders for the construction of the sewer, and expect to be able to do so in a couple of days.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
HENRY BEST, Chairman.

Report adopted.

Mr. Dawson reported that he had had improvements made to the market scales.

AUBURN FOOTBRIDGE.

Mr. Brady moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that the Street and Bridge Committee be authorized to construct a bridge at Auburn at once, the work to be done by tender or otherwise, Considerable discussion followed as to the desirability of constructing this bridge, Councillor Hughes favouring a highway bridge. Mr. Dawson appealing for economy in order to leave a clean sheet with a rate of 17 mills. Mr. Mason said the council was committed to do the work and he depreciated the action of the Street and Bridge Committee in trying to kill the project. Mr. Cahill suggested that the committee, while getting right of way for a foot bridge, get enough land for a right of way for a highway bridge in case one were built hereafter.

The motion was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee to report.

LICENSE BYLAW REPEAL.

Mr. Poussette was heard on behalf of those petitioning for the repeal of the license reduction bylaw, which was signed by one thousand names. Mr. Poussette pointed out that if the licenses of regularly equipped hotels were cut off the town would not be able to accommodate a large number of strangers, as was shown, he claimed, during the late meeting of the Foresters here. He also pointed out that the object of the bylaw to reduce drinking had not been met by the bylaw. He saw there was a feeling in town that in the reduction an injustice had been done, in that those licensees who were cut off had no notice and had no chance to dispose of their stocks. Mr. Pousette contended that the bylaw should be repealed because it had failed as a temperance expedient.

MOTIONS.

Mr. Mason moved, seconded by Mr. Kelly, that the street railway committee be allowed to stop at crossings when there is only one crossing, instead of adhering to the by-law in that regard.

A motion of Mr. Kelly and Mr. Dawson, that the Fire, Water and Light committe be authorized to purchase 200 feet of hose, was referred to the committee to report.

A motion of Mr. Mason and Mr. Roger detailing the Chief of Police to special work was adopted.

A SEWERAGE DEPUTATION.

Mr. P. J. McNamara and H. Webb, representing a deputation appealed to the council to build the outfall sewer by day work instead of by contract. Mr. McNamara pointed out that if this year had been a hard one and that many had not earned any money this season, and he was sure that town workmen would give satisfaction. Mr. Webb contended that the sewer could be constructed by the English plan of shift work, 25 per cent cheaper than by giving out the contract. He had had experience and he felt himself confident of being able to do the work, giving security and if he did not give satisfaction he would ask no pay. He urged that local men should alone be employed.

Mr. McNamara remarked that a previous council had arranged for the nine hour system of labour, and if the sewer work were given out by contract it should be stipulated that men should be required to work only nine hours.

The council adjourned.

WE COVER ALL.

It is one thing to cover up your body, Robinson Crusoe like, with goat skins and tanned palm leaves. It is quite another thing to get well-fitting, neatly-made Suits, Boots and Hats of the latest designs, without paying an exhorbitant price.

MEN'S HATS!
MEN'S SHOES!
MEN'S CLOTHING!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR!
MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

This store appeals to Men—and to Women also. The field of trade is widening continually. Instead of confining ourselves to Clothing, we have, for the fall of 1894, brought together under one roof such things for men's wear as they have shown themselves to want.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $2.65.
On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 35c.
On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.
On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75
Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

On the best $3 Men's Selected Shell Cordovan Balmoral or Congress, with Dunraven toe, we take off 40c., and ask only $2 60.

On the best Men's Fine Waxed Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1 95.

On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.20.

On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 63c., and ask only $1.98.

Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

YOUR MONEY IS RETURNED if you receive no benefit from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This fair and business-like offer is held out to all women who suffer from the diseases and derangements peculiar to their sex. To weakly womanhood no prize could be more secure, nor the benefit more lasting, than that to be derived from the purchase of a bottle of this famous "Prescription." Its success in curing all the functional derangements, painful disorders, and chronic weaknesses of women, warrants its makers in guaranteeing it. What this medicine has done for thousands of delicate women, it will do for you. At the two critical periods in woman's life, the change from girlhood to womanhood, and, later, the "change of life," it's an invaluable tonic and a soothing nervine, which can produce only good results. It cures nervous prostration, insomnia, or inability to sleep, and many nervous disorders due to derangement of the functions.

An invitation to consumption is what a bad case of Catarrh means. Don't take the risk! The makers of Doctor Sage's Catarrh Remedy agree to cure your Catarrh, or they'll pay you $500 in cash.

FARMING IN FOREIGN LANDS.

Vanilla culture is increasing on the island of Reunion, in the Indian ocean, the export of product being nearly 100 tons yearly.

The despised rabbit of Australia is being anxiously inquired for by the British army contractor, who sees a possible supply of cheap and wholesome food for the army in that direction.

The grape and wine industry in Hungary is suffering greatly from phylloxera and black rot. The vintage has steadily decreased, year by year, that of last year being only three-eighths of the annual average of fifteen years ago.

The experiments of flax-growing for seed and fiber in south Australia has proved eminently satisfactory, far exceeding expectations. It is expected that a much larger area will be devoted to flax culture, and possibly other fiber plants.

The director of the government farm at Nariad, India, reports officially that cotton from American seed has proved a failure in India, after long and repeated trials. He recommends, therefore, that the cultivation should stop, and indigenous varieties be cultivated instead.

LITTLE CURIOUS THINGS.

The first oil well in America was discovered on a small mountain farm in Wayne county, Ky., in the year 1829.

In the year 1261 a tithe was laid upon all Wales' tongues brought into Bayonne, they being at that time highly esteemed as food.

Indian corn, or maize, never has an uneven number of rows of grains, because it has opposite radicals of growth from the cob centre.

Sir Edward Burne-Jones confesses that the only one of his paintings which wearied him was his most famous "The Golden Stairs." He declares that he got "so tired of those girls."

The number of reindeer owned by a Laplander in Sweden varies to a considerable degree. The poor may have from three hundred to seven hundred, and the rich Laplander will keep one thousand, and even five thousand.

A collection of eighty thousand stuffed birds will be one of the attractions of a museum now in course of erection at Leyden, Holland. The building will, in size, outrank anything of the kind in the world, except the British museum.

What No Fellow Can Find Out.

Four men may eat green fruit with impunity, but a fifth may try the experiment and an hour or so later be tied up in knots with cramps and dysentery. Who the fifth man will be is one of those things no fellow can find out, and consequently all should take time by the forelock and prepare for such an attack by keeping Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER which is a safe, quick and infallible cure for diarrhœa, cholera, cramps, or indeed, any disorder the stomach. This excellent medicine can be bought at any reputable drug-store. 25c. will purchase the Big Bottle, New size.

A Grand Feature

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood and sends it coursing through the veins full of richness and health, it also imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. Hence the expression so often heard: "Hood's Sarsaparilla made a new person of me." It overcomes that tired feeling so common now.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

S. P. Smith, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 139 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

AN INTELLIGENT GRASS.

IT SENDS ITS ANIMAL CONSUMERS INTO A DEEP SLEEP.

Horses Fall Asleep While Traveling After Eating It, But Suffer No After Ill Effects—Indeed, It Seems to Refresh Them Very Much.

Over in Lincoln County, in this territory, there is a peculiar kind of grass known as sleepy grass, says a correspondent of the New York Sun. It has the property of putting to sleep any animal that eats of it. Sleepy grass grows among the other grass, and is eaten by all kinds of stock readily. Its existence was unknown for years after settlements had been made in Lincoln County. Stockmen and others noticed that animals would sometimes stand motionless for an hour or two at a time, but it never occurred to them that the cause of this apparent resting was a distinct grass. The discovery was finally made by one of a party of travelers going from San Antonio, a small station on the Santa Fe railroad, near Socorro, to the Pecos valley, in Lincoln County. The trip is a long one, and a portion of it is over some of the roughest country in New Mexico. Water is not plentiful along the route, and for miles there is hardly grass enough to feed a jack rabbit, while on other portions of the route there is a rank growth of grass. It was one of these fertile places, a veritable oasis in the desert, that the discovery of sleepy grass was made. The party halted about noon for luncheon and the team was unhitched and picketed out to graze for an hour or so. The horses commenced eating with a will, for they were hungry and there is no more tempting grass to a horse's appetite than the black gramma which is to be found in nearly all parts of New Mexico. They fed for a few moments and then suddenly stopped, and, holding their heads about on a level with their shoulders, stood as motionless as if they were carved of stone. This behavior was not in accordance with the ideas of one of the party as to what hungry horses ought to do. He went to where the horses were standing and found them fast asleep. On speaking to them in a loud tone both awoke and commenced eating as if nothing had happened. They had eaten only a few mouthfuls when both were sound asleep as before. By this time the remainder of the party had become interested. The horses were awakened several times only to fall asleep after each successive arousing.

None of the party had ever seen horses act so, and all agreed that something they had eaten had caused them to sleep. Each of the party began a search, and the plant which is known in Lincoln County as sleepy grass was discovered. The story was related by the travelers to an official of Lincoln County, and since that time the effect of this grass on animals has been observed by many persons. Horses, after eating of it, in nearly all cases sleep standing, while cows and sheep almost invariably lie down. It has occasionally happened that travelers have stopped to allow their horses to feed in places where the grass grew pretty thick and the animals have had time to eat a considerable quantity before its effects manifested themselves. In such cases horses have gone to sleep on the road. They fall to sleep while being hitched up, and it often requires a sharp cut with the whip to rouse them. They start off at a good pace, which gradually slackens until finally the heads droop and they come to a stop, sound asleep. A loud word will sometimes suffice to start them again, but oftener the whip is needed. The effect of the grass passes off in an hour or two, and no bad results have ever been noticed on account of it. If a horse be allowed to sleep until the effects pass off he appears to be very much refreshed, and will travel a long distance without apparent fatigue, but if urged to go during the period of drowsiness which follows eating sleepy grass he seems to be wearied even after the inclination to sleep had passed away.

Cattle on the range frequently come upon patches of this grass, where they feed for perhaps half an hour and then fall asleep for an hour or more, when they wake up and go on feeding. The programme is repeated perhaps a dozen times, until thirst obliges them to go to water. Sleepy grass is found in several localities in Lincoln County, but has never been reported in any other part of New Mexico. Whether, like the popy, it contains opium, or whether its sleep-producing property is due to some other substance, has not been determined.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membrau's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

A VERY LOFTY ABODE

A NOBLE RUSSIAN REFUGEE IN HIS MOUNTAIN RETREAT.

His Cabin is 12,000 Feet Above Sea Level and Inaccessible for Six Months in the Year—Twice a Year He Visits Civilization.

The wilds of California are filled with all sorts of strange habitations occupied by strange people. Some of the people have good reasons for living the lives of hermits, and some are, most likely, a little insane. There is one man, though, who is not insane, yet has about as strange a home in as lonesome a locality as ever a man occupied. His name is Peter Stiffel, and he lives far up toward the peak of Mt. Whitney, where for six months of the year it could not be reached by another human being without the aid of wings, and during the other six months it is a matter of toil and hardship to reach his abode. Just exactly what his story is cannot be ascertained, but he is a Russian nobleman by birth, who, in an unfortunate moment several years ago, said something that offended the czar. Having too much sense to stay at home and stand trial, knowing that he would have no show to escape Siberia, he fled at once, taking as much money with him as he could carry. He had difficulty in getting out of Russia, but after many adventures reached this country. His escape was due to the fact that he went across Siberia instead of going east. At Vladivostock he took a ship for Alaska, but did not feel safe there, as he was too near the emissaries of his Russian tyrant master. Stiffel tried many places to make his home, but somehow did not feel safe until he found his present abode. He did not want to live in big cities, because in such locations there was no more pleasure in life for him as long as his country is in its present condition. He knows he is perfectly safe from arrest in America, but the czar has other ways of getting revenge. The most important object to Stiffel was to conceal his identity, and he went to work in the lumber mills in the mountains, but there was recognized by a man who had also escaped from Russia. The man was a convict, however, and Stiffel would have nothing to do with him. After his identity was known Stiffel was surprised to find that his fellow workmen sympathized with him and kindly offered to kill anyone from Russia who molested him. Nevertheless, he concluded to bury himself from the world, and buying a couple of burros, started out.

The spot selected for his cabin is about 12,000 feet above sea level, and since he has been living there only five people have called on him. The house is built of heavy logs and placed close up against a group of enormous granite bowlders. The roof slopes towards the front door, so that the snow will slide off without endangering the structure. The interior consists of three rooms, the middle one containing an enormous fireplace, a woodpile and a chair and a table. The other rooms are, with the exception of a large number of books, as bare of furniture as it is possible to imagine a human habitation. It is here that Stiffel spends his time. Twice a year he goes to Visalia to mail letters and get supplies and see that his money is all right. In summer he wanders over the mountains after game, but in winter he is snowed in most of the time. One year snow covered his house to such a depth that he could not get out, and the only way he got air was through the chimney. By looking up he could see walls of snow on both sides, where the heat from the fire had melted a passageway. For fourteen weeks he only saw a patch of sky over the chimney and the walls of his rooms. Fortunately he had plenty of firewood and provisions or he would have starved to death. But in his place Stiffel seems contented to live and die in what he calls freedom. That he belongs to the upper class of Russians there can be no doubt, as he is well educated and refined.—San Francisco Call.

THINGS TO THINK ABOUT.

Self-love sends out no missionaries.

Sin at first sight always looks harmless.

God's telephone in the soul is conscience.

The next door neighbor of selfishness is sin.

A temptation yielded to is a step toward the pit.

We are most like God when we can most forgive.

Knock down a liar and you hit the devil square in the face.

A strong test of our love to God is our treatment of an enemy.

It is as much the duty of a Christian to give as it is to pray.

God alone can tell where our personal influence is going to stop.

HE BOBS UP AGAIN.

Sam Murray, Whom the Doctors had Pronounced as Incurable, Still on Deck—Now Acting as Foreman for a Big Lumber Concern.

North Bay, Sept. 3,—Sam Murray's name is one that has often figured in newspaper columns during the past eighteen months because he was cured of paralysis and blood poisoning by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after half a dozen physicians had pronounced him incurable. On the strength of physicians' certificates, Murray was paid his disability claim by the Grand Trunk. Since he was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, he has been accepted as a first-class risk by a leading life insurance company. About a year ago, he got a position as foreman for the big lumber concern of Davidson & Hay, of Toronto, and the fact that he was able to satisfactorily to attend to the trying duties of such a position, is ample evidence of the permanency of his cure.

An Aged Man Murdered.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A special from Detroit, Mich., says: Charles B. Chauvin lived in a miserable house on his farm on the Gross Point road, six miles from this city, for fifty years. His wealth was variously estimated at from $100,000 to $1,000,000, but he always lived alone except when his two nieces visited him. Chauvin was last seen alive by the neighbors on Saturday afternoon. His body was lying on the floor, his hands tied together, and his feet bound, while from a dozen cuts on the head blood had flowed and stained his clothing. His head was crushed to a jelly. Chauvin was probably largely interested in real estate and stocks, and as he kept very little money in the house it is not believed the robbers secured anything.

Butchered Their Farm Hands.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 11.—A story of wholesale murder comes from Poganovka, a village of Samara. Eight farmers living near the village employed twenty-one laborers to help sow their lands. The laborers performed their work satisfactorily, and were paid the stipulated money. The farmers then conspired to get the money, and finally decided that the only way of doing so was to kill the laborers. While the latter were enjoying a siesta together they were set upon by the farmers and every one of them killed. The farmers then robbed the bodies and burned them. The absence of the laborers aroused suspicion, and the police investigation led to the speedy arrest of the eight murderers.

York Compliments the Merchant Marine.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Duke of York yesterday laid the corner-stone of the new Liverpool post-office. He spoke at some length on the recent improvement of England's mercantile marine. The record passage of five days, eight hours and 38 minutes from Sandy Hook, he said, remained to the credit of English ships, equipped with English machinery and manned and commanded by Englishmen. The nation was justly proud of the splendid English fleet, which would prove such a valuable auxiliary to the navy in time of war.

Count of Paris' Funeral.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The attendance of the members of the nobility of France at the funeral of the Count of Paris tomorrow promises to be very large. In addition to the presence of this element every royal family in Europe will be represented and it is safe to predict that the occasion will draw together a larger gathering of distinguished persons than England or France has witnessed in very many years.

Big Cut in Grain.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 11.—The railway companies of Minnesota were given a disagreeable shock yesterday by the state railway and warehouse commission which issued a general order cutting rates on all grain 15 per cent. Representatives of the railways say the cut will bankrupt those of the largest grain carrying roads of the state.

Re-Union of Christendom.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Cardinal Vaughan, in opening the Catholic conference in Preston yesterday, spoke concerning the re-union of Christendom. The movement had been so rapid in the Anglican church within the last fifty years, he said, that it had been difficult to distinguish often the Roman and Anglican churches.

Sealing Schooner Seized.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 11.—A steamer from Dutch harbor, Alaska, brings news that on Aug. 14 the schooner Favorite, flying the English flag, was captured by the United States ship Michigan, for violating the sealing laws and turned over to H. M. S. Pheasant, which sent her to Victoria. She had aboard between 1,400 and 1,500 skins when captured. The Petrel and Concord, two of Uncle Sam's cruisers, left on Aug. 18 for Japan.

The Fate of a Type.

HASTINGS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Coroner Apgar, of Peekskill, has cleared up the identity of an unknown man who was killed at this place by a New York Central train on Aug. 25. The man was James A. McGlynn, of Montreal. He was a member of the Watertown Typographical Union. The Union notified the coroner to give McGlynn a decent burial and that the organization will pay for the same.

Barn Destroyed by Fire.

CAYUGA, Ont., Sept. 11.—A terrific thunderstorm visited this vicinity. The outbuildings of Mr. Wm. Toppin, North Cayuga, were struck by lightning and completely destroyed. There were 15,000 bushels of wheat in the barn and several hundred bushels of coarse grain. The buildings were insured.

Cloakmakers on Strike.

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 11.—Five hundred cloakmakers belonging to the order of the United Garment Makers of America quit work yesterday and 22 shops were compelled to shut down temporarily. The men assert that they are compelled to work eighteen hours a day and the strike is to secure a reduction to ten hours.

LOOKOUT FOR BIRDIE.

Hard-billed birds are those which live on seeds.

Soft-billed birds do not live on seeds, but on insects and prepared food.

Feed very little sweet stuffs, it spoils the digestion, and then the bird's health is gone.

Hard-billed birds need little for food besides seed and occasionally a bit of lettuce, apple or celery.

Moulting cannot be called a disease since it is a natural process of providing the bird with new plumage.

A bird should be given its bath, its food and a clean cage at the same hour each day, and by the same person.

After a bird takes his water bath he should have a sun bath if there is a spot in the house where the sun shines.

Cuttle bone is an important article of diet for hard-billed birds. There is a salty taste to it which seems to be a tonic for feathered bipeds.

The health of all birds depends upon three things, regularity in being fed and given its bath, good food and absolute protection from draughts.

TURNBULL'S

Fresh from the German Manufacturers. Our new stock has arrived and is now opened out. It contains all new and desirable cuts to date. New colourings, new trimmings, and also new prices, as we ourselves were surprised at the Mantle the manufacturer has given us to sell for $3.00, while for $5.00, $6.00 and $7.00 they are just beauties, both in cloth and trimmings; for $9.00, $10.00, $11.00 you get the pick of the bulk of the stock. Also we are showing a line of Fur Lined Capes at $16.00 and $20.00 which have to be seen and tried on to be appreciated. We have not forgotten the children as we are showing a nice range of Ulsters in all sizes and shades. Our Mantle Cloths are now opened out and we believe we have never shown as pretty and cheap a range. MISS FULLY, who is head of this department, is well known and needs no introduction. She always gives a perfect fit. We have made preparations for a very large Mantle trade this season and are confident we will do it as we have the goods direct from the makers, and our long experience has taught us to know a good selling line when we see it. A cordial invitation is given to look through and inspect our stock whether you intend to buy that particular day or not. No trouble to show goods.

BIG BOOM IN LUMBER

The Trade Feeling the Benefit of Free Entry to the States.

CUSTOMS OFFICIAL'S ABSENCE

Sub-Collector Neale, of Alberta, Disappears, Leaving a Shortage of Six Thousand Dollars—Railway Mail Clerks in Convention at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—Hon. Mr. Costigan received the following yesterday in reply to a telegraphic enquiry as to the condition of Sir Frank Smith: "Three ribs fractured, but no serious results anticipated. He passed a good night and is in good spirits."

There is a big boom in the lumber trade here as a consequence of free lumber going into the United States.

The sixth annual convention of the Railway Mail Clerks Association of Canada was held here yesterday. Representatives are present from almost all the divisional points in Canada. A banquet was tendered the visiting mail clerks by the members of the Ottawa division in the Russell house in the evening. A very pleasant time was spent. The convention will conclude today. All the sessions are private.

Rev. Father Chiniquy passed through here en route for the west. He has just spent two weeks in the Eardley district, where he has been rusticating and fishing. He is now 86 years of age, but he looks wonderfully hale and hearty. He proposes taking in a few days' duck shooting and expects to be in Quebec shortly. Last week he laid the corner-stone of the largest Protestant church in Canada at the corner of St. Catharines and St. Cadieux streets, Montreal.

There is a sensation in the Customs Department caused by the absence of P. R. Neale, sub-collector at St. Mary's, Alberta, in whose books there is a shortage of $6,000. Inspector Young, of the Northwest Mounted Police, telegraphed to the Customs Department here as follows from McLeod: "So far can establish about $6,000 taken. Suggest he be followed at once by officers of police. Evidence complete, including entries and receipts reaching back months. Largest amount July 16 and least amount August 23." The Customs Department has also sent notification to the London Guarantee and Accident Company at Toronto to make good Neale's deficit, as that company had bonds on Neale.

Business on this section of the Canadian Pacific railway is reported to be more than usually brisk. Mr. Spencer, assistant superintendent of the eastern division, says the passenger business has been very heavy all summer. Tourist travel is quite popular yet, although in the majority of cases the tourists are making their way home. Hundreds of Canadians have been spending their vacation at the different seaside resorts along the Atlantic frontier. Many have taken in our Canadian resorts, which are ever becoming popular. Business between Ottawa and Toronto has been rushing all summer and is still on the gain. From the Northwest stock trains of twenty five cars each are being run through to Montreal, the stock being intended for the English markets. Within the last week more than a dozen such special freights have passed through this city. As for the immigrant trade it never was quieter, for very few in number are the would-be settlers who are going out to the Northwest at present.

GERMAN KNIGHTS WITHDRAW.

This is on Account of the Motion Calling for an All-English Ritual.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 12.—At a meeting of representatives of the German and Bohemian Lodges, Knights of Pythias, of Detroit, held to take action on the recent decision of the Grand Lodge requiring that the English language be used in rituals of the order, the sentiment was strongly favorable to withdrawal from the order.

The chairman was directed to appoint committees from each of the three German lodges and the Bohemian lodge to recommend action at a future meeting.

Many of those present are saloon-keepers and bar-tenders, and the discrimination against persons of their class by the Grand Lodge was also very strongly denounced.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 12.—The action of the Supreme Lodge of the Knights of Pythias at Washington, interdicting the further use of the German ritual, was the occasion last night of radical action taken by Korner Lodge, No. 6, one of the oldest German lodges of the order in American. By a practically unanimous vote the lodge decided to immediately withdraw from the order and turn its property and funds over to some one of the national German benevolent organizations.

Hamilton Council Asks a Bonus.

HAMILTON, Sept. 12.—At a meeting of the city council the recommendation of the Finance Committee that a by-law be submitted to the ratepayers asking them to vote a bonus of $225,000 to the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo railway to build their road from Brantford to Welland through Hamilton to connect with the Michigan Central railway system, was adopted. J. M. Bleckley, of Rochester, N.Y., and E. V. Peabody, of Boston, are the capitalists who will build the road.

IN REPLY TO BRASSEY

The Allen Line People Continue the Fast Line Controversy.

CANADA'S TREATMENT OF THEM

The Government Reduced the Subsidy and Refused Any Advance When the Service Ceased to Pay—This Hindered Their Business.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Allan line people have a letter in to-day's Times denying the reflections cast upon their enterprise by Lord Brassey in his letter of the 8th.

Canada originally subsidized their steamers, they say, but when for motives of safety they lengthened the passage the Government reduced the subsidy.

"When the service ceased to pay," says the letter, "the Government refused any advance, even at the risk of the abandonment of the service. The only condition of the advance was a number of new steamers of the costliest type. For such steamers the subsidy was only a drop in the bucket towards our expenditures.

"For nearly ten years we had hung over our heads this demand of Canada, which we could not meet and which hindered our giving a better service. The craving for the impracticable in part has hindered the development of the Canadian trade and the best is being made of such natural advantages as the St. Lawrence possesses."

The Allans remind Lord Brassey, in alluding to the Bryce-Douglass scheme of 1891, that he finally wrote to them that he and his colleagues were convinced of the necessity of direct support being given by the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk railways.

FRENCH FRIGATE AT QUEBEC.

The Officers Entertained at a Banquet by the City of Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—The city, through the mayor and aldermen, entertained Commandant Descampe and the officers of the French frigate, the Neilly, yesterday. The programme was a drive around the city and up the mountain, followed by a banquet on the summit.

The start was fixed for 10.30, but it was past 11 before the party sat down to a splendidly served table on the lookout. The mayor presided, having the commander on his right. The toasts of the Queen and the President of France were given by the mayor, followed by that of the commandant and officers of the Neilly.

Commandant Descamps replied. He said he and his officers and men were proud to come to a port where the language spoken was their language. It made no difference that the Canadians owed allegiance to another flag. French Canadians, by their loyalty to the British flag which protected them and guaranteed them their liberty, proved their good faith and honor. The French Canadians had no reason to be ashamed of the flag floating over them so long as it guaranteed them the liberality it does at present. He thanked the mayor for his sympathetic reference to France's recent sad bereavement. Frenchmen were loyal to France. Carnot was a Frenchman, so is the present President. Men may pass, but France remains.

The petty officers were entertained at night at dinner by the French colony.

Quebec Exhibition Opened.

QUEBEC, Sept. 12.—Their excellencies Lord and Lady Aberdeen opened the provincial exhibition yesterday. His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Chapleau and his A. D. C., Bishops Begin, Fabre and Emard, Honorables Cagrain, Pelletiver, Beaubin, Chapais, Sharples and Mayor Parent were present in the central platform; Senator Landry, president of the Exhibition Company, read the address in French and was about reading in English when his Excellency interrupted him saying "You need not read it in English, Mr. President; if we don't understand French we ought to learn it." As he came forward his Lordship was greeted with loud applause by the tremendous crowd. He spoke first in English and afterwards in French.

Grand Trunk Railway Rumors.

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—A cable from London says that the Economist, in its railway article, says that it expects that the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada will default, and further, in support, the paper says it is sure that by the end of the year there will be a big deficit in the debenture interest. If a receiver cannot be appointed, says the Economist, the directors will probably be obliged to make an issue of deferred warrants. When shown the foregoing cablegram, Mr. L. J. Seargeant said that the statement evidently eminated from parties interested in the depreciation of the Grand Trunk securities. Mr. Seargeant had no hesitation in saying that the story was wholly and absolutely false and malicious.

Triple Funeral at Chatham.

CHATHAM, Ont., Sept. 12.—The funeral of the three young men, Messrs. Christie, Hepin and Northwood who were drowned in the French river while on a canoeing expedition on August 22nd, took place yesterday from the drill shed. The funeral was a public one and was attended by members of Parliament, and the clergy, professional men and a large number of citizens. The procession was over half a mile long. All business was suspended during the afternoon and, altogether it was the most impressive and mournful occurence that Chatham has ever seen.

True Bill Against Lafleur.

L'ORIGNAL, Ont., Sept. 12.—The grand jury has found a true bill against Joseph Lafleur for murdering Francis Bernard at Clarence Creek, on March 10 last. A jury was selected without difficulty to proceed with the case at the assize court. The prisoner pleaded "Not guilty." He was cool when brought into court and did not look the wild west desperado that he had been pictured at the time of the tragedy.

Markdale Bank Burglarized.

MARKDALE, Ont., Sept. 12.—McCullough & Young's private bank was entered through a back window by burglars during a heavy thunder storm, and the vault and a fire and burglar-proof safe blown open. About $600 in cash was taken and several hundred dollars damage was done to the safe and vault.

JAP-COREA ALLIANCE

FOR INDEPENDENCE OF COREA

Discontent in Pekin With Li Hung Chang's Conduct of the War—Japan Agrees to Make Reparation for the Loss of the Steamer Kow Shing.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Morning Post prints this despatch from Tokio: "A treaty of alliance between Japan and Corea was signed at Seoul on August 26. The first clause says that the object of the treaty is to accomplish the independence of Corea and to promote the common interests of Corea and Japan by expelling the Chinese troops from the peninsula. In the second clause Japan promises to operate against the Chinese force, both defensively and offensively, and Corea pledges herself to aid her with provisions and other means. The third clauses says that the treaty will be operative during the present Chinese-Japanese war."

A despatch to the Times from Wei-Hai-Wei says: A commission composed of foreigners after examining into the incidents of the naval battle which took place on July 26, declares that the evidence completely disposes of the fiction that the Chinese began hostilities. All of the evidence goes to prove that the Japanese waylaid the Chinese vessels.

A Japanese edict has been issued in Southern Corea enjoining the people to cut off their hair as a token of their submission to Japan. The people refuse to obey the edict, preferring to fight.

Li Hung Chang is reported to be in danger of losing his power owing to intrigue and discontent in Pekin at his conduct of the war.

Will Pay for the Kow Shing.

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 12.—The Northern Pacific liner Silk, from Yokohama, reports that the commander of the Japanese warship Naniwa Kan, when asked why he fired upon the Kow Shing, seeing she was flying the British flag, answered:

"Because she was sailing under false colors, was carrying Chinese troops and had been sold to the Chinese Government and fully paid for."

Notwithstanding this explanation, the Japanese Government is said to have agreed to pay $750,000 as reparation for the sinking of Capt. Galsworthy's vessel and compensation to those dependent upon the Europeans lost with her.

Both China and Japan are reported keenly alert for articles contraband of war. The British Government has declined to consider rice contraband of war, but both belligerents claim it to be such and use every endeavor to intercept rice-carrying vessels.

The Sikh was detained at Shanghai by a Chinese gunboat, which tried to get the rice in her cargo. The British consul objected and the merchantman was allowed to proceed.

STRUGGLE IN MID-AIR.

A Brave Rescue at the Top of a Detroit Light Tower.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 12.—On Woodward avenue, right in front of the city hall, away up 150 feet in the air at the top of an electric tower, lay a man rigid and helpless, his feet tangled in the meshes of wires, his head hanging downward. He was a trimmer and had gone up there to fix the lamps when he grasped a live wire and became unconscious. A crowd of 5,000 persons saw him and expected every minute that his feet would slip and he would fall. His name was Frederick French and there in the air he hung until his partner, George Wideman, joined the crowd and saw him.

Up the slim supports of the tower went Wideman hand over hand to the prostrated man, whom he grabbed and tried to lay on the platform. But French was like a madman. He was frothing at the mouth and the two men up in the air began a struggle which looked as if it must end by one or the other coming to the ground. French endeavored to bite Wideman and once nearly threw him over, but Wideman finally got a piece of rope over French's neck and choked him into insensibility. Then he put him in the basket by which French had made the ascension and lowered him to within a few feet of the ground where others helped him, and French was taken to the hospital. He was crazy from the shock. The doctors say he will recover.

War Possible in Madagascar.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Le Tempes declares that military intervention in Madagascar is inevitable unless the Hova Government submits to France's terms. The Gaulois says that M. Le Myre de Villers will start for Madagascar on Sept. 14, empowered to present to the Hova Government the French ultimatum. Le Petite Republique says that in the event of war with Madagascar the French expedition to that country will consist of a brigade of land troops and a brigade of marines supported by a division of the Indian Ocean squadron.

Gave Away the A. P. A. Members.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 12.—Although nothing has been printed in the local newspapers in regard to the matter, Terre Haute has not had a more sensation l subject of gossip in years than has been furnished by the action of an official of the A. P. A. in turning over to a firm of lawyers, who are Catholics, the books and records of the local organization. The result is that by word of month nearly every one has been informed of the names of the members. There has been much surprise at some of the names given.

The Strike Among New York Tailors.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Joseph Barondess is again at the head of the cloakmaker's union. He assumed the leadership without any condition. Over 2,000 cloakmakers are on strike. There will be no general strike, Mr. Barondess said. The coat tailors strike is going to pieces. More than 2,000 strikers are at work and 1,000 more will follow later. All the strikers will be back in the shops in a few days. The contractors are surrendering individually. They agree to everything.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1894.

Y. P. S. C. E. NOTES.

"KINGSTON, '94."

The excitement and enthusiasm pertaining to the Cleveland convention has now to some extent subsided, and our attentions are now turned towards Kingston. As we are all aware, the Provincial Convention will be held at Kingston on Oct. 10th, 11th and 12th. The gathering will be characteristic of all C. E. Conventions, and none who can possibly attend should miss the opportunity to do so.

G. Tower Ferguson, provincial secretary, says at present only a brief outline of the arrangements can be given. Mr. E. A. Hardy will speak for himself in reference to the programme: "The committee of '94 is under the able chairmanship of Mr. Geo. Mills, jr., Miss Hattie Chown, 220 Johnston street, and Miss F. Montgomery, 225 Princess street, are joint conveners of the billeting committee. Intending delegates should send their names to one of these three conveners. The rates of fare have not yet been decided upon but it is the hope of the committee that a lower rate than fare and one third may be obtained. The evening sessions will be held in the Sydenham street Methodist church. The day sessions are arranged to take place in the First Congregational church, Wellington street, and accommodation will be provided for each of the denomination rallalies in separate buildings.

The Endeavour Herald is offering a free trip to the convention. Any society wishing to send a delegate should not fail to write the publishers for full particulars.

A Christian Endeavor meeting was held in Zion (Bridgenorth) Methodist church on Friday, Aug. 31, for the purpose of organization.

Mr. Roberts, president of Smith Local Union, occupied the chair. The pastors, Rev. Mr. Clare and Rev. Mr. Green and several Endeavorers from the other societies of the Union were present and explained the different features of a C.E. society. The result was that a Union Christian Endeavor Society was organized with a membership of thirteen. They will meet every Thursday evening.

The officers are: President, Mr. J. Northey; vice-president, Mr. T. Milburn; corresponding secretary, Miss Allen; recording secretary, Mr. A. Mann; treasurer, Mrs. J. Northey.

Their first meeting was held on Thursday, Sept. 6. It was a very earnest consecration service.

The following article taken from the Endeavour Herald is interesting in itself, but is, all the more so to the people of Peterborough, as it was written by one of our successful merchants.

WHY A BUSINESS MAN SHOULD BE A TOTAL ABSTAINER.

My first reason is, because of the effects of liquor on the human brain and human system. You have no doubt often heard that "goods well bought are half sold"; this being the case, it stands to reason that a man who is to buy a stock of dry goods or merchandise of any kind must keep his brain clear. The effects of alcohol on that part of man with which he thinks, called the brain, is of a six fold character. First, pressure; second, dizziness; third deceitfulness, producing the feeling that there is no person possessed of such strength and such mind as he is; then comes the fourth, called stupidity, which makes a man unfit for his business or for anything else; the fifth effect on the brain is insanity; and the sixth is delirium, which seems to be the end of nearly every half debauch. Summing up these effects upon the brain, I say that every man, no matter whether he be merchant, preacher, teacher, or whatever calling in life, should abstain from taking that into his system which not only unfits him for his calling but wastes his vitality and energy and stands a chance of ending his days in ruin and disgrace.

My second reason is, because the commercial world to-day looks upon it as a sure course to failure and commercial ruin. Whenever a wholesale firm finds out that one of its creditors has taken to the use of liquors, be it ever so moderately, they look upon it as only a short time until that man will become a failure. With a keen competition in the commercial world and the smallness of profits in all the lines of business to-day, a man requires, in order to keep his credit good and his name unspotted before the commercial world, to give the strictest attention to his business, which he cannot and will not do if addicted to the use of strong drink.

My third reason, is on account of the example it sets to those we employ. I venture to say there is not one business man in this town who would, to-morrow, engage a young man as a clerk in his employ knowing that he was in the habit of using intoxicants. We, as business men, take an interest in those we employ, and like to see them grow up industrious, saving their money, and above all things, being temperate and honest. Therefore, we maintain that a man must be a total abstainer before he can ask anyone in his employ to do what he does not do himself.

My fourth reason is, because, as business men, we are responsible to God for our time, our capital, and our talents, as God has not made a special plan of salvation for poor business men. Summing the whole, I can more effectually do so by picturing it as a bank in which we put our money, our time, our good name, our health, our happiness and our hope of heaven, and lose all.

JUNIOR RALLY.

There will be a meeting of the Junior Local Union on Saturday, Sept. 22nd, in the Y.M.C.A. hall at 3.30 p.m., to hear reports of the Cleveland convention delegates. Full particulars will be given in this column next week.

The Temperance committee of St. Paul's society are actively preparing the programme of the week's temperance series to be held in the church commencing Sunday, Sept. 23rd. A full account will be published later on.

Children Who Suffer

from scrofulous skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't cure in every case, the money is returned.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Rain, which has been looked for and needed so long has come at last. The ground was so dry that it was almost impossible for farmers to plow. A large number of wells had dried up and in many places cattle had to be driven a long distance to water.

Mr. Wm. Elliot, foreman on the Gilmour drive, which passed through here last week, wears a happy smile these days, all because his men appreciated his kindness so much that they presented him with a beautiful gold ring and address the other evening. Mr. T. J. Barrie read the address and Mr. Elliot replied in very feeling terms.

The Lakefield and Young's Point school nines played here on Saturday afternoon and the home boys won by a score of 30 to 11. The game was played in the remarkably quick time of one hour and twenty minutes and the feature was a triple play in the third innings by the Point team. A return game will be played in Lakefield next Saturday.

Miss Nellie Lane, Peterborough, has returned home after a short visit with friends here.

Mrs. Dunn, Peterborough, is visiting friends here.

Miss Flood, Ennismore, is the guest of Miss N. J. Young.

Mrs. T. Dineen, Peterborough, is visiting friends here.

Mr. F. McAvoy, Campbellford, was in our village last week seeing after the Rathbun interests.

Quite a number of our villagers intend taking in the fair in Toronto this week.

The first annual excursion and pic-nic under the auspices of Patrons of Industry Justice Association, No. 169, Warsaw, will be held on Friday, 14th of Sept., per teamer Mary Ellen to Buckhorn and return. Boat leaves Lakefield at 7 a.m. and McCracken's Landing at 9 a.m. A jolly time is anticipated.

Mr. T. J. Kearney is visiting friends in Chemong.

Mr. C. Young has returned home after a few days in Lindsay and Toronto.

Orders on treasurer—Peterborough EXAMINER, printing half-yearly account, $30; clerk, $50; John Porter, making road to gravel pit, $2; F. D. Armstrong, for one day's work done under instruction of Robert Allan, a commissioner, but not paid for, $1; James Watson, for work on road through lot 20, concession 7, $2; F. D. Armstrong was appointed a commissioner to expend the sum of $6.50 on side roads between lots 10 and 11, between concessions 7 and 8. W. J. Bullock was appointed a commissioner to expend the sum of $14, being arrears of statute labour tax accrued against the west half of lot 26, concession 1, and other lots in the same neighborhood, in the year 1889. The clerk was instructed to notify John Conroy, sr., and John Conroy, jr., to remove their fences off the allowance for road between concessions 8 and 9 in front of lot 1. Council adjourned to the 22nd of Oct. next, at 10 o'clock a.m.

Safe, Sure and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure-pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painlessly. Do not be imposed upon by substitutes.

DEAR SIRS,—I have been using Burdock Bitters for Boils and skin diseases, and I find it very good as a cure. As a dyspepsia cure I have also found it unequalled. MRS. SARAH HAMILTON, Montreal, Que.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Perfect Health.

The following letter is from a well-known merchant tailor of St. George, N. B.:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen—I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills have done me a great deal of good. I had a severe attack of the grip in the winter, and after getting over the fever I did not seem to gather strength, and had no ambition. Hood's Sarsaparilla proved to be just what I needed. The results were very satisfactory, and I recommend this medicine to all who are afflicted with rheumatism or other

A New Grocer

COME TO TOWN.

I take pleasure in announcing that I have purchased the Grocery and Provision Business, lately carried on by Mr. W. J. HALL, in the well-known and long established premises at

No. 355 George St., Burnham's Block.

The present stock, which has been well bought, and is in first-class condition, will be replenished with a more complete assortment of FAMILY GROCERIES, PROVISIONS and everything in the culinary line.

Also PRIME SUGAR CURED HAM. BACON, PORK, FLOUR, EGGS, BUTTER, &c. In every case the best goods will be bought, then we know what we are selling. If there are two qualities we will always get the better one.

My business will be conducted on the CASH principle—buying for cash and selling for cash—which is the only way to get and to give the best values and lowest prices. My motto will be "Small Profits for Cash."

All I ask is a call from my old friends in the country, as well as my new friends in town, and as many more as may favour me with their custom. I mean business. I am here to stay. I mean to grow.

How We Forged

Our way to the front, is largely due to close buying, close application, and an appreciative class of customers. Our whole hobby has been to excel in selling Groceries, Provisions, etc., which we know to be the best, the purest, and the cleanest, for the smallest margin of profit. We cannot afford to mistake anything. We never do. If you are so prejudiced that you're willing to go on paying too much, no argument need be wasted, but if you are open to conviction and a fair judge of values, a sample order will prove to you how true our contention is.

We are especially pleased to know that our past six months business has been the most satisfactory, as well as the largest in Peterborough.

OUR SPECIALS for the next week will consist chiefly in Sugars for Preserving, Vinegars and Spices for Pickling, and Teas. Come early—better late than ever—but come, sure.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

OF CANADA.

From the CANADIAN TRADE REVIEW.

"There is no invidiousness involved in the assertion that no other Canadian company in existence can point to such a record of rapid, substantial and uninterrupted progress and prosperity as that exhibited in the successive annual reports of the Sun Life. . . . Most assuredly are its directors, shareholders and policy holders to be congratulated upon the very flourishing condition of the Company, and especially upon the result of the business of a year which was marked by the prevalence of conditions—the influenza epidemic, for instance—which proved disastrous for so many life companies. And with no less certainty can it be said that the very great progress made by the institution has been mainly due to the able and energetic efforts, guided by the sagacity and prudence which pratical experience alone can bring, of the President and Managing-Director, who has been efficiently assisted by the Secretary. From the contemplation of so successful a past the management may reasonably draw most sanguine anticipations as to the prosperity of the future.

STABBED TO THE HEART.

A Street Fight Which Resulted Fatally to One of the Participants.

TILBURY CENTRE, Ont., Sept. 12.—An affray occurred here which has resulted fatally to one of the participants, one John Radcliffe, commonly called Jack the Rattler, of Romney township. John Warnick, a prominent farmer of Tilbury north township, who resides about three miles from this town, met Radcliffe and some friends on Queen street, and an altercation ensued which resulted in the stabbing of Radcliffe in the heart. Another party by the name of William Haight was also stabbed in the neck. The unfortunate man Radcliffe died from his wounds within a short time after the affray, although he was able to start and walk for medical assistance. Haight was not seriously injured. It is said that there were two or three parties in the fight combined against Warnick, and that the stabbing was committed by him in self-defence. Warnick was arrested by the town constable about midnight in the Commercial Hotel where he had retired to rest, and a knife, with which the deed is supposed to have been committed, was found in his possession.

The inquest over the supposed murder was held yesterday at the municipal hall. Dr. Bray, of Chatham, was the officiating coroner; J. A. Walker appeared for the crown, and F. E. Nelles, Tilbury, appeared for the accused. A postmortem was held with Doctors Sharp and Ferguson of this town and Dr. R. G. Bray, of Chatham, acting. The jury rendered their verdict that deceased came to his death through wounds received by the prisoner, Warnick, who was remanded for further examinations before the magistrates.

METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE.

Proceedings of the Session at London—Chinese Immigration.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—At the Methodist general conference yesterday a communication was read from the general assembly of the Presbyterian church on bringing influence upon the Government to remove the unjust and odious restrictions upon Chinese immigration. This was referred to the committee on sociological questions.

Various memorials, one of which referred to the reception of women as candidates for the ministry, were referred to the appropriate committees.

A number of notices of motion with respect to the Epworth League, invitations to pastors, trial of members, court of appeal, Sabbath observance, the establishment of a federal court for the settlement of inter-denominational questions, tobacco habit, entertainments in churches and questionable methods of raising money for church purposes, Chinese immigration, superannuation and supernumary fund. The change of the name of the church to the "Methodist church of Canada," and other miscellaneous matters were referred to the business committee.

The report of the committee on rules of order was considered and adopted seriatim. It provides for the adoption of the rules of order now in the book of discipline with some few alterations and amendments.

Highway Robbery Near Clarksburg.

CLARKSBURG, Ont., Sept. 12.—As a farmer named Prentice was returning to his home, five miles from this place, he was stopped by three men, one of whom held the horses while the other two knocked him down, rifled his pockets, taking a purse containing about $8. There is no clue to the highwaymen, but they are supposed to be part of the gang that burglarized the banking office of Hartman & Wilgress of this place ten days ago.

Walked on Telephone Wires.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—Edward Burrows, of 57 Brant street, was proceeded against by the Bell Telephone Company on a charge of wilful injury to their property. Young Burrows has aspirations as a wire-walker, and not being able to purchase the necessary stock wire he is said to have used the company's telephone wires in giving his amateur performances. The wires were loosened and injured, the Company says.

Woman Killed at Toronto Junction.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—Yesterday a special train to the city ran over the body of a woman lying on the track two miles north of Toronto Junction. The woman was about 60 years of age, grey-haired and clad in a plain black dress with white front. There was nothing in the dress or pockets to identify the woman by.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success.

Dr. Andrew Grant & Co.,

DEAR SIRS,—This is to certify that my hair began to fall out when I was about 18 years of age. I at once commenced the use of hair tonics, etc., with the result that I kept on losing my hair, until at about 25 years of age, I had become quite bald and had concluded to buy a "wig." Just at that time I came across your "HAIRENE," and began its use. Now, before I had used one bottle I could see a decided change for the better, inasmuch as a new growth of hair appeared quite distinctly. By continuing its use my hair has improved greatly, and I take great pleasure in stating that after quite an extended experience in the drug trade, your "HAIRENE" is the only remedy I know of that really has produced a healthy scalp, and a growth of hair.

Yours truly,
J. B. BURNHAM.

SIRS,—My baby was very bad with summer complaint, and I thought he would die, until I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. With the first dose I noticed a change for the better, and now he is cured, and fat and healthy.

LASHWADE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Mrs. D. Whitmore, east road, met with a very painful accident on Sunday. She was out for a drive accompanied by her son Archie, who was driving. When near the Apsley cheese factory, the horse, a very spirited animal, shied at something on the road, upsetting the rig, and throwing the occupants heavily to the ground. When help arrived it was found that Mrs. Whitmore had fractured her arm and received quite a shaking up. Mr. Whitmore escaped unhurt.

The woods begin to put on their autumn dress. The dry weather and early frost have caused the leaves to change colour and fall much earlier than usual this year.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an-have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Wednesday's Market.

To-day's market was a good one, and the demand was in excess of the supply in everything except fruit and vegetables, which sold cheaply. Meats, poultry, butter, eggs, etc., were in good demand and sold at advanced prices; also hay and oats much asked for. Grain is moving more freely, and prices firm. Prices for the different commodities remain the same as on Saturday last. Live stock has been brisk, a large number of hogs, sheep and cattle bought for home market and shipment as well. The Wednesday market is rapidly becoming popular. Indications point to a large market on Saturday next on account of the great demand to-day.

Hot Bargains for Fair Time.

Everywhere you look—everywhere you turn—extra preparations are on foot for the Peterborough Central Fair. The Peterborough Bookstore has inaugerated a September special sale of Wall Papers, Window Shades and Cornice Poles. This store is on the warpath — tomahawking high prices. Greater faith is put in the nimble sixpence than in the slow shilling. Our advice to visitors to the fair is to arm themselves with a few crisp dollar bills, prepare for the low price crush, and be on hand in time. The sale is now in progress. In Wall Paper there is joy by the roll—in Window Shades joy by the yard—in Cornice Poles joy by the foot—and dollar doubling joy in everything. See our ad. elsewhere. A. H. STRATTON & Co. dw

Peculiar Freaks of Nature.

Those who were present at the C.P.R. station this morning witnessed quite an aggregation of curiosities. A through freight going west had on board an interesting exhibit for the Western Fair at London. It consisted of a monster white boar, about twelve feet long, and weighing 1,500 pounds. From the tip of one ear to the other the measurement was eighteen inches. In the same car could be noticed a calf with three eyes, four horns and two mouths. Two of the horns grew in their natural position, the other two branching out directly behind. The eyes and mouths were also peculiarly formed. The third interesting object was a fully developed cow, standing no higher than an ordinary hound, and with very short legs. The exhibit was viewed with interest by quite a number.

Struck a Stick.

On Saturday night Engineer "Bob" Yarnold, of Lindsay, with old 635, and a special freight train in charge of Conductor Fred Russell, had "an experience" between Birdsall's and Hastings. Shortly after leaving the first-named station a jar was felt, and it was noticed that the train pulled heavily. An examination was made upon arrival at Hastings, when it was found that a cedar log was wedged between the cowcatcher and one of the front wheels of the locomotive. It was hammered out and taken to Lindsay as a trophy. On the return trip a sharp scrutiny was kept, and several smaller pieces of wood and some stones were found at about the same place as where the jar was first felt. No person can account for their presence. A detective has the matter in hand.

A LITERARY AND SCIENTIFIC CLUB.

A Number of Prominent Gentlemen Organise a Literary and Scientific Club in Town.

A number of prominent gentlemen of Peterborough and Ashburnham met yesterday evening for the purpose of organising a Literary and Scientific Club. The meeting was entirely successful, the club was organized, its object and scope discussed and officers and a managing committee elected. A committee was also appointed to draft rules.

The society is to be congratulated on their president and vice-president, Mr. C. Fessenden and Rev. Herbert Symonds. Mr. J. Hampden Burnham was unanimously elected secretary-treasurer, but he having declined the office on account of his inability to attend all the meetings, Mr. W. H. Murray was chosen.

The first regular meeting will be held on Tuesday, the 25th September, and thereafter the society will meet every three weeks on Tuesdays.

Mr. Hampden Burnham will read the paper at the next meeting. The subject will be announced later on.

Death of an Ashburnham Resident.

Mr. Oliver Buck, an old and highly respected resident of Ashburnham, died today at the advanced age of 78 years. Mr. Buck was well known throughout the county, and was a familiar figure on the streets of Peterborough for many years. His funeral will take place from his residence, Downer's Corners, on Friday morning at 10 o'clock, and proceed to Norwood.

Marriage of Mr. J. P Dunn.

Mr. J. P. Dunn, formerly C.P.R. station agent in Peterborough, but now stationed in Chatham, was married on Wednesday, Sept. 5th, at St. Francis de Sales church, Pickering, to Miss Josephine, daughter of Mr. Daniel McBrady, of Audley. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father McBrady, brother of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Fathers Gallagher and Jeffcott. Mr. Dunn during his residence in Peterborough made many friends, who all join in wishing him a happy wedded life.

The License Bylaw Question.

A meeting of the License Committee of the town council was held in the town clerk's office last night, Mr. J. L. Hughes in the chair. The object of the meeting was to discuss the question of the repeal of the license by-law. A letter was read by the chairman from Mr. E. B. Edwards, town solicitor, in which the law, as regards the council's action in this matter, was defined. It is understood from the letter that the present council has not the power to repeal the license bylaw.

County Police Court.

A session of the county police court was held this morning. Minnie Easton was charged by High Constable Cochrane with being the keeper of a house of ill-fame, known as the "Edison Heights," and also of selling liquor without a license. Mr. E. B. Stone appeared for the defendant, who pleaded not guilty to both charges. The prisoner was remanded.

An Ennismore assault case, which took place on Sept. 6th, will come up for hearing on Friday.

A citizen of Lakefield will appear on Friday to answer to the charge of unlawfully interfering with the Government dam at Lakefield, without the consent of the party in charge.

Hunter Street Bridge.

The stonework of the retaining walls of the Hunter street bridge has been completed, and Mr. James Bogue, who had charge of the work, has, as is his habit, made a good job of it. The foundation of the new portion of the wall on the east side, in fact of both stretches of new wall, is placed well under the bed of the creek, ant is in no danger of being washed out by a freshet. The eastern foundation rests on timbers three feet below the surface of the bed of the creek. The stonework has been solidly done, and was well pushed. But for the delay in receiving stone it would have been finished last Saturday. Under Mr. Bogue's supervision there was no "sojering" by the workmen—they were kept busy. Their work was well cut out for them and they did it well.

What the People are Saying.

The present council has no power to repeal the license reduction bylaw.—Town Solicitor Edwards.

If there's anything in a name—the names on our petition—it should be repealed.—T. C. W.C. and M.C.

We should like to attend the Peterborough market and shall do so if we only get half fare treatment. — Myrtle and Pontypool.

We don't want anything to do with "Deep Waterways;" the Trent Valley Canal is good enough for us.—Board of Trade.

Our northern waters need some brains mixed with them.—D. W. D.

We are ready, and waiting — none too patiently—for work on the outfall sewer—Unemployed workingmen.

'Tis Dunn—I take my orders from a new superintendent now—Mr. Bamford's predecessor.

IT PUTS A GIRDLE ROUND THE COUNTY.

Every one is busy making a big effort to have the 7,000 issue of the special Fall Edition of the EXAMINER out by the 20th of this month.

Advertisers who have arranged for space will help us out with it by handing in their copy as early as possible.

It goes by mail to every post-office in the county, and there is a copy for every householder on the voters' list—town and county.

MISSION BAND MEETING.

Annual Meeting of the Baptist Church Mission Band Last Evening.

The annual meeting of the Mission Band of the Baptist church was held in the church last evening with a good attendance of members present. The pastor, Rev. J. E. Trotter, occupied the chair, and after devotional exercises the following programme was presented:

Secretary's report
Treasurer's report
Address	Rev. J. E. Trotter
Recitation	Mary Trotter
Selection	Missionary Hymn
Reading	Albert Mimms
Solo	Miss Hutchinson
Address	Mrs. Hunter
Reading	Harry McKee
Reading	Helen Trotter
Remarks	President
Closing hymn and prayer

The report of the Mission Band for the year showed a very successful year's work both in the home and foreign missions. During the year a barrel of useful articles valued at $25.00 had been sent to a missionary working in the home mission fields. Altogether there was about $48 raised by the band during the year.

The following are the officers of the Band:

President—Miss E. Smith.
Secretary—Miss E. Cochrane,
Treasurer—John McDonald.

DELINEATES CHARACTER.

Prof. Alexander's Second Lecture Highly Interesting.

Prof. Alexander gave his second lecture at the Opera House last night on "How to Make a Success in Life." The Professor is an able earnest speaker, eloquent in his earnestness with that peculiar force that brings conviction home to the minds of his hearers, both of the truth of the ideas expressed and the sincerity of the speaker's belief in them.

He is a capital mimic and his witty and humorous illustrations of the various points under consideration at times completely convulsed the audience.

At the close of the lecture his worship Mayor Kendry, Mrs. Kendry, Mrs. William Bradburn and Mr. Harry Winch were chosen by the audience for the public examinations, which were accurate in every detail and gave entire satisfaction.

"Benefactors will be the subject of tonight's lecture. There will be a silver collection at the door.

CRICKET.

On Tuesday a cricket match was played at Lindsay, between the Orillia and Lindsay clubs, resulting in a victory for the Lindsayites by a score of 72 to 62, in the first innings. Scores: Orillia, 62 and 49; Lindsay, 72 and 8 for four wickets.

It is likely that Lindsay and Peterborough will meet on the crease next week.

LACROSSE.

The Shamrocks and Junior Peterboroughs will cross sticks on the P.A.A.A. grounds on Wednesday, Sep. 19th, for a valuable silver cup. The Shamrocks are requested to turn out every night for practice.

THE DEPUTY-MINISTER OF RAILWAYS AND CANALS

Arrives in Town To-day — He Pays a Visit to the Lakefield and Buckhorn Section of the T.V.C.

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, C.M.G., Chief Engineer and Deputy-Minister of Railways and Canals was in town this morning in company with Mr. Geo. Goodwin, Government contractor. They left at noon in company with Mr. R. B. Rogers, superintendent engineer of the T.V.C., for Lakefield and Buckhorn, where they will inspect the route of the proposed canal. It is rumored among the hopeful that tenders will shortly be advertised for the commencement of operations on the Lakefield-Peterborough section of the canal.

A Wayward Girl Before the Magistrate This Morning.

Jennie Davis, the domestic employed at Mr. Isaac Clark's, Springville, who was charged on Monday with thieft and pleaded guilty came up for sentence this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke were in Peterborough Saturday, and left the girl in charge of the house. During their absence the girl carried off a cashmere wrapper, a black satin dress, five gold rings and other articles.

This morning the magistrate sentenced the young girl to one year in the Andrew Mercer Reformatory.

The Black and the Blue.

The drop in prices of new fall goods, announced by Joseph Armstrong & Co., has proved a strong attraction to the ladies, so early in the season. This firm has had many strong features to offer during the summer season, and they seem determined to pursue an equally vigorous and pushing policy during the fall. The black and the blue ink prices on the goods make it easy to accept the reductions on the goods as genuine. You examine the goods—the tickets do the rest. dw

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

JACKETS AND CAPES
—AT—
HALL, GILCHRIST & CO'Y.

WHY DO WE SELL more Jackets, Capes, Ulsters and Wraps, than all the other houses in town together.

REASONS WHY

1st. Because we buy them 6 months later (which can only be done by going direct to the makers) thereby getting the latest styles.

2nd. Because we buy them in larger quantities for cash, thereby getting the lowest possible prices.

3rd. Because we sell them for spot cash which means that we can sell them on smaller profits.

14,500

Is about the number of Jackets, Capes, Wraps and Ulsters that our syndicate buys for every Fall and Winter season, direct from the German Manufacturers (not from agents) and pay spot cash for every garment. That is reason enough why we sell cheaper than any one else in the trade. Just imagine any house that only buys 250 to 300 garments (and that from a commission agent) pretending to buy as cheap as we do who have such opportunities.

THE STYLES OF THIS SEASON.

No matter what others tell you MAKE A NOTE OF THIS.—That Long Jackets with tight waists, mostly plain except when trimmed with Fur or narrow Sutache Braids are the correct styles for this season. We show them from 36 to 48 inches long, in the best goods. DON'T BUY TILL YOU SEE OUR IMMENSE STOCK. It is always a pleasure for us to show you our stock whether you buy or not.

DRESS GOODS.

Our sales in this department surpass all previous records. The choice selection of Novelties in Dress Lengths, in Tweeds and Covert Cloths are the finest ever shown here. The way they are selling is a proof that styles are correct.

DRESS MAKING.

Our workroom is now booming with orders. Our low prices for really first-class work is sure to keep this department full of work all through the season.

DRESS TRIMMINGS AND BUTTONS.

The newest styles in Trimmings and Buttons are now in stock, styles exclusive. Many lines are selling fast. The new buttons and clasps are not to be approached by any one for style or cheapness. These buttons are correct for Tailor-Made Tweed Costumes, (next season other houses will have them.)

Our Linen Sale keeps right up. Several new lines have been added this week. Table Linen, Towels and Napkins, Quilts, Blankets and Comforters, at Bargain sale prices.

Always pleased to show our goods.

Samples sent by mail and mail orders filled promptly.

MUNICIPAL INSURANCE UNDER DISCUSSION.

THE BOARD OF TRADE DEALS WITH THE SUBJECT.

No Action Taken in the Matter—The Presidents Verbal Report on the Inter-Colonial Conference—The "Deep Waterways" Scheme Disposed of—Our Water Facilities to be Protected—Better Railway Fares for Our Saturday Market.

A meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade was held in the Council Chamber last evening and a very small attendance of members was present. The meeting did not open until nearly nine o'clock, with the following members present: Mr. Robt. Fair, president, in the chair, Mr. T. A. S. Hay, secretary, and Messrs. W. Hill, R. W. Errett, G. A. Schofield, G. B. Sproule, T. E. Bradburn, A. L. Davis, P. Campbell, J. C. Turnbull, G. W. Rauney, J. W. T. Fairweather, Macfarlane Wilson, D. W. Dumble, Adam Dawson, H. S. Macdonald, T. Kelly, J. L. Hughes, G. M. Roger, W. H. Meldrum.

Before opening the meeting the president stated he was sorry there was not a quorum earlier in the evening as the business of the Board was rapidly accumulating.

The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting which, on motion, were confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were read:

From the County Treasurer notifying the Board that at the last meeting of the County Council a committee had been appointed consisting of the Warden, W. H. Casement and J. L. Aunger to co-operate with the Board in reference to our mineral resources.

From Robt. McLean, secretary of the Underwriters' Association, in reference to insurance.

From the Tudhope Carriage Manufacturing Company, Orillia, in reference to the removal of that establishment to Peterborough.

From the Minister of Militia in reference to the proposed establishment of an infantry school.

From the convention on "Deep Waterways," Toronto, asking the board to send a delegate to the convention which is to be held in Toronto, Sept. 17th-20th.

From the secretary of the Guelph Board of Trade in reference to a system of municipal insurance.

From the Ontario government asking the Board to appoint a representative to the council of Conciliation and Arbritration.

From the department of Trades and Commerce, Ottawa, enclosing copies of tariff rates of different nations.

From a member of the Board of Trade, advocating a better afternoon mail service on the G.T.R.

On motion of Mr. Sproule, seconded by Mr. Schofield, the communications were received.

ACCOUNTS PRESENTED.

The secretary presented the following accounts, which on motion of Mr. Campbell, seconded by Mr. Hill, were ordered to be paid:—

Review	$12 25

THE INTERCOLONIAL CONFERENCE.

Mr. Fair, president, next referred to his attendance at the Intercolonial Trade Conference at Ottawa. While in attendance he had had the pleasure of meeting members of other Boards of Trade, and he was perfectly convinced that there was not a more active Board outside the larger cities than the local one. The conference must result in much benefit to the country. Mr. Fair stated that the representation from Cape Colony has every prospect of working up trade between that country and Canada.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

The secretary then presented the following financial statement:

To the President, Officers and Members of the Board of Trade:

GENTLEMEN,—Herewith I beg to present a financial statement of the Board of Trade:

MUNICIPAL FIRE INSURANCE.

The communication from the Guelph Board of Trade in reference to municipal fire insurance in which the municipality becomes the insurance company, with the object of securing cheaper insurance, came up for discussion.

Mr. Dumble in referring to the matter said it was virtually the old question of state insurance. The Board should not take hold of a question of this nature rashly. He was in favor of a corporation controlling the waterworks system, but it should never take hold of a matter like this when it did not understand anything about fire insurance.

Mr. Hill did not think it was practicable. The Ontario Government insured their property, and after the Toronto University had been consumed it was found that the insurance on it was very small. The question had been discussed for years, but nothing beneficial had resulted therefrom. A municipality forming itself into a mutual insurance company was running a great risk, and no firm would buy their debentures. Besides, Mr. Hill stated, such a system would not be allowed by any sensible government. If the town adopting this system had a heavy loss by fire how would they stand? At the close of Mr. Hill's remarks he was loudly applauded.

Mr. Hay said there was considerable objection raised against insurance companies taking so much money out of town, erecting fine buildings in the city and employing large staff of clerks. The people thought more money should be expended in the town.

Mr. Sproule said that fully $75,000 in premiums was annually taken out of the town. There was certainly some money made in the insurance business. If the town controlled the water works system, the question of municipal insurance might then be considered.

Mr. Dumble contended that $75,000 net did not go out of the town. A portion of it remained in the shape of agent's, salaries, etc. He was of the opinion that it would be wise to let other municipalities move first in this matter.

Mr. Davis said it was not necessary for him to say much. He referred to his experience as an insurance man and thought it was a dangerous thing to meddle with, and was in favour of referring it to a committee consisting of the secretary and Messrs. Bradburn, Meldrum, Hill, Davis and Dumble.

Mr. Meldrum stated in reference to the matter that he had considerable experience in mutual insurance as a member of the Miller's Association. They were forced to go to outside insurance companies to insure themselves. They could not carry on a system of this kind without paying heavy commissions. It was a question that the town should not enter into. Toronto discussed it but arrived at no conclusion. When other cities would benefit by it, it would be time for this town to consider the question.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn also agreed with the previous speakers on this question. It was finally moved by Mr. Dumble and seconded by Mr. Meldrum, that in reference to the matter of municipal fire insurance, as suggested by the Board of Trade of the city of Guelph this Board has not sufficient knowledge to deal with the question. Carried.

The motion of Mr. Davis was withdrawn.

REDUCED FARES ON SATURDAY.

The president stated that in conversation with Mr. B. F. Ackerman, of this town, it was learned that the people living as far west as Myrtle were anxious to patronize the Peterborough market.

Mr. Meldrum moved, seconded by Mr. Wilson, that the secretary communicate with the C. P. R. requesting that reduced fares be granted from that point for the Saturday market. Carried.

Mr. Kelly thought it would be a good idea to include Campbellford and Omemee on the Grand Trunk. These two places were included in the above resolution.

DEEP WATERWAYS.

The question of the "Deep Waterways" convention came up for discussion but on motion of Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Meldrum, no action was taken in the matter.

A NEW MEMBER OF THE BOARD.

The President submitted the name of Mr. B. F. Ackerman as a member of the Board. On motion the secretary was instructed to cast his ballot in his favour.

A BOARD OF ARBITRATION.

The communication in reference to the Council of Conciliation and Arbitration for the settlement of disputes between employer and employee, was next discussed. On motion of the Board Mr. Dumble was appointed a representative on the Council.

THE PRESENT LOW WATER.

Mr. Dumble next brought up the question of the low condition of the water in our river and northern lakes, and argued that something should be done to remedy the evil. Mr. Dumble spoke at some length on the question, and at the close introduced the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Meldrum and carried:

That the navigation of our back lakes, and the manufacturing interests of our town, demand that the water of our back lakes and of the river Otonabee should be kept up as near uniformity as possible. A great number of the reservoir lakes in the back country have dams, which by reason of the cessation of lumbering operations, have been allowed to get out of repair, and in consequence the water which would have been sufficient to keep up the flow was allowed to run off in the spring, and, when most required, very low water proved a very great inconvenience and loss. The Board, therefore, memoralizes the Ontario Government and respectfully prays that the dams shall be repaired and the management of the water put under intelligent control.

The Board then adjourned.

PURIFICATION OF SEWAGE.

The following taken from The American Architect and Building News will be of interest to our readers at the present time:—The remarkable experiments carried out two or three years ago by the Massachusetts State Board of Health, which resulted not only in identifying, in the most satisfactory manner, the microbe of nitrification, whose existence was not even dreamed of fifteen years ago, but in collecting a great deal of information in regard to its habits, has already borne fruit. Some months ago, Mr. Sidney Lowcock, of Birmingham, read before the English Institute of Civil Engineers an interesting paper, describing the application by him of the results of the Massachusetts experiments to the purification of sewage. It was ascertained by the Massachusetts Board that the nitrifying microbe, contrary to the ordinary idea, does not live exclusively in loam, but prefers to cluster on particles of gravel, the gelatinous masses which it forms rapidly spreading over the surfaces of the particles, after a colony has once been established. In pursuance, apparently, of this idea, Mr. Lowcock arranged a sand and pebble filter, with air-pipes laid among the pebbles, so that air could be blown through them. By supplying oxygen in this way, the pebbles, after a colony of bacteria had established itself, soon became covered with them, and the efficiency of so large a number, in purifying water charged with nitrogenous matter, was very great. As all sewage contains isolated specimens of the microbe, all that was necessary was to allow sewage to run through the filter. At first, it ran through unchanged, but with the lodgment and multiplication of the wonderful little creatures, it became purer until, in about a month, the pebbles became completely covered, and the purifying power was at its height. When this point was reached, Mr. Lowcock found that three hundred and fifty thousand gallons of city sewage per day could be treated on an acre of land, and that the effluent would be practically pure. The extraordinary efficiency, it is obvious, would make it easy for inland towns to secure purification by filtration, without the serious outlay for filtration-beds and service which has hitherto been necessary, and it is to be hoped that the knowledge of the new system may be disseminated as rapidly and as widely as possible.

WE COVER ALL.

It is one thing to cover up your body, Robinson Crusoe like, with goat skins and tanned palm leaves. It is quite another thing to get well-fitting, neatly-made Suits, Boots and Hats of the latest designs, without paying an exhorbitant price.

MEN'S HATS!
MEN'S SHOES!
MEN'S CLOTHING!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR!
MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

This store appeals to Men—and to Women also. The field of trade is widening continually. Instead of confining ourselves to Clothing, we have, for the fall of 1894, brought together under one roof such things for men's wear as they have shown themselves to want.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $2.65.

On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.

On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 35c.

On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.

On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.

Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

On the best $3 Men's Selected Shell Cordovan Balmoral or Congress, with Dunraven toe, we take off 40c., and ask only $2 60.

On the best Men's Fine Waxed Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1 25.

On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.20.

On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 62c., and ask only $1.98.

Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

ALL OVER THE GLOBE—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are known. Pills of American manufacture easily lead. Why? Because they're smaller; the vegetable extracts are concentrated. There are many liver pills, yet there must be a reason why Dr. Pierce's Pellets give the best satisfaction. Probably because they're sugar-coated, small as grains of mustard seed, therefore, easily swallowed. Most of all—they act in a natural way, and are effective in result. Then, too, after they're taken they can't be felt—so different from the old-fashioned pills, with their griping and violence.

For indigestion, pain in stomach, costiveness and habitual constipation, as well as sick and bilious headaches, these "Pellets" bring such a lasting cure, that they can be guaranteed. Your money is returned, if they do not give satisfaction.

To every sufferer from Catarrh, no matter how bad the case or of how long standing, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy say this: "If we can't cure it, perfectly and permanently, we'll pay you $500 in cash." Sold by all druggists.

WORK THAT NOURISHES.

Under Ripe Conditions Toil Develops as Truly as Exercise.

One of the secrets of a life of growing power is to be nourished rather than depleted by one's work. Activity is healthful: strain is harmful. Men do not die of overwork, but of maladjustment to the conditions of their work; for under ripe conditions work develops just as truly as exercise, but under wrong conditions it depletes and destroys. The great workers of the world have accumulated force rather than parted with it, and have gathered richness of material and the power of action by the puling forth of their energies; so that their lives have moved toward culmination rather than come to an early fruition followed by a long decline. It is easy to detect the difference between the man who is fed by his work and the man who is drained by it. There is an ease, a force and a zest about the work that nourishes, which is never long characteristic of the work that depletes; for the essential of the work which nourishes is its free and unimpeded expression of the personality of the worker. It is the overflow of his own personal energy and not the strenuous putting forth of toilsome effort. It is significant that the great artists, as a rule, are immensely productive. Michael Angelo, Raphael, Rubens, Shakespeare, Bolzac and men of their class attest their genius not only by the quality of their work but by its quantity also. This means that they have secured the right rdjustments to their conditions, and that work, instead of being a drain, nourishes and develops the worker. The man who works with delight and ease grows by means of his activity, and the first secret to be learned in order to rid work of worry and wear is to take it in a reposeful spirit, to refuse ta be hurried, to exchange the sense of being mastered by one's occupation for the conscious ness of mastery. To take work easily and quietly, not because one is indifferent to it, but because one is fully equal to it, is to take the first step towards turning work into play.—Outlook.

The Sunday School Picnic.

The Sunday school went on a picnic excursion to a shady and beautiful place, and thought it would furnish a pleasant diversion conducive to goodness and grace; conducive to goodness and edification, and not inconsistent with true consecration, and a very good thing in its place.

But the deacon sat down on a big pot of jelly, while his elbow reposed on a pie; and a ruminant cow frightened Bertha and Nellie, for they thought if she bit them they'd die; and a turtle got into the lemonade barrel, and the youngest descendant of Mrs. McVarrel mixed a whole pound of salt in each pie.

And a frog bungled into the ice cream receptacle, and two Sunday school lambs had a fight and presented a somewhat sensational spectacle for children of sweetness and light; and their blows for young lambs, were extremely prodigious, and 'tis whispered their words were somewhat irreligious, and too strong for such lambs to recite.

And when they opened the basket for dinner, coarse gravel was mixed with each roll, and each saint longed to be a temporary sinner and express the wild thoughts of his soul; for the sandwiches swam in the depths of the gravy, and sailed, like a haughty and conquering navy, where'er the wild breakers might roll.

"I think," said the scandalized, sad superintendent, and a frown crept over his face, "a picnic is not the most beautiful pendant to hang from the watch-chain of grace, and a prize fight is better for santification, and a horse race conduces to edification, much more than a picnic to grace."

It is the duty of everyone, whether at home or travelling for pleasure or business, to equip himself with the remedy which will keep up strength and prevent illness, and cure such ills as are liable to come upon all in every day life. Tattooing in the Times.

Tattooing dates back so far that it is impossible to discover when it was first practiced, but it was one of the practices that were prohibited to the Jews. In Leviticus xix., 2, is the following: Ye shall not make any cuttings in your flesh for the dead, nor print any marks upon you." From this it may be inferred that tattooing was prevalent among the tribes in the days of Moses. It is a custom that prevails among the savage nations of the earth, and tattooing is practiced to this day, except where Christianity and civilization has put a stop to it. It was at one time years ago, and is yet, but not to such a marked degree, a fad among sailors to have various designs placed on the body. It was also a fad among a certain class of silly women to have their lover's name tattooed on the arm or breast. There are sailors in almost every seaport at this time who are willing for a consideration to place figures on the flesh of any who are foolish enough to have disfiguring marks driven beneath the surface of the skin with needle points dipped into coloring matter

Blind Boys at Foot-Ball.

Foot-ball playing by the blind sounds like a novelty, but a writer who visited the Royal Victoria Blind asylum at Newcastle, England, a few weeks ago had the pleasure of watching two teams of blind boys engaged in a hot game. The ball with which the boys played is made of wire and the inside is fitted with bells, so that wherever the oval goes it can be followed by the sound. The goal posts are flags, upon which are also a number of bells, and it is very rare for the boys either to lose the ball or to follow it in the wrong direction. They seem to enjoy the fun immensely, and when a goal was scored they cheered loudly. Perhaps one of the most amusing parts of the scene was the way in which the little blind girls stood around the foot-ball grounds, and interested themselves in the progress of the game, laughing when the players laughed, and cheering when they thought the occasion demanded it. The inmates of the asylum also play chess and checkers very well.

Fitting Sheep for Market.

Sheep can be fitted for market on grass at considerably less cost than on dry feed. This is especially true of elderly sheep. These, because of teeth lacking or uneven, often masticate dry hay and grain imperfectly and waste much of it. If an animal prove hard to fatten on grass alone a tiny ration of finely-ground grain should be fed nights, and the quantity gradually increased. Use salt liberally. Oats both help fatten and impart tone to the system and strength to the digestive organs. If oats or corn cannot be ground readily, a thorough soaking will make them more easily eaten, much the same as if green. The value of clover and grain and its cheapness as a fattener of sheep should never be overlooked.

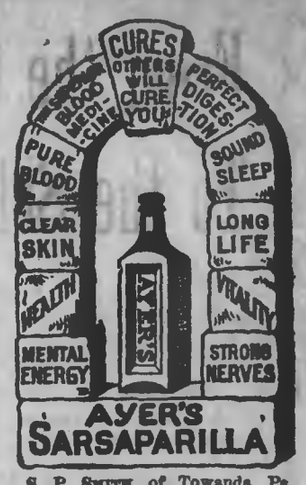
ADDRESS—McGILL COLLEGE.



S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE

INTERESTING SUMMING OF THE LAWS CONCERNING THEM.

Facts From the British Blue Book on the Codes of Various Nations—Some Curious Features Made Manifest—The United States Martial Conglomeration.

Last September the House of Commons expressed, by means of an address, its desire to be furnished with a return giving details of the marriage and divorce laws prevailing in the most important colonies and foreign countries. Circulars asking for information were, therefore, sent by Lord Rosebery, to the Queen's representatives abroad, while the Colonial Office made similar requests to our dependencies, the result of which has been already embodied in a return presented to Parliament. The reports from foreign countries have now been issued in a Blue Book, which contains some curious and novel facts relating to this subject.

One of the questions especially asked was as to the age at which marriage can be contracted. It seems that in Austria the ability to marry commences with the fourteenth year, but up to the age of twenty four the consent of father or guardian has to be obtained. In Russia the bridegroom may not be younger than eighteen, nor the bride younger than sixteen. Persons over eighty are prohibited from marrying at all, while no person is permitted to contract a fourth marriage. The further north we go the later becomes the marriageable age, till in Sweden and Norway the law is that a man cannot wed till he is twenty-one, nor a woman till she is eighteen.

In America very curious differences exist in different States; "it is extremely difficult to give even an outline of the marriage laws prevailing in this country," remarks our representative, as there are forty-seven sovereign States, each claiming exclusive control over the matter of the marriage of its citizens. Hence in comes that in Montana and Washington twenty-one is the earliest marrying age for a man and eighteen for a woman, while in New Jersey or Connecticut the ages are respectively fourteen and twelve. All that a schoolboy in Washington, therefore, has to do in order to wed a schoolgirl friend is to induce her to lay her skipping-rope aside for a time and fly with him over the border in a more complaisant State.

In the matter of charges and fees there is a delightful lack of unanimity among civilized nations. In Sweden and Norway, for example, time and place are quite optional, weddings in church being exceptional, and you are not bound to give the officiating clergyman any fee whatever. In Switzerland the only fee is one to cover the expense of the publication of notice of marriage in a local newspaper and registration, and you can be married at any hour you pleased. In Greece a bishop's license costs three drachmas, or half a crown, and the registration five drachmas. In Belgium they make a little charge for a "marriage pamphlet" presented to the parties, and for stamps, but even these are dispensed with if the parties make declaration of poverty.

On the subject of the grounds of divorce very great divergences occur between the laws of different nations. In France to call a wife "canaille" before her children justifies a decree of divorce, as also does a wife's "refusal to obey her husband when it is a question of a theatrical engagement." A husband can also be divorced for ill treating his mother-in-law or his step-children. In spite of the proverb about the advantages of commencing matrimony with a little aversion, it is the law in Germany that "insuperable aversion" may become a ground of divorce if both parties consent and there are no children.

Roumania distinguishes itself by an enactment that a divorce can be pronounced if the tribunals are satisfied that "existence in common is impossible." In Massachusetts and Mississippi "the habitual use of opium or like drug" is held sufficient excuse for untying the marriage knot; and in some States, as West Virginia, marriage will be annulled if one of the parties is a negro and the other a white person. As to the cost of divorce, the cheapest and simplest kind in the States costs about $100; in Germany it varies from £7 10s. up to £45. In Russia, Consistorial Courts pronounce in divorce cases, and the expense is great. Saxony's modest figure is from £2 10s. up to £5.

There are other remarkable regulations disclosed in the reports furnished to our Government. Thus, in Portugal, "it is the duty of a married woman to accompany her husband everywhere, except to a foreign country," and in France the Civil Code has the same law without the exception. A Portuguese married woman also "may not publish her literary works without her husband's consent." Parties divorced may not remarry in Roumania. In Italy there is no divorce at all, marriage being annulled only by the death of one of the parties; while in America the only State that has a similar law is South Carolina.—London Telegraph

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceeding[ly] painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the warmth of bed becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore, almost a sweat from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and [illegible] part of the every other symptom of itching Piles or irritation in [illegible] body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by [illegible] ment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and [illegible] to the moisture.

OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

Ancient Ruins in Arizona.

L. J. Court, a mining prospector, has just returned to Prescott, Ari., from a three months' sojourn in one of the most remote and little known parts of the territory, and says that that section contains more Aztec ruins than any other portion of America, evidences of human habitation being found from the highest peaks to the lowest valleys. In one place he found a road or street three miles in length, perfectly smooth and straight and sixty feet in width. On either side of the street the entire distance are ruins. The road was evidently built prior to some mighty earthquake, as it ends abruptly at the brink of a mighty chasm. He dug up and found lying about a great number of skeletons which were in a fair state of preservation, the heads of all being alike—very large over the eyes and receding, and almost flat toward the back of the head; jaws well developed, but front upper and lower teeth small and sharp. The ruins show the people to have been workers in stone, some fragments of work in turquoise being found. Every available foot of land had once being cultivated. The region, although little has been known about it, is a very accessible one, and will no doubt become an interesting resort for travelers.

THE GREAT ARTIST.

Rembrandt's real name was Rembrandt Hermanszoon. He was the son of a miller.

Miguard was a doctor who abandoned his pill boxes for the palette and brushes.

Correggio, in spite of the greatness of his works, lived and died in almost pitiful poverty.

Falcone was the first great battle-painter. He was a turbulent character, and more than once was expelled by the authorities of Naples for participating in revolutionary movements.

Cimabue's Madonna, now in the Church of S. Maria Novella in Florence, when finished, was carried from his house to the church in solemn procession, with bands of music and great pomp.

Udine was the greatest fruit, flower and animal painter of the fifteenth century. He gave the same attention to botany and zoology that Michael Angelo gave to anatomy, and with the same results.

HE BOBS UP AGAIN.

Sam Murray, Whom the Doctors had Pronounced as Incurable, Still on Deck—Now Acting as Foreman for a Big Lumber Concern.

North Bay, Sept. 3.—Sam Murray's name is one that has often figured in newspaper columns during the past eighteen months because he was cured of paralysis and blood poisoning by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after half a dozen physicians had pronounced him incurable. On the strength of physicians' certificates, Murray was paid his disability claim by the Grand Trunk. Since he was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, he has been accepted as a first-class risk by a leading life insurance company. About a year ago, he got a position as foreman for the big lumber concern of Davidson & Hay, of Toronto, and the fact that he was able to satisfactorily to attend to the trying duties of such a position, is ample evidence of the permanency of his cure.

SOMETHING OF INTEREST

About Pianos!

It Is An Actual Fact

That J. W. CROSBY sells Better Pianos for Less Money than any traveller or outside agent.

1st. Because he has no big salaries or commissions to pay to agents.

2nd. Because his expenses, rent, taxes, etc. in Peterborough, are more than one-half less than travellers and representatives living in the cities.

3rd. Because having the control of the best instruments of all the best Piano makers in the country, competition between the different makers gives him the advantage over the representatives of any one single Piano firm.

J. W. Crosby has sold about 200 Pianos in and near Peterborough. He sells the Williams, Morris, Rheinhart, Uxbridge and Gerhard Heintzman Pianos, and can undersell for quality of goods, price and terms, any and all outsiders. Try him.

Pianos from $200 to $400. He can save you $50 over outsiders or won't ask you to buy.

ROW AT THE INDUSTRIAL.

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—Three members of the Royal Canadian Dragoons succeeded in disgracing themselves before the eyes of a large crowd at the Exhibition grounds.

One of the men started a quarrel with a boy and cut open the lad's cheek. The stripling stood his ground, and as a result was beaten by first one and then another of the soldiers. The crowd finally interfered and there was every prospect of a free fight when Detective McGrath appeared. He told the military men who he was and tried to quiet the disturbance, but they refused to believe him. Finally they set on the officer, who drew his baton. Then several more policemen in plain clothes dashed through the crowd, and in a moment the military men were manacled and on their way to the station. During the melee the soldiers continued shouting "We're from Quebec," seeming to consider this fact to entitle them to special privileges. As they were marched off the crowd roundly hissed them.

The men were handed over to the military authorities by the police, and are under lock and key at Stanley Barracks. The police will specify the charges against them and they will be disciplined by their officers.

Struck by a Pile Driver.

WINDSOR, Sept. 12.—J. Vanroot, who lives in Detroit, was working on a pile driver at the rear of the Crawford house here, when he was struck on the head by the top piece, weighing 200 pounds, falling off. He was on a ladder fixing it at time and a rope which happened to be there prevented him from falling to the ground, otherwise he would have been killed. He was taken down and removed to the Hotel Dieu. His chances of living or dying are about even. Should he recover he will be disfigured for life, as his face was terribly crushed and part of his nose was removed completely from his face.

Tariff Relations With the U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12. — Senator J. Higgins, of Delaware, Mr. Bayard's successor in the United States Senate, is to speak at Ogdensburg on September 20 on "The relations of Canada and the United States." He will discuss them as affected by the new tariff. Mr. Higgins has made the relations between the United States and Canada a special study, and his speech, it is believed, will be of interest to the people on both sides of the St. Lawrence.

Blacklist on the Union Pacific.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 12.—A sensation was caused among Omaha railway employes by the discovery of what they believe to be a secret blacklist worked by all railroads. When a man applies for a position in the service of one railroad, he has to bring a "clearance" from the last road which employed him to show the cause of his leaving. The Union Pacific, in common with other roads, has a blank form for this purpose.

On Trial for Stealing Jewelry.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—William B. Richardson, the stenographer employed by Harry Miner in his Fifth Avenue theatre, was arraigned before Judge Martine yesterday on an indictment charging him with the larceny of $500 worth of jewelry, which he took out of the safe in the office. Richardson's father is Chief Justice of Ottawa, Canada, and a letter from him said the young man had never been in trouble before. Sentence was suspended.

Striking Carpenters Jubilant.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The organized carpenters of this city who have been on strike against the "limping" system are jubilant over their success. Out of 1,500 men who were on strike, at least 1,000 have been re-employed at the union scale of wages.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

A Sunday School Superintendent Remembered by the Teachers and Friends of the Mark Street Sunday School.

Last night the home of Mr. Hiram Armstrong, Ashburnham, was the scene of a very agreeable surprise. Mr. Armstrong has lately resigned his position of superintendent of Mark street Sunday school, on account of his near removal to his farm in Otonabee. Before allowing him to depart, a very large gathering of the friends and teachers of the school assembled at his home where they presented him with a very handsome chair, accompanied by the following address, read by Miss Aggie Dawson:

Mr. H. S. Armstrong:

DEAR BROTHER,—As circumstances have rendered it necessary for you to sever your relation as superintendent of the Mark street Sunday school, we could not allow the occasion to pass by without in some way giving you a tangible proof of our appreciation of the service thus you have rendered the school.

For nearly five years you have filled the position of superintendent, discharging the functions of your office with ability, zeal, energy and success. We are not unmindful nor have we been unobservant of your labours. Though sorry that we must lose you from our school, we trust that Heaven's richest benediction may rest upon you and yours wherever your lots may be cast. We sincerely hope, further, that like the Master Himself, you may ever realise that your greatest pleasure is in doing the will of God.

We ask you, therefore, to accept this chair, with the assurance that it gives us the greatest pleasure to present it, and trust that it shall ever serve as a pleasant reminder of the cordial relations existing between you and the school.

Signed on behalf of the school.

ROBERT G. RITCHIE,
CHARLES CREOWE.

Mr. Armstrong, though completely taken by surprise, replied feelingly in very suitable terms. He then threw open his home for the enjoyment of the gathering, and a very enjoyable time was spent.

THE MILLBROOK BURGLARY.

Full Particulars of the Daring Daylight Robbery.

From Our Own Correspondent.

One of the most daring daylight robberies that ever occured in this vicinity took place here Monday afternoon by which Mr. John Eakins is the loser to the amount of two or three hundred dollars. Mr. Eakins was in Montreal, and Mrs. Eakins locked up the house after dinner, and went out to spend the afternoon. On returning at five o'clock she was surprised to find everything strewn about the house, trunks forced open, and on going to the back kitchen was further surprised to find a strange old coat, vest, shirt and hat. Mrs. Eakins at once informed the neighbours, and on searching through the house found that her gold watch and chain, three rings, four or five brooches, cuff buttons, silverware, Mr. Eakins' dress suit, another good suit, a hat, a razor, and a lot of other goods were stolen, amounting in all to between two and three hundred dollars. The thief made an entrance through the woodshed. The door between the woodshed and backkitchen was unlocked, so he proceeded to the kitchen where he had to use an axe to smash the lock on the next door to get into the house proper. Here he seemed to take his time as he seemed to have had something to eat before going. There was a five dollar bill in a drawer which he ransacked but must have overlooked it. The only things found in the pockets of the coat left was a hymn book and a necktie. Mr. Eakins' house is not more than fifteen yards from his neighbours, therefore the fellow run a big chance of being caught. He was seen loitering about town before dinner and can be identified by several persons.

WATCH FOR AN ECLIPSE.

The Pale Moon Will Give An Interesting Show Early In the Night.

At this opportune time, when so many things are being eclipsed, the moon has decided to be in the swim. She will favor the inhabitants of Peterborough, by having a partial eclipse on Sept. 14th, and it will last for almost two hours, thus insuring lasting cricks in the necks of enthusiastic amateur astronomers. The affair will begin about ten o'clock. The first part of the eclipse will be visible from the western parts of Europe and Africa and over all of north and south America. But before it has lasted long the Europeans will be out of it, and the show thenceforth will be a purely American one. All this is providing it's a clear night, of course the eclipse will occur anyway but if cloudy it won't do the curious folks of this planet any good.

FACTS IN FEW WORDS.

Points of Interest to All Sorts and Conditions of People.

Paganini would never let anyone hear him tune his violin, and it is believed that many of the extremely peculiar effects he produced were obtained by his tuning his instrument half a tone lower or higher than the ordinary pitch.

Over fifty kinds of bark are now used in the manufacture of paper. Even banana skins, pea vines, cocoanut fibres, hay straw, water weeds, leaves, shavings, corn husks and hop plants are used for the same purpose.

The edible dogs of china are known by their bluish tongues. They never bark and are very taciturn. Four and a half millions are slaughtered annually to titillate the palates of the celestials.

An old album of stamps collected thirty years ago in Savannah and recently discovered by an heir of the collector, has revealed a number of valuable issues, some of them worth $1,500.

Herat, in Afghanistan, is the city which has been most often destroyed. Fifty-six times have its walls been laid in ruins, and the same number of times have they been erected again.

Fishhooks are precisely the same in shape to-day as they were twenty centuries ago. The only difference is the material; then they were made of bronze, now they are made of steel.

In twelve months no fewer than 21,389 persons died in India from snake-bite, and more than half a million of snakes were destroyed during that period.

The highest lakes in the world are on the Himalayas in Thibet, where there are some bodies of water as high as 20,000 feet above the level of the sea.

Tried to Save Her Assailant.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Sidney Bennett, the American lawyer, who on July 31 attempted to murder Miss Edith Andrews and subsequently tried to kill himself, was arraigned in the Westminster Police Court yesterday. Miss Andrews was called as a witness, and endeavored to exculpate Bennett by representing that his shooting at her was accidental. Bennett was remanded, the judge at the same time intimating that he would send the prisoner to trial.

The Dutch in Lombok.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 12.—It is announced officially that a friendly power has offered to help the Dutch with troops in the subjugation of Lombok. Trade along the northern and western coasts of Lombok has been prohibited. Before fleeing from the island the Balinese minister Djilantik ordered the natives to cease fortifying their positions and to hoist the white flag when the Dutch should approach.

This Negro Will be Hanged.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 12.—Near Bowling Green Judson Carter's little girl, seven years old, was criminally assaulted by Moses Christopher, colored, who had been in Carter's employ for a number of years. The condition of the little girl is critical and she will probably die. Christopher was indicted, put on trial and convicted, the jury imposing the death penalty. He was sentenced to be hanged Nov. 14.

Tobacco by Sample Post.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The post-office customs rule prohibiting the importation of manufactured tobacco by sample post has been abolished by Postmaster-General Morley. Hereafter samples of manufactured samples if not over four ounces in weight will be delivered by postmen direct on the payment of the customs charge of nine shillings.

German Soldiers Repulse Natives.

ZANZIBAR, Sept. 12.—The German garrison at Kilwa was attacked by a force of 2,000 natives on September 7. After two hours fighting the natives were repulsed with a loss of 100 killed and wounded. The Germans lost only two men. A renewal of the attack is expected.

Booth Sails for Canada.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—General Booth, of the Salvation Army, left Euston station yesterday en route to Canada. Detachments of Salvation Army corps from all parts of London and vicinity were at the station to bid him farewell.

Northwest Railway Scheme.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Efforts are being made in London to float two Northwest schemes. By the first it is proposed to run from Battleford to Lake Buffalo, and by the second a road from Calgary to Fort Churchill.

A Valuable Racer Stolen.

BOUNDBROOKE, N. J., Sept. 12.—The racing stable of Alex. Shields, near this place, was broken open yesterday and his best stallion, Logan, was stolen. The horse is well known in sporting circles and valued at over $15,000. The horse was seen passing through the town in a northerly direction by several persons. A negro was riding him.

Killed in a Collision.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—An east-bound freight train on the main line of the Erie railroad was run into one mile east of Turners by a Newburg train. Joseph Lynch, head brakesman, was killed. Eighteen cars were wrecked.

Poisoned by Corn Beef.

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 12.—Corn beef which was purchased in New York last Saturday poisoned the Sabiter family of eight persons living in Kearney, N.J., and at least two of the victims will die.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 12, 1894.

THE FARMERS' MARKET—The receipts of grain on the street were a little larger than usual. Some 300 bushels of wheat brought 54 for white, 53 for red, and 51 1-2 for goose; 200 of peas sold at 59 1-2 to 60 and 1,000 of oats at 35 to 31.

At Buffalo cattle receipts put 12,800 head on sale. A few loads of good Canada lambs were sold at 435 top price of the day.

Wheat was dull and fairly steady in Chicago closing 1-4 to 3 8 higher. Corn was unsteady and fluctated often but within a small range, the close being 3-8 to 1-2 higher for May and 1-4c lower for cash. Oats were dull but firm, closing 3-8c higher.

Barley receipts in Buffalo were 30,000 from Chicago. Shipments none. The bulk of western barley here is held at 60c but malsters as a rule are bidding from 56 1-2 to 58. Nothing done in Canada.

Compiling of statistics is not a strong point with stock exchange room traders; hence the amusing dash of the market on a false trail at the opening was not mysterious. These speculative experts had devoted pencil and paper, over night, to the government crop report with the result that on the basis of last July's estimate of corn acreage they figured up an "official" crop of nearly 1,400,000,000 bu. When prices for the market generally, and for the granger stocks particularly, had been advanced a point or so on the basis of arithmetical blunder, the natural reaction came.

A.R.U. CONTEMPT CASES

Documents of the Organization Will Not be Produced.

GOVERNMENT WITNESSES MUM

Two Who Were Expected to Give Valuable Evidence Refuse to Testify—Only Two or Three Government Witnesses Remain to Be Examined.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—At the opening of court yesterday in the A. R. U. contempt cases Judge Woods ruled finally in question of whether the defendants should be required to produce their documents and constitution in court.

Judge Woods said: "As the A. R. U. seems to be a voluntary association I will hold that each member is part owner of these papers as much as the defendants, and I will not order them produced."

Counsel for the government received another check when the witnesses from whom they expected to elicit testimony damaging to the defendants refused to answer any questions in regard to their connection with the union and were sustained in their stand by Judge Woods. The witnesses were James Hogan, one of the respondents, and L. P. Bennedict, private secretary of Debs.

With Hogan and Bennedict the Government expected to prove that Debs and other officers of the union were responsible for telegrams sent out after the issuing of the Woods-Grosscup injunction July 2. The Government counsel will have a chance to further argue the question to-day. During the day several telegraph messenger boys were put on the stand. A few telegrams were traced directly to Debs and three or four to other directors of the A. R. U.

The Government has now about finished its case, only two or three witnesses remaining to be called.

Trade With Britain on the Decline.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Canadian imports from the United Kingdom sustained a falling off in the month of August. This decline has amounted to 35 per cent., while that of the first eight months of the year is given out in the British Board of Trade returns at 31 per cent. These figures should be taken in comparison with those of 1893. Imports to Great Britain from Canada are also on the decrease. The figures show a decline of 18 per cent. for August and of 8 per cent. for the eight months. The heaviest decreases in August were in wheat 60,000 pounds, and cheese 107,000 pounds.

Corbett Seems to Want a Fight.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Champion Corbett last night gave out a lengthy statement in regard to Peter Jackson's refusal to sign the agreement for a fight proposed by the Sioux City Club. He winds up his raid on Jackson as follows: "In conclusion, Mr. Peter Jackson, I tell you plainly that I will fight you privately or openly in one week, one month, two months or three months for as much money as you can raise, purse or no purse, in a club, on a barge, in a hack, in a room—anywhere in America."

Ladas Loses the St. Leger.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—At Doncaster the St. Leger stakes of 25 sovereigns each for three-year-olds, over the St. Leger course, about one mile, six furlongs and one hundred and thirty two yards, was won by Sir F. Johnstone's Throstle. Ladas, owned by Lord Rosebery, was second, and Matchbox, the property of Sir F. Johnstone, was third.

Forest Fire in France.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—The fire which started in the California quarter of Cannes on the Riviere was nearly drenched yesterday, but it was rekindled by a fresh wind. It burned slowly all day, mostly in the forests. Last evening, however, the firemen, aided by several hundred inhabitants, subdued it. The fire burned some five miles along the edge of the forest.

Oppose the Subjugation of Madagascar.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A despatch to the Daily News from Paris says it is not the English but the Americans who oppose the subjugation of Madagascar by the French. The American trade in striped cloths in Madagascar is very extensive and the Americans hold that the patenotre treaty does not admit of a French protectorate over that country.

Another Woe for the Irish.

Fighting in German East Africa.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—An official despatch from German East Africa says that the garrison at Kilwa repulsed the native force which attacked the town September 7 and drove it across the Mawndi river. The official report says that thirty-seven natives were killed and nine wounded.

Held Up by Highwaymen.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—A special from Phœnix, Ariz., says a stage was held up seven miles south of Congress by two masked highwaymen. Six passengers were in the coach. They were relieved of all their valuables, the bandits securing $500 in cash.

CHANGE IN THE CABINET

Political Circles at the Capital Talk of a Ministerial Shuffle.

MR. CURRAN TO BE SHELVED

The Rumor States That He Will Be Offered a Position on the Bench, and Hon. Mr. Wood Will Succeed Him—Dr. Montague to Get a Portfolio.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—There is a report in political circles that an important change is to be made in the ministry at a very early day. It is stated that the move has already been decided upon although it may not take place for some time. The report is that Hon. J. J. Curran, Solicitor General, is to be offered and will likely accept a position on the bench and that his place will be given to the Hon. John F. Wood, Controller of Inland Revenue. Dr. Montague, M.P., it is said, will get the position of Inland Revenue. There are other changes contemplated but these are the only ones decided upon as yet.

It is expected that the entrance of Dr. Montague into the Government will strengthen it in western Ontario.

Touching the question of dumping sawdust in the Ottawa one of the millers said that if compelled to burn the mill refuse the owners will undoubtedly build their mills elsewhere in order to escape heavy taxes. This of itself would be serious loss to the city. In the event of the firms remaining here and burning the refuse a nuisance is sure to arise from the smoke which would continually blow across the city and in the end would be infinitely worse to every resident than the present sawdust nuisance. Besides the existence of a raging fire in the heat of the lumber district would give insurance men an opportunity of increasing rates, which they undoubtedly would.

SEVENTEEN YEARS AT KINGSTON.

Lafleur Convicted and Sentenced for Killing Young Bernard.

L'ORIGINAL, Ont., Sept. 13.—The jury last evening brought in a verdict of manslaughter after one hour's deliberation against Joseph Lafleur for the murder of one Francis Bernard at Clarence Creek on Saturday evening, March 10 last.

The two men and one Diotte were drinking in Bazinet's hotel between 10 and 11 o'clock, when Lafleur, being quarrelsome, tried to pick a quarrel with Bernard. Bazinet, the hotelkeeper, interfered and Lafleur left the hotel, going to his own house, a short distance away. Shortly after the other two men left also and met Lafleur not far from the hotel when Diotte, who was between the prisoner and Bernard, received a stab in the hand and Bernard was stabbed in the heart.

The prisoner made a short address, after which his lordship gave the sentence of seventeen years in Kingston penitentiary.

Cornwall Has a Murder Mystery.

CORNWALL, Ont., Sept. 13.—Patrick Cosgrove, who was found in an unconscious condition on Tuesday, died at the police headquarters yesterday without having regained consciousness. Deceased was found by a coal shoveler named James Smith in Flack's coal yard on Water street east, and removed to police headquarters where, upon closer examination, it was found he was suffering from a fracture in the base of the skull. Cosgrove was last seen about 12 o'clock Monday night in the eastern port of the town. He must have been induced to enter the coal shed and there felled by the blow that caused his death. Coroner Hamilton summoned a jury and the inquest was commenced in the town hall. After several witnesses were examined the jury adjourned until Friday night in order to allow the doctors to bring in their report of the post mortem examination, which is now being held. The authorities at Toronto are being communicated with, and a provincial detective will likely be here shortly to take up the case.

Trial of an Alleged Counterfeiter.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 13.—John Ryan, the alleged counterfeiter, was in the police court yesterday and pleaded not guilty to the charge read to him. He elected to be tried before Magistrate Bartlett, and the case was set for next Wednesday. Robert Weaver, the alleged accomplice of Ryan, has turned Queen's evidence, and is at large under his personal recognizances. Mr. Dow and Mrs. Neff were present from Detroit to assist Ryan in establishing his character. They say that the accused has always borne a good reputation, and claim that they have known him several years as an honest and hard-working man.

The Tilbury Centre Tragedy.

WINDSOR, Sept. 13.—The record which has been made in the past by John Warnock, who is held on a charge of murdering Jack Ratcliffe at Tilbury Centre on Monday night, is not one which assists him to public sympathy. Warnock has appeared in the police court in Windsor on two different occasions on charges of assault. He is said by those who know him to be a man of quick temper, unreasonably ugly when in a passion, and from the testimony developed at the coroner's investigation the murder of Ratcliffe was an unprovoked as such a crime could be.

BURIAL OF COMTE DE PARIS.

The Body Taken to Its Last Resting Place at Weybridge, England.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A private mass was celebrated at Stowe House yesterday over the remains of the Count of Paris. The ceremony was attended only by members of the royal household.

The cortege left Stowe House at 7.30 o'clock, the body being conveyed in a hearse drawn by six horses.

The hearse was followed by twenty carriages, containing the princes and princesses connected by ties of blood or marriage with the Orleans family.

A special train conveyed the body to Weybridge. It had been preceded by four special trains from London bearing the Duke of York, the Duke of Connaught, the Marquis of Lorne and a large number of the French nobility.

A procession was formed at the station and the body was taken to the church. The Duc d'Orleans and the other princes of the family walked immediately behind the hearse.

RUSSIA IS FOR PEACE

The Czar's Will Alone Has Averted War Among the Powers.

HE WAS NOT AFTER BULGARIA

The Russian Minister of Finance Tells All This and Much More in an Interview — The Czar's Illness Causes Much Alarm at Court.

VIENNA, Sept. 13.—M. Witte, the Russian Minister of Finance, who is sojourning at Abazzia, is giving to representatives of the Austrian and German press a series of interviews which are attracting widespread attention and are regarded as hopeful signs of peace. In an interview published in the Neue Freie Presse, M. Witte disclaimed any intention on the part of Russia at any time to make a Russian province of Bulgaria. Referring to the peaceful intentions of the Czar, he said.

"During the past six years the danger of war has frequently arisen, but the Czar's will alone maintains peace. During these years he has not delivered a single speech or made a single remark which alluded in any way to the possibility of war. On the other hand, the bellicose speeches of other monarchs must be remembered. How often has Russia heard warlike threats? but the Czar never answered. He is his own master and his will is absolute. He has to reckon with no parliament. But never since 1870 has peace been so secure and the European situation so reassuring as at present. I see no possible danger of complications."

Of Emperor Francis Joseph M. Witte speaks in the highest terms of praise. The Austrian Kaiser, he said, commanded the greatest degree of confidence in Russia, where the conviction was general that Austria's foreign policy was peaceful. The only question was as to the condition of matters in Hungary, the Hungarians being engaged in the endeavor to bring everything under Magyar domination. In regard to the past differences between Russia and Turkey M. Witte said that Russia's different campaigns against Turkey had been brought about by the necessity that Russia should secure a free passage not only for Russian ships but for vessels of all nations through the Dardanelles. Since the conclusion of the German-Russian commercial treaty he said great improvement was noticed in the condition of affairs in Russia, and peace was finally consolidated.

The Czar is Failing.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The correspondent at Vienna of the Chronicle says: "News received from St. Petersburg indicates that the Czar's illness is cerebral, complicated with an ailment of the kidneys. Prayers for his recovery have been ordered twice at the court. When the Czar went to Bjelovsee he made the journey on a bed. Upon arriving at Bjelovsee he was carried from the railway station to his chateau. It is added that his majesty's tall, robust frame is shrinking. He is mentally depressed. His usual serenity has left him and he is taciturn with the members of his family."

BURNED TO A CRISP.

A Commercial Traveller Meets a Shocking Death at Port Elgin.

PORT ELGIN, Sept. 13.—Mr. A. W. Wright, traveller for Watt's Soap Works, Brantford, was burnt to death in the American hotel here yesterday. It seems that he was subject to falling fits and about five o'clock took one of these in the lavatory, having a lamp. He fell and the lamp which he was carrying burst. Before he regained consciousness his side, one arm, and his face were burnt to a crisp. After the fit left, however, he was able to get to the landlord's room and wake him. Strange to say, the fire did no damage except to blacken and char the walls.

Wright lived for five hours, was quite conscious and chatted intelligently and recognized those who called on him. He leaves a widow and large family, who live in Brantford. His body, which is an unrecognisable mass, will be taken to Brantford to-day. He was an old and well known traveler on the road and popular with his customers and fellow travellers.

Died From an Overdose of Morphine.

HAMILTON, Sept. 13.—James Hamilton, son of the late Alexander Hamilton, druggist, died yesterday as a result of an overdose of morphine, taken probably with suicidal extent. Deceased went into a room occupied by his brothers Ebenezer and Sandy and saying to the former "I'm going to take these pills," poured from a bottle a number of morphine pills and swallowed them. He lay down in bed and told his brother he had taken morphine pills. Doctors Leslie and Wallace were summoned at once, but when they arrived deceased was unconscious and beyond medical aid. He was 34 years of age and unmarried.

Livery Stable Destroyed.

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 13.—Killroy's livery stable was destroyed by fire yesterday. Twelve horses, a number of carriages, sleighs, and a large stock of hay and grain were burned. The building, which was owned by Walter Hynes, was brick and comparatively new. Insured for $1,000. Mr. Killroy had an insurance of $2,000 on the contents.

A Jewess Sues For Breach of Promise.

HAMILTON, Sept. 13.—Clara Brenshler, a young Jewess who came here from Rochester, N.Y., less than a year ago, has instructed her solicitors, Peebitt & Gold, to issue a writ against Arthur Epstein, of the firm of Siderski & Epstein, claiming $5,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage.

A Bear Shot Near Seaforth.

SEAFORTH, Ont., Sept. 13.—A huge black bear was shot within a few miles of this town by a man named Darling, of Dublin. No doubt it had been forced out of the swamp by the recent fires. The carcase and hide were sold to a Seaforth butcher.

Mr. Mercier Recovering.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—Hon. H. Mercier is progressing favorably towards recovery, and his physician hopes that he will be sufficiently recovered to leave his room in a few days.

The Daily Examiner is delivered to any part of the Town for 15c. a week, 55c. a month, $3.00 for six months.

CENTRAL PRISON BINDER TWINE.

Why it Was Made—From What it is Made—How it is Made.

At a time when the combines had succeeded in virtually crushing out competition in the manufacture of binding twine with the result of increasing the price to the farmer in a burdensome degree, the Ontario Government came to the rescue. The Government found that a new industry would be required at the Central prison to keep the men formerly employed at brick-making—an industry that could no longer be carried on—at work. The thought suggested itself that the binder twine situation gave opportunity for an experiment in economics. By producing binder twine, and selling it at a fair price the combine could be broken, and the continued operation of the factory would prevent prices in future from rising above the limit which the Government set as a fair retail price. It may be said that the experiment was somewhat socialistic, but if so, it was one of beneficial socialism. The farmer of Ontario has to sell his product at free-made prices in the markets of the world, and his raw material—such as binder twine—he can fairly ask to obtain at other than combine prices Thus it was that the Government established the twine factory, toward which, with its clattering pulleys, the visitor turns. Binder twine, like the self-binder, is quite modern. It is only some thirteen or fourteen years since the Masseys tested their first self-binder up in the north end of Toronto. At first, thin, flexible wire was used instead of twine. Afterwards hempen twine was used, at 25 cents a pound retail, but it was of course too costly. Mixed material was used for a time, including sisel and jute, but at last manilla was chosen, because of its superior qualities, and the fact that it runs to a greater length per pound than any other material used.

GROWING THE MANILLA.

Manilla hemp (Musa Textilis), from which Central Prison binder twine is made, is a product of the Philippine Islands, Spanish possessions in the China Sea, and the centre of Spanish commerce in the east. Some authorities refer these fibres to the palm tree, known as the Abaca or Anisa Textilis. There seems to be indeed several well known varieties of fibre included under this name, some so fine that they are used in the most delicate and costly textures, mixed with fibres of the pine apple, forming pina muslins and textures equal to the best muslins of Bengal. Of the coarser fibres, mats, cordage and sail cloths are made. Their brilliancy and strength give remarkable fitness for bonnets, tapestry, carpets, network and hammocks. The plant from which the hemp is obtained called abaca by the islanders, is one of the plantain or banana species, and consists of a cluster of sheathing leaf stalks, growing to a height of from 20 to 30 feet.

It is rudely cultivated by the natives; requires but little attention, and when about three years old develops flowers on a central stem, at which stage it is in the most favourable condition for yielding fibre. The stalk is then cut down and the sheathing stalks cut apart and reduced to small strips, when, after repeated scrapings, it is hung up in the open air to dry. In its dry condition it is the Manilla hemp, known to commerce, and from which the best rope and binder twine is made. Each stalk yields on an average one pound of fibre, and two natives cutting down plants and separating, will prepare not more than 25 pounds per day. When ready for market it is carried on poles on the shoulders of the natives from the interior of the country, which is mountainous, to the sea coast, to be gathered by small coasting vessels and delivered to the Port of Manilla, which is the great market from whence Manilla hemp is supplied to all parts of the world. The Central Prison purchases the hemp for making binder twine from Manilla direct, and by ordering only the better grades, has been able to produce a quality of twine heretofore unequalled in Canada.

IN THE FACTORY.

This is the material that, in great bales tied with strips of sugar cane, you can see on the ground floor of the binder twine factory. Upstairs the machinery roars with an almost deafening noise, and as you step into the huge, airy room, lighted on both sides and from the roof, and with splendid ventilation, the model factory idea comes back. The 57 prisoners in the factory, stripped for work as they are, do not seem ill-looking fellows, and there is little else than the tall form of Guard Higgins to suggest a prison. The factory is under the supervision of Mr. James Noxon, one of the Ontario Inspectors of Prisons, and the skilled overseers are Mr. Graham Bell, Mr. D. Robertson and Mr. J. Magler. One or other of these gentlemen is usually around, and the visitor thus receives, at competent hands, an explanation of the process of manufacture. The machinery is complicated, but the work it does is apparently simple. The process is best described by a visitor, who remarked that it was entirely made up of "teeth and twist." When the baled Manillia comes up it is put through the breakers, which tear the fibre apart. The other machines used are spreaders, draw frames and finishers, and the spinning jenny which makes the twine. The method pursued is as follows:—The breaker tears the fibre into long strips by means of an endless chain belt, provided with sharp teeth, not unlike those of a garden rake. At the further end of this machine is another belt, which delivers the Manilla in thick coils. These are conveyed to another machine, where the coils or strands of Manilla are drawn out thinner—always the teeth to tear and draw and the clatter of the pulleys overhead that supply the power of the huge machines. At last, the Manilla having been drawn out to the requisite thickness, is coiled into big cartridge-like boxes, and taken away from the terrible teeth that that have pulled and drawn it into long straight strips of fibre. These boxes are taken to the spinning jennies, and the fibre is entered into an instrument not unlike the wide end of a trumpet. Behind this is a guide that prevents too much material from getting through, and detects knots. Here a pulley, covering a bit of the machinery running at right angles to the course of the fibre, twists the twine into the form in which it appears to the user. The twine is wound upon a big bobbin or spool, containing twelve pounds, and from the jenny it is conveyed to the winder, where the balls, each containing four pounds two ounces, so that there shall be twelve to the fifty pound package, are made up and cut off. There are two spindles to each jenny, and one man can attend to two of the machines, thus caring for four streams of twine, as they flow into the capacious maw of the machine.

Safe, Sure and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure-pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painlessly. Do not be imposed upon by substitutes.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A large number of our citizens are attending the exhibition in Toronto at present.

Miss Gallon, of Toronto, is visiting at Mrs. T. Campbell's.

Mr. Joseph Bryce, of Belleville, spent a few days at his home here last week.

Mr. Wm. Wedlock has purchased about a ton of wild rice for seed and purposes shipping it shortly.

The work on the new race track is being pushed forward and Keene will soon have a track, second to no other village in the country.

In the Presbyterian church on Friday evening Miss Sherin, of Lakefield, and Miss Kennedy, of Peterborough, gave a report of the Cleveland C. E. Convention. Both ladies certainly deserve praise for the very excellent report which they gave. The attendance was not as large as it might have been, but those present were highly pleased with the report.

The W.C.T.U. held their monthly meeting on Monday, Sept. 10th, at 2 p.m., and the mission band at 3 p.m.

Mr. Jas. Miller started for Virginia on Tuesday. Pleasant journey, Jim.

Mrs. McCrea is spending a few days with her son, J. R. McCrea, in Campbellford.

A Fatal Accident to a Child.

This, Wednesday, morning about 11 o'clock the eldest son of Mr. John Lancashire, lot 16, con. 13, Robert John, aged 2 years and 10 months, met with a peculiar and fatal accident. He and a little sister, two years older, were playing about a seed drill. It is supposed that the little fellow in trying to climb up to get at the wheat in the hopper of the seeder, and in climbing over the lever for operating the hose, disengaged it with the result that the lever in rebounding caught the poor little fellow under the chin, and produced death by strangulation. The little girl reported the accident to the mother, but when she reached the scene the little life was extinct. Mr. Lancashire and family have the hearty sympathy of the community in their particularly sad bereavement.

Children Who Suffer

from scrofulous skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't cure in every case, the money is returned.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

DEAR SIRS,—I have been using Burdock Bitters for Boils and skin diseases, and I find it very good as a cure. As a dyspepsia cure I have also found it unequalled. MRS. SARAH HAMILTON, Montreal, Que.

Pains in the Joints
Caused by Inflammatory Swelling
A Perfect Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"It affords me much pleasure to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. My son was afflicted with great pain in the joints, accompanied with swelling so bad that he could not get up stairs to bed without crawling on hands and knees. I was very anxious about him, and having read Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, I determined to try it, and got a half-dozen bottles, four of which entirely cured him." A New Grocer
COME TO TOWN.

I take pleasure in announcing that I have purchased the Grocery and Provision Business, lately carried on by Mr. W. J. HALL, in the well-known and long established premises at

No. 355 George St., Burnham's Block.

The present stock, which has been well bought, and is in first-class condition, will be replenished with a more complete assortment of FAMILY GROCERIES, PROVISIONS and everything in the culinary line.

Also PRIME SUGAR CURED HAM, BACON, PORK, FLOUR, EGGS, BUTTER, &c. In every case the best goods will be bought, then we know what we are selling. If there are two qualities we will always get the better one.

My business will be conducted on the CASH principle—buying for cash and selling for cash—which is the only way to get and to give the best values and lowest prices. My motto will be "Small Profits for Cash."

All I ask is a call from my old friends in the country, as well as my new friends in town, and as many more as may favour me with their custom. I mean business. I am here to stay. I mean to grow.

ALFRED DAWSON,
Formerly of Ballibero, Successor to Mr. W. J. HALL,

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Adverse Report to the Proposal to Admit Women to the Ministry.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 13.—Yesterday's session of the Methodist General Conference was devoted to committee work. The pro and con of every motion and memorial was vigorously contested.

The Memorial Committee took up the memorial asking that women be admitted to the ministry, and took radical action, deciding to make adverse report on the ground that the deaconness movement gives them sufficient scope.

The book and publishing committee voted down the proposition to establish a branch Methodist paper in Northwest Territories, and a compromise amendment adopted, by which it will be recommended that a paid corresponding editor of the Guardian be resident in Winnipeg.

In the committee on itinerancy the debate was very warm. The committee distinguished itself by voting down everything in sight, including a motion to reduce the size of the stationing committee one-half; a motion to reduce it one-half and make it independent by the exclusion of any member directly interested in his own station; and a motion to take the vote in future by ballot instead of as at present by open vote. Thus the composition of the stationing committee will still include the chairmen of districts, the president of the conference and one representative from each district.

The proposed new constitution of the superannuation fund was under discussion and was practically adopted. The points on which there is a difference of opinion and which have yet to be argued relate to the mode in which circuit contributions shall be levied and the basis of ministerial subscriptions. The new constitution is based on the Australian and American systems. By the paragraphs accepted in committee all subscriptions will be refunded to members ceasing their connection with the church, whether they do so voluntarily or for the church's good.

Will Fight Extradition.

HAMILTON, Sept. 13.—Abe Weil, of Cincinnati, O., who was arrested at the Commercial hotel on a telegram from Cincinnati charging him with grand larceny, is not likely to return to Cincinnati voluntarily. Weil was vice-president of the Sherman Building and Loan Society and converted the deposits of several shareholders to his own use instead of crediting them to the building society. Mrs. Gottfried, whom he swindled out of $3,200, issued a warrant against him as soon as she heard he had left the city. Weil succeeded in swindling his victims out of over $6,000 in all. Several Jewish friends of the prisoner are trying to have him released, and claim that his detention without the authority of a warrant is illegal, but the police authorities will hold Weil until the arrival of a Cincinnati official. When searched the prisoner had about $100 on his person.

Farmers' Day at the Industrial.

TORONTO, Sept. 13.—Farmers' Day at the Exhibition was a complete success. Early in the morning crowds were pouring into the grounds. Trolley cars, railroad trains, omnibusses and carriages loaded with passengers arrived every minute, and at 4 o'clock it was estimated that there were 66,000 visitors on the grounds. The big stand was packed from end to end, while all around the horse ring sightseers were lined a dozen deep. The judging rings were surrounded by other crowds, and every building on the grounds was next to impassible, it being a matter of hours to go through the main building. There is little doubt that yesterday's attendance will be by far the largest in the fair's record. Only two days now remain of the Province's big fair.

Chinese Want Supplies.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A despatch to the Central News from Shanghai says the chief officers of the Chinese army in Corea have telegraphed for supplies of winter clothing, evidently expecting the war will last a long time. A second Chinese army 10,000 strong, composed entirely of Hunanese under command of Governor Wei, is now starting for Corea.

Fighting in Peru.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A special from Lima, Peru, says; Cablegrame from the south announce that the forces of Pacheco Spades have revolted. Many were killed and wounded, and forty joined the constitutional forces. The rebel forces at Semiuarce, in the north, are being energetically pursued by the Government troops.

Cattle Lost on the Voyage.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The steamer Wells City (British), Capt. Savage, from New York, August 5, for Bristol, which arrived at that port on September 10, reports that on September 6, in lat. 50 north, long. 15 west, she experienced a gale and was hove to for eight hours. She lost 14 sheep and 10 head of cattle on the voyage.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success.

Port Hope, Feb. 14th, 1894.

Dr. Andrew Grant & Co.,

DEAR SIRS,—This is to certify that my hair began to fall out when I was about 18 years of age. I at once commenced the use of hair tonics, etc., with the result that I kept on losing my hair, until at about 25 years of age, I had become quite bald and had concluded to buy a "wig." Just at that time I came across your "HAIRENE," and began its use. Now, before I had used one bottle I could see a decided change for the better, inasmuch as a new growth of hair appeared quite distinctly. By continuing its use my hair has improved greatly, and I take great pleasure in stating that after quite an extended experience in the drug trade, your "HAIRENE" is the only remedy I know of that really has produced a healthy scalp, and a growth of hair.

Yours truly,
J. B. BURNHAM.

SIRS,—My baby was very bad with summer complaint, and I thought he would die, until I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. With the first dose I noticed a change for the better, and now he is cured, and fat and healthy. MRS. A. NORMANIND. London, Ont.

THE BABCOCK TEST.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In a recent issue of your paper I saw an article over the signature of "A Dairyman" in which the writer very ably shews the danger of adopting the system of paying for milk sent to cheese factories by the butter-fat test as shown by the Babcock tester. I use this instrument for testing milk in my factory and as a milk tester it is unequalled and I question if it ever can be improved, but I am and always have been opposed to paying for milk by this tester's showing because of the difficulties in the way of treating the patrons fairly.

It has been shown by experiment that hog's fat, tallow and other greases fed to milch cows will increase the fat of the milk but will not increase either the quantity or quality of the cheese. It has also been shown that the Babcock tester cannot detect the adulterated article; in fact in an instance which came under my own observation it failed. Two samples of milk (as I supposed) were brought to me to be tested. They showed a difference. I was informed afterwards that they were not two samples but one divided into two parts, one being adulterated with fat. When the people know this what is to hinder unscrupulous men to feed their cows greases to increase the showing of their milk, thereby perpetrating a gross injustice on the more honest portion of the patrons.

The "butter fat" system of paying for milk has been in vogue in the United States for some time, and it is a well known fact that Canadian cheese outsells the American article in the English markets. The National Dairyman, of Kansas City, Mo., asks the question, how is it that Canadians have been aple to take millions of dollars out of the pockets of American cheesemakers annually, and answers it by saying, Beaause they make full cream cheese, not feeding greases to their cows. Now, sir, in the light of the foregoing facts, I say it is the duty of every man to use every legitimate means in his power to prevent the adoption of this "Babcock system," which, if adopted, must prove detrimental to the best interests of the cheese industry of this country.

A CHEESEMAKER.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Duncan Campbell met with a serious accident last Saturday at a "threshing" at Mr. Frank Greenbank's. It seems he was coming down a ladder at the bottom of which was an uncovered hole, unknown to him, used for giving fodder to the cattle. He stepped into it and put out his arms being thus prevented from falling. One of his ribs was broken. He was taken home and is now progressing favourably.

Last Friday evening the Y.P.S.C.E. held a reception for the students attending the Model School in the basement of the Presbyterian church. The programme consisted of solos, instrumental music, etc., and was well carried out. Refreshments were served during the evening. Those who were present spent a very enjoyable time.

Rev. Father Conway, who has been at the hospital in Toronto for the last few weeks owing to eye trouble, will resume his duties next Sunday.

The Norwood junior lacrosse team will go to Peterborough Saturday to play with the juniors of that town.

Saturday a base ball match was played between the Norwood Canoe and Cruising Club and the Model School. The result was in favour of the Model School by 5 runs.

Miss Williams a returned missionary from Indo China, will address a meeting in the Sunday school room of the Presbyterian church on the evening of the 17th inst. Miss Williams is a very interesting speaker. Let every person be present who can.

The regular monthly meeting of the school board was held Monday evening, as there was no quorum no business was transacted but the finance committee was instructed to settle the following accounts: W. Doucett, plastering, $2.00; T. Fraser, balance account '93, $1.02; Ira Cummings, general repairing, $2.75. The Board then adjourned.

Mr. W. H. Birt is visiting friends in Toronto.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, anhave no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose topay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the pr man who may be determined to ossible liability; that is to keep ut of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Fairweather & Co. will sell any Fur-Felt Stiff or Soft Hat for $1.00, the regular price of which has been $2.00, $2.25, $2.50 or $3.00. This is being done to clear out the large stock which has been recently purchased for the fall trade. See ad. in regular column. FAIRWEATHER & CO.

A Wedding at St. John's.

Wednesday morning St. John's church was the scene of a quiet wedding, Mr. B. C. Gale, of Douro, being united in marriage to Miss Nellie Bell, daughter of Dr. A. Bell, Lakefield. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Warren, Lakefield. The groom was supported by Mr. Chubb and the bride by Miss Lucy Mellor. The young couple left in the afternoon on an extended wedding tour. The EXAMINER extends the cordial congratulations the auspicious occasion calls for, to the genial Doctor and his family.

The Black and the Blue.

The drop in prices of new fall goods, announced by Joseph Armstrong & Co., has proved a strong attraction to the ladies, so early in the season. This firm has had many strong features to offer during the summer season, and they seem determined to pursue an equally vigorous and pushing policy during the fall. The black and the blue ink prices on the goods make it easy to accept the reductions on the goods as genuine. You examine the goods—the tickets do the rest. dw

Women's Missionary Society.

On Tuesday the Women's Missionary Society of the George street church held their annual meeting, and the following were the officers elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Jas. Kendry.
First Vice-President—Mrs. (Rev.) W. R. Young.
Second Vice-President — Mrs. George Munro.
Recording-Secretary — Mrs. H. B. Meharry.
Corresponding-Secretary—Mrs. R. Mann.
Treasurer—Mrs. H. Owens.

Dress Goods Display To-Night.

The ladies are invited to turn out in full force to-night to witness the dress goods opening at Robt. Hall's, 385 George street. The display will be held in the commodious millinery rooms, and if ladies want to know what is newest in the realm of dress goods, this unusual opportunity should not be forgotten. This is the second season this firm has held a dress goods opening, and the success of the first justifies a continuance of the event. To-morrow and Saturday evenings the beautiful display may also be seen. Store open each evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. Ladies are cordially welcome. 3d61

Hot Bargains for Fair Time.

Everywhere you look—everywhere you turn—extra preparations are on foot for the Peterborough Central Fair. The Peterborough Bookstore has inaugerated a September special sale of Wall Papers, Window Shades and Cornice Poles. This store is on the warpath — tomahawking high prices. Greater faith is put in the nimble sixpence than in the slow shilling. Our advice to visitors to the fair is to arm themselves with a few crisp dollar bills, prepare for the low price crush, and be on hand in time. The sale is now in progress. In Wall Paper there is joy by the roll—in Window Shades joy by the yard—in Cornice Poles joy by the foot—and dollar doubling joy in everything. See our ad. elsewhere. A. H. STRATTON & CO. dw

NEWS NUGGETS.

—There was a clean slate at the police court this morning.

—A live leech was recently found imbedded in a cake of ice at Leamington, Ont.

—Duck hunters are not dropping many birds at Rice Lake just now, there being a scarcity of the feathered game.

—Mr. Shaylor, of Towanda, Pa., was in Cobourg last week and purchased twenty fine horses for shipment to the U.S.

—Prof. Alexander's analysis of Chief Rossel's cranium bumps was abruptly interrupted by the ringing of the fire bell last night.

—Mr. W. G. Bidwill, of Cramahe, owns a goose over sixty years of age, and she gallivants about and attends to business the same as fifty years ago.

—A horticultural society has been organized at Hastings, with Mr. F. W. Fowlds as president, Mr. A. Wilson, secretary, and Dr. Coughlin, treasurer.

—During the past few weeks several horses have died belonging to farmers in Seymour township. In one or two instances death resulted from pink eye.

—City Lodge, No. 404, I.O.G.T., will meet in regular lodge session to-night. A large attendance of members is particularly requested, as business of importance is to be considered.

—Rev. E. Cragg, a superannuated minister of Peterborough, conducted both services in the Methodist church, Campbellford, and preached very acceptably to good congregations on Sunday last.

—Mr. Christopher Akey, of Tweed, Hastings Co., Ont., has a crop of remarkably large potatoes. In one hill he had four potatoes that aggregated 4 lbs. and another that tipped the scales at 1½ lbs.

—Mrs. V. J. G. Moyle, of Picton, Ont., caught one day recently in Picton Bay, just outside of the harbor, a muskinonge weighing thirty pounds, and a few days later another weighing forty pounds.

—The weather prophet is to the front again with a hard winter and a big war, but we may as well plod along on the ordinary lines, including the prosecution of election protests, apple picking, etc.

—The fire brigade was called out shortly before ten o'clock last night to a fire at the corner of Reid and Edinburgh street. The blaze, which was caused by the explosion of a lamp, was extinguished without the aid of the firemen. The damage was slight.

—While out gunning near the electric light pond, Port Hope, last evening, Mr. Henry Reynolds shot an American bald eagle, which measured fully 6 feet from tip to tip. These birds are a rarity in this section now and "Hank" is proud of his capture.—Guide.

—A man named Wigg, who lives near Peterborough, was fined $45 for shooting deer out of season the other day, and an American was fined $20 for shooting ducks without a license. The game warden in that section must be attending to his business.—Kingston News.

—The Bowmanville Statesman says:—The Organ Factory whistle blew promptly at 6.45 o'clock Monday morning, and the machinery was set in motion at 7 o'clock sharp. May it have a long run on full time. The town has been all out of time since the factory closed down.

—Belleville's new paper will be known as the Evening Sun, and will make its appearance Saturday. It will be an eight page paper, and Night Editor Brown, late of the Toronto Globe, and some other Toronto newspaper men are at the head. It will be independent in politics.

—Bowmanville will hold a Centenary celebration of the first white settlers in West Durham on Saturday, Sept. 22nd. All the old settlers of Northumberland and Durham have been invited to be present and participate in the proceedings. Addresses will be given by Lieut.-Governor Kirkpatrick and other prominent people.

—Local option, or a prohibitory liquor law for Campbellford, is again being agitated in the village by a number of gentlemen, and it is claimed that if the measure were submitted to the people again, it would carry by a large majority. The penalties under a prohibitory law are so severe that its successful observance is certain.

—Messrs. Curtis & Son shipped a carload of drain tile to Mallorytown yesterday. The farmers in the eastern portion of the province seem to be progressive; they are underdraining their farms exclusively. Messrs. Curtis have shipped several carloads this summer down east and they meet a ready demand for all the tile they make.

—Belleville City Solicitor Henderson, Q.C., returned from Toronto on Wednesday. While there he had an interview with the Minister of Militia regarding the 15th Batt. Mr. Henderson talked plainly, and told Mr. Patterson that they wanted to be either put on a proper footing or disbanded at once. The Minister assured him that the matter would be attended to at once, and the Battalion put on the best possible footing forthwith.

—Mr. W. Ellis, of Belmont, while up at what is known as the high Roll-way on Deer river, the Hastings Star says, on Saturday last, near Mr. P. Preston's, between Belmont and Deer lakes, came across three bears. Mr. Ellis had only two cartridges with him, but two of their lordships bit the dust, and the third made his escape badly wounded. Mr. Ellis' reputation with a rifle makes him a second Buffalo Bill.

Fashionable Dress and Mantle Making.

Miss Lord, a young lady of fifteen years experience in Toronto, has taken the rooms over Miss Delaney's store, where she will carry on dress and mantle making in the most fashionable styles. Miss Lord comes very highly recommended, and bespeaks a share of the patronage of the ladies of Peterborough, which her abilities will no doubt earn and retain. 3d59-1w

A Royal Templars' Social.

A social under the auspices of the Royal Templars will be held at the residence of Dr. Fife on Friday evening of this week at eight o'clock. A good programme of vocal and instrumental music will be rendered, after which refreshments will be served. An enjoyable evening is assured. A small admission fee will be charged. Be sure to come. 2d

It goes by mail to every post-office in the county, and there is a copy for every householder on the voters' list—town and county.

SPRIGHTLY SUMMER SPORTS.

On the Lacrosse Field, the Crease and the Diamond—Triple A. Topics—The Bicycle and Football.

LACROSSE.

The P. A. A. A. grounds yesterday was the scene of the second lacrosse match in the semi-final for the intermediate championship between the home team and Orillia, and the large number present witnessed a fast and scientific exhibition of the national game. At the beginning of the game the god of fortune seemed to smile on the local players and the match promised to be theirs, but their hopes were shattered, when, during the game, Lacimore, who was a regular Hercules, received injuries which necessitated his removal from the field. Every man on the home team was in the pink of condition and put up a splendid game, the combination play and close checking being particularly noticeable. Dobbin, in goal, was a whole team in himself and did wonderful work yesterday. The playing of Peterborough's home is also worthy of mention. The fact was apparent to all the spectators yesterday that after Lacimore had retired from the field the home team played rather loosely and seemed to be discouraged. However, Orillia won the championship, not by good clean shots on goal but entirely by flukes. The Orillias will now have an opportunity of meeting the Excelsiors of Brampton, champions of the Western District, at an early date when it is expected a hard struggle will take place. The home team are not in the least discouraged over the result, although they claim, and it was apparent to all, that if Lacimore had not been disabled, victory would have crowned their efforts yesterday. In reference to the Orillia's it may be mentioned that they are all celebrated players, who have had long experience in stick handling, and are given every encouragement and assistance by the citizens of that town. However the game they won yesterday was nothing to boast of, and the Peterborough's are to be congratulated on the plucky fight they made, as it was certainly their "day off," as far as good fortune was concerned.

Following were the teams:—

PETERBOROUGH.		ORILLIA.
Dobbin	goal	C Frost

THE AMERICAN EAGLE WINGED.

Detected at Poaching at Rice Lake and Summarily Dealt With.

On Tuesday, Sept. 9th, Mr. Robert Borland of Asphodel, committed an overt act which may be construed by Uncle Sam as a legitimate casus belli. He actually shot the American eagle—put a bullet through its left wing—a sinister place to hit the great Bird of Freedom. This specimen of the eagle family, though a young one, is of good size—the spread of its wings is five feet four inches—this is not to say that the body is very large, for the chief thing about the American eagle is its "spread." The "winging" of this eagle is indicative both of Mr. Borland's loyalty to Canada, and to the interests of sport. When he saw this eagle spreading itself in the free and pure air of Canada, and poaching upon the preserves of one of the best sporting regions of Canada, Mr. Borland very properly put a summary stop to the trespass. The eagle in question when shot was flying rather low—it was doubtless in low spirits, in sympathy with the business depression and the bilious attack from which the almighty dollar is suffering across the lines. This morning Mr. Borland took his distinguished poacher to Elcome, the taxidermist—who will exploit a piece of poetic justice—the great bird that has, in the perennial election contests that obtain among our southern neighbours, superintended the stuffing of so many ballot boxes, will be stuffed himself.

THE VISIT OF GENERAL BOOTH.

The Founder of the Salvation Army Will Visit Peterborough Oct. 18th.

General Booth, it is expected, will visit Peterborough on Thursday, Oct. 18th, and the local corps are making active preparations for his reception. After his arrival in town a public reception will be tendered him on the Market Square, where it is expected Mayor Kendry will read him an address of welcome. The drill shed has been engaged for the public meeting to be addressed by the General. It is expected that a large number of soldiers and officers of the surrounding corps will be present to welcome the General.

On next Saturday and Sunday Brigadier Scott and Staff-Capt. Sharp, of Kingston, will be at the barracks, when special celebrations will be held.

On Saturday and Sunday Sept. 22nd and 23rd the Naval Brigade from headquarters, Toronto, composed of the crew of the steam launch, Wm. Booth, will visit Peterborough. The brigade is composed of ten men, all good musicians and make up a brass band themselves.

LECTURE ON BENEFACTORS.

Another Interesting Lecture at the Opera House.

A great deal of interest is being manifested at present in the course of lectures now being delivered by Prof. Alexander at the opera house. They are not mere dissertations on "bumps," for the Professor from the opening lecture has been very emphatic in his denunciation of "bumpology." The topics presented have been of a nature alike of interest to all classes and conditions of society, and they have been handled with consummate skill and originality. Last night's lecture on "Benefactors" was particularly interesting, and simply served to emphasize the favourable opinion of those who have heard him so far. Messrs. J. J. McBain, Wm. Smith, T. J. Main and Chief Rossel were chosen for the public examinations, which were satisfactory as usual. "Good and Bad Heads" will be the subject of to-night's lecture.

Messrs. Wilmot Vandervort, J. E. Halliwell, Thos. A. McKee, and Dr. Cook, of Stirling, are registered at the Grand Central to-day.

Mr. Richard Christopher, of Port Hope, well known in town, was married in St. Peter's cathedral, London, on Tuesday, Sept. 11th, to Miss Dottie McDonald, of London.

Mr. J. G. Adams, Adamsville, Que., with Mr. Blanchard, principal of the Peterborough Business College, visited many points of interest in an about town yesterday. Mr. Adams is highly pleased and pays a compliment to the enterprise of our citizens.

One on the Book Agent.

Not long ago Captain Charles King was traveling in a railway car with a number of friends. The news agent on the train worried the party a good deal by his persistent efforts to force his wares upon them. But the party kept him at bay by declaring that they had read all his books.

"Well, I've got one book you haven't read," said he, "and he produced Captain King's latest novel.

"Pshaw! that's not new," said King.

"I got it only this morning," answered the agent. "It has only just been published, and I'll bet you $10 you haven't read it."

"I'll take that bet," said Captain King, and the two put up their money.

Then Captain King pulled out one of his visiting cards and handed it to the agent, saying: "I am Captain Charles King, the author of that book, and I read it in manuscript and in proof."

"Gee whillikins!" gasped the agent, with a low, sad whistle, and he went off and didn't bother that party any more.

The Drunkard's Will.

I leave to society a ruined character, a wretched example and a memory that will soon rot.

I leave to my parents during the rest of their lives as much sorrow as the human heart can bear.

I leave to my brothers and sisters as much mortification and injury as I could bring upon them.

I leave to my wife a broken heart, a life of wretchedness, poverty and shame, to weep over my untimely death.

I give and bequeath to each of my children poverty, ignorance, disgrace, and the remembrance that their father was a monster.—Exchange.

—AT—

HALL, GILCHRIST & CO'Y.

WHY DO WE SELL more Jackets, Capes, Ulsters and Wraps, than all the other houses in town together.

REASONS WHY

1st. Because we buy them 6 months later (which can only be done by going direct to the makers) thereby getting the latest styles.

2nd. Because we buy them in larger quantities for cash, thereby getting the lowest possible prices.

3rd. Because we sell them for spot cash which means that we can sell them on smaller profits.

14,500

Is about the number of Jackets, Capes, Wraps and Ulsters that our syndicate buys for every Fall and Winter season, direct from the German Manufacturers (not from agents) and pay spot cash for every garment. That is reason enough why we sell cheaper than any one else in the trade. Just imagine any house that only buys 250 to 300 garments (and that from a commission agent) pretending to buy as cheap as we do who have such opportunities.

THE STYLES OF THIS SEASON.

No matter what others tell you MAKE A NOTE OF THIS.—That Long Jackets with tight waists, mostly plain except when trimmed with Fur or narrow Sutache Braids are the correct styles for this season. We show them from 36 to 48 inches long, in the best goods. DONT BUY TILL YOU SEE OUR IMMENSE STOCK. It is always a pleasure for us to show you our stock whether you buy or not.

DRESS GOODS.

Our sales in this department surpass all previous records. The choice selection of Novelties in Dress Lengths, in Tweeds and Covert Cloths are the finest ever shown here. The way they are selling is a proof that styles are correct.

DRESS MAKING.

Our workroom is now booming with orders. Our low prices for really first-class work is sure to keep this department full of work all through the season.

DRESS TRIMMINGS AND BUTTONS.

The newest styles in Trimmings and Buttons are now in stock, styles exclusive. Many lines are selling fast. The new buttons and clasps are not to be approached by any one for style or cheapness. These buttons are correct for Tailor-Made Tweed Costumes, (next season other houses will have them.)

Our Linen Sale keeps right up. Several new lines have been added this week. Table Linen, Towels and Napkins, Quilts, Blankets and Comforters, a Bargain sale prices.

Always pleased to show our goods.

Samples sent by mail and mail orders filled promptly.

RIVER AND LAKE RIPLETS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. "Dick" Purser, late of the steamer City of Peterborough, left the other day on a duck shooting expedition, being accompanied by his friend, Mr. Isaac Johnston. They report to their friends that they are having good luck at Long Lake. Mr. John Robinson, with Mr. Mat Jamison, leave in a day or so to join them.

A lounge weighing some 16½ pounds on being opened the other day by Mr. David Doig was found to contain some three pounds of metal, which was principally trawling baits, some of them being silver.

The steamer Daisy runs an excursion from Peterborough in connection with the Archie Reynolds annual excursion from Fraserville, of which he is the manager, under the auspices of the Loyal Orange Lodge, Fraserville, No. 46.

The steamer City of Peterborough will run her last through trip to Hastings Friday. In all likelihood she will be tied up for this season Saturday next.

Manager Frank Arkles, of the Victoria Summer Resort Hotel, Hales' Bridge was in town yesterday looking and feeling as well, as usual. He is looked upon as a first-rate fellow, on account of extending to the workmen and other parties an invitation to sojourn at his place for a day's fishing, etc., free gratis. The boys took it up and intend taking him at his word some day the latter part of next week; so Frank, be ready.

The Gilmour drive is below Robinson's Island. The alligator, Hunter, is at the forks at the mouth of river, having brought down a number of glance boom timbers to check the logs going down the west steamboat channel. The river drivers use the eastern gap.

Mr. Z. White, of Harwood, is re-erecting on the site of the old sawmill which was recently destroyed by fire, a commodious new mill. When erected it will have a capacity of handling twenty or thirty thousand feet per day. He anticipates, seeing that the duty on lumber to the States has been made free, giving employment to some 45 hands. Mr. Harry Lane has already been appointed foreman, while Mr. Wm. Johnston secure the situation of walking boss. Mr. White states that things will be booming this coming season, and is preparing things for business.

A young man while leisurely perched on a tree overhanging the waters of the Otonabee, some six or seven miles down, noticed the steamer City of Peterborough approaching and thinking everything o.k. till she was some fifty feet past him, realized that he had taken an "immersion." The swell of the steamer which always comes behind gave him a flying sweep. However a companion with his lady friend, on the opposite bank catching bait in the frog line, went promptly to the scene and had the unfortunate released from his perilous position, being none the worse for his ducking.

The water for the purpose of making ice for the Lakefield curling and skating rink company will be supplied from the lake. The Lakefield brethren deem it necessary to provide good ice for the "in turn for the T" this coming winter. They calculate on having the best ice, at the same time, the best rink in the district.

The steam dredge Otonabee broke her beam at Three Islands, Boschink, Stony Lake, yesterday. However they are having it replaced and it will be in operation to-day.

The second section of Gilmour's drive left Lakefield yesterday and is making its way towards Peterborough.

The steamer Undine has tied up. The Mary Ellen continues her trips as usual.

Mr. Steve Holland says on account of so much rain lately he was prevented from the pleasure of an outing down the river, but, however, he spent most of the day yesterday down the river, and as he says, the luck was dead against him till on winding up his trawling line, some fifty feet below the locks, he captured a monster weighing 18½ pounds. He again paddled over the same ground, thinking probably he would secure the mate. After a cruise of about half an hour he landed a she fish weighing 20 pounds or a trifle less. Mr. Holland says 'tis not necessary to go long distances for fish when they can be caught at home. Mr. Adam Davidson is having the heads of these beauties dressed in proper style by a taxidermist and when seasoned may be viewed at the "Southern."

The steamer City of Peterborough is having glances of iron placed in front of the propellers to avoid the logs from smashing the buckets and arms of the wheel.

MAN ON THE END SEAT.

IT OUGHT TO BE THE CUSTOM TO "HITCH ALONG," BUT IT ISN'T.

The Moving Tale of Two Street Car Passengers—The "Hog" of Travel Gets Another Scorching, But the Fat Man Seems to Hold His Own.

It was an open street car, and the man who signaled it at King street saw at a glance that the shady end of every seat was occupied. He had hoped to find a seat all to himself, and had calculated to elevate his feet, remove his hat and have a sort of picnic by himself on the way down town. He stood on the running board and hesitated until the conductor rang two bells, and then he made choice of a seat with only one man in it. That man was a fat man, however, and he had a $20,000 mortgage on the end of the seat. The new arrival was mad, and to prove he was mad he stepped on the fat man's feet and rubbed his knees and sat down with a bang and growled:

"I was in hopes that the railroad hog was dead, but I find that he has simply changed his base!"

"When other folks hitch along and give up the end of the seat I'll do the same," replied the fat man, without any particular rancor.

"Yes, some folks have to wait for other folks to show 'em what manners are!" growled the new arrival as he poked the fat man in the ribs with his elbow.

"If it was the custom to hitch, then I'd hitch. If you had said to me that you were suffering to plant yourself on this end of the seat I should have hitched along."

"You look like a man who would, you do! The idea that one has to climb over somebody to get a seat in a street car makes me tired!"

"You have all the week to rest in, haven't you?" placidly queried the fat man.

"None of your bizness whether I have or not."

"No, I suppose not. When you stopped the car I suspected you might want this shady seat, and I made up my mind that if you asked for it you should have it. Instead of informing me of your desire you ——"

"Hang a fat man, anyhow!" interrupted the other with much feeling. "The day will come in this country when a hogshead on legs won't be permitted to make a public nuisance of himself. There ought to be a law on that subject!"

"I expect there had, but if you wanted this cool and shady end of the seat why didn't you permit me to offer it to you? While I am fat, I am not without sentiment. I have feelings for my fellowmen. It was only the other day that I was riding on a Queen street——"

"You saw me take this car, didn't you?" shouted the disappointed man.

"Yes, I saw you."

"When I started to enter this aisle you never moved so much as a hair!"

"That's true, but that's the custom, you know. The idea is to positively ignore the existence of the later arrivals. That is, unless the later arrivals should pleasantly and kindly request the first arrivals to hitch along. Had you requested me—had you given me the slightest glimmer of your feelings in the matter—I should assuredly have taken grent——"

"Oh! you go to!" growled the disappointed man. "Next time I go to get on a car and find the aisle blockaded by a fat man I'll start a custom which I'll hope to see followed!"

"I'm sorry you feel as you do," soothingly observed the fat man. "As I said before, if you had kindly requested me to hitch along—if you had hesitated for a moment and thus given me to understand that you preferred this cool and shady end of the seat to—"

"A hog is a hog!" shouted the disappointed man as he rose up and waved his arm to the conductor.

"Yes, I know, but I hope you won't leave the car feeling that I have done you an injury. As I said before, while it is not the custom to hitch along, and while I cannot now recall one single instance where a passenger has hitched for me, if you—"

"And hogs ought to be compelled to ride in the hog cars!" finished the disappointed man as the car stopped and he got down and started off with the sun roasting the top of his hat.

"Yes, they certainly had," replied the fat man as he smiled and beamed and nodded. "I trust we shall meet again, and if we do, and if I am on the cool and shady and comfortable end of a seat in a street car, and you are roasting hot and rivulets of perspiration are streaming down your back, why, all you've got to do is to—"

But the conductor signaled for the car to go ahead, the motorman gave things a twist in obedience, and a few seconds later business along the street had returned to its usual channels.

A Young Explorer.

Archibald Stuart, a young Scotchman, has just succeeded in doing what no white man before him has done. With no other companion than an Indian guide, he has completed in safety the entire trip from Lake St. John to Mistassini, the great mysterious island sea in the far north, by one route and returning by another. He found large acres of merchantable timbers and large tracts of magnificent agricultural land in what has been hitherto supposed to be nothing but a worthless wilderness.

WE COVER ALL.

It is one thing to cover up your body. Robinson Crusoe like, with goat skins and tanned palm leaves. It is quite another thing to get well-fitting, neatly-made Suits, Boots and Hats of the latest designs, without paying an exhorbitant price.

MEN'S HATS!
MEN'S SHOES!
MEN'S CLOTHING!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR!
MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

This store appeals to Men—and to Women also. The field of trade is widening continually. Instead of confining ourselves to Clothing, we have, for the fall of 1894, brought together under one roof such things for men's wear as they have shown themselves to want.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $2.65.
On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 85c.
On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.
On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75
Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

On the best $3 Men's Selected Shell Cordovan Balmoral or Congress, with Dunraven toe, we take off 40c., and ask only $2 60.

On the best Men's Fine Waxed Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1 25.

On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.20.

On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 60c., and ask only $1.95.

His Family Sorrows.

At one of the village stations a woman with a parrot in a cage got on the train, and soon after she had taken a seat and while the bird was solemnly eyeing the passengers around him a jolly looking old man came from the rear end of the car and inquired:

"Madam, is that a talkin' parrot?"

"Yes, sir," she replied.

"Brought up in your own family?"

"Mostly, sir."

"Ah, there!" suddenly screamed the bird as he gave his wings a flop.

"That is bewtiful—bewtiful!" chuckled the old man as he rubbed his hands together. "Madam, I used to own a parrot."

"Yes?"

"He was a great comfort to myself and wife, who were childless. He would swear by the hour. Does your bird swear?"

"No, sir," she stiffly replied.

"No? You should have taught him to, madam. You don't know how much solace can be got from a swearing parrot."

"You bet!" yelled the parrot.

"Bewtiful—bewtiful! If he does not swear, he could easily be taught. He uses all kinds of slang, of course?"

"No, sir. He uses only those two expressions, and I'm giving him away on that account."

"You shouldn't do it madam! You don't know what a comfort it is to have a slangy parrot around the house. My parrot could say, 'Pull down your vest,' 'Shoot that hat,' 'Get on to the shape' and many other bewtiful things. When my wife lay dying, he called out, 'Hold on to your breath!'"

At that moment the conductor come along, and seeing that the woman was annoyed he suggested to the old man that he return to his seat.

"Oh, certainly, certainly!" was the reply. "I was just going. Seeing the parrot has put me in mind of my family sorrows, and I will sit down and weep. I once had both wife and parrot, but now I'm all alone in this world—all alone! The last words my wife spoke were, 'Good-by, Richard!' and the last speech the parrot made was, 'Nail up your chin!' I hoped this was a bird like mine, but I've been disappointed. Yes, I'll sit down."

He returned to his seat, and for half an hour he wiped the tears from his eyes. I finally went over to him and asked if there was any way I could let the sunshine into his darkened life, and after a pull at his nose he replied:

"Waal, yes. Invite me to step out on the platform to take a nip from your bottle!"

We went out and nipped, and his sorrowing soul sorrowed no more.

Superstitions About Fire.

Where a fire burns upon the hearth the Germans say that lightning never strikes.

In Cambridgeshire, England, there is a curious belief to the effect that a fire started by a lightning stroke can only be quenched with milk.

In Devonshire if a fire burns blue and dead it is thought to be a forerunner of death or disaster in that house.

When a Russian family moves from one house to another they always rake all the fire from the hearth of the old domicile and carry it in a closed pot to their new residence.

The Sicilians say that a fire will not burn man born on St. Paul's day (January 25), but that if a woman be burned upon that day the sore will never heal and will eventually cause her death.

In Greece, when one peasant borrows fire from another's hearth to kindle his own, the owner of the fire must accompany the borrower to his home "to see the fire blaze," otherwise the one making the loan will have his house and goods destroyed by the devouring element.

In Wales and in Cornwall miners burn their hats upon the birth of a male child; if a girl be born his neighbors burn it for him.

Home and Abroad.

It is the duty of everyone, whether at home or travelling for pleasure or business, to equip himself with the remedy which will keep up strength and prevent illness, and cure such ills as are liable to come upon all in every day life. Hood's Sarsaparilla keeps the blood pure and lest liable to absorb the germs of disease.

THE AMERICAN BEAUTY.

Romantic Origin of a Handsome and Popular Rose.

There is an interesting story about the origin of the American Beauty. It was first grown in Washington, and here it attained its renown. The late Hon. George Bancroft, besides being a historian and scholar, was one of the first amateur rose-growers in America. Every year he imported cuttings from the leading flower-growers of Europe. The King of Prussia —when old Kaiser Wilhelm was king—allowed the American historian to have a slip of whatever he might fancy in the royal conservatories. Mr. Bancroft's gardener used to cultivate some of his roses in an old house away out on F, or perhaps it was G street, above Twenty-second street, in the west end of the city. Mrs. Grant had a florist named Field in charge of the White House conservatory. He was a rose grower of rare merit and skill in his artistic work. One day he happened into the old building where Mr. Bancroft's gardener potted his plants and budded his roses. Over in a corner he observed a rose of a variety utterly unknown to him, and of wonderful size and perfection in form and odor. "Where did this come from?" he carelessly inquired of his rose-growing confrere. "Oh, it is an offshoot from some cuttings we imported from Germany," the man replied. It was evident to Mr. Field that the other did not in the least comprehend the value of the new plant. After some talk Mr. Field bought the cuttings he had seen for $5. A year thereafter, when he had propagated his new purchase, and become convinced that he had a new and very valuable variety of rose, which he named the American Beauty, he sold his find for $5,000, the most wonderful result of the investment of $5 on record. Fields invested his easily-earned $5,000 in lands near the city, which in a little less than three years were sold for $50,000. Truth is sometimes stranger than fiction. In this instance it certainly was. —Washington Post.

The Peasant Emperor.

M. de Blowitz tells a story of the Czar, who lately discussed with his courtiers the title by which he might afterward be known in history. His father had been called Alexander the Liberator and Alexander the Martyr. What should the son be called?

"Alexander the Just," suggested one.

"Oh, no," replied the Czar. "I am, and shall remain, the 'Peasant Emperor.' Some of my nobility have styled me in derision, scoffing at my affection for the moujik. But I accept the title as an honor. I have tried to procure for the humble the means of livelihood, and this, I think, is the best and only means of keeping the world going.

"Henry IV. dreamed of giving every peasant a fowl in the pot, and my greatest ambition is to save the Russian peasant from dying of hunger. For, when people begin to understand that they run no danger of starvation, they begin to bless God, and end by loving the sovereign who represents Him on earth. My greatest ambition is to deserve to bear to the last the title of the 'Peasant Emperor.'

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

A BIG, BIG CONTRAST.

THE CHINESE GIANT AND THE PIGMY JAPAN.

The Challenged Nation in the War Many Times Larger Than the Challenger—Her Territory and Population—A Unique History Lesson.

There are many things about the war between China and Japan which make it more picturesque than ordinary wars.

Consider, first, the tremendous difference in the size of the combatants. Of course, you know that China is bigger than Japan, and has many more people; but you haven't fully understood how much bigger and how much more populous it is.

The Chinese Empire occupies the entire central portion of Eastern Asia, the biggest of the continents, and its area varies, according to different calculations, from 5,000,000 to 5,559,564 square miles. This includes all the territories over which the "Son of Heaven," who sits in his yellow satin robes in his palace at Pekin, has jurisdiction. China proper, called by its inhabitants Chunghwoh, "Middle Kingdom," or Chunhwa, "Central Flowery Land," has an area variously estimated at from 1,297,999 to 1,482,091 square miles.

Exclusive of China proper, the territory of the Chinese Empire consists chiefly of thinly inhabited regions like the great plain of Manchooria or the tremendous plateau of Thibet.

Nearly all the population of the Chinese Empire is crowded into China proper. The most reliable census figures now place this population at 420,000,000.

There are provinces in China which have a thousand inhabitants to the square mile.

Belgium, the most thickly inhabited portion of the Caucasian world, has only 600. And Belgium is a very small country. No Chinese province is small.

Except the English and Russian, the Chinese Empire is the biggest that has ever existed.

The Roman Empire at the period of its greatest expansion never included more than 2,000,000 square miles.

Neither Augustus nor any of his successors ever ruled more than 120,000,000 people, less than one third the number of those who braid their pigtails nicely every morning and whose eyes slant up to heaven without any effort.

The British Empire, with all the millions of India, falls behind China in populousness. Any one of three or four provinces in China has nearly as many people as there are in all in the United States.

All the empires, kingdoms and republics of Europe combined barely equal China in population.

If all the people of China passed before you in line and you began when you were born and lived to be a hundred years old, you couldn't count them all.

All the people of England or France could be stuck away in a corner of China, and unless you were of an inquiring disposition you wouldn't know they were there.

If the inhabitants of China were standing up in line, shoulder to shoulder, the line would reach around the world four times.

Besides being very numerous, the Chinese are vigorous physically. Some of the biggest men of the world grow in Northern China. Chang, the Chinaman, was the greatest giant of modern times.

China's Natural Resources.

The resources of China in other things as well as population are endless. It has every variety of climate and, therefore, every variety of agricultural products. Its limits run from orange groves to ice fields.

China has all sorts of metals. Its river system is rivalled only by that of the United States. The Yang-tse-Kiang and the Hoang-Ho belong in the same class with the Mississippi and the Missouri. In addition, it has many big lakes and high mountains.

China, more than any other country, is a world in itself in resources as well as character.

The old Greeks called all who were not Greeks "barbarians." Similarly, the Chinese term "barbarians" all who are not Chinese.

The Chinese believe that the world of light ends at the borders of China.

The Chinaman may dwell for a period in outer darkness, in order to gather in the coin of the barbarians, whom he despises, but always he expects to go back to China; if not in life, at least that his ashes or his bones will reach the blessed land.

The Chinese nation is a human mass—immense, tenacious, patient and self-sufficient.

In China, wars, revolutions, floods, fires and pestilences are on a scale commensurate with the population. The greatest conquests in the history of the human race were achieved there by the Tartar followers of Genghis Khan and Tamerlane.

China inflamed the imagination of Napoleon Bonaparte. After Toulon and before Montenotte he asked permission of the French Directory to accept an officer's commission in the Turkish service. He had his eye on the far East. He was filled with the sanguinary glory of Genghis Khan and Tamerlane. He said to a friend: "The East is the only theatre of mighty events. A man can win glory there." But the permission was refused. China escaped him. Europe did not.

China has had an incalculable influence upon the history of Western Europe and Asia. How?

Because China drove the Huns and the Turks from her borders. They wandered across Asia in great migratory bands, increasing in numbers as they came, helped to beat down the Roman Empire, totally destroyed the Byzantine Empire and made such a change in European history that it is felt to this day.

The situation and character of every reader has been influenced by that immigration, which the Chinese armies set in motion fifteen or eighteen hundred years ago.

All schoolboys have heard of the Great Wall and the Grand Canal of China. Those are two things about China that we never forget. The canal is so long and so large that people get into the habit of numbering it among the great rivers of China.

The Great Wall is man's most gigantic work. It was built to keep out the Tartars more than two thousand years ago. It is of immense height and thickness, and is 1,500 miles long. It is said that an army of 400,000 men was sent against the Tartars, and after defeating them, was employed for many years in building this wall.

The Great Wall of China is one of the few things no museum manager has tried to get for his show.

Thus, China, even more than Egypt, is the Sphinx but not the Niobe of nations.

Japan a Territorial Pigmy.

Now, look at Japan, China's pigmy antagonist! The area of all Japan is only 147,000 square miles, or exactly three times that of the State of New York. Its population, by the census of 1890, was 40,072,684, or less than one-tenth that of China.

This disproportion makes the war between China and Japan vastly interesting. Nor must it be forgotten that the war is likely to make a great increase in our knowledge of that hidden country, China.

HE BOBS UP AGAIN.

Sam Murray, Whom the Doctors had Pronounced as Incurable, Still on Deck—Now Acting as Foreman for a Big Lumber Concern.

North Bay, Sept. 3.—Sam Murray's name is one that has often figured in newspaper columns during the past eighteen months because he was cured of paralysis and blood poisoning by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after half a dozen physicians had pronounced him incurable. On the strength of physicians' certificates, Murray was paid his disability claim by the Grand Trunk. Since he was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, he has been accepted as a first-class risk by a leading life insurance company. About a year ago, he got a position as foreman for the big lumber concern of Davidson & Hay, of Toronto, and the fact that he was able to satisfactorily to attend to the trying duties of such a position, is ample evidence of the permanency of his cure.

SOMETHING OF INTEREST

About Pianos!

—:o:—

It Is An Actual Fact

That J. W. CROSBY sells Better Pianos for Less Money than any traveller or outside agent.

1st. Because he has no big salaries or commissions to pay to agents.

2nd. Because his expenses, rent, taxes, etc. in Peterborough, are more than one-half less than travellers and representatives living in the cities.

3rd. Because having the control of the best instruments of all the best Piano makers in the country, competition between the different makers gives him the advantage over the representatives of any one single Piano firm.

J. W. Crosby has sold about 200 Pianos in and near Peterborough. He sells the Williams, Morris, Rheinhart, Uxbridge and Gerhard Heintzman Pianos, and can undersell for quality of goods, price and terms, any and all outsiders. Try him.

Pianos from $200 to $400. He can save you $30 over outsiders or won't ask you to buy.

Jacob's Island Hotel.

This First-Class Summer Hotel is situated on a hundred acre island, in Pigeon Lake, beautifully timbered with live oak; fine shore line; good bathing grounds; splendid boat and lunge fishing in the adjoining waters; hotel grounds furnished with swings, picnic tables and dancing platform; good grounds for baseball or lacrosse. Canoe and skiff livery in connection. The Hotel has fine airy rooms for summer guests; first-class table; rates moderate. Regular daily mails to communicate with all points. Daily steamer service (Maple Leaf and Columbian) with Peterborough and Bobcaygeon. Persons arranging picnic parties address—

Another Voice From Smith.

Smith, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

FREITSCH ARRIVES IN PORT.

He Crossed the Ocean Alone and Safely in a Small Boat.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 13.—Capt. Adolph Freitsch, the Finnish sailor, who left New York, August 5th, in the schooner-rigged skiff Nina, without any companion, arrived here yesterday. His boat was somewhat damaged, her rudder having been lost, and she was leaking.

In an interview with a representative of the United Press, Captain Freitsch said: "On August 8th I encountered a furious storm and never experienced such rolling as I was subjected to. I hung out my anchor light that night and turned into my bunk, but got little sleep owing to my danger of being pitched out. When off the banks of Newfoundland I lost my reckoning and was unable to locate myself for 48 hours. I then met the British steamer Menantia and got her time and, after a short conversation with her captain, proceeded. On August 14th the Nina sprung a leak and I rigged a temporary pump which kept her free from water. Later on the rudder became damaged, but the difficulty was remedied by fixing rope guys, the rudder post not being staunch enough for utilizing the tiller. I steered with my guy ropes from the banks of Newfoundland to Queenstown. On this part of the voyage I had several bad days but nothing happened worth noting."

Captain Fretisch will remain in Cork for a fortnight to repair and exhibit his boat. His health, he said, is better than at any time since he started from New York.

About 1,000 royalists attended the reception at Grosvenor house. The Duke of Orleans delivered an address in a strong, resolute voice.

Hippolyte's Life in Danger.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Authentic reports from the Haytien capital state that President Hippolyte is in a very dangerous condition. He is extremely nervous and is suffering from heart trouble. Any sudden shock and excitement, it is said, endangers his life. In order to hasten this end his enemies in the revolutionist party about August 29th last attempted to assassinate his married drughter, who resides with him at his palace at Port Au Prince. The attempt proved a failure. Hippolyte at once ordered the arrest of ten men among the revolutionists whom he believed to be the instigators of the plot. These men were arrested and shot within 24 hours. Great excitement prevailed over the attempted plot to kill the president's daughter, and much trouble is anticipated over the condition of the president and his expected demise.

Wholesale Smuggling at the Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 13.—A Canadian inspector of customs named Trowbridge, from Toronto, has been making things lively for people on that side of the river, at Clifton, the past few days. The small shoppers who come over on this side for their supplies have been caught attempting to pass the customs officials and have been severely dealt with. One woman who had paid $11 for goods on this side was arrested after passing the customs officers at the Canadian end of the upper Suspension bridge yesterday, and besides having her property confiscated, was fined $100, which her husband paid. There are numerous other cases which cause no end of alarm among the residents of Clifton, and particularly among the Americans who have chosen to live in Canada and carry on their business on this side.

Shocking Immorality in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—A sensation has been caused by developments that have arisen out of a case against a young man named Archambault, who is now being tried before the Court of Queen's Bench on a charge of rape. The victim was a young girl only 14 years old. It leaked out in evidence that she had been in the habit of frequenting bad houses, and that she was only one of many little girls who were kept in such places. The expose so far almost equals the Pall Mall Gazette expose. There is a regular system of child prostitution. Judge Wurtele yesterday declared that the system was a disgrace to the city and he ordered immediate proceedings to be taken.

A Young Farmer Killed.

PORT CREDIT, Sept. 13.—Harry Rossiter, a young farmer 22 years of age, was found by a number of Peel county farmers yesterday lying dead beside the railway track. Blood on the track showed the way in which the young man met his death. He was walking on the track and was run down by a Grand Trunk train. The farmers recognized the man and carried him to his employer's home near here. The coroner was notified and decided that an inquest would not be necessary, as everything pointed to accidental death. Rossitsr was well known in and around Port Credit, being employed for some time by Farmer R. Dunn.

Car Painters Association in Session.

BUFFALO, Sept. 13.—The twenty-fifth annual convention of the Master Car and Locomotive Painters Association of the United States and Canada opened yesterday in the Colonial parlors at the Genesee hotel. The 170 delegates present represent the principal shops of the leading railroads of this country and Canada. After routine business officers were elected, William T. Leopold being chosen president, and Secretary-Treasurer Robert McKeen, of Kent, Ohio, was re-elected. The convention will last until to-morrow evening.

A Fake Message From the Waters.

LEAMINGTON, Ont. Sept. 13.—Arthur Brown, who resides at Point Pelee, picked up on the east side of the Point a bottle containing the following message, which is dated Sept. 1: "Steamer Sunderberry blew ont cyclinder eight miles west of Buffalo; now sinking; no hope; loaded railroad steel; God save us. (Signed) Marse Godaslove." There is no boat of that name listed and the report is probably the work of a would-be joker.

Protection of Fresh Water Fisheries.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont. Sept. 13.—Fish Commissioner Rathburn and his secretary, C. K. Macy, from Washington, D.C, in conjunction with Prof. Wakeham, of the Fishery and Marine Department, Ottawa, are here taking evidence and collecting statistics regarding our fresh water fisheries with a view to formulate some mutual scheme for the protection of the fishing industry of both nations.

Nationalists Still Undecided.

DUBLIN, Sept. 13.—At the meeting of the National Federation yesterday there was a heated discussion of the cheques sent by Mr. Gladstone and Lord Tweedmouth to the Nationalist parliamentary fund. Timothy D. Sullivan, anti-Parnellite M.P. for West Donegal, declared that the party would never consent to receive the money enabling their representatives to sit in parliament from English politicians. The meeting adjourned without deciding to make a general declaration on the subject.

Three Men Lost.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—It is now sure that three lives were lost at Beaconsfield on Monday night. Joseph Taylor and two hotel employes, known as Oliver and Willie, went out in a boat at 7 o'clock in the evening. Yesterday the boat was found on Lake St. Louis, off Pointe Claire, by the lighthouse keeper, bottom up. It is supposed the boat upset as the result of some accident. The men were all sober and five months' wages was due them from their employer.

Tailors' Strike Near Over.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The big tailors' strike, which has been waging for the past week, is speedily drawing to a close. About 125 contractors have already signed the agreement and given their bonds for the fulfillment. About 3,000 cloakmakers are out.

The Fender Failed to Work.

BUFFALO, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Mary Macmahon, of Maurice street, lost her life under the wheels of a trolley car. The life guard failed to hold her and the wheels passed over her, killing her instantly.

Sultan and Khedive Fall Out.

CAIRO, Sept. 13.—According to reports received from Constantinople the relations between the Sultan and the Khedive have become greatly strained. Much significance is given to the statement that the Khedive will return to Egypt at the conclusion of his European tour without revisiting the Sultan.

Papal Encyclical on the Rosary.

ROME, Sept. 13.—The annual Papal encyclical on the rosary was issued yesterday. In it the Pope refers indirectly to Zola's "Lourdes" by urging devotion to the rosary as more needful than ever "since faith in the Virgin Mary has been brought into derision by the impious."

Women's Pen Names.

It is a curious fact that nearly all women who become distinguished in literature under a nom-de-plume have done so under names that were either masculine or had no sex suggestion. Nobody could tell whether or not Currer Bell was a man or woman. In fact, there is reason to believe that Charlotte Bronte on the title page would have handicapped Jane Eyre." George Sand, too, won an audience that would have been impossible to Aurore Dudevant, as did George Eliot one that would have whistled Maryanne Evans quite down the wind. Coming near our own time, there is John Strange Winter—who is, in private life, Mrs. Stanard—and John Oliver Hobbes, the sensation of at least a London week, who is really Mrs. Perry Cragle. Then, in our own country, we have Octave Thanet, known to her friends as Miss Alice French, and Charles Egbert Craddock, whom all the world has heard of, though only about half of it would recognize her as Miss Murfree.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Peas a L'Anglaise.—Boil the peas until tender, and put them into a saucepan, allowing an ounce of butter to a pint of peas. Set on the stove, stir gently till thoroughly hot, add a little chopped parsley and the yolk of one egg, and serve.

Velvet Cake.—One pound of flour, one pound of sugar, half a pound of butter, five eggs beaten separately, then poured together and beaten again, half a teaspoonful of soda, a teaspoonful of cream of tartar; flavor with vanilla, wineglass of wine or brandy.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 13, 1894.

THE FARMERS' MARKET—Two hundred bushels of wheat sold at 58c for white and 56c for red; 100 of peas brought 59c and 1,000 of oats 30½ to 31c. Outside wheat is still worth 51½c.

Wheat was dull and steady in Chicago, the close being unchanged. Corn was more active, but prices were about steady. May closing 1-8c lower and cash ¼c higher. Oats strong and ¼ to 3 8c higher.

Barley receipts at Buffalo were 68,000 bushels from Milwaukee; shipments, 8,000 bushels. Canada barley nominal; samples offered at 65 to 70c; western in fair supply; sample at 56½ to 58c. Buyers consider values 2 or 3c per bushels above value.

Three cars of Canada lambs late to arrive at East Buffalo sold at $4.25 to $4.40, with some extra at $4.50; market closed steady to strong for good stocks; others slow.

At St. Louis sheep receipts were 2,000; mixed, $2.55 to $3.50; lambs, $3 to $3.75.

At East Liberty sheep receipts were fair; extra, $3 to $3.25; fair, $1.25 to $1.60; yearlings, $1.50 to $3; lambs, $2 to $3.75; veal calves, $5.50 to $6.

Chinese Troops Still Kept From Advancing by the Floods—Li Hung Chang's Son-in-Law Returns From Exile and is Ordered Back Again.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A despatch from the Shanghai correspondent of the Times says: "Fusan reports say that the whole of South Corea has risen against the Japanese, and it is feared that armed rebels will attack Fusan. Two thousand Japanese troops have arrived at that port."

SHANGHAI, Sept. 14.—A big battle has been fought between the Chinese and Japanese near Kai-Cheng, Corea. The engagement is said to have taken place about September 2. Native newspapers of September 10 say the fight lasted two days, that it was still undecided when this news was forwarded to the native press. The Chinese papers of September 13 announce that General Yeh, the Chinese commander, reports having gained a victory over the Japanese. It is supposed here, however, that the Chinese have met with a reverse at Ping Yang. A private despatch received here confirms the news that more fighting has occurred with undecided result.

The flood in Corea still prevents the Chinese troops from crossing the Imchin river in order to attack the Japanese entrenchments. Another report current here says that the Kirin division of the Chinese army has crossed the Kulin river, and that it is now holding the city of Suh Ning while awaiting the advance of the main body of the army before attacking the Japanese right flank. No reliable news, it may be added, is obtainable here in regard to the progress of the war.

The Hupao reports that the Chinese admiralty has determined to order to Pei-Yang from the Yang-Tse coast all war ships of a certain tonnage and armament. The Hupao adds that a number of torpedo boats from the squadrons at Foo-Chow, Canton and Nanking will also be ordered to Pei-Yang.

The intriguing enemies of Viceroy Li-Hung-Chang have reported to the throne the presence at Tien-Tsin of Chang-Pei-Lun, the Viceroy's son-in-law, who was banished in 1884. The throne has ordered his return to exile.

Colorado Stockmen at War.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—A special from Denver, Col., says: The details of the attack on Tuesday by masked men upon sheep herds of Charles Brown and John Miller have been brought in. Carl Brown, a sheep herder, who was shot in the hip while defending his employer's property was brought to town upon a mattress. The men who made the attack numbered about twenty-five. They slaughtered 2,000 sheep in Crown's corral and then drove over to the feeding grounds where Miller's sheep were grazing and drove 4,000 animals over the cliffs, where they fell a distance of a thousand feet into Barachnte Creek. There the mangled remains lie in a horrible state. The raiders left word that they destroyed no more simply because they lacked time. They promised to return and finish the job.

A Boy's Remarkable Journey.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—The Norwegian steamship Forbuna, which arrived from Java last night, landed Arthur Vincent, a New York boy, who has circled the globe without a cent of money. He left New York two years ago at the age of 14, and the testimonials which he carries are sufficient proof of his travels. The boy bears evidence of rough experiences and is almost destitute of clothing. He is reticent about his travels. After the customs officers passed him he took the first train for New York.

Bank Robbers' Big Haul.

DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 14.—The Citizens' Bank at the little town of Rossville, twenty miles north of here on the Chicago & Illinois road, was robbed of between $9,000 and $10,000. The officials looked the bank and went to dinner leaving the key to the back door sticking in the lock on the inside. The robber succeeded in gaining entrance by using a nipper on the key.

Shot His Wife After a Spree.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L.I., Sept. 14.—Wm. Schernowski, a Bohemian, 50 years old, while crazy from the effects of a protracted spree, shot his wife Annie with a shotgun at their home. The woman is still alive, but her death is momentarily expected.

Smuggler Green Keeps Mum.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 14.—The two men known as Green and Jacobs, of Hamilton, arrested at St. Clair, Mich., a few days ago while trying to smuggle a trunk full of opium from Courtright, Ont., have waived examination and been held in bonds of $2,000 to await the action of the grand jury. Green remains silent and says nothing. When spoken to he answers with a shake of his head when possible, and maintains that he would rather go to prison for life than have his true name become known in connection with the smuggling affair. He seems afraid to have his voice heard in public, and answered not a word when he appeared before United States Commissioner Graves for an examination.

FOR REFORM IN ROADS

Directors of the Good Roads Association Meet at Toronto.

WORK FOR THE COMING WINTER

Education in Road Reform Will Be Carried on at Meetings of Farmers' Institutes—The Department of Agriculture Takes an Interest in the Work.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—A meeting of the directors of the Ontario Good Roads Association was held here last evening, Mr. A. Pattullo, of Woodstock, President of the Association, presiding. There was a good attendance. Mr. K. M. McKay, of St. Thomas, the secretary, reported favorably on the progress of the Association during the summer months.

The object of the meeting chiefly related to the work of the coming winter. The Association was formed too late to reach the annual meetings of most of the agricultural bodies of the province, but the friends of good roads have not been idle. Though the public mind was engrossed in the provincial elections during the early part of the year, considerable interest has been manifested in the work of the Association.

Through the Department of Agriculture about 20,000 copies of the proceedings of the annual meeting have been distributed, while much information on the subject of good roads has been disseminated in other ways.

It was resolved to carry on a campaign of education during the coming fall and winter at the meetings of farmers' institutes and other like bodies. Another provincial convention of the Good Roads Association will be held at Toronto in February next, to which every municipal agricultural body in the province will be invited to send delegates.

The members of the board of directors say that the question of road reform is taking a deeper hold on the farming community than ever before. Farmers are becoming more and more impressed with the necessity of having better roads.

The problem to be worked out by road reformers is by what system can good roads be best secured. That is the question the association has set themselves about to solve.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

Guns and Ammunition for the Mounted Police Bought in England.

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—Hon. W. B. Ives, President of the Council, has returned from his visit to England in connection with the purchase of arms for the North-west Mounted Police. Mr. Ives states that he purchased two Maxim-Nordenfeldt guns and 200 Lee-Metford carbines. The latter is the carbine with which the British cavalry is being armed. The Maxim guns fire 600 bullets per minute and can be used either as field guns or on fortifications. They are light and one could be carried on the back of a horse anywhere the horse could go. Both the guns and the carbines use smokeless powder and the cartridges are the same size, so that they can be used for either. One gun will probably be placed at Regina and the other at Calgary, but this is not definitely settled. Mr. Ives also purchased a quantity of books for the library of the force, which is sustained from the fine fund reserved for that purpose.

The Jute Seizures in Montreal.

Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is in Montreal investigating the recent seizures of the stock of the Canada Jute Co. It is believed the seizure will be removed.

Will Seek a Divorce.

The Canadian Gazette to-morrow will contain a notice of application from Sergeant Major Shier, of the Northwest Mounted Police, for divorce from his wife Mary, a Blood Indian woman, now living on an Indian reserve in the Northwest Territories, on the ground of desertion.

A Workingman's Luck.

There is one workingman in Ottawa who will in all probability soon lay down his pick and shovel for some lighter employment. His name is William Martin, and for some years he has worked as a laborer in Ottawa. Recently he was employed on corporation work and now he is employed laying the pipes for the gas company. He learned of what is certainly good fortune in a strange way. Martin came from Ireland about 20 years ago with £300 and the blessing of his father, who was a Presbyterian minister. He spent his money and ceased to communicate with his family. He has now received information that he has become heir to his father's property at Dundalk, which is very valuable.

Fierce Forest Fires in Michigan.

BESSEMER, Mich., Sept. 14.—The Gogebic Powder Company mill is in imminent danger of destruction from forest fire, which the department has been fighting in the face of a strong wind. Trout Creek, Mich., is again threatened with destruction. The wires are down and several railroad bridges have been burned. Several buildings at Iron Belt, Wis., on the Wisconsin Central, have been burned by forest fires. At Wakefield a miner died from the heat. Four hundred million feet of pine have been burned in Gogebic and Ontonagon counties.

International Peace Congress Opens.

ROME, Sept. 14.—The International Peace Congress opened at Perugia yesterday. Signor Bonghi, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, presided. In his opening address Signor Bonghi blamed the press for exciting feelings of hatred between Italy and France. Friendship between the two nations, he declared, was natural and politic. The French delegates applauded this utterance. A banquet was held at night which was attended by 300 delegates. The Hungarian, Gen. Turr, was present and delivered a speech.

A Young Heir Kidnapped.

PUTNAM, Conn., Sept. 14.—Clarence, the 10-year-old son of Ferdinand Ward, of Grant & Ward fame, living with his uncle, Fred D. Greer, at Thompson, was kidnapped in a public street. Ward has tried several times to obtain peaceful possession of the child. The Ward boy comes into possession of a trust fund of $90,000 when he comes of age, which was left him by his mother.

CORNWALL SENSATION

Two Men Arrested Suspected of Knowing Something of the Crime.

PROCEEDINGS AT THE INQUEST

Witnesses Testify to the Finding of the Body of Cosgrove in a Pool of Blood—The Man Was Struck From Behind With a Blunt Weapon.

CORNWALL, Ont., Sept. 14.—At the inquest on the body of Patrick Cosgrove in the town hall there was a large and anxious crown present, all eager to have some light thrown on the mysterious death of Cosgrove.

The first witness was James Smith who found the body. He deposed as follows: "I went into the coal shed about 7 o'clock on Thursday morning and saw deceased lying against the coal screener with his face covered with blood. I notified the neighbors and went for the police. Policeman Smith had deceased moved to headquarters. Deceased's hat was in another part of the shed about 30 feet from where his body lay. His hat was on a plank which was spotted with blood. There was no weapon in the shed."

Peter Barry, the next witness, sworn, said; "I live in the house immediately adjoining the coal shed. I was intoxicated Tuesday evening and retired about eight o'clock at night. Did not hear any cries or noise about the premises. My stepdaughter's husband, Carney, lives in the same house with me."

George Speck followed Barry as a witness and said: "I was going home between 11 and 12 o'clock on Monday night, and when about half a block from the coal shed heard cries of murder. I could not see any one in that vicinity. The cries having ceased I went home, but did not notify the police."

Patrick Cosgrove, a namesake of the deceased, but no relation, was also examined, but nothing important was brought out in his examination.

The jury then retired to examine the spot where the body was found, after which the inquest was adjourned until to-night in order to allow the doctors to hold a post mortem examination.

Doctors Granelly and Wagner held the examination. Their report will be brought in to-day, when the inquest will be resumed. It is understood their report will show that deceased was hit behind the left ear with some blunt instrument which caused death.

Wm. Carney, alias Dublin, who was caught in the act of stealing a beehive in the orchard of David Kyle on Monday evening, and who lives about ten yards from the place where deceased was found, skipped the town on Tuesday morning. It was expected that Carney could throw some light on the murder if he could be found. Constable Crites took the case in hand and Carney with his pal, Arthur Robinson, was arrested in Morrisburg last evening. Carney may not have had a hand in the affair, but his strange movements after it was generally known that Cosgrove could not recover led the authorities to believe he and his pal know something about the affair. He will be brought back here to day.

The local government has been asked to take a hand in the matter and a provincial detective is expected to work up the case.

A POLITE FRENCHMAN.

Why Admiral Maigret Paid a Visit to Montreal Travelling Incognito.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—The French warship, the Nealty, left Montreal yesterday. Among those on board was Admiral Maigret, who is in command of the French squadron now at Quebec. When Mr. J. X. Perreault went to Quebec to invite the Admiral to come to Montreal he declared that he could not do so, but on Wednesday those acquainted with the Admiral could have seen him walking on St. James street with the French consul, Mr. Durand.

Admiral Maigret was travelling incognito. Why he should do so in a city where French sailors and sailors of all nations have heretofore received so friendly a welcome may be a mystery to most people. But there is a letter of the Admiral, written to a prominent member of the French colony in this city, which partly explains the matter. From this letter it appears that Admiral Maigret took quite seriously the discussion in the French papers about the British flag being alone allowed on the exposition buildings at Quebec and that he consequently feared that his presence here with all his ships might give rise to some international complications. At the same time, being anxious to please the French-Canadian citizens, he decided to send the Nielly, but with the request that nothing more than ordinary politeness should be shown the crew.

A Tunnel for Niagara Falls, Ont.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 14.—That the construction of the Canadian Power Tunnel for the Niagara Falls Power Company will soon be begun is shown by the increased activity on this side. When ground is to be actually broken is a matter that is keeping everyone guessing for the present, but all agree that the time is not far distant. The residents of this town are watching each new change with great interest and satisfaction.

Toronto's Standing in Money Markets.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—It is reported in financial circles here that Toronto's representatives in the disposal of the city's bonds have secured exceptionally favorable terms. The arrangements made were highly satisfactory, and much better than any obtained for many years past. This is regarded as an evidence of the high standing of Toronto in the money market of the world.

A Goodridge Candidate Elected.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Sept. 14.—Mott, the candidate of the Goodridge Government, won in the Burgeo election. Polling stood 640 votes against 562 for Emerson, the Whitewayite. Murray, the former Whiteway member, had a majority of 141, therefore the government actually bettered its condition by 219 votes.

MR. LAURIER'S TRIUMPH.

The enthusiasm with which Mr. Laurier has been greeted and received everywhere on his tour through Canada is worthy of serious consideration. At Brantford, Brampton and elsewhere in Ontario the crowds who welcomed him were for the most part friends and political supporters of his lieutenants in parliament, though even in that province the kindly feelings of Conservatives and the interest with which they listened to the leader of the Opposition, was remarked and commented upon. When Mr. Laurier left the Province of Quebec behind him, however, he entered a vast country which, parliament after parliament, sent solid delegations of his opponents to Ottawa. Manitoba, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories have in several succeeding parliaments been represented by only one Liberal member. Mr. Watson for a long time alone represented the true interests of the Northwest in regard to tariff questions. Since he retired to enter the Manitoba Government Mr. Martin has succeeded him as the only Liberal in the House from the west of Lake Superior. Notwithstanding this record, the Northwest Territories, Manitoba and British Columbia have received Mr. Laurier with, if possible, even more enthusiasm than was shown in the Province of Ontario. Thousands of people crowded the railway station for hours before his arrival in order that they might have a glimpse of him and join in the cheering. The towns and cities have been decorated, business virtually suspended, the streets lined with citizens while he passed, and his meetings have been almost invariably crowded to overflowing. Serious attention has everywhere been paid by his vast audiences to all that he has had to say on such questions as tariff reform, governmental corruption and economical government. The respect and esteem and even interest manifested by the Conservatives at all points have been wonderingly commented upon.

Why is it that Mr. Laurier has been received from Toronto to the Pacific ocean as if he were a great deliverer or a triumphant general? It is not improbable that there was a good deal of curiosity among English people to hear and see a French Canadian of the highest and best type, and one whom his opponents join with his friends in declaring the most eloquent of Canadian parliamentary orators. But the impression seems to be general that a deeper interest than can thus be accounted for has been manifested in Mr. Laurier's tour and his speeches. The press everywhere has discussed the matter and manner of his addresses and the reception his policy had with his audiences. Mr. Laurier is one of the most impersonal and least bitter of politicians; opponents can listen to him with pleasure, even while he is exposing the corruption of their leaders, because it is so evident that he heartily deplores that corruption and finds the task of exposing it distasteful in the extreme. It is easily seen that he wishes that he could confine himself to questions of pure policy alone. To good citizens of every party accustomed in all political harrangues to the lurid pessimism of mutual criminations it must be very refreshing to be brought into contact with a man who appeals to the people as a confident believer in the possibility of pure and economical government and who is so obviously sincere and honest that people are constrained to believe in him and in the task he has set himself, that of purifying Canadian politics. These are welcome signs that the people are weary of the long carnival of corruption and extravagance, and that they are glad to see and meet with a political leader of lofty character who had pledged himself to the work of establishing honest and economical government. Then, again, people in the west are disgusted with protection and its fruits, and Mr. Laurier, as the evangelist of tariff reform and freer trade, is welcomed for the policy he advocates so forcibly and sincerely. At Vancouver, on Saturday, Mr. Laurier saw banners raised which ascribed to 'McKinleyism,' that is extreme protection, and 'McGreevyism,' the bad government of Canada. It appears therefore, as if the truth had at last reached the Pacific ocean.—Montreal Witness.

MUNICIPAL APPOINTMENTS.

The city clerk in Brantford died the other day, and a furious squabble has been going on ever since for his place with its salary of $1,000. It has been a lively faction fight, in which all the intrigues, the animosities and the baseness of party wire pulling have been revealed in miniature, just as under similar circumstances on a larger scale in New York. If we are to judge from the press, some of the city aldermen have been resorting to all sorts of dodging, deception and intrigue in order to keep themselves square with the warring elements and the public. This Brantford case is a faint suggestion of what would be seen in every county of the Province if the appointment of county officials were placed in the hands of County Councils. The theory that such representatives of the people would appoint men solely on account of their character and fitness for public office merely excites a smile with those who know anything of municipal affairs. Such power of appointment would produce a series of squabbles among municipal representatives themselves and their friends, out of which capable men would rarely win, and which would do a great deal to degrade and corrupt municipal affairs. No system, we suppose, is perfect. But the Government as truly represents the people as municipal bodies, and at a safe distance from the scene of petty conflict, is more apt to feel its responsibility, and to make wise selections. A few years' experience of the municipal appointive system, which some people advocate, would so thoroughly disgust the people with its working that they would soon return to the present one of legislative and governmental responsibility in matters chiefly relating to the Executive functions of Government. — Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

APSLEY.

(From Our Own Correspondent).

Mr. Emberson, the pastor of the Methodist church, Apsley, preached an excellent sermon last Sunday evening. His sermon was to the young people, principally the young men. He took for his text II. Samuel, 18th chap. 33 ver: "Oh! Absolam, my son, my son; would to God I had died for thee. Oh! Absolam, my son, my son."

The pastor of the Presbyterian church, Rev. Mr. Bennett, has changed appointments with Mr. Pretty, from Deer Lake settlement, for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Miss Bell, of Peterborough, are visiting at Mr. Anderson's, Apsley.

Miss Lottie Clegg has been visiting at Mr. W. Bass', east road, for a few days.

Miss Josephine Young has commenced teaching her school again down the lake where the neighbours say there is the best fishing and hunting ground.

Miss Florence Lousley, of Oakville, is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Young.

Mr. James Lindsay has got the contract for building a new bridge over Eel river at the Apsley mills.

Mr. Alfred Bass of the east road, is sporting a fast horse and a new $150.00 buggy.

Large fires are doing great damage through the country, destroying hay, grain, an fences, also timber in the Scott's timber limits.

The wife of Charles Bouty of a son. Chandos.

Mr. J. Coyle Brown, P.S.I., has been back in this vicinity inspecting the schools and delivering some very instructive lectures.

Mr. Thomas Anderson is home on a visit.

Drs. Anderson and Jeffs are doing successful work vaccinating the children of the different schools in this vicinity.

The evangelists. Mr. May and Mr. Faulkner, are holding services in Apsley and Cianricarde.

Mr. Alexander and Mr. Benjamin Woods have taken the job of digging a well at the school house, school section No. 7, Chandos.

Mr. George Bullied has purchased a a truck wagon for picking stone and other purposes on the farm.

Mr. John Bullied has traded his horse and top buggy for another horse and road cart.

Last Sunday Mrs. Daniel Whitmore, of the East Road, happened with a very painful accident. She was driving in a road cart, accompanied by her son, when the horse took fright, throwing Mrs. Whitmore out, breaking her arm in a couple of places. But as they were on the road to Apsley they soon drove to Dr. Jeff's office and had the arm successfully set.

The surprise party which a few people favoured Mr. Moses Couch with was quite a success.

We are pleased to relate the happy event which took place at Mr. D. Anderson's. His daughter, Miss Maggie Anderson, was united in marriage to Rev. Mr. Bell. The happy couple left for their new home in Toronto. Miss Anderson, or rather Mrs. Bell, has the good wishes of the entire community. Her Apsley friends will greatly miss her. Rev. Mr. Bennett officiated.

Mr. C. Prouty's party of Tuesday evening passed off very pleasantly.

Dr. Jeffs was called away very suddenly to the bedside of his dying father. He has the sympathy of his many friends in this community.

A STRANGER.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 14, 1894.

At the cheese market in Brantford 10 factories offered 1,241 boxes August and Septembers. Sales, 381 boxes at 10 1-2, 200 boxes at 10 5-8 and 435 at 10 13-16. Next market Thursday, Sept. 27.

THE FARMERS' MARKET—On the street 200 bushels of wheat sold at 54c for white and 53c for red; 200 of peas brought 59c, and 600 of oats 30 1-2 to 32c. Outside prices of grain were unchanged.

Wheat was easy in Chicago and closed 1-4 to 3-8 lower. Corn was weak and lost 1-2 to 7-8 on the day's trading. Oats followed the larger markets, closing 1-4 lower.

Barley receipts at Buffalo were 123,000; shipments 40,100. Canada quiet 60, offered for choice sample to arrive, 65 to 70 asked. No. 1 western quoted 63. No. 2 do. 59.

The Bank of England reserve is up from £236,000 to over £31,000,000. Coin and bullion increased £466,000 to £39,860,520. Gold returned from the provinces, which indicates a stagnant trade for this time of year.

At East Buffalo Canada lambs closed dull and weaker; $4.25 to $4.35 for best; feeding lambs, $3 to $3.22 of 62 to 70 lbs.; nearly all sold.

There were two opportunities for activity in the New York stock market. One was in that familiar ground of petty traders, the whiskey trusts certificates. Another stock heavily sold was General Electric, the basis of the sales being Judge Acheson's Philadelphia decision against the Edison monopoly in a technical process used in electric lighting. Outside of these two sharp declines nothing of interest developed in the market. St. Paul's declaration of its usual dividend had no appreciable influence. The favorable outlook for wheat had its influence, doubtless, on the directors' action. There was no other news of consequence.

Children Who Suffer

from scrofulous skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, feyers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't cure in every case, the money is returned.

A New Grocer

COME TO TOWN.

I take pleasure in announcing that I have purchased the Grocery and Provision Business, lately carried on by Mr. W. J. HALL, in the well-known and long established premises at

No. 355 George St., Burnham's Block.

The present stock, which has been well bought, and is in first-class condition, will be replenished with a more complete assortment of FAMILY GROCERIES, PROVISIONS and everything in the culinary line.

Also PRIME SUGAR CURED HAM, BACON, PORK, FLOUR, EGGS, BUTTER, &c. In every case the best goods will be bought, then we know what we are selling. If there are two qualities we will always sell the better.

My business will be conducted on the CASH principle—buying for cash and selling for cash—which is the only way to get and to give the best values and lowest prices. My motto will be "Small Profits for Cash."

All I ask is a call from my old friends in the country, as well as my new friends in town, and as many more as may favour me with their custom. I mean business. I am here to stay. I mean to grow.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Work of the Women's Missionary Society —The Epworth League.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 14.—At the general Methodist conference yesterday Mrs. Gooderham, president, and Mrs. Strachan, secretary of the Women's Missionary Society, received a cordial reception. Mrs. Strachan read the report of the society. There are in connection with the society 537 auxiliaries, 12,486 annual members and 6,640 young people in bands and mission circles. Their work covered missions in Japan, China, the Indians in the Northwest and Chinese on the Pacific coast.

The report on the general superintendency and general conference fund showed receipts $36,363.89, expenditures $27,904.78. Annual conferences were urged to raise 20 per cent. more than they have been doing during the last quadrennial and thus meet the deficit.

Rev. A. C. Courtice, of Kingston, reported for the Sabbath Observance Committee. Bicycle riding for pleasure on Sunday, the report declared, was a growing evil, resorted to by large numbers who were unmindful of the House of God. The committee urged ministers and members to draw away their young people from this practice and asked those who used bicycles to be careful of their example.

Sunday parades with bands, Sunday funerals and railway and steamboat travel on Sunday should be discouraged and gratitude was expressed to God for the street railway issue in Toronto.

Concluding, the committee was glad the conference had met in a city where no Sunday street cars were proposed, where Sunday funerals were reduced to a minimum, where Sunday newspapers were foreigners, where the attempt at Sunday pleasure excursions on the river was suppressed by the city council and where the temples of worship were numerous and well attended.

The committee on general superintendency reported in favor of one superintendent. Dr. Burns submitted a report favorable to church union and speaking hopefully of the future. A committee was appointed to continue negotiations. A copy of the report will be sent to the Presbyterian General Assembly and to the Baptist and Congregational missionary societies.

After a lengthy discussion the motion to redistribute the conference in Ontario and Quebec into four conferences was defeated by 93 to 100.

A lengthy and spirited discussion arose over the motion to make the name of the Young People's Society "The Epworth League of Christian Endeavor," but an amendment to make it simply "Epworth League" was carried.

JOURNEYED ON A BIKE.

An American Takes a Long Ride From Washington to Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—R. B. Grubbs, of the United States Department of Agriculture and a member of the L. A. W., has just completed a journey from Washington to Montreal by wheel. Mr. Grubbs left Washington on September 1 and made a time run to Philadelphia of 163 miles in 14 hours 30 minutes. Having strained his back, he took the train for New York, as he had to complete the journey in a certain time and could not lay over to recuperate. He took the boat from New York to Bridgeport, Conn., and on arriving again took the wheel and rode to New London. Leaving there early on Wednesday morning, he arrived at Narragansett Pier, Conn., at 3 15 the same day; thence to Boston. From Boston he went to Portland, Me., and from Portland Mr. Grubbs passed through the White Mountains of New Hampshire. He passed through St. Johnsbury, Hyde Park and West Berkshire, crossing the Canadian line at 18 minutes past 4 on Tuesday, 11th inst., and arrived in this city on Wednesday, having completed the distance in twelve days, counting the stops, which is by no means slow traveling considering the route Mr. Grubbs took. He will, on returning, have done 1,400 miles on a wheel and expects to complete it in twenty days.

Twelve Horses Burned to Death.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 14.—Yesterday morning fire destroyed L. Taylor's livery stable, Dalhousie street. Twelve horses were burned to death. A quantity of harness and some buggies were lost. Two stablemen sleeping in the building were rescued with much difficulty. The fire spread to the adjoining building, occupied by Perley & Secord as a carriage repository and warehouse. The roof of this building was also destroyed. G. N. Mann, painter, occupied a portion of the building destroyed. He lost some cutters and buggies which he was painting. Perley & Secord's loss on building and block about $4,000. Building insured for $1,500 in Waterloo Mutual. Stock not insured. Taylor's loss not known; insured for $1,400.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success.

GENTLEMEN,—I have used your Yellow Oil and have found it unequalled for burns, prains, scalds, rheumatism, croup and colds. All who use it recommend it.
MRS. HIGHT, Montreal, Que.

Port Hope, Feb. 14th, 1894.

DEAR SIRS,—This is to certify that my hair began to fall out when I was about 18 years of age. I at once commenced the use of hair tonics, etc., with the result that I kept on losing my hair, until at about 25 years of age, I had become quite bald and had concluded to buy a "wig." Just at that time I came across your "HAIRENE," and began its use. Now, before I had used one bottle I could see a decided change for the better, inasmuch as a new growth of hair appeared quite distinctly. By continuing its use my hair has improved greatly, and I take great pleasure in stating that after quite an extended experience in the drug trade, your "HAIRENE" is the only remedy I know of that really has produced a healthy scalp, and a growth of hair.
Yours truly,
J. B. BURNHAM.

SIRS,—My baby was very bad with summer complaint, and I thought he would die, until I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. With the first dose I noticed a change for the better, and now he is cured, and fat and healthy.

THE HOUSEHOLD

HOUSEKEEPING ACCOUNTS.

Advantages Derived from Keeping Them Well—An Expense Book.

The woman who is going to grow rich is she who keeps an expense account religiously and who cultivates assiduously the habit of putting away money in a savings bank. To deposit money merely for the sake of having a bank account and a fascinating little checkbook does not in itself help towards accumulating a fortune. Indeed, there are those who find that the possession of a checkbook is a temptation to extravagance. They cannot persuade themselves that merely signing their names to a bit of paper is equivalent to disposing of a sum of money. But the savings bank account has a different effect. The woman who starts such a one takes a pleasure in adding to her hoard. One of her delights becomes the computing of interest, and only dire necessity can induce her to withdraw her little pile.

The expense account book should be a substantial, sensible affair, not a leather-bound volume, almost small enough to tuck into one's glove. It should be ruled horizontally and on the left hand side of the page there should be a space ruled off vertically wide enough to contain dates. On the right hand side two spaces each, about an inch square, should contain the dollar and cents record. The wide intervening space on the left hand page should contain the names of the sources from which money is received, and the same space on the opposite side should be devoted to telling where the money is spent. All these spaces should be large enough to allow of large, legible writing.

An account book is extremely valuable to those wives whose husbands have the cheerful habit of inquiring what has become of sundry dimes and quarters. It also teaches frugality. The woman who has just written down in cold black and white what she has spent during the day is much less likely to spend as large a sum the next day than the woman who trusts all her accounts to the tablets of her memory. As a record, also, the account book is invaluable. There are times when it is really necessary or, at least, desirable, to know when one last bought a pair of boots or how much one gave to such and such a charity. The properly kept account book furnishes an immediate answer to these and all similar questions.

It is not necessary for the average woman, whose business dealings are usually limited, to learn double-entry book-keeping before beginning an account book. She will need nothing but method and a knowledge of arithmetic to make a success of it. She will find it impossible to treat an account book like a diary and "write it up" whenever she has leisure. She will have to put down her expenditures every day. Even if she could remember all the details of her spending for several days at a time—which she absolutely cannot—it would be a waste of mental strength to do it. Once a week she should balance her accounts. At first it will be her bitter experience that the income side and the expenditure side will not balance. She will find sums ranging from six cents to as many dollars unaccounted for. But the longer she persists in keeping the accounts the more nearly balanced the columns will grow, until finally there will come a happy day when they will balance exactly.

Their Origin.

The words "starboard" and "larboard," as used in the nautical vocabulary, are from the Italian words questa borda, meaning "this side," and quella borda, meaning "that side." Abbreviated these two phrases appear as sta borda and la borda, and by the corruption of languages were soon rendered "starboard" and "larboard" by the English sailors. Years ago an order of the admiralty discontinued the use of "larboard" and substituted "port."

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an-have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose topay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Prof. Alexander's Popular Lectures.

Interest, in the course of lectures now being delivered at the Opera House, by Professor Alexander, seems to be general in town. Over five hundred people turned out to hear the last night's lecture, on "Good and Bad Heads," although the weather was anything but promising, and they were amply repaid for their trouble. The Professor has during his short stay in Peterborough proved himself an able man and eminently capable of dealing in a popular way with a subject that is in general very little understood. The humor which he gives to his lectures makes them entertaining without detracting from their instructiveness. His subject to-night will be "Phrenology in the home," at the conclusion of which, he will give a blindfold test examination. The subjects of last night's examination were Messrs. John Nugent, Thos. Dunn, Fred. Mitchell and Jno. Cranfield.

Bears are Plentiful.

Bears seem to be quite numerous in this part of the country this fall. Last Saturday while W. W. Ellis was out hunting in the vicinity of Deer Lake, Belmont, he saw a drove of seven of these carnivorous animals coming towards him. Mr. Ellis had his dog along, but only had three cartridges left. As the bears approached the canine weakened at the sight of such a formidable foe and evinced a desire to humble himself at his master's feet, so Mr. Ellis thought discretion the better part of valor and ascended a small leaning tree from where he made good use of his ammunition and laid low two of the bears. The other five soon left for more congenial quarters—and no doubt Mr. Ellis did likewise. On the previous Wednesday Moses Mix shot a big fellow out in that vicinity, and on the following Thursday Wm. Kellale and Barrick Hubble, with the assistance of a dog, chased a big one up a tree on Mr. Ackerman's place, east of Havelock. The boys went for assistance but when they returned bruin had taken his flight.—Register.

Secured the First Prize.

In the list of entries and prizes in the dairy products class at the Toronto Exhibition it is noticed that Mr. F. E. Kline, of Lakefield cheese factory, carried off first prize for the five best cheese boxes for shipping purposes. These boxes were manufactured by Mr. Samuel Bickell, proprietor of the Ashburnham cheese box factory, and is another proof of the reputation his celebrated make of boxes have achieved in the district and province.

A Sudden Death.

Ethel Maud, only daughter of Mr. Richard Foster, aged 12 years, died very suddenly at her father's residence at 3 o'clock this morning. Yesterday the child complained of a slight headache, but nothing was thought of it until late in the evening, when Dr. Clarke was summoned. The doctor was of the opinion that the illness was nothing serious, but the little girl suddenly grew worse, and died a few hours after his visit. The cause of death is supposed to have been the rupture of a blood vessel in the head. The young girl attended the South Ward School, and was a general favourite among her classmates. The funeral takes place Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Hard on the Romantic One.

A very romantic young man has been in the habit of calling on a young lady who lives in the outlying districts of the town. His calls have had such interrupted frequency that the young lady's parents thought they savoured of tautology. The other evening he of the romantic mind proposed that they go for a walk — meaning, of course, himself and the young woman. After speaking of the glories of the luscious moon, and the wonders of the brisk night air, etc., he persuaded her. She said that she knew a fence where he could sit and talk to her. He was in the highest state of maudlin sentiment when they got there, and, Heaven knows, what he was going to say, when he took a stern, earnest look at the fence — and gasped. The reason was because the fence was made of a peculiar cruel kind of barb-wire. This was too much for the young man's romanticism. He fled.

Big Snap in Cloth-Bound Books.

Just received at the Peterborough Bookstore direct from the United States Book Company, New York, 800 volumes of cloth bound books, purchased just in the nick of time at rock bottom prices. We have decided to put the entire lot on our bargain counter and will commence on Saturday to run them off at the following emaciated prices for such handsomely cloth bound books:

Books worth 50c for 25c.
Books worth 75c for 50c, gilt edge.
Books worth $1.00 for 75c.

Do not fail to have a chance at these rare bargains. Come in early on Saturday and look over the popular titles and authors. The above phenomenal prices should clear the stock out rapidly, as this is the first time this fine issue of books have been offered at so small a price. — A. H. STRATTON & Co.

A Peculiar Leak.

Yesterday morning a leak developed in the 10 inch main pipe of the Waterworks Company, on George street, opposite the Hubrestaurant, 334 George street. Mr. Pipelayer Martin was apprized of the fact at 8 o'clock by Mr. J. S. Knapman, of the Bell Telephone Company, and at 9 o'clock he had a gang of men hard at work repairing the damage. The cause of the leak was a peculiar one. An old well or tank had at one time been situated on the line of the main, and the filling of the well having settled immediately below the joint, the joint and pipes followed it and drew out the lead caulking and produced the leak. The leak was repaired and water turned on at 6 o'clock. It remains for some old timer to explain the presence of a tank on the street, 23 ft. 5 inches from the street line. It was probably an old tank, used for fire purposes, in the days of the old hand engine fire brigade. The promptness with which the leak was stopped and the service renewed is a credit to the company.

IT PUTS A GIRDLE ROUND THE COUNTY.

Every one is busy making a big effort to have the 7,000 issue of the special Fall Edition of the EXAMINER out by the 20th of this month.

Advertisers who have arranged for space will help us out with it by handing in their copy as early as possible.

It goes by mail to every post-office in the county, and there is a copy for every householder on the voters' list—town and county.

A FADED PICTURE.

The following poem was written under adverse circumstances in Peterborough this morning (Sept. 14th) and published by request:

In an ancient church in the city of Rome,
Far up in the grand and the lofty dome,
The master hand of an artist had traced
A picture so grand that should not be defaced;

But the sun that shone in from the to rid blinds
Had faded the colours, marred the design,
And the dust like a veil gathered thick and fast,
And hid from the present the work of the past.

And the worshipping people who gathered below,
And the priests who were wont to come and to go
Never dreamed as they gazed on the wall so high
Of the beautiful pictures that hidden lie.

But a painter one day enwrapt in thought,
On the dusty walls an outline caught,
And he guessed that under the dust and mould
Lay the work of some of the artists old.

And when he had brushed the dut away,
And freely let in the light of God's day,
The magic brush in his skilful hand,
Retraced into life a picture so grand

That it flooded the chapel with a radiance bright,
Till it almost seemed like a holy light;
And the people delighted prayed and wept
To think that the walls such a secret had kept.

So all around in this world of ours,
There are beautiful characters, fairer than flowers,
By evil influence marred and specked,
Are hidden away under cold neglect;

That need but the touch of a helping hand,
Or a pitying love that can understand,
To brush the dust and the mould away,
And raise to the life of a heavenly day.

SPRIGHTLY SUMMER SPORTS.

On the Lacrosse Field, the Crease and the Diamond—Triple A. Topics—The Bicycle and Football.

LACROSSE.

The visit of the Shamrock lacrosse club to Toronto was productive of a complete settlement of Toronto's protest against Tansey. Although unable to play on the team, Tansey went along and Hugh McConaghy, who claimed to have seen Tansey playing in Port Hope, was invited to identify his man. As soon as McConaghy saw the Shamrock home fielder, he admitted that he was in error and apologized both to Tansey and the Shamrock Club for the annoyance to which he had put them. The man, who claimed to be Tansey while in Port Hope, evidently did it by way of a joke, and McConaghy took him seriously.

The Orillia Times, in referring to Wednesday's lacrosse match, says:—"The match was free from rough play, and the Peterborough team used the Orillia boys most handsomely. On their return home, last evening, half the town met them at the station, accompanied by the band and hundreds of torches and escorted them up street."

THE MINISTER OF TRADE AND COMMERCE.

Will Open the Peterborough Central Exhibition on Sept. 25th.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce, will formally open the Central Exhibition here on Sept. 25th. Mr. Bowell is a gentleman of considerable experience in trade matters and agriculture, both in Canada and other possessions of Great Britain. A fitting reception will be tendered him on his arrival in town.

NOTABLE MEN.

Dress Goods Display To-Night.

The ladies are invited to turn out in full force to night to witness the dress goods opening at Robt. Hall's, 385 George street. The display will be held in the commodious millinery rooms, and if ladies want to know what is newest in the realm of dress goods, this unusual opportunity should not be forgotten. This is the second season this firm has held a dress goods opening, and the success of the first justifies a continuance of the event. To-night and Saturday evenings the beautiful display may also be seen. Store open each evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. Ladies are cordially welcome. 3d61

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A REPLY TO MR. LANCASTER.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—By your issue of the 31st of August I see that Mr. Lancaster is recovering again. My last letter knocked the innocent duck so silly that it has taken gentle nursing for five or six weeks to get him on his legs again, but even if his legs are getting a little stronger both his backbone and intellect are still very weak, or he would never have been persuaded to sign such a letter. If Mr. Lancaster will just have patience, and wait until he is thoroughly recovered, and then carefully read my letters, he will have no difficulty in deciding that it was his conduct and the action of other men like him, that caused me to resign the Patron nomination. My reasons were so fully given in my previous letters that every intelligent man in the riding understands them, and it would only be wasting time to endeavour to get Mr. Lancaster to acknowledge publicly what he knows in his heart to be true. As to meeting Mr. Lancaster to make an affidavit to certain statements referred to in his letter, I would say that the electors of East Peterborough have already passed judgment on our veracity by snowing Mr. Lancaster under, and giving Mr. Blezard the largest majority he ever had. I am not surprised that two months campaigning in the company Mr. Lancaster had to keep has made him doubtful even of his own truthfulness, but, even as a respect for his own family and his position as superintendent of a Sunday school, should prevent him from exposing his double dealing in the manner he does. If some of Mr. Lancaster's friends had taken his Tory heeler at the commencement of the campaign, given him a dose of his own medicine, and burned his tongue with a hot iron it would have been telling Mr. Lancaster many voters, and I don't think the society for the prevention of cruelty to children would have interfered. If ever there was any doubt as to the character of the man, who was asking for the support of the electors of East Peterborough, it has been removed by his cowardly attack upon Mr. Crowe, the Government Inspector, in reference to his speech in Chandos, referring to the ladies of that township. Perhaps Mr. Lancaster was too much overcome by the perfume of liquor in the conveyance he had, while travelling through the North country, (no person would ever accuse such a champion of temperance of taking any liquor except through the nose) to be in a position to remember what took place at the meeting he refers to. If he remembers anything about the meeting, he must know that when Mr. Sawers attempted to put that construction on Mr. Crowe's speech, he was very sharply taken to task. There was some excuse for Mr. Sawers, for there was no doubt he was suffering from the severe castigation he received at Mr. Crowe's hands at the Indian River meeting, where Mr. Crowe, a plain farmer, held Mr. Sawers, the great legal light of Peterborough, up to the ridicule and amusement of a large audience for over an hour. The darkest cloud has always a little silver lining, and if Mr. Lancaster's political campaigning has so clouded his intellect that he is making himself the laughing stock of East Peterborough, he can at least have the satisfaction of knowing that a portion of the money put into East Peterborough to defeat Mr. Blezard, if not used for the purpose it was intended, went to a better purpose, for it enabled one of Mr. Lancaster's champions, who has been living on the liberality of Liberals in the neighbourhood of Keene, to pay some of his honest debts. I understand, a prominent Tory campaigner, who has been visiting this riding since the election to obtain information as to why Mr. Blezard's majority increased about four hundred after all the money sent from headquarters to defeat him, has recommended that in future campaigns three of Mr. Lancaster's orators viz., the great legal light, the medical gentleman (?) with the large practice and the farmer who carried the picture of the tiger and looked more like as if he were suffering from tuberculosis than the celebrated calf with a cough he delighted so much to talk about, be placed in a cellar and one of Toronto's largest policemen to sit on the trap door until the election is over.

Trusting this will be the last time I will have to trouble you for space to reply to any of Mr. Lancaster's epistles, as life is too short to waste time on such a man, and thanking you for your past kindness, I remain

Yours truly,
WM. QUINN.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, Sept. 14th.

Three boys were charged at the Police Court this morning with breaking the panel of a door of a resident of the South Ward Wednesday evening. They were discharged.

A sailor named John Fraser was charged by Wm. H. Parish with stealing a hat and brown overcoat from the Southern House last night. The prisoner stated he had purchased the hat from a machinist who was working his way through to Boston and who was out of money and in hard luck, and he further stated he knew nothing about the overcoat. The magistrate after hearing the evidence discharged the prisoner.

AN ART LOAN EXHIBIT

In Connection With the Central Exhibition.

Mr. D. A. Shaw, the artist, has been placed in charge of the artistic arrangements of the Art Loan Exhibit, which it is proposed to hold in connection with the coming Central Exhibition. After conferring with the directors, Mr. Shaw has communicated with the leading artists of the Ontario Society of Artists, who together with their best pictures are at present in Toronto, and, with one or two exceptions they have promised to send their best pictures. If the arrangements for the proposed exhibit can be effected—and of this there seems to be little doubt—it will constitute one of the most attractive features of the show, especially in view of the certain possibility of securing also Delorme's great painting, "the Blacksmith," for the exhibit, which remarkably strong painting was exhibited to and admired by tens of thousands at the Industrial, Toronto. This picture has been pronounced by the most competent art critics to be "the greatest of all modern paintings." In connection with the proposed art loan exhibition, it might be suggested, that those of our citizens, who are fortunate in possessing good paintings, oil or water colours, could greatly promote the interests of art and assist in cultivating and refining the public taste in the direction of a higher appreciation of the nobler achievements of art, by contributing any good pictures they may be possessed of. There is absolutely no risk in placing pictures in the hands of the hanging committee.

It is remarked—and perhaps, not unjustly in the way of reproach—that, in the matter of art, Peterborough's enterprise falls far behind its position in other respects. And the proposed art loan exhibition is a most favourable opportunity of effecting the removal, or at least greatly weakening, the force of such a reproach.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Central Exhibition at the Morgan House on Monday evening to discuss and decide upon the details of the proposed art loan exhibit. It is hoped that the directors will adopt liberal views of the proposal. They have shown commendable enterprise in providing other attractions, but while these are very proper from the popular standpoint as amusements, yet the provision of a higher grade of entertainment, such as the art loan exhibit would afford, would be a graceful concession to demands of a higher character.

It is not proposed to confine the exhibit exclusively to oil paintings and water colours, but other articles in the way of statuary, bronzes, the higher grades of the ceramic art and art bric-a-brac, would make the collection most varied, entertaining and instructive. Any of our citizens willing to co-operate would greatly facilitate the project by communicating, if possible, with Mr. Shaw, or the directors at the meeting on Monday night next. The local loyalty of our citizens and their anxiety for the credit of the town, should secure the active co-operation of all those who are in a position to promote the success of the Central Art Loan Exhibition.

Safe, Sure and Painless.

What a world of meaning this statement embodies. Just what you are looking for, is it not? Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor—the great sure-pop corn cure—acts in this way. It makes no sore spots; safe, acts speedily and with certainty; sure and mildly, without inflaming the parts; painlessly. Do not be imposed upon by substitutes.

Drug Store,
384 George St., Peterborough

From the Crown of the Head To the Soles of the Feet
WE COVER ALL.

It is one thing to cover up your body, Robinson Crusoe like, with goat skins and tanned palm leaves. It is quite another thing to get well-fitting, neatly-made Suits, Boots and Hats of the latest designs, without paying an exhorbitant price.

MEN'S HATS!
MEN'S SHOES!
MEN'S CLOTHING!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR!
MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

This store appeals to Men—and to Women also. The field of trade is widening continually. Instead of confining ourselves to Clothing, we have, for the fall of 1894, brought together under one roof such things for men's wear as they have shown themselves to want.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wanamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $2.65.
On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 35c.
On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.
On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.
Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

On the best $3 Men's Selected Shell Cordovan Balmoral or Congress, with Dunraven toe, we take off 40c., and ask only $2 60.
On the best Men's Fine Waxed Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1 25.
On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.20.
On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 63c., and ask only $1.98.
Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

WOMEN IN SOCIETY

—often need the strengthening support of a general tonic and nervine. They're tired out or "run-down." This is frequently the result of "weakness," and it makes life miserable.

Are you weak, nervous, or ailing? Then Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription brings you special help. It's a remedy prescribed for delicate women, for all the derangements, disorders, and diseases of the sex.

For regulating and promoting all the proper functions, building up and invigorating the entire system, and restoring health and strength, this is the only remedy that can be guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money will be refunded.

For every case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy agree to pay $500 in cash. You're cured by its mild, soothing, cleansing, and healing properties, or you're paid.

ERRORS IN PRONUNCIATION

Common Mistakes Made in Placing the Accent and as to Vowels.

Why should so many persons say spontanighity instead of spontaneeity?, says the New York Advertiser. There is no excuse for saying ap-pricot for a-pricot, or eck-quable for ec-quable, or Er-rin for E-rin, or asafidity for asafetida, or Ven-zu-ee la for Ven-e-zu-el a, or Adon-is (short o) for Ado-nis (long o), or Dian-na for Di-a-na (long a), or mattron or pat-tron, and so on. It is just as easy to accent the last syllable as the first in "pretense." Some persons call bomb "boom" instead of "bum," because the spelling seems to warrant it, but when they call tedious "tejus" they have no such apparent warrant. In the west and south the "i" in isolate is made long and nearly everywhere educated persons say truck-u-lent for true-cu-lent, a men-able for a-meen able, lever for lee-ver, and give the sound of "u" in up instead of "i" in it in such words as squirrel, stirrup and sirup. There are many words in which the accent is persistently misplaced by persons who know better. It is common to put the accent on the second syllable of peremptory instead of on the first, on the first instead of the second syllable of coquetry, on the second instead of the first syllable of exemplary, etc. Many persons place the accent on the first instead of the second syllable of inquiry and do not give the 'i' its proper length. The accent in gladiolus should be on the second syllable, with a long 'i,' but many place it on the third. They say hy-meen-e-al, with the accent on the 'meen,' when it should be hy-mee ne-al, with the accent on the 'mee.' The exasperating thing about it is that some of these persons who are so careless about common words take utmost pains to learn how to pronounce Bouguereau, and are convulsed when they hear anybody mispronounce Chopin and Beethoven. Recently they broke out with vawz for vase, though the weight of authority is against it. Knowles alone allows it. Webster authorizes only one pronunciation, the long 'a' and hissing 's.' Worcester prefers the 'z' sound, but not the 'aw.' The improper use of the sounds of 'a' is most serious. Those who have the courage to use the Italian or the modified Italian 'a' often use it unlawfully, as in cawn't rawther. The proper sounds of 'o,' particularly in God, dog and some other words, are widely ignored. The common usage is wrong in the case of the terminal 'ine' in the name of chemicals, as morphine, chlorine, iodine, anilene, benzine, etc., all of which should be pronounced as though there were no final 'e.' It is morphin, not morpheen.

NOTES OF THE FOOTLIGHTS.

Peppa and Lotta Invernizzi are delighting Paris with dances in ancient style.

Of the twenty girls who sang recently at a Marchesi concert in Paris seven were Americans.

Accounts of a recent sale of music hall shares in London show a general depreciation in values.

Thirteen members of the English Cinderella company have secured engagements in this country.

An Amsterdam choir of twenty singers recently gave a concert in London to an audience of thirty-four.

A syndicate of capitalists is to build a $1,000,000 theatre near the corner of Monroe and Clark streets, Chicago.

Miss Frances E. Willard suggests a Christian theatre—one conducted in a way that religious papers could advertise and recommend.

Tired, Weak, Nervous.

Means impure blood, and overwork or too much strain on brain and body. The only way to cure is to feed the nerves on pure blood. Thousands of people certify that the best blood purifier, the best nerve tonic and strength builder is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What it has done for others it will also do for you—Hood's Cures.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring peristaltic action of the alimentary canal.

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhœa, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and now I can thank this excellent remedy for saving my life. MRS. S. KELLETT, Minden Ont.

A Two Million Dollar Comma.

"Oh, punctuation marks are not of much account. They're just put in for looks. I don't want to bother about them."

Such are the sentiments of a good many schoolboys with regard to the branch of letter and composition writing. Others, again, appear to think that all that is necessary is to put in a comma here and there at haphazard, to set off "the looks of the thing." How risky this way of doing things is may be learned from the following incident:

It seems that some twenty years ago, when the United States, by Congress, was making a tariff bill, one of the sections enumerated what articles should be admitted free of duty. Among the articles specified were "all foreign fruit-plants," etc., meaning plants imported for transplanting, propogation or experiment.

The enrolling clerk in copying the bill accidentally changed the hyphen in the compound word "fruit-plants" to a comma, making it read "all foreign fruit, plants," etc. As a result of this simple mistake, for a year, or until Congress could remedy the blunder—all the oranges, lemons, bananas, grapes and other foreign fruits were admitted free of duty. This little mistake, which anyone would be liable to make, yet could have avoided by carefulness, cost the government not less than $2,000,000. A pretty costly comma, that.—Boston Advertiser.

Seventy Miles an Hour.

A speed of seventy miles an hour is equivalent to thirty-five yards per second or thirty five yards between two beats of a common eight-day clock.

All objects near the eye of a passenger journeying at this rate will pass by his eye in the thirty-fifth part of a second, according to Dr. Lardner, and if thirty-five stakes were erected at the side of a line, a yard apart, they would not be distinguishable one from another, and if painted red they would appear collectively as a continuous flash of red color.

If two trains with the above velocity passed each other the relative speed would be seventy yards per second, and if one of the trains were seventy yards long it would flash by in a single second. Supposing the locomotive which draws such a train to have driving wheels seven feet in diameter, these wheels would revolve five times a second, and the pistons would move in the cylinders ten times in a second, and as there are two pistons which act alternately there would be twelve puffs or escapes of steam in a second.

Such a locomotive speed is nearly equal to one-fourth of that of a cannon shot.

To Escape Mosquitoes.

Here is a recipe which over-the-lake fishermen may find useful to avoid the nuisance of the mosquitoes, which make fishing in the bayous sometimes impossible. Three ounces of pine tar, two ounces of castor oil and one ounce of oil of pennyroyal, simmered together over a fire, make a sort of varnish, which when spread liberally over the skin forms a glaze that mosquitoes cannot do business through. The glaze should not be washed off while the insects are around. The mixture does no harm to the skin, and will heal the bites already received. The New Orleans Picayune says a two-ounce vial of it will furnish a man with a sort of armor-plate for several weeks, and enable him to enjoy himself in the worst mosquito-infested hole in creation.

In all that goes to strengthen and build up the system weakened by disease and pain, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the superior medicine. It neutralizes the poisons left in the system after diphtheria and scarlet fever, and restores the debilitated patient to perfect health and vigor.

DEAR SIRS,—I have been using Burdock Bitters for Boils and skin diseases, and I find it very good as a cure. As a dyspepsia cure I have also found it unequalled. MRS. SARAH HAMILTON, Montreal, Que.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

END OF THE CENTURY.

MRS. E. LYNN LINTON WRITES ON ITS MORALS AND WAYS.

True Feminine Scolding—Are Old-Time Restrictions Dying Away, and Is Immorality a Right of the Individual?—Demands of the Revolted Daughters.

In civilized countries, men have not generally gloried in their offenses against the moral law. When they tripped they did not call a crowd to witness to their fall, nor vaunt it as a better way of going than upright walking. Still less, keeping themselves clean, did they induce others to besmear themselves with mud; nor did they endeavor to show that this mud was a beautiful and wholesome substance, and that to besmear with filth was much the same thing as to crown with roses and be diademed with rubies.

Respect for virtue has hitherto obtained even among the backsliders of those countries where society was founded on certain well-defined ethical principles. And if this has been true of the backsliders, how much more then of the practically innocent. It is different with us English folk at the end of the nineteenth century—we of this self-laudatory fin-de-siecle, who openly advocate immorality as among the rights of the individual, and as openly deride those old-time restrictions by which social order and purity have hitherto been maintained.

Turn where we will, not one of the former landmarks dividing the permissible from the forbidden, has been left in its place. In the home and in the streets, in the press and in Parliament, are preached doctrines which upset all existing arrangements and introduce a new rendering of the Decalogue. The virtues once made obligatory are now nowhere in the field. The mutual interdependence of the various members of the community and the disciplined interaction, which makes the general good of more account than individual desire, have given place to an unchecked egotism which destroys the very root-work of organization.

The good of the community counts for nothing at all, and the desire of the individual sweeps the board. The due subordination of inferiority—the frightful influence of education and the authority of knowledge—the headship of man and the fitting functions of women—the grace of patience—the modesty of humility—the reticence of maidenhood—the courage of self-restraint—respect for the law—loyalty and patriotism—all forms of obedience in short, have vanished from our code. Instead of that self-respect in self-control which used to be the virtue practiced by pagans like Marcus Aurelius and Christians like Sidney and More and Melancthon, we hear only of the right of the individual to live such kind of life as he shall deem best for his own happiness.

This upsetting of old principles gives a phantasmagoric aspect to life, at once bewildering and distressing. Is there really no such thing as elemental morality—no difference between right and wrong, for the simple reason that nothing is right but as we make it—nothing wrong if we desire it? Are the virtues which Christ taught mere scare-crows put up by age and authority the better to subdue youth and insubordination? or were they the expression of the Higher Law of life and the truer wisdom?

Filial obedience, for example, is there such an obligation, or are parents the enemies and tyrants of their children, who are therefore in the right to defy and oppose them? Is it true that the reason why grandfathers and grandsons are generally good friends is, because they have a common enemy in the son of the one and the father of the other? As for mothers and daughters we have it on the testimony of one who speaks with authority—the former are unsympathetic, restrictive, coercive beyond reason, and the latter are therefore justified in their rebelliousness — are in right when they demand the dangerous liberties embodied in the symbol of the latch key.

The purity of maidenhood, bound up in its ignorance of certain forms and facts of life, which once all good men and motherly women regarded as a girl's most precious possession, of which only devils would rob her, that purity in ignorance has come to be a broken idol, open the flood-gates of moral filth to the young girl, hitherto guarded from defilement. Let her mind attune itself to those key-notes of impurity which the modern woman writes for the enlightment of the modern girl—let her dabble in the obscene wreckage which our young men elaborate out of the depths of their own diseased imaginations.

Let the grand distinction between the sheltered maiden and the wastrel of the streets be broken down; and under the delusive plea of the "protective power of knowledge" let the lady-girl learn betimes all that the gutter-bred has mastered from the beginning. In the apotheosis of immorality now fashionable, this mental defloration has its own place of honor; and the premature initiation is one of the rays of the infernal aureole about the head of the modern woman.

Yet where does the balance of practical immorality lie?—with the conscious, free and instructed wastrel or with the sheltered and ignorant lady-girl? Ask a school-mistress what is the effect of a theoretically "knowing" girl on the minds of the ignorant—one academically instructed in certain things which some among us now say all the unmarried should understand. Her answer ought to settle that question; for there is not a capable and understanding woman in all England who has to deal with girls, who does not know the infinite evil of this theoretical initiation. Instead of protection it is incitement, filling the mind with thoughts and speculations destructive of all that it is most desirable to preserve.

Meanwhile, things are disheartening enough for those who care for the good of their country, the honor of the English name, and the general well-being of society. For, summing up the situation, what do we find? The forces of disorder strong and bold, face to face with a government weak, timid, and truckling. An outbreak of feminine impatience of restraint which can but lead to general dissoluteness and a lowering of the moral standard in all that relates to purity of mind and modesty of manners. Together with this outbreak, in some sense intelligible enough in the girl, we have the open advocacy of older women, who, themselves mothers, should be the careful guardians of those maidenly characteristics which hitherto all ages have agreed to reverence and require.

Instead of this, it is they who formulate the demands of the Revolted Daughters, who reof the right to be acquainted with vice in the chief item.—E. Lynn Linton, in Philadelphia Press.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—bleeding and inflamed, excessive moisture is created. Females are peculiarly afflicted from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and pruritus. Dr. Chase's Ointment at once relieves and cures. Thousands of cases of every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately relieved and quickly cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

Mysteries of the HUMAN BRAIN!

The latest discovery in the scientific world is that nerve centres located in or near the base of the brain control all the organs of the body, and when these nerve centres are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid, or nerve force, are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralysed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centres will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force; that is, when a nerve centre is deranged or in any way diseased it is impossible for it to supply the same quantity of nerve force as when in a healthful condition; hence the organs which depend upon it for nerve force suffer, and are unable to properly perform their work, and as a result disease makes its appearance.

At least two-thirds of our chronic diseases and ailments are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centres at the base of the brain, and not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organs and not the nerve centres, which are the cause of the trouble.

The wonderful cures wrought by the Great South American Nervine Tonic are due alone to the fact that this remedy is based upon the foregoing principle. It cures by rebuilding and strengthening the nerve centres, and thereby increasing the supply of nerve force or nervous energy.

This remedy has been found of infinite value for the cure of Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Paroxysms, Sleeplessness, Forgetfulness, Mental Despondency, Nervousness of Females, Hot Flashes, Sick Headache, Heart Disease. The first bottle will convince anyone that a cure is certain.

South American Nervine is without doubt the greatest remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all Chronic Stomach Troubles, because it acts through the nerves. It gives relief in one day, and absolutely effects a permanent cure in every instance. Do not allow your prejudices, or the prejudices of others, to keep you from using this health-giving remedy. It is based on the result of years of scientific research and study. A single bottle will convince the most incredulous.

CHINESE EDUCATION.

They Are All Students so Far as Their Light Goes.

In no country is education more highly esteemed than in China. The child of the workingman, as a rule, can not hope to get more than a mere smattering. But scattered through the country are numberless families, the members of which for generation after generation are always students, and from whom, as a rule, the officials come. They have no knowledge of any business or trade. They correspond very closely to what are, or used to be, called gentlemen in England, and preserve their position with great tenacity, even when hard pressed by poverty.

Rich parvenues, as a matter of course, engage tutors for their children and in the humblest ranks of life occasionally parents will stint themselves to give an opportunity to some son who has shown marked intelligence at the village school. But neither of these classes compete on an equality with those to whom learning is an hereditary profession. The cultivation and intellectual discipline prevailing in such families give their members a marked advantage over those who get no help of the kind at home, and who must, therefore, depend entirely on what they learn from their paid teachers.

The orthodox scheme of education is entirely concerned with the ancient literature of China. The original works which occupy the student's attention were for the most part written before the literature of either Greece or Rome had reached its prime. But there are commentators belonging to later periods who must be perused with diligence. China has not seen an influx of new races such as have overrun Europe since the days of our classical authors, but, still, from mere lapse of time, the language of the country has greatly changed, and the child beginning his studies cannot without explanation understand a single sentence, even if he has learned to read the words of the lesson which he has before him. The student makes himself acquainted as thoroughly as possible with those classical works. The more he can quote of them the better, but he must master the matter contained in them as well.

He must get to know the different readings and different interpretations of disputed passages, and, finally, he practices himself in prose and verse composition. In prose he carefully preserves the ancient phraseology, never admitting modern words, though there are certain technicalities of style which will prevent his productions from being an exact imitation of the ancient literature. His verses must be in close imitation of the old-time poets. They must follow elaborate rules as to rhythm, and the words must rhyme according to the classical sounds, which are very different from those of to-day.—Nineteenth Century.

Another Voice From Smith.

Smith, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

Sam Murray, Whom the Doctors had Pronounced as Incurable, Still on Deck—Now Acting as Foreman for a Big Lumber Concern.

North Bay, Sept. 3.—Sam Murray's name is one that has often figured in newspaper columns during the past eighteen months because he was cured of paralysis and blood poisoning by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after half a dozen physicians had pronounced him incurable. On the strength of physicians' certificates, Murray was paid his disability claim by the Grand Trunk. Since he was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, he has been accepted as a first-class risk by a leading life insurance company. About a year ago, he got a position as foreman for the big lumber concern of Davidson & Hay, of Toronto, and the fact that he was able to satisfactorily to attend to the trying duties of such a position, is ample evidence of the permanency of his cure.

BETWEEN QUIRINAL AND VATICAN.

A Reconciliation Impossible While the Pope Claims Italian Territory.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Times to-day has this despatch from its Rome correspondent:

"The Ministerial papers endeavor to tone down the rapprochement between the Quirinal and the Vatican. The Vatican organs deny any concession on the part of the government. Both parties are anxious not to wound the feelings of their extreme followers and the Vatican probably is anxious to reassure the French republicans that a thorough reconciliation is impossible while the Pope claims any portion of Italian territory. Nor is it desirable from the Italian point of view, as it would greatly hamper the government's action on several vital questions. But the peril of both church and state arising from anarchism and socialism impels all elements of order to coalesce.

"Crispi made the first advance, thus placing before the clericals the alternative of accepting and thereby leading to the wished for modus vivendi or refusing and thereby placing themselves in an odious light before all Europe. It appears that Vatican adopts the former. Despite the denials of the recognized organs, the creation of the apostolic prefeture of Eurythrea is a concession to the government. It was only when the question of episcopal appointments in Italy was brought to an issue favorable to the Vatican that the propaganda evinced a special concern for the spiritual welfare of Italians in Africa."

Hindoos and Mohammedans Fight.

BOMBAY, Sept. 14.—A serious riot has occurred in the city of Poona, in the Bombay presidency, which may lead to further outbreaks. A congregation of Mohammedans were praying in a mosque, when a procession of Hindoos, accompanied by native bands of music passed on their return from the temple. The Mohammedans became incensed at having their devotions disturbed by the music and sallied out and attacked the Hindoos. The latter were quickly reinforced until they numbered about 4,000. A terrific battle ensued which resulted in the defeat of the Mohammedans. The Hindoos then sacked the mosque and attempted to burn it, but were finally pacified and the building was saved. In the melee one man was killed and a large number were severely hurt.

Cashier May's Irregularities.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—At the meeting of the Bank of England one of the principal shareholders moved an enquiry into the irregularities of the late cashier of the bank, Frank May, especially with his treatment of customers of the bank who lost £250,000 through May. He charged that May had misled customers in many ways. He cited three instances in which May induced customers of the bank to make large investments in Chicago and Great Western bonds, and was proceeding to refer to the case of another client having lost tens of thousands of pounds upon May's advice when Governor Powell interrupted him and replied that the bank had arranged the affair of May. Mr Powell declined to debate the matter and the motion was dropped without being seconded.

The Lawrence Townley Frauds.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Col. Jacques, the representative of Lawrence, the American claimant to the Townley estates, was arraigned in the Bow street Police Court and was again remanded in order to enable the prosecution to adduce American evidences of the prisoner's fraudulent practices. Sir John Bright, the Magistrate, in remanding the prisoner remarked that it was desirable that all the available evidence witnesses should be telegraphed for, as there was do doubt that large sums had been obtained from people in America on the strength of their faith in their claims to this and other estates. Thorough exposure of the case would do a great deal of good and the matter should be sifted to the bottom.

The Revolution in Peru.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—A Lima, Peru, special says: "President Caceres announces that the rebels are being compelled to retreat both in the north and sobth with heavy losses. He asserts that the rebellion is substantially ended, and says that he now intends to settle the financial questions pending. Arrests continue. There are now 150 political prisoners. Many of Caceres' friends urge that war be declared against Ecuador for gross violation of the neutrality treaty. The revolutionists under Morlet and Semirano, brother of Oswaldo Semirano, were defeated at the fords of the Huallaga river. All their arms were seized and their officers shot.

Southampton as a Terminal Port.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—If the company promoting the fast Atlantic line of steamships, and of which Mr. James Huddart is the active agent, accomplishes its purpose and becomes an organized fact, the chances in favor of Southampton being the English terminal port are just now very strong. Its natural advantages as a harbor and its easy distance from London find it many friends among those interested in the new venture.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE CO.
OF CANADA.

From the CANADIAN TRADE REVIEW.

"There is no invidiousness involved in the assertion that no other Canadian company in existence can point to such a record of rapid, substantial and uninterrupted progress and prosperity as that exhibited in the successive annual reports of the Sun Life. . . . Most assuredly are its directors, shareholders and policy holders to be congratulated upon the very flourishing condition of the Company, and especially upon the result of the business of a year which was marked by the prevalence of conditions—the influenza epidemic, for instance—which proved disastrous for so many life companies. And with no less certainty can it be said that the very great progress made by the institution has been mainly due to the able and energetic efforts, guided by the sagacity and prudence which pratical experience alone can bring, of the President and Managing-Director, who has been efficiently assisted by the Secretary. From the contemplation of so successful a past the management may reasonably draw most sanguine anticipations as to the prosperity of the future.

COSGROVE'S ASSAILANT

Henderson, Carney's Pal, Makes an Important Admission.

A THIRD MAN IN THE CASE

Green, a Companion of the Other Two, Told Henderson of Finding Cosgrove in the Shed, and of Having Struck Him—He Will Be Arrested.

CORNWALL, Ont., Sept. 15.—An unexpected light has been thrown on the death of Patrick Cosgrove who was found lying in a coal shed on Water street in this town on Tuesday morning and died the following day.

The adjourned inquest was held in the Music Hall and after the evidence of Wagner and Gravely, who made the post-mortem, had been taken, Carney, alias Dublin, and Henderson were examined.

The two men left Cornwall on Tuesday morning in company with another man named Green to avoid arrest for stealing plums. The previous evening they went to Massena, N.Y., and thence to Waddington. On Thursday afternoon Carney and Henderson crossed to Morristown, leaving Green at Waddington. On landing at Morrisburg they were arrested on the strength of a letter from Constable Crites, of Cornwall, on suspicion of complicity in the death of Cosgrove, to which their sudden disappearance gave color. The two men were brought to Cornwall last evening by Policeman Smith, and were called after the medical men had given evidence.

Carney told how he had spent Monday night, including the stealing of the plums in company with Henderson and Green, and that they had left because the owner of the plums had threatened arrest.

Henderson was then called and corroborated the evidence of Carney, but in telling the story of their journey from Cornwall to Waddington he stated that Green had told them that after they had parted on Monday evening, after stealing the plums, he went into the coal shed, which was near his boarding house, and there saw a man lying down. He stirred him up and asked what he was doing there. The man said he wanted a place to sleep, as he had no money, though he hoped to get a hotelkeeper to keep him.

Green went to bed, but got up and went into the shed again, pretending to be another party. He stirred the man again and received about the same answer as before. He struck him with his fist and the man fell. Green then rifled the man's pockets but he found no money. He then went to bed and next morning went to the shed and saw the man lying there. There were others there, including the doctor, who said the man must have had a bad blow.

Carney was recalled, and at first was unwilling to tell what Green had said about striking Cosgrove, or that he had said anything, but finally made a clean breast of it all. The two stories agreeing in the main, there seems no doubt that Cosgrove came to his death from the blow inflicted by Green.

Steps have been taken to secure Green's arrest.

A Kick Among Welsh Miners.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The majority of the miners in South Wales have cast ballots in favor of giving the mine owners notice that they will be bound no longer by the sliding scale of wages now in force.

An Editor Arrested for Blasphemy.

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—Herr Weidner, editor of the Socialist, has been arrested on a charge of blasphemy. The article on which the charge is based was printed in No. 87 of the Socialist, all copies of which issue were confiscated by the authorities as soon as the matter was brought to their attention. Weidner is charged with lese majesty in having printed a poem entitled "Sic volo sic jubeo" (Thus I will; thus I command.)

"Red Jim" Heard From.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—James, better known as "Red Jim" McDermott, has been heard from again. He has written a letter to the Freeman's Journal of Dublin, in which he claims to have just returned to England from a visit to America and again denies that he had anything to do with the capture by Scotland Yard detectives of Dr. Gallagher and his associates. McDermott's assertion that he has recently revisited America will be news to the Irishmen of New York, as this is the first they have heard of it.

The Scotch Coal Strike.

EDINBURGH, Sept. 15.—Leading delegates to the Scotch miners conference deny the statement that the strike is over. These delegates assert that the majority voted against acceptance of the offers of the masters and decided to take no further action until the conference of the Miners' Federation, which will take place on September 17.

The Prince Under Arrest for Two Months.

SILENCED WITH A CLUB

Joe McLaughlin Was Murdered to Prevent His Giving Evidence.

THE STORY IS FROM GLASGOW

He Was Wanted in Chicago During the Cronin Trial to Support the Evidence of Mrs. Foy—His Body Found in "Cathart Waters."

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Joseph McLaughlin, Mrs. Andrew Foy's brother, is at last solved. He was murdered near Glasgow in February last in order to prevent him from appearing as a witness in support of his sister's startling story during the Cronin trial, and the order for the foul deed, it is asserted, was sent from Chicago.

A week ago an old man, gray-bearded and respectable looking, called at Mrs. Foy's home in Sedgwick court and said he had sorrowful news to tell her. A few days before, he said, an old friend of his in days past in Ireland stopped to see him on his way to the west. He asked about Mrs. Foy, and not desiring to tell the news to her himself, he asked his old friend to do it. He was in Glasgow last winter and knew Joe McLaughlin and his family, and had known Mrs. Foy when she lived there.

Joe, he said, was murdered about February 1 last, and when his body was found in a stream called "the Cathart waters," it was almost too much decomposed to be recognizable. But the identification became positive when a letter with the address of Mrs. Foy was found upon him.

At the spot is a bridge with a very low railing, known as "the half-way bridge." Here, the old man's visitor from Glasgow said, Joe McLaughlin was overtaken one Sunday night, knocked senseless, and beaten with a bludgeon and then thrown into the river. The murder had been committed for some time before the body was found, for notwithstanding the inquiry that was prosecuted in all parts of the British Empire no light whatever was cast upon his sudden and inexplicable disappearance.

The old man's informant, in continuing the story of the murder, said that as soon as the news reached Glasgow that Joe had been sent for to go to Chicago to testify against Coughlin and incidentally against others, plans were formed to prevent him from doing so. Word was sent from Chicago to remove him as a traitor to his country and his race, as he was just as bad as his sister, who was that most infamous thing in the eyes of Irish Nationalists, an "informer." The order was obeyed and Joe McLaughlin was never after seen alive.

Those familiar with the incidents surrounding the late Cronin trial will remember that the friends of the dead doctor had concluded to secure the presence of Joe McLaughlin as a witness. He could not only corroborate in most respects the startling testimony of his sister, Mrs. Foy, but he could, it was believed, materially add to it, for he had some information and had been intrusted with some secrets that she knew nothing about. So the friends of Cronin, with the knowledge of the state, sent word to Joe that he was wanted. Mrs. Foy also wrote to him to come on without delay, as she was in distress and needed his sympathy and protection. About the same time Cronin's friends sent him a passage ticket to Chicago via the Cunard line and some money to pay his expenses on the way. No word in reply to any of these letters and communications was ever received from Joe, nor from that time till the recovery of the body in the dark pool of "Cathart waters" could his relatives or friends find any trace of him.

The Miranda's Sailors Were Drunk.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—A special from Oberlin, Ohio, says: Prof. W. G. Wright, of Oberlin College, who accompanied the Cook Greenland excursion party, has returned to his home in this place. He says that on the morning the Miranda sank nearly the entire crew of sailors were so intoxicated that they had to be helped from the vessel when she went down. The reef on which the vessel struck, he says, was plainly marked on the chart.

French Demands in Madagascar.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Daily News' correspondent in Paris says that Le Myre de Vilers, special French envoy to Madagascar, will demand the entire bay of Diego Suarez on the north coast of the island, and the whole peninsula between that part of the coast and Cape Amber, the most northern point of land.

Snow in Montana.

HAVRE, Mont., Sept. 15.—The first snow fall of the season has occurred here. There was a fall of over four inches.

A Little Boy Burned to Death.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Sept. 15.—A fatal accident occurred at Cambridge road. Edward Kernan took his three year old boy to a field where there was burning brush and left him sitting near the fires while he went to another field to look after some cattle. On returning he found the little fellow so badly burned that he died in a few minutes. His clothes had caught fire from flying sparks.

Ten Years for Indecent Assault.

MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—Louis Gauthier, who was convicted of indecent assault, has been sentenced to ten years in penitentiary by Judge Wurtele, who remarked that he might have inflicted the death penalty had he chosen. J. B. Archambault, who was convicted of an indecent assault on Blanche Lemire, was sentenced to two years.

Miss Susie Calcutt and Mrs. Jack Hall, of Chicago, Ill., after an extended visit with the Misses Calcutt, Ashburnham, returned home yesterday via C.P.R., having a most pleasant sojourn during their stay. They are anglers up to date, having caught some six hundred pounds of the finny tribe while recruiting at Commodore Calcutt's summer resort, Jubilee.

The concert season is at hand and the musical people of Peterborough will be pleased to learn that they will soon have the opportunity of hearing, in concert, Herr Heinrich Klingenfild, late of Leipsig, one of the most competent violin artists of America. Herr Vlinginfild will arrive in town in a few days to give a public performance and also arrange for a professional connection with the town.

CANADIAN TRADE REPORT.

Feeling of Increased Confidence Throughout the Dominion.

MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—There is an improvement in business here with an increased number of orders, though of smaller totals. The outlook in the province of Quebec is for a better movement than previously anticipated. Toronto Industrial Exhibition explained the increased volume of trade there and the feeling of increased confidence is prevalent. Halifax reports a fairly satisfactory trade and the expectation of a further gain this month.

Bank clearings at Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax equal $19,581,000 this week, a large increase over last week, when the total was only $14,108,000. There is a considerable increase over the corresponding week last year also when the total was $18,316,000.

There are 38 business failures reported from the Dominion of Canada this week, against 29 last week, 36 in the week a year ago, 18 two years ago and 33 three years ago.

LEFT IN A SAD PLIGHT.

A Peterborough School Teacher Sends for His Family and Then Disappears.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Sept. 15.—The disappearance of Frank Fisher, a school teacher of Peterborough, Ont., has been reported to the Plainfield police. His wife and three small children and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Johnson, arrived here from Canada on Thursday night expecting to meet Fisher. They said he left home three weeks ago for New York and wrote home from Plainfield telling his family he had found work and instructing them to come on and learn his street address from a letter in the postoffice. No such letter awaits the woman and no trace of Fisher can be found. The family is destitute and is being cared for by charitable people

A Big Real Estate Deal.

WINDSOR, Sept. 15.—The largest real estate deal yet consummated in Windsor was concluded yesterday, and as a result nearly $500,000 worth of real estate passed from the control of Canadian capital into the hands of a New York syndicate. For some time a syndicate of eastern men have been negotiating for certain property in Detroit, and the deal falling through, the attention of the speculators was turned to Windsor. Another deal of a similar nature is being consummated and within a few days more $1,000,000 worth of Windsor property will have been sold to these same eastern men, who promise to divulge their names at that time and not before. The property included in the deal is the best residential property in the city and none of it is more than one mile from the ferry landing. The principal owners of the property sold are the Cameron, the Curry and Dougall estates.

Change in a Montreal Electric Company.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Negotiations are said to be under way for the sale of the Royal Electric Company, which controls most of the business of Montreal and its vicinity. Several American companies have representatives in Canada examining the finances and property of the company with a view to purchase, but the chances are reputed to be that the business will go to the Canadian department of the General Electric Company.

Terrible Holocaust in China.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 15.—The city of Shun King, in the Province of Se Chuen, has been visited by a conflagration, which destroyed 2,000 buildings. Over a hundred persons lost their lives in various ways as the result of the fire. Among the dead is the wife of the governor of Shun King, who died of fright. The governor's house was burned and several temples were destroyed. The loss is estimated at ten million taels.

THE MEREDITH TIMBER POLICY.

It will be remembered that Mr. Miscampbell, the representative for the Local House for East Simcoe, was the Opposition member entrusted by Mr. Meredith last session with the manufacture of campaign literature in connection with the agitation for the imposition of manufacturing conditions on Ontario lumber and the prevention of the export of logs to the United States. In his speech in the House on April 19 Mr. Miscampbell waxed eloquent over the subject, and predicted the building of Saginaws and Bay Cities on the north shore of Lake Huron if the Conservative policy of discrimination were adopted.

Remembering the above, an interesting item appeared in the press a day or two ago, to the effect that Mr. Miscampbell had not only abandoned his intention of retiring from the political field in order to enter the ministry, but had re-purchased his Midland mill, which has been lying idle for some time, and will at once start the saws going, now that the United States Government admit our lumber free after having satisfied itself that neither the Dominion nor any of its Provinces had enacted any law or regulation which would have prevented this free exchange. If Mr. Miscampbell and his leader had had their way the mill of the former would still be idle, and many others, too. Which was the better policy, the restrictive one of the Opposition or the broader one of the Government?

In this connection it may be remembered that a specific example of the benefits of the free admission of lumber to the American market is afforded by the rebuilding of a sawmill at Harwood as mentioned in our news columns a day or two ago. And this is only one example of the multiform benefits that would accrue to Canada from the existence of freer trade relations resulting from a withdrawal of the oppressive, burdensome, restrictive and paralyzing system of taxation resulting from a high tariff. The application of common sense methods on the part of our Canadian rulers may be long delayed, but it will have to come at last.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

In every constituency in Canada men are now forced to neglect their business and spend their money in order to get up a useless and costly voters' list. This is not confined to members of either party. Both parties have to bestir themselves to see that none of their political sympathisers are disfranchised. This precious franchise act is particularly hard on business men who are active politicians. They have to either sacrifice their business at a particularly busy season, or their political activity. And in the end we have, speaking generally, to no small extent, a partizan and unsatisfactory voters' list, whose revision will cost the public coffers, about a quarter of a million dollars, and the party workers and party associations, perhaps as much more. How much more sensible is the municipal voters' lists in use in Ontario which are prepared by non-partizan officials and at a merely nominal expense.

There seems to be, the Globe thinks, a prospect for at least a partial revival of the American demand for Canadian barley. In consequence of the McKinley tariff our export of that grain to the United States fell from 6,454,600 bushels in 1888 to 673,279 bushels in 1893. Horses, flax, beans, vegetables of various kinds, and hay are articles on which the duties have been lowered, and there will likely be more or less improvement in the profits to be derived from raising all these articles. In the meantime the McKinley law has had the effect of turning the thought and energy of our farmers into other directions and especially into dairying. In cheese we have already captured the British market, but there is room for a large development in the butter industry. Altogether the prospects for Canadian farming are good.

An article entitled "Mr. Laurier's Triumph," printed in yesterday's issue, should have been credited to the Montreal Witness.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

Collingwood, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success.

Port Hope, Feb. 14th, 1894.

Dr. Andrew Grant & Co.,

Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that my hair began to fall out when I was about 18 years of age. I at once commenced the use of hair tonics, etc., with the result that I kept on losing my hair, until at about 25 years of age, I had become quite bald and had concluded to buy a "wig." Just at that time I came across your "HAIRENE," and began its use. Now, before I had used one bottle I could see a decided change for the better, inasmuch as a new growth of hair appeared quite distinctly. By continuing its use my hair has improved greatly, and I take great pleasure in stating that after quite an extended experience in the drug trade, your "HAIRENE" is the only remedy I know of that really has produced a healthy scalp, and a growth of hair.

Yours truly,
J. B. Burnham.

American Trade Report.

New York, Sept. 15.—Bradstreet's says: All the features of improvement in general trade reported a week ago are retained and from a number of the more important business centres still further gains are reported. Exports of wheat, both coasts of the United States and Canada for six business days ending with September 13 (flour included), continued fairly well maintained, the total equaling 2,789,000 bushels, contrasted with 3,207,000 last week, 5,357,000 in the second week of September last year, 3,384,000 in the week two years ago and with 6,974,000 in the week three years ago. There are 228 business failures reported through the United States this week, against 207 last week, 300 in the week a year ago, 143 in the year before that and 236 in the week in 1891.

A Buffalo Man's Death at Crystal Beach.

Ridgeway, Ont., Sept. 15.—George W. Francis, a well-known business man of Buffalo, 50 years old, was found dead yesterday in his room at Crystal Beach, a near-by summer resort. A partly filled box of sulfonal was lying beside the bed. The family deny that it is a case of suicide, but an autopsy will probably be held today to determine the cause of death. Deceased was the proprietor of the Francis Axe Co. of Buffalo, which was absorbed by the trust in 1889. He then began the erection of business buildings, but his health broke down and reverses swept aside all of his property, the last of which was sold at auction Wednesday.

Death From Cigarette Smoking.

Columbia, Pa., Sept. 15.—Harry B. Johnson, superintendent of the agencies of the Anglo American Savings and Loan Association of New York, who has been here since April, was found dead on the street. Death resulted from heart failure, superinduced by excessive smoking of cigarettes, of which he was a slave. Johnson was thirty-five years of age and a native of Brantford, Ontario, where his mother and sister reside.

SOMETHING ABOUT AUGUST.

Flowery August, with all its scorching sultry sun by day its hovering heat by night has again gone following July with intense steady heat. The month came in hot and dry and continuing throughout, although not going to extremes, like the previous month, never reaching 90 degrees, still we had 16 days, or the half of the month between 80 and 90 degrees, and 11 days between 70 and 80 degrees, with only 4 days below 70 degrees, the lowest on the 3 but only down to 62 degrees. Then our coldest during the night was on the 21st, going down to 40 degrees, with frost, and the hotest on the morning of the 14th, going up to 64 degrees, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 65 3-31 degrees. Rain fell on 10 days to the depth of 2 inches and 3-100, but mostly in one storm on the 2nd falling 1-40 in., being a thunder storm. 6 times thunder, 4 times fog, twice frost, and fine display of aurora lights on the morning of the 19th, second degree. The following is the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month respectively, namely: North-west 20 days, north-east 4 days, west 3 days, south-west 2 days, south 1 days, and east 1 day. Only think the wind blew 20 mornings from one point.—Thomas Telford.

Children Who Suffer

from scrofulous skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't cure in every case, the money is returned.

Consumption—Low Condition

Wonderful Results From Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Miss Hannah Wyatt
Toronto, Ont.

"Four years ago while in the old country (England), my daughter Hannah was sent away from the hospital, in a very low condition with consumption of the lungs and bowels, and weak action of the heart. The trip across the water to this country seemed to make her feel better for a while. Then she began to get worse, and for 14 weeks she was unable to get off the bed. She grew worse for five months and lost the use of her limbs and lower part of body, and if she sat up in bed had to be propped up with pillows. Physicians

Said She Was Past All Help

and wanted me to send her to the 'Home for Incurables.' But I said as long as I could hold my hand up she should not go. We then began

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

JAPS REPULSED WITH SLAUGHTER.

They Attempted to Surprise the Chinese, But Were Discovered.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Times to day has this despatch sent from Shanghai, via Tien-Tsin:

"The Japanese in force attempted to surprise the Chinese at Ping-Yang on the night of the 12th, but were repulsed with heavy slaughter. The standing corps impeded the Japanese and hid the Chinese. Japanese ships have resumed scouting in the Gulf of Pechili.

Did the British Give Warning?

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The following remarkable message in the original and translated is printed in the Herald. It was sent in the first instance by a Japanese special correspondent serving with the fleet in the Gulf of Pechili to the newspaper in Japan, which he represents, and the name of which is for obvious reasons withheld. The Japanese government, however, which exercises a strict censorship over the news relating to the war, prohibited its publication, and the information which it conveys is for the first time made public. It is said that the Mikado's governments prohibited the printing of the news lest it should stir up a strong anti-British feeling in Japan and thus imperil the safety of British subjects in Japan:

"With the Japanese fleet before Wei-Hai-Wei, Gulf of Pechili, Aug. 12, 1894.—At one o'clock yesterday morning, the 11th of August, our fleet consisting of twelve men of war and a flotilla of six torpedo boats took advantage of the darkness of night and crept in the harbor of Wei-Hai-Wei, unknown to the Chinese. Six torpedo boats were sent out with the purpose of blowing up the Chinese warships anchored within.

"When midway a British man-of-war, which was anchored there, fired salutes for the Japanese vessels, a very unusual thing to do under such circumstances.

"Upon this all the electric lights and search lights at the forts were lighted in an instant, and soon all the forts were in activity. An exchange of shots for over an hour followed.

"Seeing that their plan to take the Chinese by surprise fell through on account of the salutes from the British, and further firing being of no avail, the Japanese retired.

"As the torpedo flotilla was returning a Chinese torpedo boat discharged a torpedo against it, but failed to do any damage, and for its trouble was instantly rewarded by being sunk by a torpedo discharged by one of the Japanese boats.

"The salutes from the British vessel cannot but be regarded as signals to make the slumbering Chinese know of the presence of the Japanese, as it is not customary to fire salutes at the dead of night."

The Herald adds, in commenting on the above: "Assuming this news to be accurate, the conduct of the commander of the English warship stands badly in need of explanation. It is an unheard of thing to fire a naval salute at night. In the United States navy regulations it is expressly provided that 'no salute shall be fired between sunset and sunrise,' and the same rule is observed in all the navies of the world."

Pembroke Burglars Captured.

PEMBROKE, Ont., Sept. 15.—The burglars who have been operating in town for several weeks last have been captured and laid up in quod. The men arrested are Stephen, Joseph and John Brisson. They were tracked down very cleverly by Mr. G. W. McMartin, waterworks engineer, assisted by James Miller, and arrested. Most of the goods were found in Stephen's house. It was packed in two trunks and includes the guns and revolvers stolen from Gibson and Jones. The liquor stolen was mostly consumed, but the bottles were to be seen all over the place. These men have all hitherto borne a good reputation, and their arrest is a surprise to all who knew them.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 15, 1894.

Prices on the grain market remain the same.

Coal has dropped from $5.50 to $5 a ton. How long this will last it is impossible to tell, as it is said the output of the mines this year has been some 2,000,000 tons below last. Only three or four large dealers here have so far laid in any large stocks.

Corn was king on the Chicago board of trade. It not only monopolized the attention of traders to a great extent but in a more or less degree influenced all the other markets. Wheat showed a loss of 3-4c and oats closed 1-2 to 5-8c lower.

There were no receipts of barley at Buffalo. Shipments were 49,125 bushels to Lockport, Geneva and West Troy by canal and 38,000 by rail. Quoted—No. 1 western, 63c; No. 2, 59c; sample, 56c to 58c; choice Minneapolis, 61c; Canadian nominal.

There was a firmer undertone on the London stock market and a further general improvement is expected. Americans are dull but the closing was rather better. The rumor of a syndicate having taken the remainder of the Baring assets is untrue. The estate will probably be wound up next month.

If the New York stock market's present attitude foreshadows, as it probably does, the course of general industry and finance throughout the autumn it is reasonable to look for dull trade with, however, a gradual movement of recuperation. The present stock exchange stagnation presumably marks out the dullness which trade has later on to look for. Along with this prevailing inactivity has come some moderate selling by belated speculators for the rise, whose closing out sales were marked in several quarters. The continued firmness in the grainger stocks was interesting.

Electricity for the C. P. R.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15.—Curiosity as to how the almost unlimited power that will be conserved at Keewatin by the dam now in course of construction across the Winnipeg river is to be utilized has given rise to the belief that the Canadian Pacific railway have in view a scheme to run their trains between Port Arthur and Moose Jaw by electricity and that the intention is to use Keewatin power to generate electric energy for that purpose.

Ignoring the Wishes of the Citizens.

MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—The Montreal police investigation, which has been demanded for some time by the citizens, has again been burked in the council. At a special meeting of the city council yesterday it was first practically decided to appoint a committee to hold investigation, but at a later stage some of the members objected and the subject was adjourned.

Six Stables Consumed.

MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—The fire department were called to a fire in the rear of No. 140 Colborne street. The fire originated in a stable occupied by Mr. Hines. The stables, about six in number, were pretty well demolished, with their contents. Loss probably $1,500, partially insured.

Burleigh Falls Summer Resort.

Mr. John Holmes, of the Burleigh Falls Hotel, was in town, to-day, hunting up more luxuries for his summer resort, and he didn't want anything but the best the county could produce. He reports his house still busy with tourists and pleasure seekers, and expects the season to last later than usual this year. September weather around the Falls is just now delightful, and the hospitable board of the benevolent bonface of the hotel altogether too good to leave.

The Moon's Eclipse.

The lunar eclipse made close connections last night, coming in sharp on time—10-38 p.m. It was not a big eclipse. The shadow of the big earth dropped down upon the pale moon descending about the third of its diameter like a dark curtain. The moon held its own fairly well, remarking as the old sphere rolled off, "Old Mother Earth, you have nothing to blow about; though you're a good deal bigger than I am, and a good deal younger, you could'nt even eclipse one side of me. Besides, my wind is not very good—I'm rather short of atmosphere, you know. I'd advise you to stand from between me and the sun, hereafter; if you don't I'll give you some dark looks, I promise you."

Another Popular Lecture.

The largest audience that has yet greeted Professor Alexander assembled at the Opera House, last night. There was not a vacant seat in the house, when the Professor came upon the stage and a number, who came later, were turned away. "Phrenology in the home." was the subject of his lecture, which proved as thoroughly interesting as any of those already given. The test examinations at the close were given with accuracy that was startling, the professor reading the subjects sent up by the audience after he was blindfolded, and describing mental traits, personal appearance, age, etc., to the life. "How to read character," will be the subject of to-night's lecture. The Professor will remain here part of next week, lecturing on Monday evening, on the "laws of health," and before closing will give his popular lecture on love, courtship, marriage and jealousy.

County Police Court

County police court was held yesterday in the Court House before County Police Magistrate Edmison, when Minnie Easton appeared again to answer to a charge of keeping a house of ill fame and of selling liquor without a license. In connection with the first case a number of witnesses were examined. The magistrate imposed a fine of $50 and costs in each case, $117 in all, and the woman was given until Monday to secure the funds.

The Ennismore assault case, in which two farmers came to blows at a threshing bee, was settled out of court.

Dress Goods Display To-Night.

The ladies are invited to turn out in full force to-night to witness the dress goods opening at Robt. Hall's, 385 George street. The display will be held in the commodious millinery rooms, and if ladies want to know what is newest in the realm of dress goods, this unusual opportunity should not be forgotten. This is the second season this firm has held a dress goods opening, and the success of the first justifies a continuance of the event. To-night and Saturday evenings the beautiful display may also be seen. Store open each evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. Ladies are cordially welcome. 3d61

The "Examiner" Again Ahead.

For the third consecutive time the EXAMINER has been awarded the contract for the printing and supplies required by the High Court Canadian Order of Foresters. The contract, which includes blank books, forms, returns, reports, and all supplies required by subordinate courts, was keenly contested, there being six other competitors from the chief printing establishments of Ontario cities. That the EXAMINER was able to win in the competition against such strong rivalry is a high tribute to both the mechanical capabilities and equipment of the establishment as well as the moderate prices at which first-class work is executed.

Hot Bargains for Fair Time.

Everywhere you look—everywhere you turn—extra preparations are on foot for the Peterborough Central Fair. The Peterborough Bookstore has inaugerated a September special sale of Wall Papers, Window Shades and Cornice Poles. This store is on the warpath — tomahawking high prices. Greater faith is put in the nimble sixpence than in the slow shilling. Our advice to visitors to the fair is to arm themselves with a few crisp dollar bills, prepare for the low price crush, and be on hand in time. The sale is now in progress. In Wall Paper there is joy by the roll—in Window Shades joy by the yard—in Cornice Poles joy by the foot—and dollar doubling joy in everything. See our ad. elsewhere. A. H. STRATTON & Co. dw

A Royal Templars' Social.

A most enjoyable evening was spent at the R. T. of T. social last evening, at the residence of Dr. J. A. Fife, about seventy-five persons being present. The following programme was rendered in good style, after which the inner man was refreshed by the taking of cake and coffee:—Instrumental solo, Miss Burleigh; speech, Rev. Spence; vocal solo, Mrs. Hunter; speech, Mr. Coyle Brown; instrumental solo, Miss Burleigh; reading, Dr. Clarke; reading, Mrs. Jas. Kendry; speech, F. Mason; instrumental solo, Miss Burleigh; whistling solo, Master Roberts. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Dr. and Mrs. Fife for their kindness in placing their home at the disposal of the society. The Royal Templars are anxious to receive applications from those desirous of uniting with the society. A card addressed to the secretary will be attended promptly.

Saturday's Market.

The market to-day was well attended, both by buyers and sellers, and commodities went off lively at good prices. The market was cleared off shortly after eleven o'clock. Grain still keept coming in all day and was in good demand, prices firm, especially in oats and peas, which met with ready sale. Hay was short of the demand. Only one load of straw, offering at $3, appeared on the market. Apples very plentiful, selling from 40 to 50c per bag; potatoes, 70c; butter 20 to 21c; crock, 10 to 20c; eggs, 10 to 11c; chickens, 40 to 50c; ducks, 50 to 60c per pair. The small fruit was not so plentiful but prices firmer. Quite a brisk stir in the grain market is expected next week, and it would be advisable for farmers not to sell on the street, but to bring their produce to the market where there will be keen competition among the buyers for all kinds of grain. Arrangements are being made for a large number of live stock to be weighed on Monday and Tuesday, especially hogs and sheep.

He was a Ringer.

A funny incident, the Orillia News-Letter says, happened at Peterborough in connection with the lacrosse match Wednesday. That old enthusiast of the national game "Bob" Fowler accompanied the boys to cheer them on to victory. Harry Allen was there too, and Harry put up a job on the Peterborough boys. Very mysteriously he hinted to them of a crack ringer Orillia was playing. He pointed Mr. Fowler out as the man, and told them he was a star, a regular dandy, who could almost play the whole Peterborough team himself. His name was Mulligan and he was from the east. The story got around and Mr. Fowler was soon the centre of an admiring throng. Wherever he went a crowd followed him, and exclamations of admiration greeted him on all sides. "Just the right build for a player," "Gosh, but he is a big fellow," etc., etc., were whispers which the winds wafted to Roberts' ears as he wriked up Peterborough's thoroughfares. Report says that at one time a multitude of six hundred people swayed around our Mr. Fowler, each battling for a look at his handsome features. As he walked to the grounds it is calculated that over three thousand people followed, and great was the disappointment, mingled with rejoicing, that he was not going to play.

A SAD DOUBLE DROWNING

Two Young Ladies Meet Death Together

BY THE CAPSIZING OF A CANOE IN LITTLE LAKE.

A Swell From the City of Peterborough Causes the Calamity—Maggie Kennedy and Ada Alford the Victims—Their Terrible Struggle With Death—Peter Kerr's Gallant Attempt to Rescue the Girls—His Narrow Escape From Death—The Bodies Recovered.

The citizens of Peterborough were terribly shocked about half past eight last evening by the announcement that two popular and estimable young ladies had met death by drowning in Little Lake. The news spread rapidly throughout the town, and it proved only too true.

Last night was an ideal one for boating. The moon was out in all its glory and cast a flood of light upon the placid waters of Little Lake. Little wonder then that lovers of the canoe would be found on its surface, taking advantage of the fine September night to wile away a few pleasant hours.

Misses Maggie Kennedy, Ada Alford and Mr. Peter Kerr, could be noticed on the water last evening in their canoe, gliding smoothly o'er its level surface, totally unconscious of the awful fate that awaited them a few minutes afterwards.

There were different statements afloat last night as to how the unfortunate accident occurred, and in order to ascertain the correct one, an EXAMINER reporter visited the residence of Mr. A. Macfarlane this morning with the object in view of having an interview with Mr. Peter Kerr, the young man who alone survives to tell the tale.

It was learned that Mr. Kerr had not recovered from the shock sufficiently and his condition, although not of a serious character, was such that complete rest and seclusion only would bring him around to his wonted condition.

The young man is only 19 years of age and has just recovered from a six weeks' illness. His home is in Youngsville, Oxford county, and has been working in town at Wm. Hamilton's foundry for the past three years.

The reporter succeeded, however, in securing the following version of the affair. Shortly after eight o'clock, Mr. P. Kerr, in company with Misses Maggie Kennedy and Ada Alford, started out on Little Lake for a sail. The circuit of the lake was made, and Mr. Kerr headed his canoe in the direction of the Cemetery point, with a view of going towards the locks. There was not a ripple on the water and the occupants of the canoe glided merrily along until the steamer City of Peterborough hove in sight, on her way to the Peterborough wharf. Mr. Kerr did not realise or anticipate any danger from coming in contact with the steamer, as he was of the opinion she would make the Ashburnham wharf before starting on her trip to town. But the young man made a fatal mistake, as the steamer was bent on her regular course up through the channel to the town wharf. On the steamer came, leaving in its wake a trackless path of surging water, and the swells from her side dashed against Cemetery Point and seemed to mock the herculean efforts of the young man to control his canoe. At last the swells, which ever and anon tossed the light craft on the moon-lit surface of the lake, proved too much for the desperate efforts of the canoeist who was fighting against fearful odds, and the next minute the canoe capsized and its occupants precipitated into the cruel waters. The unfortunate young ladies uttered piercing shrieks for help which were re-echoed on all parts of the shore. Young Kerr, who was a fair swimmer, had a terrible contract before him, but nobly did he fight, not only for his own life but of the two victims who were struggling in the water before him. With one hand he grasped his canoe and with the other attempted to save the unfortunate young ladies, but the craft turned three times in succession and in each case he was forced under the water. In this short struggle the two girls sank from view to rise no more. In the meantime Capt. Ada, of the City of Peterborough, and the crew were not inactive, but they state they did not see the young ladies struggling in the water, and as the night was a clear one, the supposition is that they must have sunk after a short and desperate struggle with death. But Peter Kerr was still battling in the water and had gone under its surface for the last time, when a boat hand (Clare Calcutt) bravely rescued him in an unconscious condition. He was taken on board the City of Peterborough and it was thought at first that the accident had claimed its third victim, but later on he showed signs of consciousness, and he was removed to his boarding house on Homewood Avenue.

By this time the news had spread like wild-fire throughout the town, and soon scores of people, men women and children, could be seen wending their way down George street in order to ascertain the truth of the sad affair. Willing hands soon arrived and the lake was literally dotted with all kinds of craft, and grappling hooks and ropes were brought into use and a search instituted for the two bodies.

But at the homes of the parents of the deceased young ladies the lamentations and sorrow were heartrendering and pitable to behold. The two girls leaving their respective homes in the evening to enjoy a short recreation after the labours of the day, by a sail on the lake, and to be suddenly hurled into eternity, is a sad incident to contemplate. The affair has cast a gloom over the whole community. The young ladies were popular among all classes generally, and were noted for their amiable and loving dispositions.

Miss Maggie Kennedy, who is the eldest daughter of Mr. John Kennedy, McDonel street, and was employed in the millinery department of Hall, Gilchrist & Co's., is twenty-five years of age. The other victim of the drowning accident is the second eldest daughter of the late Jno. Alford, who lived with her widowed mother on Reid street, and was only twenty-two years of age. She was employed in the millinery department of Hall, Gilchrist & Co's. Both young ladies were prominent members of the Y. P. S. C. E., of St. Andrew's church, and were foremost in all efforts to promote the welfare of the church and society. Miss Kennedy was also a Sunday school teacher and was a general favourite with her pupils. The family and relatives of the deceased young ladies have the universal sympathy of all classes of the community in their terribly sudden bereavement, and it is safe to say that no fatality in the history of Peterborough has aroused such sorrow as the unfortunate drowning accident, in the waters of Little Lake, last evening.

The search for the bodies was kept up all night until an early hour this morning, but it was not until about 8.45 that Mr. J. B. Odette and Mr. Roque Gordon succeeded in recovering the body of Miss Kennedy and about ten minutes afterwards brought the body of Miss Alford to the shore. Both bodies were found about twenty feet apart, one hundred yards from the Windmill Point. They were taken in charge by Mr. Undertaker Comstock.

The funeral of the victims of the drowning will take place Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from their respective residences. Their remains will be first taken to St. Andrew's church, where a funeral service will be held, after which they will be interred in Little Lake cemetery.

—The municipal council, of Millbrook, left for Toronto, on Wednesday, to look into the electric light matter before making a contract for the village. They propose to visit Aurora, Newmarket and other places before returning.

—Peterborough's aching void is after a government military school. That void has ached for blacksmith shops, post offices, custom houses, canals, senatorships, in fact everything in sight that can be obtained for nothing.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

—Mr. Richard Gough, of Gough Bros., Peterborough and Lindsay, spent Thursday in town. The firm have recently made some purchases, at hard-time prices, and Mr. Gough states that they will be able to give the people of Lindsay bargains this fall that will be surprising.

—We noticed Thomas Newton, of Cavanville, in town, on Tuesday evening, and are pleased to hear that no serious results are attending his late shooting accident. Tom still carries the bullet; however, he will always have a reserve charge when he goes out shooting.—Reporter.

—The strange epidemic among cattle near Brooklin is as yet unexplained. Cattlemen and veterinaries are puzzled, but attribute the deaths to the eating of water hemlock, as this poisonous weed has been found wherever any of the affected animals have been grazing. The stomachs of several of the animals have been sent to Toronto for inspection by experts.

—The Bolsover correspondent of the Lindsay Post says: The surveyors of the Trent Valley Canal are camping near Balsam lake. They were last week surveying in the valley of the Talbot. Any one that is acquainted with the township of Eldon can see at once that it is hundreds of feet higher than Balsam lake. The surveyor that took the level before the last election stated that the Talbot river route was very favourable—only four feet fall in eight miles from the lake.

THE BOARD OF TRADE AND LOW WATER.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade on Tuesday evening the following resolution was moved by Mr. Dumble and Mr. Maldrum, and unanimously adopted:

That the navigation of our back lakes, and the manufacturing interests of our town, demand that the water of our back lakes and of the river Otonabee should be kept up as near uniformity as possible. A great number of the reservoir lakes in the back country have dams, which by reason of the cessation of lumbering operations, have been allowed to get out of repair, and in consequence the water which would have been sufficient to keep up the flow was allowed to run off in the spring, and, when most required, very low water proved a very great inconvenience and loss. The Board, therefore, memorialize the Ontario Government and respectfully prays that the dams situated be repaired and the management of the water put under intelligent control.

From the wording of this resolution and the unanimity with which it was adopted the inference is natural, though in this case quite erroneous, that the mover of the resolution and the members who so unanimously voted for its adoption, had some knowledge of the circumstances which gave rise to the motion. There is, no doubt, ground for complaint that the lakes between Bobcaygeon and Lakefield the natural reservoirs for the control of the waters of the Otonabee, are not quite efficiently managed. There is also no doubt that upon the "intelligent" management of these waters the supply in the river depends. And if the water is allowed to run off at a period of the season when it should be reserved and more particularly in a season such as this has been, there must necessarily be an insufficient supply of water which will prejudicially affect those persons and industries dependent upon an adequate supply of water. It may be pointed out that the water supply of the Otonabee, much as we should like it to take the first importance, is not alone to be considered. If the dam at Bobcaygeon were sufficiently lowered to give the supply of water that is needed in the Otonabee at this season of the year, the Lindsay steamers, when stranded in shoal water, would have just cause for complaint.

What the Board of Trade evidently requires is the knowledge of where the difficulty complained of arises. The Ontario Government has constructed, maintains and keeps an official in charge, of the following dams on the Gull River waters:

Workman's dam, Minden, Gull river.
Horseshoe Lake dam, Minden,
Hayes Lake dam, and Hawke Lake dam, Stanhope township.
Crab Lake dam, Paint Lake dam, Sherbourne township.
Kenesis Lake dam, Havelock township.
Red Stone Lake dam, Eagle Lake dam and Mink Lake dam, in the township of Guilford.
Oblong Lake dam, Haliburton Lake dam and Percy Lake dam, Harburn township.
Bob Lake dam, Lutterworth township.

The following dams are situated and maintained on the Burnt River waters:

Mud Lake dam, Dysart township.
Pine Lake dam, Little and Big Deer Lake dams and Stony Lake dam, Glamorgan township.
Otter Lake and Grace Lake dams, Monmouth township.

To say that the waters controlled by these dams is not intelligently managed is to betray a large ignorance of the real facts in the matter, and it is resolutions, such as the above, crudely conceived and elaborated with great want of knowledge of the facts that tend to bring the Board of Trade into contempt and to weaken the influence it should, by virtue of its powers, and opportunities, possess.

If the Board of Trade wishes to do effective service and to show, as the resolution hints, that the Ontario Government is remiss in its duty in respect of the dams which it controls, perhaps it would point out specifically at what dam or dams there is lack of "intelligent control."

As a matter of fact we can state upon the best authority, that all the dams under control of the Ontario Government, as enumerated above, are staunch, and quite capable of holding water. Most of them are in first class condition. So soon as any are considered defective or unsafe they are renewed. There is an officer of the Public Works Department of the Ontario Government, with an assistant, in personal charge of the dams from the time before the ice goes out of the several lakes until September. This official is a careful and competent man and remains in the locality during the above mentioned period, and everything that can possibly be done is done to hold the water in the spring and let it off during the summer months as circumstances suggest is advisable. On the 20th of July of the present year the depth of the water was taken in the following lakes with the results indicated, notwithstanding that stop logs were kept out to keep up an ordinary flow: Hawk Lake, 10 ft. 4 in; Crab Lake, 7 ft. 6 in.; Point Lake, 4 ft.; Kenesis Lake, 0 ft. 5 in.; Red Stone Lake, 8 ft. 0 in.; Eagle Lake, 4 ft. 8 in. The most of the above lakes, as will be seen by consulting a map, are large reservoirs. This being an unusually dry season, all this water is now run off and this same dry season is an excellent test of the efficiency of the dams under consideration and of the manner in which, in the words of the resolution of the Board of Trade, the water is "intelligently controlled." In additional proof it may be mentioned that Gilmour & Co's great drive entered these waters at Boskung Lake in the month of August and has passed over at Minden and is now this side of Bobcaygeon. This drive was favoured with first-class water at Minden, and the slide-master at that place is authority for the statement that the drive made the fastest time ever made at that point. There being considerable rapids, good water is an essential of rapid progress. Now, the Burnt River and tributary waters are similarly managed; two men are placed in charge of different sections and the waters are carefully guarded and no water permitted to go to waste. In the autumn all the dams are closed by the stop logs to permit the lakes to fill during the high water of fall and winter. The Ontario department of Public Works courts the most rigid inquiry into the management of the reservoir dams under its control, and if such inquiry had been made by the Board of Trade, the remarkable resolution it passed, would have been constructed in far different terms. If there is any blame, it should be placed upon the proper shoulders, and proper inquiry would have placed the wording of the resolution under "intelligent control."

THE CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

To be Opened by the Hon. Mr. Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

The Central Exhibition people are sparing no expense in making this year's fair the best of the series. Not only in the prize list larger and better, but the special attractions are more numerous and superior in quality to those of former years. The horse races this year will also excel those of other years.

On Monday at ten o'clock, a.m., every exhibit in the agricultural, horticultural, dairy, fine arts, natural history and ladies' work must be on the grounds and placed so that the judges can perform their duties. All live stock must be on the grounds by ten o'clock, a.m., Tuesday in order that everything may be in readiness for the grand opening at 1.30 o'clock, p.m.

Immediately after the opening ceremonies—which will be conducted by the Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce—the prizes will be awarded in the Gough Bros. baby show. The proud father will receive a $10 suit of clothes, the happy mother a $10 dress and the darling kid $5 in gold. Then will follow the baloon ascension and daring parachute drop by a celebrated lady aeronaut who has successfully performed this daring act over 200 times. The LaBelle Bros. come next in their daring high tight rope, slack wire, trapeze and acrobatic performances, followed by Harry LaBelle and Simons and Connors in their unequalled tumbling acts. Simmons & Connors' clogs, jigs, etc., will also form an interesting feature of the programme.

At four o'clock the horse races will take place and will be keenly contested, as the entries promise to be greatly in excess of those of other years.

The great Rugby football contest between teams from the Edison Works, Lock Works, Collegiate Institute and the town clubs, will form a good drawing card. A magnificent silver trophy will be put up for competition.

We expect that all the manufactories and the schools will take a half holiday on Tuesday and the admission for children has been reduced to 10 cents.

The evening performance will commence at 7 o'clock and after the acrobatic evolutions the tug of war between teams from fire brigade, 57th battalion, and the football clubs will take place. Prof. Hand will give a grand exhibition of fireworks which will comprise some of the latest novelties—both fixed and aerial—and Prof. Ed. R. Hutchinson will make a baloon ascension and parachute drop. During the evening the main building will be open to visitors.

Wednesday will no doubt see the largest attendance, as the speeding events, drawing contest, running races and a host of other enticing features will prove a great crowd of pullers. During the afternoon a grand parade af all the prize animals will take place.

The railways will sell round trip tickets for single fare on Tuesday, good return until Wednesday evening. Other days, one and a third fare, good to return until the 28th Sept.

The C. P. R. Havelock express will leave the station at 11:15, on the evening of Tuesday, 25th Sept., to enable visitors to see the fireworks and baloon ascension.

The G. T. R will have a late train service on the Grand Junction line and to Port Hope.

This exhibition this year will be a corker and should attract a host of visitors. dw

WE COVER ALL.

It is one thing to cover up your body, Robinson Crusoe like, with goat skins and tanned palm leaves. It is quite another thing to get well fitting, neatly-made Suits, Boots and Hats of the latest designs, without paying an exhorbitant price.

MEN'S HATS!
MEN'S SHOES!
MEN'S CLOTHING!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR!
MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

This store appeals to Men—and to Women also. The field of trade is widening continually. Instead of confining ourselves to Clothing, we have, for the fall of 1894, brought together under one roof such things for men's wear as they have shown themselves to want.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $2.65.
On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 85c.
On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.
On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.
Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

On the best $3 Men's Selected Shell Cordovan Balmoral or Congress, with Dunraven toe, we take off 40c., and ask only $2 60.
On the best Men's Fine Waxed Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1 25.
On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.20.
On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 62c., and ask only $1.98.
Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

In 1684 nearly all the birds of Europe were killed by the cold. Wolves entered Vienna and other large cities, and, driven by hunger, attacked the people in the streets.

The only knowledge we have of the air currents from ten to one hundred miles above the earth's surface is what has been gained from watching the luminous trains left by meteors.

The cold of the Dominion seems to diminish with an increase of population. Between 1828 and 1887 Hudson's bay was closed an average of one hundred and eighty-four days every year; now its ice lasts one hundred and seventy-nine days.

Here's a Youthful Prodigy.

A wonderful child, who, at the age of two years can read with fluency any writing or printing in German or Latin characters' pronouncing correctly the most difficult words, is described in the columns of the Magdeburg Zeitung. The boy learned to read in play. When about a year and a half old, while walking out with his grandmother, he showed the liveliest interest in all the signs, bills and placards, and was especially delighted with the display in bookseller' shops. At home he played with books and newspapers, and one day, finding his own name, "Otto," in print, he ran to show it with delight to his parents. The boy is mentally and physically perfectly healthy and normal. He has fair hair and very lively, intelligent brown eyes. Three "well-known and highly respected physicians" have decided that the boy possesses an immense wealth of pictures of memory, but can give no physiological explanation. His name is Otto Pohlert, and he is the son of a Brunswick butcher.

Oldest Book on Mathematics.

The oldest mathematical book in the world, which dates some 400 years back and was written in Egypt, contains a rule for squaring the circle, says the Engineer's Gazette. The rule given is to shorten the diameter by a ninth, and on the line so obtained to construct a square, and this, though far from being exact, is near enough for most practical purposes. Since then the amateur squarer of the circle has been a thorn in the side of the professional mathematician. Learned societies at last, in pure self defense, made a rule that all solutions of the problem sent to them should without examination, be consigned to the flames. In the last century a Frenchman named Mathulus was so sure that he had succeeded in squaring the circle that he offered a reward of $1,000 to any one who proved his solution was erroneous. It was shown to be erroneous, if not to his own satisfaction, at least to that of the court's, and he had to pay the money. Mathematicians have long been convinced that the solution was impossible, but it is only a few years since they were able to demonstrate this. A German professor named Landmann published, in 1882, a demonstration which was accepted by the scientific world as satisfactory, so that would-be squarers of the circle may now rest from their labors, seeing that it has been mathematically proved that the thing cannot be done.

That Tired Feeling

Is a dangerous condition directly due to depleted or impure blood. It should not be allowed to continue, as in its debility the system is especially liable to serious attacks of illness. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for such a condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, climate or life.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, carefully prepared from the best ingredients. 25 cents.

I was attacked severely last winter with Diarrhœa, Cramps, and Colic and thought I was going to die, but fortunately I tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and now I can thank this excellent remedy for saving my life. MRS. S. KELLETT, Minden Ont.

Lives in His Own Way.

The London costermonger is a man who lives his own life without regard to what his neighbors are doings. He has his own peculiar way. He resents interference with his mode of living and looks his door against the curious and inquisitive. He forms part of that great class that never emerge from their surroundings. Born in the heart of London, crushed into a narrow, foul-smelling, unhealthy spot reeking with crime and vice, his pleasures are necessarily of a low order. The honest dwellers of Whitechapel become costermongers and try to earn a living by hawking cat meat, whelks, mussels and vegetables throughout the streets. He hunts for rags and empty bottles, gathers up cigar stumps from the gutters and does many other things to turn an honest penny. The remaining dwellers of Whitechapel who lack the energy and character of the coster becomes loafers and often develop into thieves. Whitechapel has a black record in the criminal annals of England, yet, in spite of the misery and degradation of his surroundings, the coster, with all his roughness and rudeness, shines like a bright pearl in the mire.

What He Looked At.

A gentleman of large means, in a Scottish county, had a hot-house vinery celebrated for its choice produce. When the Queen was on one of her periodical journeys through Scotland the royal train was timed to stop for luncheon at a well-known through-station in this county, and Mr. Childers availed himself of the opportunity to send Her Majesty an offering of his best grapes. In due course, a letter of acknowledgment expressing the royal appreciation of the gift, and complimenting the donor on the fineness of the fruit, reached him; and, feeling sure his head gardener would be greatly interested in the contents of the letter, Mr. Childers read it to him. The gardener gravely listened, but his only comment was: "She disna say onything aboot sending back the basket."

A Delicious Pudding.

To make peach cobbler line a deep dish with rich thick crust; pare and cut into halves or quarters some juicy, rather tart peaches, put in sugar, spices flavoring to taste; stew it slightly and put it in a lined dish; cover with thick crust of rich, puffy paste and bake a rich brown. When done break up the top crust into small pieces and stir it the fruit. Serve hot or cold with a cream sauce.

Where Women Rule.

At first thought one would say that no State existed except in Mallockian fiction which had been entirely governed by women, and had flourished withal. Yet there is such a state in Java, and though there is a rex de jure, there is onne de facto, the State Council consisting of three women. All State offices are held by women, and, if the authorities be correct, all that men are allowed to do is to exist.

In all that goes to strengthen and build up the system weakened by disease and pain, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the superior medicine. It neutralizes the poisons left in the system after diphtheria and scarlet fever, and restores the debilitated patient to perfect health and vigor.

DEAR SIRS, —I have been using Burdock Bitters for Boils and skin diseases, and I find it very good as a cure. As a dyspepsia cure I have also found it unequalled. MRS. SARAH HAMILTON, Montreal, Que.

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

THE HOTTEST PLACE.

WHERE THE WORLD'S MAXIMUM TEMPERATURE IS TO BE FOUND.

We Are Inclined to Rail Against Our Heat, But It Is Not a Marker to That of Other Places—In the Great Sahara the Mercury Climbs to 150 Degrees.

A comparison of the maximum temperature in the different parts of the world shows that the great desert of Africa is by far the hottest. This vast plain, which extends 2,000 miles from east to west and 1,000 from north to south, has a temperature 150 degrees Fahrenheit in the hottest days in summer.

The caravans, which usually consist of from 500 to 2,000 camels, with their assistants, experience great suffering through the intense heat, and the privations of water, as the distance between wells very often exceeds ten days. There are numerous instances on record where whole tribes have perished from thirst, as the wells and springs to which they have journeyed had been dried up by the heat.

It would be impossible for anyone but the acclimatized Moors, Berbers and Arabs to live, even for a day, in the heart of the rainless Sahara. In spite of the fact that the days are extremely hot the nights are nearly always uncomfortably cold, and the travelers are obliged to burden themselves with blankets in order to endure the change.

Along the banks of the River Senegal, which flows in a northwestern course through Senegambia, the highest degree known is 130. The Dushtistan regions of Persia, and the central and eastern portions of the Desert of Khiva are frequently subjected to 125 degrees. The inhabitants of Persia, who are mostly Tajiks, or Mohammedans, of the Shiute sect, are fortunately privileged to enjoy three different climates. While it is exceedingly hot in one section, it is freezing cold in the other; and while people are suffering with these two extremes, it is delightfully temperate in and around Ispahan. The Caspian provinces are also oppressively hot, as they lie considerably below the level of the sea.

In some parts of Central America, and in the valleys south of the diamond districts of Brazil, the temperature has risen to 120 degrees. The central parts of Australia are extremely hot, the degree of heat being frequently up to 118.

In the sandy desert south of Nejd, in Arabia, and in Afghanistan, 110 is not an uncommon degree. Through some parts of Egypt, and in lower Greece, the sirocco brings with it a blast of heat which is equal to 110. Particularly is this true in localities close by the Nile, where the simoon blows continually for fifty days, from the latter part of April until the inundation of that river.

Along the southern coast of Africa, around the Cape of Good Hope, the temperature, though damp and sultry, very often registers 105.

January is the hottest month in Tasmania and July the coldest. The extreme of heat at Hobart, the capital for the last twenty years, is shown to be 105 degrees. In the United States the temperature varies considerably, but there is no section which cares to record more than 105.

Sicily is given 104 degrees and Rome, Italy is generously let off with 95.

The people of New York and Philadelphia betake themselves to the woods, seek watering places, fan themselves like madmen and become overheated in their wild efforts to keep cool when the thermometer is only up to 102.

The southeastern provinces of Spain are temperate in the winter, but are subject in the summer to the Solano, or hot winds which blow north from Africa, and which raise the temperature to 100 degrees.

Bombay and Bengal, India, are treated to 100, while Calcutta contents itself with 96. Shanghai and the tropical section of the Chinese empire are given 100 degrees, but Pekin is let off with 85. The torrid belt of the coast of Jamaica and many points in Cuba have never more than 100 degrees. St. Petersburg, with 99 degrees, will uphold the record for Russia, although the southeastern section of that country, where watermelons are grown with an apt luxuriance, is frequently up to 100. The Burmah empire, which is south of China, has its hot season between April and the middle of August, when 100 degrees stand up as the order of the day. At Bangkok, Siam, 97 was the highest for eight years.

The hottest parts of France are along the Mediterranean coast, where Toulon and Hyeres are given 90 degrees. Copenhagen, Denmark, swelters under the pressure of 90 and Buenos Ayres and other parts of the Argentine Republic hold up 90 as the maximum degree. The Sandwich Islands, though situated within the tropics, are remarkably temperate. The highest point at Honolulu for twelve years was 90 degrees. In Funchal, the capital of Madeira Island, the lesta, or hot east wind, raises the temperature to 90 degrees.

Great Britain is particularly fortunate in having an almost equable climate. England is slightly warmer than Scotland, the highest temperature at the former is 85 degrees, and at the latter 83. Queenstown and the south of Ireland are a little warmer, 90 degrees being the maximum. This is no doubt due to the fact that that section is more completely buried in the warm waters of the Gulf stream.

In Lima, Peru, 85 is the highest, and in the tropical valleys 90. Natal, on the southeastern coast of Africa, has a record of 90 degrees, and Portugal 85. Through the Tierras Calientes, Mexico, 85 appears to be the highest.

The warmest part of Siberia is the valley of the Yenesei, north of the Sayanak mountains, where the mercury climbs to 77 degrees. In the western provinces of Prussia 75 is the record, and in the eastern provinces 72. Zurich, Switzerland, is never above 70, and the warmest parts of Hungary have 69 degrees.

Jauja, Peru, is between 69 and 70 the entire year, and Bogota, in the United States of Columbia, not far from the equator, has an apparently fixed temperature of 70 degrees. In these places the natives are entirely free from pulmonary troubles, and 70 per cent of all the consumptives who go there are either cured or benefitted to a great extent.

The best record for Sweden appears to be 68 degrees, Gottenburg and the southern section being warmest. Patagonia and the Falkland Islands are never above 55, and Tierra Del Fuego 55 degrees. The northern districts of Iceland are the warmest. In midsummer the sun does not set for a week and during this period the thermometer reaches 48 degrees. The southern extremity of Nova Zembla, which lies near the Arctic Ocean, has practically no summer, as the thermometer is never above 39 degrees.

To rise in the morning with a bad taste in the mouth and no appetite, indicates that the stomach needs strengthening. For this purpose, there is nothing better than an occasional dose of Ayer's Pills taken at bed time.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Meinhay's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

HE WEAKENED.

She Cured Him, and in Her Own Way, Too.

They had too seats next the aisle. He had been interested during the first act, laughing immoderately at the low comedian and applauding after the manner of a business person who has spent $3 for two good seats and is determined to get $4 worth of entertainment in encores.

As soon as the curtain fell, however, he began to show signs of uneasiness. The usual procession of young and old men filed out until the parquet seemed empty in spots. He turned about in his seat and watched them.

"Why do all these men go out?" she asked.

"To get a breath of fresh air or smoke a cigarette or——"

"Take a drink, I suppose."

"Well, maybe they do."

"I think it's a shame that a man can't go to the theatre and sit through an evening without running out to get liquor."

"It's not liquor; it's beer."

"What's the difference? Don't you want a drink of water?"

The boy with the tray of ice-water served them, and the young man settled back with a sigh of resignation.

After the second act he said nothing, but he refused the ice-water. When the curtain had fallen on the third act he said, with a sudden determination: "I believe I'll step out for a moment."

"No sir; you stay here."

"I want a breath of fresh air and——" He bolted away, leaving her red faced and bubbling with indignation.

A rich, malty aroma permeated that part of the theatre as he resumed his seat.

"This is the last act, isn't it?" he asked.

No reply.

"I want to tell you right now the only way you can reform me is by kindness. No? No more conversation? Very well."

They did not exchange another word. At the close of the performance she followed him out. She had her lips tight pursed and deliberately looked in an opposite direction every time he glanced at her.

At the corner he hailed a car, but, when he attempted to assist her she would not allow him. She sat down and he sat beside her. Then she rose and moved to the other side of the car.

"Chilly evening," he observed. She looked out of the window.

Presently the conductor came through and said to her, "Fare please."

She nodded in the direction of the young man, who handed the conductor a nickel.

"How about this young lady?"

"I don't know her; never saw her before."

The conductor turned to her and said, "I must ask you for your fare."

For a moment she hesitated, and then said: "Stop the car, I'll walk home."

The conductor reached for the rope, and at that moment the young man weakened. "Here's your money," said he. Then he went over and sat beside her.

"What's the use?" said he.

"You'll never take another drink?"

"Never."

HE BOBS UP AGAIN.

Sam Murray, Whom the Doctors had Pronounced as Incurable, Still on Deck—Now Acting as Foreman for a Big Lumber Concern.

North Bay, Sept. 3.—Sam Murray's name is one that has often figured in newspaper columns during the past eighteen months because he was cured of paralysis and blood poisoning by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after half a dozen physicians had pronounced him incurable. On the strength of physicians' certificates, Murray was paid his disability claim by the Grand Trunk. Since he was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, he has been accepted as a first-class risk by a leading life insurance company. About a year ago, he got a position as foreman for the big lumber concern of Davidson & Hay, of Toronto, and the fact that he was able to satisfactorily to attend to the trying duties of such a position, is ample evidence of the permanency of his cure.

SOMETHING OF INTEREST

About Pianos!

—:o:—

It Is An Actual Fact

That J. W. CROSBY sells Better Pianos for Less Money than any traveller or outside agent.

1st. Because he has no big salaries or commissions to pay to agents.

2nd. Because his expenses, rent, taxes, etc. in Peterborough, are more than one-half less than travellers and representatives living in the cities.

3rd. Because having the control of the best instruments of all the best Piano makers in the country, competition between the different makers gives him the advantage over the representatives of any one single Piano firm.

J. W. Crosby has sold about 200 Pianos in and near Peterborough. He sells the Williams, Morris, Rheinhart, Uxbridge and Gerhard Heintzman Pianos, and can undersell for quality of goods, price and terms, any and all outsiders. Try him.

Pianos from $200 to $400. He can save you $50 over outsiders or won't ask you to buy.

OFFENSIVE ECZEMA

Suffered Terribly. Doctors and Medicines Useless. Cured in Four Weeks by Cuticura.

I have a boy, fifteen years old, born in Fishkill, portrait enclosed, who had the eczema so offensive that I could not stay in the room with him. The poor boy suffered terribly. His feet were terribly sore, he could not wear any shoes, and had therefore to stay at home from school. When he put on a pair of dry stockings in the morning, they would in one hour be saturated with moisture and very offensive even in the coldest weather. The disease began to spread over his body, especially his hands and fingers. The thumbs on both his hands became stiff and as useless as two withered sticks of wood. It would be useless for me to try to tell the suffering this boy endured. I took him to two different doctors, both gave him lots of medicine, but all to no use. He grew worse. I therefore despaired of ever having him cured. One day I saw the great benefits promised to those who would use CUTICURA REMEDIES. I went right away to the drug store and bought them. However, I used them according to directions, and to-day I say truthfully to all the world, that my son is entirely cured, thank God and thank the discoverers of CUTICURA REMEDIES. They cured him in four weeks as sound as a gold dollar. JOHN HAVAGE,
Fishkill Village, N. Y.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL EXCURSION

Of Maple Leaf L.O.L. No. 46, Fraserville.

About 200 persons took in this enjoyable excursion yesterday to Jubilee Point per steamer Daisy and palace scow. The excursionists were joined at Goodfellow's Landing by representatives from Fraserville, Cavanville, Springville and surrounding country; also at Hales' Bridge and Campbelltown.

The Point was reached about 12 o'clock. Many took dinner in true picnic fashion, while others dined at Jackson's hotel, where a magnificent dinner was served by the hospitable host and hostess. Dancing was freely engaged in on the boat and at the pavilion. Capt. C. Calcutt and his crew excelled on this particular occasion, wending their way through one mass of Gilmour's logs along the river and it seemed impossible at times to clear a passage. The Alligator belonging to the Gilmour Co. threw out the search light at Hales' Bridge which proved very favourable. The committee in charge, viz: Thomas Weston, Hamilton Lockery and their able chairman, Mr. A. Reynolds, are to be congratulated on their efforts, nothing occurring to mar the pleasure of the day, only peace and good will shown towards all creeds and denominations participating.

A GUNNING ACCIDENT.

A Young Man Meets With a Serious Accident While Duck Shooting.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Jas. Noble, a son of Mr. Geo. Noble, plumber, met with a serious accident at Jubilee Point, where he had been with a companion on a duck shooting expedition. They had been out in search of duck and had just returned to the wharf when Noble took hold of the rifle which was lying on the thwart of the canoe, the muzzle pointing towards him. In lifting it up the trigger caught on the thwart, the cartridge exploding, with the result that the bullet entered the palm of the young man's hand, passing completely through and coming out in the wrist a few inches above where it entered. The young man was taken on board the Daisy, which was leaving Jubilee with the Fraserville excursionists and taken as far as Campbelltown, where a buggy was procured and he was driven home. Dr. Caldwell was summoned and the unfortunate man's injuries attended. The injury is a serious one and it will take two or three days to fully ascertain the extent of the injuries received.

CRICKET.

East Toronto failed to come or give any reason for not doing so, last Tuesday. Welland wired them early in the morning asking if they had started, but no answer was received till about 5 p. m., and then they sent it "to collect." Our boys sent it back ditto.—Welland Tribune. Peterborough, it seems, is not the only place that Toronto cricketers break their faith with.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Young men's prayer meeting at 8 p.m. on Saturday evening.

The gospel and song service at 8.30 p.m. on Sabbath will be addressed by Rev. Orr Bennet, of Russel. All are welcome.

Frozen Peaches.

One pint sugar, 1 pint boiling water, 2 quarts strained ripe peaches. Boil water and sugar 15 minutes and strain on the peaches. Mix well and when cold, freeze. Pears may be treated in the same way. Frozen peaches, like ice cream or sherbets, should be eaten slowly, else the stomach is chilled and the result harmful. For all disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels take Ayer's Pills.

NEWS FROM THE ORIENT

Japanese Forces Successfully Resisted by the Chinese.

TROOPS CENTRING AT HEIJO

Prospects of a Decisive Battle Being Fought at That Place—Li Hung's Conduct of the War Not Satisfactory—French Priest Killed as a Spy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—Oceanic advices from the Orient state that on August 10 the Japanese troops were suddenly attacked at Chuwa by the Chinese and 4 of the scouts were captured. It is rumored that they were taken to Chinese officers at Heijo, beheaded and their heads exposed to public view for four days.

A telegram from Chemplo dated August 18 stated that the Chinese have retired from the Yashan district after several days heavy fighting during which 10,000 Japanese troops were massed against 500. In the first days of the battle the Japanese met with sharp resistance and suffered losses, the Chinese losses being unimportant. The latter finally withdrew leaving the camp in charge of a guard of 300 men who were attacked and captured by an overwhelming force of Japanese before dawn. The guard was killed but not however, before 500 of the attacking party had been slain. The Japanese found only heavy baggage in the captured camp. After many Chinese non-combatants in the vicinity had been slain the Japanese forces hurried from Yashan northward to Ping-Yang and it is rumored that there has been heavy fighting in the vicinity of Ping Yang King.

The Coreans at Gonzen have killed a French priest under the impression that he was a Japanese spy.

Another Chinese Victory.

A Che Foo telegram of Aug. 24 stated that a letter had been received from Chemulpo to the effect that 19 Japanese men-of-war escorting 13 transports arrived at Tatung river on the 8th and landed about 6,000 men. This force at once proceeded inland, but before they had got half way over 1,000 Chinese cavalrymen suddenly attacked them, divided them into two and a battery of horse artillery opened fire from an eminence near by making considerable havoc. The Japanese returned to the shore and the fleet, by firing their big guns, prevented pursuit. The Chinese afterward counted 1,334 dead bodies of the enemy scattered on the road.

Li Hung Chang's Weakness.

Li Hung Chang is said to be totally different from his former self and his most trusted lieutenants fear for his future. If the Pekin government becomes hostile to Li Hung Chang his place will, it is reported, be taken by Chang Che Wan. Li Hung Chang has repeatedly called upon Lui Ming Chuei, Governor of Formosa, to take charge of the Chinese troops in Corea but he always declined the honor. The Viceroy not having any competent person to command decided not to have any commander-in-chief of the forces. He divided the troops into three divisions, each of which had a commander of its own and these commanders are to consult each other in the movements of their respective bodies. From this want of order in the army may be inferred the cause of the recent Chinese disasters. It is said that the government is in great financial difficulties. As the mounted brigands of Manchuria and other rebels are only waiting for an opportunity to rise up in arms and as China is so pressed by internal dissensions and foreign war that she cannot afford to practice her usual dilatory policy, it is her wish to put an end to the war as soon as possible, and though she has been defeated at Sellwan and Gazan she has sent troops to Heijo to fight, it is thought, the decisive battles.

Centring the Forces at Heijo.

It is reported that the Chinese army of the north, consisting of Manchurians and Chi Li men, has stopped at Ping Yang Ho, the old or northern capital of Corea, and will remain there until further reinforcements arrive. Chinese officials say that this army numbers 50,000 men. The Chinese troops at Heijo and its vicinity number nearly 15,000, while there are with them two or three hundred Coreans. There are also 2,000 more Chinese marching from Kasan upon Heijo and over 1,000 defeated troops from Seillwan and Gazan are also making for Heijo. The Chinese are building forts between Hoan and Tetsuo, the former being twelve miles from Heijo. There is no doubt that China intends the battle of Heijo to be decisive. It is also suspected that she will send out her squadron as soon as the land forces at Heijo are in full strength and engage in a decisive naval battle at the same time.

Refugees Attacked by Robbers.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—A despatch from Shanghai to the Central News says that 21 transports have sailed from Japan supposed to be destined for China.

A formidable band of robbers armed with rifles made an attack in the vicinity of New Chwang upon a number of refugees who had been obliged to flee from Yalu. Mr. McIntyre, a missionary, who was one of the party, narrowly escaped death. The refugees were without food and were compelled to eat the flesh of their horses. The residents of New Chwang are pleading for the presence of a gun-boat to protect them.

Wylie's Murder Avenged.

The murderers of Rev. James Wylie, the Presbyterian missionary, who was recently killed at Liao Yang by Chinese soldiers, who were on their way to Corea, have been executed. The officers who were in command of the troops who committed the crime were cashiered. The chapels which were destroyed by the soldiers are to be restored to the condition in which they were prior to the outrage at the expense of the people living in the locality.

A despatch to the Standard from Berlin says news has been received there that Prince Tsing, the head of the foreign office at Pekin, has induced the Emperor to order that henceforth no Chinese viceroy shall meddle with Chinese affairs. This order affects Li Hung Chang and the Viceroys of Nankin, Canton, Manchuria and Kashgar.

The Emperor of China has received letters from Corea noblemen and generals assuring his majesty of their fidelity in spite of the King of Corea's declaration of independence. A despatch from Tokio to the Chronicle says the Japanese won a great victory over the Chinese in a battle fought Sept. 7.

Chinese Forces Scattered.

The fighting was very severe. The Japanese scattered the Chinese cavalry and a detachment of Japanese afterwards captured the castle of Hwan-Ju, thirty-five miles from Phong-Yang. The losses on both sides were heavy but details of the battle are not yet obtainable. The Chinese force at Phong-Yang numbers 15,000. The Japanese are rapidly approaching that place and a great battle is impending. If the Japanese are victorious they will march to Moukden in the province of Shing-King. This position will menace Pekin.

A despatch from Yokohama to the Times says that large detachments of troops have been sent to reinforce the Japanese army in Corea. Wagers are being made in Tokio that the Japanese will occupy Pekin or Moukden by the third of November.

LOSSES BY LIGHTNING.

Farmers Suffer Heavily by the Storm—One Man Killed.

LAMONVILLE, Ont., Sept. 17.—A very severe thunderstorm passed over this place on Saturday night. A Mr. Lloyd and his horse were killed in front of the C.P.R. telegraph office where the lightning struck demolishing the office. Miss Earle, operator, was very badly hurt.

MARKHAM, Sept. 17.—The barn belonging to Mr. John Torrance, on the seventh concession of Markham, about one mile from the village, was struck by lightning during the severe thunder storm which passed over here on Saturday evening. All this season's crops and several farm implements were burned. Partly covered by insurance.

SELKIRK, Ont., Sept. 17.—During a heavy storm on Saturday the British Lion, a three masted schooner, while lying at anchor in Hoover's Bay, broke her cable and was driven on shore. The crew is safe.

COLDSTREAM, Ont., Sept. 17.—John Carmichael's barns were struck by lightning on Saturday, catching fire, resulting in the total loss of his barns and contents, estimated at about $3,000. Seven hundred bushels of wheat, 1,000 bushels of oats and peas, four or five tons of hay, and about half of his crop of corn, which was placed in the silo, were also destroyed. At the same time a cow which was pasturing in the field was struck and instantly killed. The property was insured for $1,550.

MARKHAM, Ont., Sept. 17.—During the terrific thunderstorm which poured over this place on Saturday the barn on George Robinson's farm, adjoining the village, was struck by lightning and totally consumed together with all the season's crops and one colt. Loss about $3,000. Insurance on the barn, $300.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE.

An Appeal Against a Decision Disallowing Women to Act as Delegates Sustained.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 17.—At the Methodist General Conference on Saturday the report of the court of appeal was read by the secretary, Rev. Dr. W. T. Shaw. Most of the cases were appeals from rulings and decisions of presidents of the annual conferences. The appeal against a decision of the Nova Scotia conferences, refusing to receive a woman who had been elected as a delegate, was sustained.

Principal Mills moved the following amendment to the report of the itinerancy committee: "That the following be added to section 4, paragraph 142, page 55 of the book of discipline: Provided, however, that in special cases, where the necessities of the work seems to demand it, a minister at the request of the quarterly official board expressed at the third or fourth meeting in the conference year in a three-fourths vote taken by ballot, may by a two-thirds vote of the stationing committee be continued at a station or circuit for four or five years in succession." This amendment carried.

It was on motion ordered that the election of general conference officers be the order of business for to-morrow.

HEMMED IN BY FIRE.

A Workman Has a Narrow Escape From a Terrible Death.

MONTREAL, Sept. 17. — A workman named Delude had a narrow escape from being burned to death in a sewer on Beaudry street on Saturday. Since the construction of the Beaudry street tunnel has been under way it has been found necessary to have a man inspect the sewer, which runs above the tunnel in a parallel direction. Delude went into the sewer through an opening made for the purpose at the wharf and taking with him a candle. He was well on toward the other end of the sewer in the neighborhood of Notre Dame street, when the gas, which by some means had accumulated in the drain, caught fire both behind and in front of him. Delude's only possible means of escape was the way he had come and that meant through nearly 300 feet of flame. He, however, succeeded in making his way through a manhole and escaped. He is badly burned about the face, neck and hands, the skin pealing off the exposed parts.

An Oil Train on Fire.

HUDSON, Wis., Sept. 17.—Three oil cars on the Omaha road caught fire near Roberts station and were detached from the caboose from the freight train. The passengers were transferred from one car to another during the fire. One tank exploded, throwing the oil several feet in the air. Several spectators were badly burned. Doctors from here are in attendance. A train has taken the injured to St. Paul.

IN BRITISH POLITICS

Two Important Movements Having Bearing on the Next Elections.

UNIONIST PLANS OF CAMPAIGN

The Government's Programme to be Announced by Lord Rosebery in November—F. X. O'Brien Admits Signing the Famous Irish Circular.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Underneath a seeming stagnation of politics two highly important movements are progressing. The movement of first importance is the initiative step of Chamberlain Unionists who are about to merge with the Conservatives, partly with a view of consolidating the anti-home rule forces in the coming general elections.

The mere reform of the mechanism of elections is not by any means the biggest change intended to be brought about through this movement. The Duke of Devonshire, the arch unionist, and his scarcely less astute coadjutator, Mr. Chamberlain, propose a common programme marking the entire absorption of the Unionists by the Conservatives, the chief feature of the movement being the revision of Mr. Chamberlain's Irish local government scheme to the extent of creating county councils with the central legislature located in Dublin. The Duke of Devonshire is also credited with having urged Lord Salisbury to accede to a reform of the House of Lords by decreasing the hereditary element and increasing the representative element. Obviously it is the desire of the Liberal element of the Unionists to go to the country in the next elections with a platform containing the most attractive planks of the election manifesto of the opponent.

The other movement, which originated with the wire pullers of the National Liberal Federation, aims to recast the Newcastle programme, putting in the foreground the proposals for the abolition of the veto power of the House of Lords and the English labor questions and keeping in the back ground the questions of home rule and church disestablishment. The executive committee of the National Federation are convinced that home rule is no longer a potent party cry and believe it necessary that the electorate should be agitated upon other grounds. Lord Rosebery will announce the programme of the Government in a speech in November and in view of this the conference of the Liberal association which was to be convened in November, has been postponed. A section of the Irish party which has admitted the necessity of first controlling the House of Lords by extracting their fangs before the question of home rule is again submitted, has been convinced of their error and practically side-tracked.

The latest development in the controversy over the Irish circular to which Mr. Gladstone, Lord Tweedmouth and other eminent Liberals responded is Mr. Francis Xavier O'Brien's communication on the subject to the newspapers. Mr. O'Brien at first declared that he knew nothing whatever about the circular. Next he asseverated that he did not sign the circular, though he might have known of its existence. Finally he says: "I find to my surprise that not only did I sign the circular, but I made some alterations in the wording of it." Mr. Healey has taken advantage of this admission. He has his opponents on the hip and means to throw them. A Healeyite deputation is about to start for America to cultivate support of Mr. Healey's opinion and obtain funds to back them. Mr. E. F. V. Knox, M.P. for Gayen, contributes to the controversy a statement that the election expenses of the anti-Parnellites in 1892 were largely paid by the National Liberal Club of Great Britain.

The Czar has sent an autograph letter to the Queen, reinviting her Majesty to the wedding of the Czarewitch and Princess Alixis of Hesse, in which he urges that himself and his whole family are anxious for the presence of the Queen on that occasion. The Queen is desirous of going to St. Petersburg and is taking the advice of her Ministers and physicians on the subject.

A new British trade dollar is being coined for use in the east in the Calcutta mint. It is of the same weight and fineness as the Mexican peso. This will help the Indian authorities to use some of their surplus silver.

The Trouble in Brazil.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A cable from Buenos Ayres says: In an interview Admiral Mello said that the Brazilian refugees hoped that President-elect Mortes will be allowed to take office in November. The refugees believe, the admiral said, that Gen. Morses' inauguration would be marked by the granting of an amnesty to Brazilian revolutionists. Mello added, however, that the general opinion among his adherents is that President Peixoto will refuse to give up his office when the time arrives for him to do so. He has increased the army from 14,000 to 24,000 men, and has recently purchased 150,000 rifles in Germany, giving his excuse for those acts that trouble will follow Argentina's refusal to abide by President's decision in the matter of the Missiones territory boundary. Admiral Mello says that President Peixoto will take advantage of the first sign of trouble to throw aside all disguise and proclaim himself military dictator.

Four Couples Elope.

MARATHON, O., Sept. 17.—Four couples from near here have eloped. They were William Smith and Annie Applegate, Howard Reddick and Louise Malott, Harry Reddick and Myrtle Hancock, and James Applegate and Tempa McFester. They took four horses, two spring waggons and a camping outfit. The horses, waggons, harness, horse blankets, waggon covers, etc., were missing from different farms and were supposed to be stolen. Ann Applegate is the only one of the females who is of age. Five officers have started from here after the elopers.

Mutiny Among State Militia.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Mutiny broke out in the ranks of Battery D of the Illinois National Guard and seventeen artillerymen were placed under arrest pending dishonorable discharge. The trouble had its origin in the failure of the State to pay the men for their service at the stock yards during the recent railroad strike.

CANADA UNDER THE N. P.

Contrast of Promise and Performance —A Story of Failure.

Following the example which Sir John Thompson set at the Toronto exhibition, Conservative papers are dwelling just now on the prosperity with which we have been blessed since 1878, that is, under the N. P. Noticeably, however, their utterances, like the Premier's at Toronto, lack the confident ring which used to be the note of Conservative articles and speeches ten or twelve years ago. The writers seem to be asking themselves, "Who is going to be taken in by this story? Can we make intelligent men believe that the Dominion has really been enjoying prosperity for these sixteen years, and enjoying it in consequence of a measure that adds enormously to the taxation, handicaps all the great natural industries, and tolls the labour of the many to enrich the few?"

The authors of the N. P., as anyone may see who reads the second volume of Macpherson's "Life of Sir John Macdonald," the budget speeches of Sir Leonard Tilley in 1879 and 1882, and Sir Charles Tupper's budget speech in 1887, made these promises amongst others:—

To abolish business depression.
To stop the exodus.
To turn the "balance of trade" in our favour.
To tax British goods in the bulk less than foreign.
To give the farmer a home market.
To develop our mineral wealth.
To obtain reciprocity with the United States.
To reduce the debt to $100,000,000 by 1890.
To place a million people in the Northwest by 1891.

The last feat was to be accomplished only in part by the N. P. "We have vast territories to fill up in the Northwest and BRITISH COLUMBIA, THAT GLORIOUS LAND which Lord Dufferin lately visited and spoke so approvingly of. It is our duty to fill up these territories, to develop their wonderful resources, and we can best assist in doing so by the adoption of a policy which will tend to improve the condition of the manufacturer and in the nature of things materially benefit all classes of the community." Speech by Mr. Thomas White, Macpherson, vol. 2, p. 248.

The reduction of the debt to $100,000,000 was one of the promises in the budget speech of 1882. It was to be accomplished by the immense receipts from Northwest lands.

The development of the mines was promised in Sir John Macdonald's resolutions of 1877 and 1878 and in the budget of 1879, but more particularly in the budget of 1887. In that year, when imposing heavy iron duties, Sir Charles Tupper looked with confidence to the erection of blast furnaces at Cobourg, Weller's Bay and Kingston, and also to the establishment "at an early day of industries for the manufacture of iron in the Northwest." Moreover, "by the adoption of this policy you will give permanent employment to an army of men numbering at least 20,000, increasing our population from 80,000 to 100,000 souls and affording the means of supporting them in comfort and prosperity." Furthermore, "this estimate of an increased population of 100,000 souls does not take into account the manufacture of castings and forgings, cutlery and edged tools, hardware, machinery and engines or steel rails. Were we to manufacture these articles now imported—and there is no reason why we should not steadily progress to that point—the population I have mentioned of 100,000 souls would be no less than trebled."

THE ADVERSE BALANCE OF TRADE was cited by Sir Leonard in his budget speech of 1879 as one of the prime causes of hard times, and he proposed to turn it the other way. As to the taxation of British goods, "it may be said we shall receive from the imports from foreign countries a larger portion of the $2,000,000 we require than we shall receive from the mother country. I believe such will be the effect, but I think that in making such a statement to the House, belonging as we do to and forming a part of that great country—a country that receives our natural products without any taxation, every thing we have to send her—apart from our national feelings I think this House will not object if, in the propositions before me, the duties touch more heavily the imports from foreign countries than from our fatherland."

That the N.P. would tend to secure reciprocity of trade with the Americans through reciprocity of tariffs was set forth in Sir John Macdonald's resolution of 1878 and elsewhere. He promised tall chimneys and a lucrative all-absorbing home market for the farmer in his picnic speeches. See, for instance, Macpherson, vol. 2, p.p. 214 and 216, where he also declared that "our workmen can be fully employed if we encourage our manufactures; they need not go over to the States to add strength and wealth to a foreign country and to deprive us of that strength and wealth." The removal of depression, the inauguration of an era of unclouded prosperity, was another standard feature. Lord Lorne, a free trader, was made to say in the speech from the throne in 1879 that the N.P. would "aid in removing the commercial and financial depression which unhappily continues to exist." In 1882 the return of the Conservative party was asked in order to assure foreign investors who were WAITING TO PLACE THEIR MILLIONS that they might safely do so. In his budget speech that year Sir Leonard told the manufacturers to "clap on all sail" and looked for a boom period of indefinite duration. It is notorious that there are not a million persons in the Northwest, but only 250,000; the net debt is not $100,000,000, but $250,000,000; we have not got reciprocity, it is doubtful indeed if the Government will accept the American offer of a free exchange of farm implements; there has been no mineral developement to speak of, the iron duties having confessedly failed; instead of a home market absorbing their surplus products at high prices, the farmers export more than ever and prices were never so low; British goods in the bulk are taxed more severely than American; since 1879 the so-called balance of trade has been against us to the tune of $200,000,000, as necessarily must happen to a borrowing country situated as this is; the census of 1891 destroys any pretence that the exodus has been stopped; while as for the condition of trade in recent years and now the least said the better. It is easy for a partisan speaker or newspaper to indulge in the vague assertion that the N. P. has been a blessing. But when tried by the only satisfactory test, namely, a comparison of its performances with its promises, in detail, it turns out to have been a general, all-round disappointment; the inference is plain that such progress as has been made since 1878 or 1879 has been made not by reason of it, but by reason of that natural growth and developement which all new countries enjoy in a special degree. That it has brought certain infant industries into a cold world and been of more or less benefit to some old ones cannot be denied, but this has been done at the expense of the other industries. And it is doubtful if even the expectations of the favoured few have been realized.

Sufferers from dyspepsia have only themselves to blame if they fail to test the wonderful curative qualities of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In purifying the blood, this medicine strengthens every organ of the body, and even the most abused stomach is soon restored to healthy action.

A CONSULTING engineer in New Jersey has come to the conclusion that half the money to be spent in improving the roads would have to be used in relocating some and in reducing the grades of others. The original road builders seemed to prefer to go to the summits of high hills, making grades of twelve or sixteen feet to the hundred, while there were close at hand valleys that seemed to have been created for roads.

THE Toronto News says:—"Sir John Thompson opened the Tororto Fair and Mackenzie Bowell is going to open the Woodstock and the Peterborough Fair. While opening fairs seems to be in the Government's line, suppose they vary the programme by opening Cardwell." The trouble is that they don't know whether, when they touch the button, there will be a steam whistle or an explosion.

A Good Advertisement.

"What constitutes a good advertisement?" I asked this question the other day of a man who has a national reputation as a writer of bright, effective and trade-creating advertisements. He replied: "There is a wide divergence of opinion among advertisers as to what the ingredients of of a good ad. consists of and each is entitled to some consideration, for among the most successful advertisers are men whose methods are widely at variance. In my opinion it is of prime importance that an advertisement contain nothing but the plain, unvarnished truth. No deviation from this principle is permissible, for fictitious offers are apt to be taken seriously, and when buyers cannot find the articles in the store at the prices quoted in the advertisement they soon become distrustful of the merchant who seeks thus to entrap them. Brevity is also an important factor. Then again an advertisement should have a bright, catchy introduction that will arrest the reader's attention until his mind has absorbed the substance of the ad. I also believe in a liberal use of price figures and in frequent offerings of genuine bargains. It must also be remembered that an advertisement, like a dozen of eggs, may be spoiled in setting. Typography that will make an advertisement, no matter how small, stand out prominently is what is needed."—Buffalo News.

Hints on Exercise.

Even those who feel that they have not the time or the patience to carry out the various health culture fads, and the bodily exercises that are vaunted nowadays, pick up some bits of information that stand them in good stead. For instance, there is the recommendation to walk from the hips, as it is called—that is, without bending the knees. It will be found that this effort tends to an erect carriage and that one may promenade with less sense of fatigue by trying the plan.

Children Who Suffer

from scrofulous skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetising, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't cure in every case, the money is returned.

Dyspepsia arises from wrong action of the stomach, liver and bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters cures Dyspepsia and all diseases arising from it. 99 times in 100.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

PEARY PARTY RETURN

Both Expeditions Arrive Safely at St. Johns, Newfoundland.

THEIR MISSION A FAILURE

Peary and Lee Henson Remain in the Polar Regions for Another Attempt to Cross Greenland Next Year —A Succession of Storms Defeated Their Plan.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Sept. 17.—The steamer Falcon has returned bringing the Peary and auxiliary expeditions, except Peary himself and Lee Henson, who both remain another year in hope of successfully crossing Greenland, which they failed to accomplish this year. The expedition met the most unfavorable conditions all through last fall.

Most of the expedition last fall and winter was devoted to preparations for the inland ice journey to Independence Bay, which began on March 6 with a party of eight men, twelve sledges and ninety-two dogs. Five natives also assisted during the first two or three days of the month of March. On April 18th, Peary, Baldwin, Entrikin and Clark, with twenty-four dogs and twenty sledges, arrived at Anniversary Lodge, having advanced in 31 days 134 miles and there reached their remaining supplies and equipment, leaving Astrup Lee and Davidson in charge, Dr. Vincent having been previously sent back, incapacitated from service.

Bad weather and a succession of storms culminated on March 19 while 25 members of the expedition were at a camp 40 miles from Anniversary Lodge, at an elevation of 5,500 feet. In the equnotial storm, which continued for four days, the temperature averaged from 45 to 55 degrees below zero and reached a minimum of 60 degrees and the wind for 34 consecutive hours blew 48 miles an hour. The combination of temperature and velocity of wind, it is believed, will break the record as far above that sustained by any other Arctic exploring party. All of the explorers escaped serious injury except Davidson, whose left foot was frozen, but he has since fully recovered. Many of the dogs were frozen solid and others had to be chopped out of the ice.

Messrs. Peary, Baldwin, Entrikin and Clarke pushed on and in a few days were 85 miles further. The maximum day's march was 18 miles. The plague having carried off many dogs, Entrikin being unfit for travel, the party so reduced by hardships they had undergone that the plans of the summer could not possibly be carried out, and only one-half the distance to Independence Bay had been accomplished, when it had been expected they would reach that point ten days earlier, it was therefore decided to return. The dogs continued to die on the homeward march, compelling the abandonment of the sledge during May.

On the trip they surveyed and mapped a hitherto unknown coastline to Melville Bay, for one hundred miles. Messrs. Peary and Lee are the first white men to see, locate and measure the historic iron meteorite near Cape York which they will bring home next year. Mr. Entrikin and Dr. Vincent made a sledge journey to Littleton Island. They would have reached Kane's headquarters but for open waters.

Lt. and Mrs. Peary made a sledge journey to Oirike Bay. Miss Ahnigito Peary, who was one year old last Wednesday, with an Esquiomus, the finest of her tribe to come south of the arctic circle, returned with the party. Lt. Peary accompanied the Falon as far as Cape York, hoping to send home a meteorite, but the ice made this impossible. He left the ship Saturday morning, off Petowik Glacier, thirty-five miles north of Cape York in an open whale boat with Henson and a crew of five natives bound for Falcon harbor, 150 miles distant. Lee had been in charge during his absence. When last seen the boat was standing on her course under full sail with a fair wind.

A tidal wave on October 31, 1893, destroyed the launch and dories and swept more than half the oil supply, of which a portion was subsequently recovered. The barroes carrier pigeon and launch General Wister proved of little service to the explorers. The party at the lodge are amply supplied and provisioned for a year and will be supported on island ice next spring by the natives. The auxiliary expedition, despite the fact that the ice was heavier and more general than for many years, accomplished most important work, all that was in any way practicable. Communication with Peary was not opened until August 1st and Falcon harbor was not reached until the 20th. The ice also prevented the proposed explorations of Ellesmere land, but the auxiliary party gathered much valuable scientific data, made a careful study of many important glaciers and obtained much new and valuable material in Arctic deep sea dredging. The party searched for but failed to discover any traces of the missing Swedish explorers, Bjorling and Katstenimus.

Mrs. Peary with her girl baby returned by the Falcon. The baby was born September 12, 1892. When the Falcon goes north next year to bring Peary back Mrs. Perry will go in her.

The rapid action of the "great pain cure," Polson's Nerviline, in relieving the most intense pain, is a matter of wonder to all who use it. There is nothing surprising in its results, for it is made of the strongest, purest and most efficient remedies known in medicine. Nerviline cures toothache instantly; cramps in five minutes; neuralgia after two applications; rheumatism is at once relieved by its use; and the same may be said of all kinds of pain. Sample bottles, costing only 10 cents, at any drug store. The large bottles only 25 cents. Polson's Nerviline sold by druggists and country dealers.

A Common Trouble.

With many people in this climate there is a large portion of poisonous, purulent discharge which drops into the throat during sleep, and is swallowed. This disturbs the functions of the stomach, causing weakness of that organ, and producing indigestion, dyspepsia, nausea, and loss of appetite. There is no better remedy for these troubles than Eseljay's Liver Lozenges. They can be had at all drug stores at 25 cents a box or 5 boxes for a dollar.

Some people laugh to show their pretty teeth. The use of Ivory White Tooth Powder makes people laugh more than ever. Its so nice. Price 25c. Sold by all druggists.

ACCIDENT AT THE FALLS.

A New Jersey Woman Run Over by a Trolley and Instantly Killed.

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept. 17.—The first fatal accident occurred on the Niagara Falls Park and River Railway electric road on Saturday, Miss Elizabeth Edgar, of Plainfield, N.J., aged 60 years, being the victim. The lady had been visiting her niece, Mrs. C. M. Morris, of Buffalo, and the two ladies came down from the city to spend the day at the Falls. After riding to Queenston they returned to the Clifton house. The two ladies walked up through the park to Inspiration Point, about midway between the Falls and Clifton house. Mrs. Moore returned to the Clifton house to get a carriage for a drive, leaving Miss Edgar in the rustic building at Inspiration Point, where she remained until she saw her niece approach in a carriage up the drive. She walked towards the carriage, crossing the double tracks of the electric road. A trolley car with trailer was approaching from Chippewa at a rapid rate, but was apparently not seen and certainly not heard by Miss Edgar, as she was very deaf, and in the direction she was walking the sun shone in her face.

The cars struck her squarely, both passing over her body, nearly severing the head from the body. Mrs. Moore, who was a witness of the whole affair, was about the first to reach the body after it was taken out and placed upon the grass.

The park officers, Drs. McGarry and Connor, and the railroad officials were quickly on the ground. Superintendent Wilson, of the park, assisted Mrs. Moore to his office, where she stated that Edgar started to come toward her. She noticed she was in great danger and both she and the driver of the carriage signalled to her to stay back. Then Miss Edgar hesitated, but evidently misunderstood the signal to mean to come ahead, and made the fatal step. The trolley man upon seeing her did everything to stop the car, but was too close to the unfortunate woman. The remains were sent to her home yesterday.

AT THE END OF HER TETHER.

Montreal Society Circles Shocked by the Arrest of One of Their Members.

MONTREAL, Sept. 17.—A decided sensation has been caused in local society circles by the news which soon gained currency that a well known lady named Chreville, who had been a prominent character around many of the hotels for several years, had been arrested on a charge of obtaining goods without paying for them. The news caused consternation among many local swells, who have been on friendly terms with the lady in question.

The accused belongs to one of the leading French-Canadian families in the province. Her grand father, during his lifetime, was a prominent politician and her father occupies a high position in the civil service. It was while the family was stopping for a period at a leading hotel that the young lady commenced to lead a gay life. For several years she had been doing the rounds of all the leading hotels and her escapades have been the talk of the inmates. The young lady lived in the grandest style, ordering the most expensive costumes from leading local establishments. When one hotel became too hot for her, she would quickly make her exit and take up her abode at another. She became so reckless recently, in fact, and her conduct provoked such a lot of comment, that the proprietor requested her to leave. Last week she took her departure and went to Longueile. Before she left the hotel she had a costly robe made at a well known military establishment. She received it before she left the hotel and has been wearing it since but did not pay for it. Finding that she had left the hotel and had given no clue as to her whereabouts, a warrant was procured for her arrest.

A Brutal Assault With a Hatchet.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 17.—Michael Cavanaugh, a well-known character here, who had left his family and was living alone in an old shanty, was almost killed by Benjamin Brooks, a former resident, who is well known to the police. Brooks and his wife returned to the city after a years' absence and arranged to occupy Cavanaugh's house. When he came to the house Cavanaugh refused to admit him. Brooks procured a hatchet, broke into the house and attacked Cavanaugh, giving him twenty bad cuts. Cavanaugh escaped to the street where he fell down. He was discovered and sent to the hospital. As soon as Cavanaugh left the house Brooks turned upon his wife and but for the timely arrival of the police would have killed her. She was sent to the hospital badly slashed with a knife. Brooks was remanded one week to await the outcome of Cavanaugh's injuries. The doctors say he has one chance in ten to recover.

. . . AND . . .

MANTLES.

I take pleasure in announcing that the formal opening of our New Fall Millinery and Mantle Rooms will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday

Sept. 20th, 21st and 22nd.

The display of Rich Fall Novelties in both the Millinery and Mantle Departments will be of such a complete and attractive character as to merit a visit of inspection from the ladies.

☞It is especially worthy of notice that ALL our Beautiful Goods, Styles and Novelties are perfectly NEW, as this is our FIRST Autumn Opening in these Departments.

Yours respectfully,

ROBERT HALL,

Death of a Mariposa Lady.

Ann Graham, wife of Mr. Stephen Dundas, Mariposa, died at the residence of her son, Alfred Dundas, 155 Aylmer street, yesterday, of paralysis of the brain. The deceased lady came with her parents from Ireland, in 1833, and settled in the township of Ops. She was united in marriage to Mr. Stephen Dundas, in 1845, and with her husband settled on lot 22, con. 9, township of Mariposa. Of this union five sons and two daughters were born, all of whom are living. The funeral will leave the residence of her son, 155 Aylmer street, to-morrow morning, at 8 a. m., and proceed to the Grand Trunk station. The remains will be taken to Lindsay and interred in the family burying plot.

Death of an Early Settler.

The death of Mrs. Matthew Ingram, on Sunday last, removes one of the earliest settlers in Verulam. Mrs. Ingram had reached the age of 85 years, and had led an active an energetic life, until some four months ago, when she received a sudden stroke of paralysis, which left one side helpless and deprived her of the power of speech. Until then she had not known what illness was, and may be said to have never had a doctor. In the year '33, Mr. and Mrs. Ingram came out from the County of Fermanagh, Ireland, they spent a short time in Harvey, and their daughter, who afterwards became Mrs. John Junkin, was the first white female child born in Harvey. They then located in Verulam, where they have remained for the last sixty years. Nine children were born, five of whom are now alive. Mr. Ingram still gets about, and is able to tell some interesting stories of the early days, when he carried his grists on his back over a track through the woods, to the Portage, now Bobcageon, and rowed in a punt to the Purdy Mill, on the Scugog, now Lindsay. To get a grist sometimes took two or three days, as customers had to wait their turn. They camped on the river bank while they waited, and if they ran out of grub, they made slap jacks with the new grist, and were happy. The Scugog, in those days, was a very pretty stream, narrow and winding through the forest, the trees frequently arching over the water. Mrs. Ingram was buried in the Verulam cemetery, on Tuesday, and the funeral was very largely attended.—Independent.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The 57th Battalion rifle matches take place Thursday.

—There was a clean slate at the Police Court this morning.

—City Lodge, No. 404, I.O.G.T., will pay a fraternal visit to Westwood Good Templars this evening.

—The Smith, Eanismore and village of Lakefield Fair will be held at Lakefield on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

—Mrs. (Mayor) Kendry will speak at an open meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church, Lakefield, this evening.

—The Peterborough Workingmen's Building and Savings Society will meet this evening in the office of Messrs. Cox & Davis, George street. The directors are particularly requested to be present.

—Mr. A. Fitzgerald, Ashburnham, received word this morning that his brother-in-law had been found dead on the road between Welcome and Port Hope. Mr. Fitzgerald will likely leave for Port Hope this evening.

—The directors of the Lindsay Central Fair have decided to engage the Oakville brass band to furnish music during the exhibition. This is poor encouragement for the Lindsay Citizens band, and certainly the directors are not pursuing a business-like policy. Encourage home talent.

—The government dredge has been engaged for the past month at the Three Islands in dredging out the steamboat channel, which was badly needed. The gravel excavated from the channel is loaded on scows and towed down to the dam where it is dumped to fill in above it.—News.

—Saturday evening and Sunday a report was circulated about town to the effect that Mr. Peter Kerr, the young man who figured in Friday evening's drowning accident, had succumbed to the shock received. The report, happily, was untrue. Mr. Kerr was considerably improved yesterday.

—During the harvest, Mr. A. Fairbairn, of Smith, in order to find the relative value of the different brands of twine made a test. He took a ball of each kind weighing 3 lbs. 13 oz. The Brantford twine tied 750 sheaves, Redcap 621 and the prison twine 601. The cheapest is not always the best and most profitable in the end.—News.

—An English lady died the other day, the Bobcageon Independent says, and in her will it was found that she had bequeathed the whole of her fortune amounting to over £2,000, to the editor of a newspaper the perusal of whose writings had given her many happy hours. Wealthy readers of this journal are politely requested to make a note of this. That which is quickly given, is doubly given, is also an excellent proverb. Twenty-five cents, now, given at once would cast a roseate hue over the path of this journal, and rays of brilliant inspiration would skip and twirl in serpentine dances through its pages.

An Arm Broken.

On Sunday, Dr. Carmichael was called to attend the eight-year-old son of Mr. R. N. Scott, Communication road, Smith, who had fallen from an apple tree and broken his arm. The accident caused a fracture and dislocation of the elbow. The little sufferer's injuries were attended to by the doctor, and are not of a very serious nature.

A Benefit to Visitors.

Through the kindness of the C. P. R. authorities, the Havelock, 7.50 p. m., local will hold over until 11:15, on Tuesday evening Sept. 25th, in order to allow those, who intend taking in the Peterborough exhibition, on that date, an opportunity of being present to witness the evening attractions. This move, on the part of the C. P. R., will be taken advantage of by a large number in that district.

Prof. Alexander's Lectures.

Prof. Alexander will continue his lecture series at the opera house part of this week. Wednesday night he will deliver his popular lecture on "Love, courtship, marriage and jealousy," and at the close will give a free examination to any two ladies who will come forward, and after describing their various characteristics, he will select from the young men present the most suitable and will match the couples on the stage. The lecture to-night will be on "The Laws of Health."

Big Snap in Cloth-Bound Books.

Just received at the Peterborough Bookstore direct from the United States Book Company, New York, 800 volumes of cloth bound books, purchased just in the nick of time at rock bottom prices. We have decided to put the entire lot on our bargain counter and will commence on Saturday to run them off at the following emaciated prices for such handsomely cloth bound books:

Books worth 50c for 25c.
Books worth 75c for 50c, gilt edge.
Books worth $1.00 for 75c.

Do not fail to have a chance at these rare bargains. Come in early on Saturday and look over the popular titles and authors. The above phenomenal prices should clear the stock out rapidly, as this is the first time this fine issue of books have been offered at so small a price. — A. H. STRATTON & Co.

The Home of the Home Journal.

"An Intra-Mural View," a very artistic brochure, has been received from the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia, publishers of The Ladies' Home Journal. As the title indicates, the booklet gives us glimpses of the interiors of the Journal's offices, and some idea of the work carried on there. The main building, entirely occupied by the editorial and business offices, was designed by Mr. Hardenberg, the architect of the Hotel Waldorf, New York, and was completed in January, 1893. The exterior is attractive and the interior elegantly appointed and admirably planned. The numerous illustrations, showing the commodious and well-fitted offices, and the accompanying text, giving us some insight into the work in the different bureaus, requiring a force approximating four hundred employees, indicate the wonderful success which The Ladies' Home Journal has achieved in an almost incredibly short time. The first number was issued in December, 1883, so that less than eleven years have elapsed since Mr. Curtis conceived the idea which has developed into so vast an enterprise. In this short time its merit and steady improvement in all departments have received such recognition that its circulation has reached the enormous average of about 700,000, the largest magazine output in the world. The brochure also describes at some length the work of printing and binding the Journal, which is carried on in a separate building. "An Intra-Mural View" will be sent to any one who will address The Curtis Publishing Company, and inclose four cents in stamps for postage.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The Gospel and Song service in the Y.M.C.A. rooms Sunday evening was well attended, and an interesting address was delivered by Rev. Orr Bennett, of Russell.

Rev. Dr. Reynor, of Victoria University, Toronto, occupied the pulpit at the George street church yesterday both morning and evening. His discourses were earnest and practical.

Rev. H. Symonds commenced a special course sermons on "Religion," in St. Luke's church yesterday evening. His first discourse was an earnest and practical one, and was listened to by a large congregation.

There was a marked increase in the attendance at Auburn Mission last evening. Mr. Sutherland conducted the services, reading and expounding the 20th chapter of St. Matthew. The address was given from the 7th chapter of the book of Judges, 20th verse: "The sword of the Lord and of Gideon." Miss Reid conducted the singing.

CHARLOTTE STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Rae occupied his own pulpit and preached a very practical sermon, taking his text from Genesis 42 chapter, 36 verse, last clause of the verse, "All these things are against me." The preacher gave a short synopsis of the life of Jacob, pointing out his weak points, his crafty policy towards his brother and others. He particularly emphasised the weakness of Jacob in showing partiality to his favourite son Joseph, pointing out to his hearers the danger of making favourites in families. The speaker, in language strong and forcible, denounced some of the secret sins of society, which he held to be a disgrace in this enlightened age. If every pulpit denounced, in language plain and direct, these evils spoken of, would be given up, or those guilty of these sins would be ashamed of them. After illustrating his subject by anecdote and earnest exhortation, the preacher called the attention of his hearers to Jacob's mistake in uttering the words of the text—proving by his after life in the land of Goshen how God had directed everything for his good, the preacher pointed out the bright side of the picture, Joseph's meeting with Benjamin and making himself known to his brethren and finally Jacob's settling in the land of Goshen, where he had peace and plenty and where his declining years were spent in the bosom of his family, dying at a good old age. The preacher quoted the text, "All things work together for good to them that love the Lord," and closed a service which must have been a benefit to all who heard him.

The evening sermon was, as announced, on common people, the text was chosen from the 16th chapter of Romans, 14th verse—Paul's salutation to his fellow-helpers which he calls by name. The church was crowded and everyone was pleased with the service.

Mr. A. L. Davis and Miss Fawcett sang with great feeling the grand piece, "In the cross of Christ I glory, etc."

PERSONAL.

Mr. Thos. Walters, of Lindsay, was in town to-day.

G. Sidney McPherson, of Hamilton, is visiting friends in town.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor held confirmation services at Grafton, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maude and daughter, of Peterborough, are visiting friends in town.—Galt Reformer.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Baker arrived home after an extended visit to Peterborough and Toronto.—Galt Reformer.

Mr. Alex. Gibson, wife and child, arrived home from the Old Country this morning. Mr. Gibson reports having enjoyed an excellent holiday. Mrs. Gibson returns very much improved in health.

Mr. E. Stone, Rochester, N. Y., formerly of the firm of Stone & Bailey, is in town, on a short visit with friends. Mr. Stone has numerous friends, who would be glad to have him again take up his residence in our midst.

Mr. D. Elliott, foreman of the erecting department of the Canadian General Electric Works, is at present in Montreal, placing in position the M. P. 300 generator for the Montreal Street Railway Company. He is expected to be absent about three weeks.

Mr. Angus Carmichael, of Rat Portage, is in town, visiting with his brother, Dr. D. H. Carmichael, on his return from New York. Mr. Carmichael is major of the forces in Rat Portage district, and at present acting colonel, besides carrying on an extensive general business there.

The concert season is at hand and the musical people of Peterborough will be pleased to learn that they will soon have the opportunity of hearing, in concert, Herr Heinrich Klingenfeld, late of Leipzig, one of the most competent violin artists of America. Herr Klingenfeld will arrive in town in a few days to give a public performance and also to arrange for a professional connection with the town.

The North Bay Times says: Rev. A. F. Kelly, who has been stationed here since Feb. 1st, and attending the missions in Parry Sound attached to North Bay, has been appointed parish priest at Trout Creek with all the missions as far south as Burk's Falls. All his friends in North Bay, without any exceptions, are glad that his Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, has seen fit to place him over such an extensive and important parish. From the work which Father Kelly has done since coming to this section, he well deserves the promotion and confidence placed in him. The feeling and harmony that exists between himself and all classes go to show that he is of an even tenor, and that there is much more to be accomplished by harmony than strife. While his many friends will regret his removal from a social standpoint they are pleased of his appointment to be P. P. of the missions in which he has worked so earnestly.

A BOLD BURGLAR

Enters the Bar of the Southern Hotel and Helps Himself.

Some time Sunday morning a burglar paid a visit to the Southern House and succeeded in gaining an entrance into the bar from the north side of the building, where he cleverly took out a large pane of glass from one of the windows, which gave him easy access to the bar-room, notwithstanding the fact that the window was protected by a number of iron bars. After having gained an entrance he proceeded to help himself to the choicest brands of liquor and made himself decidedly at home. He then turned his attention to the cash register, and emptied it of its contents, amounting to over five dollars. After having satisfied himself he silently stole away without alarming any of the occupants. Sunday morning when Mr. Holland was going his rounds, he noticed the window pane out and at once came to the conclusion that he had a visitor during the night or early morning, and when going into the bar he noticed the cash register empty and a consignment of the "crathur" missing. There is no clue to the burglar.

A Yankee Bail Jumper Captured.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 17.—Frank Teele, of Hurleyville, N. Y., was arrested here on Saturday at the instigation of Detective Geo. A. Waldorf of that place charged with jumping his bail of $5,000, having been placed under that amount of bail for using the United States mail for distributing obscene literature. He no doubt will return without delay of extradition.

Duc d'Orleans' Resolve.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The Gaulois says that on the occasion of the visit of the Duc d'Orleans to Stowe house, after the funeral of the Count de Paris, the Duc d'Orleans, bursting into tears, said: "Exile killed my father. I will endure anything rather than inaction. I will risk my head to return to France, and if I am fortunate to reign I will risk my head rather than be driven out.

Rebel Officers Will Be Shot.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A special from Lima, Peru, says: Gen. Borgo has strict orders to shoot all rebel prisoners above the rank of major. Solares is reported to have refused any other terms than the restoration of the state of affairs before revolution and the immediate ordering of an election.

Died From Asiatic Cholera.

TACOMA, Wn., Sept. 17.—Capt. W. R. Bridgman, of the United Sates man-of-war Baltimore, died here of a disease reported to be Asiatic cholera, contracted recently in China.

PARAGRAPHER'S POINTERS.

The Best and Most Interesting for a Week Past.

Mrs. Fogg—Of course not! What a fool you are, David! Mr. Fogg—And yet hardly a day passes that you do not give me a piece of your mind!—Boston Transcript.

First fair bather—They say there's a man-eating shark close to the shore. Second fair bather—Well, let him alone; he'll soon starve to death here.—New York Press.

Enfant Terrible—Emma (6 years old, in presence of her three grown sisters)—Mr Assessor, why do you call every day? Do you intend to marry one of us?—Fliegende Blatter.

Minister—You have not lost a daughter, but found a son, Mr. Pater. Mr. Pater (ruefully)—Don't I know that? The boy's been after me for an allowance already.—Harper's Bazar.

"Didn't it feel funny the fust time ye had the bracelets on?" said one jailbird to another. "Yes, but I soon got my hand in," was the reply.—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

She—Tell me, why do men so much prefer staying at their club to visiting their friends? He—Well—er—not to be ungallant—but, for one thing, there are no—er—tidies there.—Judge.

"I'd just as soon ask a man to marry me," said Mabel, "but, gracious, think of his refusing!" "I know it," retorted Belle, "but, thundering ages, think of his accepting!"—Adams Freeman.

He (slightly rude)—I called because I thought you were out. She (sweetly)—Well, do you know, I thought I was out, too. The maid must have thought you were some one else.—Answers.

"There never was a husband," exclaimed Mrs. Strongmind, "that was worth his salt." "And only one wife," meekly replied the husband. "Her name, my dear, I think was Mrs. Lot."—Chicago Tribune.

"Are you a district messenger boy?" asked the near-sighted old gentleman of an urchin on the street. "No, sir," was the reply; "it's my sore toe that makes me walk that way."—Washington Star.

"Could you use a little poem of mine?" asked the poet. "I guess I could," replied the editor. "There are two broken panes of glass, and a hole in the skylight. How large is it?"—Atlanta Constitution.

Squildig—Didn't Timberwheel feel cheap when Miss Frisky sued him for breach of promise? McSwilligen—Cheap? well, I guess not! The girl secured a verdict for $25,000.—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

A Millionaire Disappears.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—A special from Sacramento, Cal., says: J. M. Mann, the millionaire turfman, of Portland, Oregon, has mysteriously disappeared. When he left the race track Tuesday he had several thousand dollars with him, and he has not been seen since, it is feared he has met with foul play.

Bound by Habit.

Mrs. Cawker—Don't you think it is very strange that Mrs. Stivetts hasn't returned my call yet?

Mr. Cawker—Not at all. It is merely the result of force of habit.

Mrs. Cawker—How is that?

Mr. Cawker—She was a telephone girl before her marriage.

See us for your Suit and Overcoat before leaving your measure. —Grafton & Co., clothing manufacturers.

Fine Oak

At Clegg's, a splendid line of fine polished oak; bedroom suites, newest designs and best workmanship, and prices fully twenty-five per cent. lower than a year ago. All the cheaper lines in stock also. In parlour suites, etc., we show a larger assortment than ever offered in Peterborough before, at all prices and all our own manufacture; no factory work in this line. Clegg's upholstered goods are known almost from Halifax to Vancouver. Though more than twenty years in business, we have never yet re-upholstered one of our own parlour suites. A. Clegg, 427 George street.

NEWFOUNDLAND AFFAIRS.

Sir Terrence O'Brien Considers a Union With Canada Impossible.

LONDON, Sept. 17. — Sir Terrence O'Brien, the Governor of Newfoundland, said yesterday that a majority of the people of Newfoundland, though loyal to the empire, would, if compelled to choose, prefer a union with the United States to a union with Canada.

The current discussion in the Canadian journals, he says, is quite unpractical. The reversion of Newfoundland into the state of a Crown colony would be more likely in view of the state of finances of the Island.

The State offers a thousand guineas for the best scheme of an Imperial Customs union. The offer was inspired by the Ottawa Intercolonial Conference. It is hoped that the Canadian statesmen will compete. The Early of Rosebery and Lord Salibury are expected to act as judges.

They Must Hire Yankee Workmen.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A Toronto, Ont., firm engaged in the manufacture of agricultural implements has written to Secretary Carlisle stating that they desire to remove their factory either to Buffalo or Niagara Falls and asking if they could bring with them their present force of Canadian workmen. Secretary Carlisle replied that by the act of Feb. 26, 1884, aliens under contract were prohibited from landing in the United States and that that law was still in operation and was being strictly enforced.

Lord Aberdeen's Aide Weds.

QUEBEC, Sept. 17.—Capt. Kindersley, A.D.C. to his Excellency Lord Aberdeen, was married on Saturday in St. Matthew's Episcopal church to Miss Jean Brown, a wealthy American lady, but for some time past a resident of Ottawa. It was intended that the wedding should be private, but the fact leaked out, with the result that the church was crowded to the doors. The bride was given away by Lord Aberdeen and Capt. Erskine acted as groomsman. Lady Margorie acted as maid in waiting and Hon. Archie Gordon and his cousin as pages. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Gardner, of Southwark, Eng., assisted by Rev. Messrs. Williams and Norrie, of St. Matthew's church.

Ottawa Criminal Cases.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 17.—At the assizes on Saturday the grand jury brought in true bills against James Clifford, of Fitzroy, for house breaking; Frank Lilliberts, for stabbing; Harmon Veitch, assault and James Veitch, larceny. No bill was returned against the Blanchard boy "Verdun" for manslaughter. Blanchard was charged with drowning a lad with whom he was bathing.

Creamery Totally Destroyed.

UXBRIDGE, Ont., Sept. 17.—The Marsh hill creamery, situated about five miles from here and owned by Tomlinson Bros., has been destroyed by fire. About sixty tubs of butter together with the entire plant was lost. Loss estimated at about $3,000. Insured for $1,700; cause of fire unknown.

King of Siam Recovering.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 17.—The steamer Oceanic which arrived yesterday brings news that the King of Siam continues to make progress towards recovery and is now able to take walking exercise in his apartments.

A Montana Farmer Murdered.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 17.—Thos. Clark, a farmer living near Lemonte, was killed on Saturday night, the object being robbery. Clark had been drinking. A posse started in pursuit of the murderer whose name is unknown.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

PALE CHILDREN

With poor appetites and frequent coughs, should be given a few bottles of Campbell's

Skrei Cod Liver Oil.

Doctors recommend it because it is pure and easy to take and to digest.

From the Crown of the Head To the Soles of the Feet

WE COVER ALL.

It is one thing to cover up your body. Robinson Crusoe like, with goat skins and tanned palm leaves. It is quite another thing to get well-fitting, neatly-made Suits, Boots and Hats of the latest designs, without paying an exhorbitant price.

MEN'S HATS!
MEN'S SHOES!
MEN'S CLOTHING!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR!
MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

This store appeals to Men—and to Women also. The field of trade is widening continually. Instead of confining ourselves to Clothing, we have, for the fall of 1894, brought together under one roof such things for men's wear as they have shown themselves to want.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $2.65.
On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 35c.
On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.
On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.
Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

On the best $3 Men's Selected Shell Cordovan Balmoral or Congress, with Dunraven toe, we take off 40c., and ask only $2 60.
On the best Men's Fine Waxed Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1 25.
On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.20.
On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 62c., and ask only $1.98.
Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

HIS LIFE WELL SPENT

Sir Narcisse F. Belleau Dies at His Home in Quebec.

AT ONE TIME LIEUT.-GOVERNOR

While Holding That Office in Quebec He Refused All Subsidies From the Government—Prominent in Canadian Politics for Half a Century.

QUEBEC, Sept. 15.—Sir Narcisse F. Belleau died here yesterday, after a lingering illness, at the age of 86.

He was born at Quebec, October 20, 1808. He was educated at the Quebec seminary and was admitted to the bar in 1832. In 1847 he was elected city councillor, and in 1850 he was elected mayor of Quebec. It was under his municipal administration that Quebec's unparalleled aqueduct was begun. He began the works of the old North Shore Railway, now the C.P.R. branch, of which he was elected president. He was a director of La Banque Nationale. He was a member of Her Majesty's legislative council in 1852 until Confederation in 1867. In 1857 he was appointed speaker of the Legislative Assembly. When H. R. H. the Prince of Wales visited Quebec August 18, 1860, he was created a knight in the presence of the crown prince. At the death of Sir E. P. Tache he became prime minister and held that post until 1867, when he was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec. In 1871 he was created grand commander of the Royal Order of Isabel the Catholic by the King of Spain. In 1879 the Marquis of Lorne presented Sir Narcisse, in presence of the Princess Louise, with the order of St. Michael and St. George.

Humble and unpretentious, Sir Narcisse Belleau was cherished by all for his integrity, sincerity and honesty. When a Lieutenant-Governor he refused all subsidies from the government for the maintenance of his household.

Of late Sir Narcisse lived in seclusion with his family, a faithful servant attending him constantly in his walks and drives. Two weeks ago the old statesman was stricken down with feebleness, which brought about heart failure. He died peacefully at his house among his relations.

THE METHODIST PARLIAMENT.

A Book Room to be Opened in Winnipeg—The Epworth League Question.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 15.—Group "B" committee of the Methodist General Conference met yesterday. It was recommended that the book committee be authorized to open a depository or book room in Winnipeg, if expedient, during the next quadrennium. Other recommendations were: That one page of the Guardian be reserved for the use of the corresponding editor at Winnipeg; that a grant of credit of $10,000 be made to the eastern section of the book committee; that the general superintendent's address be printed in supplement form by the Guardian, Toronto, and the Wesleyan, Halifax; that two pages of the Guardian be reserved for Epworth League and young people's work.

The committee on itinernacy debated for three hours the composition of the transfer committee and then adjourned without reaching a conclusion.

The committee on superannuation in the matter of the amounts raised by the circuits for the superannuation fund amended the report of the commission by providing that instead of its being a claim on the quarterly boards that it should be optional with the boards to make it part of their appropriations or to raise it by special subscription. A special committee was appointed to look into the various scales proposed for the assessment of minister's salaries and circuits.

A leading D.D. expressed the belief today that the question of the Epworth League and Christian Endeavor would again be raised in the conference before its final adjournment. He asserts that he is confident that some arrangement can be made whereby the Christian Endeavor movement and all the young people's societies can be fully recognized by the conference and yet kept under the supervision of the denomination. It is noteworthy that the Rev. Dr. Potts did not vote on either side on Thursday afternoon.

The scrofulous taint which may have, been in your blood for years, may be thoroughly expelled by giving Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

An Important Survey in Alaska—Harvest Outlook in Manitoba.

OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—It has been discovered in a recent survey of the boundary between Canada and Alaska that Mount St. Elias, so long regarded as the giant mountain of the continent, is in Canadian, not United States territory. What was almost as interesting was the determination of the height of the mountain. This was found to be 18,023 feet, considerably higher than the estimate given by the numerous exploring parties of the geological survey of this city.

Professor Tanner, senior examiner in agriculture under the British Government, has arrived here from the Northwest en route for England. He is largely interested in farms in the Northwest and inspects them every year. He says that the harvest outlook is bright, especially in Manitoba, where the season is unusually good. All danger from frost is over. He says that these farms are paying the English investors 10 to 15 per cent.

Harry L. Lawson, M. P., for West Gloucester, whose father is proprietor of the London Daily Telegraph, is here. He is en route to the Northwest.

There were no less than nine cases of selling liquor on Sunday without license before the police magistrate yesterday. The chief of police and the license inspector are not very good friends and the former, wishing to show that the latter was not doing his duty, got a policeman in plain clothes to make a raid of the hotels last Sunday. The hotel men say that the policeman selected to do this was in the habit of calling at their places and getting drinks; but for this they would not have been caught. Four of the nine were fined. The other cases were adjourned.

A blacksmith of Kazubazua named Frank Miller is sojourning in the Hull police station awaiting his trial on a charge of bigamy. He hails from Germany, where it is said his first wife resides. Since coming to Kazubazua he won the affections of the daughter of a farmer near that place and married her. Lately rumors have been afloat that he had a wife far away in the Fatherland and the father of wife No. 2, having confirmed the truth of these rumors, caused Miller to be arrested for bigamy.

A Woman's Fight With a Burglar.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Emily Rochford, a widow, who lives on Elliott street, was awakened by a burglar at her bedside who demanded her money or her life. The brute said he knew she had money in the house. A long struggle ensued, Mrs. Rochford pluckily fighting her way to the front door when her screams brought assistance. The fellow fled but Chief Wills says the police have good clue and will soon have him. Mrs. Rochford is badly injured.

Burglars at Chesley.

CHESLEY, Sept. 15.—A sneak thief entered the residence of Mr. W. D. Bell, of this place, while the family were asleep, and stole $65 in cash and a gold watch and chain valued at $150.

Killed on Their Honeymoon.

BRYAN, Ohio, Sept. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fetters were killed at Eden by a Wabash train an hour after their wedding on Thursday night.

A DISAPPOINTED MAN.

Thought he Was Going to Die Before Summer Was Out But He's Alive and Well and Working To-day.

Somerset, Man., Sept. 17th,—"Hard times" is the cry from farmers in this country. Arthur Coley, a farmer living near here, has had double reason to cry "hard times," for eight months ago he lay on his back in bed, a victim of Bright's Disease. He acknowledges that he expected to be dead before the end of the summer, but his expectations have been most pleasantly disappointed, and all summer he has worked on his farm just as though he had never known a day's illness. Last spring he began taking Dodd's Kidney Pills and a few boxes completely cured him, as they have every other victim of this disease, who have used them.

FARM AND GARDEN

VALUE OF WHEAT STRAW.

A Splendid Article on Its Uses for Feed and Fertility.

The successful farmer is usually the one who allows little waste, utilizing the by-products of the farm, as well as those of fixed value. From quite extensive observation I find that on a large per cent. of our farms, straw is held to be of little value and treated accordingly. In some localities "straw board" factories are established, which consume thousands of tons of straw, for which they pay about $1 a ton in the stack, and this brings the farmer something at least, but on thousands of farms the threshing is done in the field or wood lot, and the straw left without even making a decent stack of it, and farmers do not get a value of 50 cents a ton from it. Often these same farmers lack hay to winter their stock and buy at $10 or more a ton, and many times their stock sleeps on barn floors, full of cracks or with augur holes bored in them to let the urine through. The quantity of straw per acre, and the proportion of straw to wheat, varies somewhat, but the average shows about two pounds of straw for one of grain, or a ton of straw for each 16¼ bushels of wheat. I think I am entirely within reasonable bounds when I say that the farmer ought to get a value of $5 a ton out of this straw, and this if realized, will nearly or quite pay the expense of growing the crop, and enables us to realize some profit from wheat even at 50 cents a bushel.

I base this valuation of straw on its food value and also its fertilizing value, and this is shown by its chemical analysis and proven in actual use as food on the farm. Counting average hay as worth $10 a ton, wheat straw is shown to be worth $7.90 a ton for food. Its fertilizing value, as shown by chemical analysis, is $2.44 a ton, allowing the same valuation for its nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, as is allowed for these in commercial fertilizers. Whether the farmer realizes either of these values from straw, depends on his intelligence in handling it; but if he can save a ton of horse urine, which has a chemical valuation of over $3, by bedding with a ton of straw, all of which urine would be lost without it, it will not pay to sell the straw for a dollar or two a ton, or to leave it in the field. And if he can save two tons of hay by feeding three tons of straw, without increasing the cost of his grain food or unfavorably affecting his animals, then he certainly can make money by utilizing his straw. To get the greatest fertilizing value from straw, it should be used liberally for bedding live stock on water-tight floors, so that no urine will be lost. The urine of the horse is very rich in nitrogen and potash, but contains no phosphoric acid; and as this manure heats very readily, and the nitrogen is volatile and escapes readily in gas, and the potash is soluble and leaches out easily, it can be seen that intelligent management of horse manure is required to get the greatest benefit from it. My plan is to clean the stalls daily, spread the manure and straw in an adjoining stable, and keep enough stock loose on it to tramp it solid and keep it moist; and when it has accumulated to the depth of two or three feet, we take it to the field and spread it on sod which is to be plowed the following spring. Managed in this way, we reduce the labor of handling to a minimum, and there will be no loss of valuable properties by evaporation, and anything that leaches goes into the ground just where it is needed.

I believe that it is best in feeding straw to make the grain ration a little heavier and let it consist of bran, oats and oil meal rather than corn, as these foods are more nitrogenous, and ballance the ration better; and I think it is better to give no hay or corn fodder, for if they are expecting these, which are more palatable than straw, they will not eat it so well, but if they are supplied with good fresh straw and fed bran, they will soon eat it freely and thrive will on it. It would be best to feed the ground feed mixed with cut straw, and then let them have loose straw to pick besides, and twice a day clean out the mangers and put what is left under the stock for bedding.

I would not feed straw exclusively to cows giving milk, or to young growing animals, but horses when not at work and store cattle two years old and upwards, will do well on it. I know several farmers who feed their teams no other rough feed during the winter, and their horses are in fine condition when spring comes. One of the difficult things is to convince the farmer that bran is more valuable to feed with straw than corn, and most of them will feed corn when they could sell it and buy a much larger weight of bran. To-day I can buy bran at $12 a ton, and corn is selling at 50 cents a bushel, and 40 bushels of it are required to make a ton of meal after it is tolled, and yet a majority of farmers will feed corn even when there is a greater difference than this in the price. Each year I feed more bran, and appreciate it more, and I now feed it as a part of the ration in fattening both hogs and cattle, and am convinced that it is true economy to do this, as there is less danger of indigestion than when the grain ration is corn exclusively, but especially when feeding straw, which has a very low albuminoid ratio, bran, which has a high albuminoid ratio, is valuable. On large farms, where the straw often amounts to a hundred tons or more, it can be stacked so as to furnish both shelter and food by making the stacks so that cattle can go under them, and thus, diaborn the cattle so that they will bulk up in the warm straw sheds at night. The cattle will help themselves to the straw and a few pounds of ground feed a day will keep them in good condition.

I would advise some of our farmers who have never fed straw to try it for their teams this winter. Weigh them at the beginning of the experiment and once a month afterwards, and regulate the grain ration so that they will gain in weight if in thin flesh, or at least hold their own if they are in good condition at the start. Lay in your bran in the summer, when the stock has accumulated in the mills and the price is low. I have done this for many years, and have never saved less than $3 a ton by it, and sometimes $8 or $10. There is no risk in storing large quantities of bran, as it keeps perfectly. My store-room for bran is on the third floor of my barn, and a spout seven inches square inside brings it down to a bin holding a half ton in the stable in the basement. I think high up in the barn in the best place to locate the bran bin, as there is no dampness there, and the bran comes down easily by its own gravity.—Waldo F. Brown, in Country Gentleman.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

ITCHING PILES AND PIN WORMS.

No More Misery.

Gives Instant Relief.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affection, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—blood and matter form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly afflicted from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and anguish. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or Irritation of any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the parts and tissue, dry up the moisture.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

OF CANADA.

From the CANADIAN TRADE REVIEW.

"There is no invidiousness involved in the assertion that no other Canadian company in existence can point to such a record of rapid, substantial and uninterrupted progress and prosperity as that exhibited in the successive annual reports of the Sun Life. . . . Most assuredly are its directors, shareholders and policy holders to be congratulated upon the very flourishing condition of the Company, and especially upon the result of the business of a year which was marked by the prevalence of conditions—the influenza epidemic, for instance—which proved disastrous for so many life companies. And with no less certainty can it be said that the very great progress made by the institution has been mainly due to the able and energetic efforts, guided by the sagacity and prudence which pratical experience alone can bring, of the President and Managing-Director, who has been efficiently assisted by the Secretary. From the contemplation of so successful a past the management may reasonably draw most sanguine anticipations as to the prosperity of the future.

Push the Pigs.

The intelligent farmer has been doing this all summer, in fact ever since they were born, but some pigs do not get a great deal of pushing at any time. If they have been neglected so far, begin now to get them in shape to fatten. This does not mean that they shall be fed much corn; in fact none is necessary. But they should have plenty of bran and middlings wet up with milk or water, and grass to eat as they like. Plenty of fresh water is also necessary. Don't think because you give them wet feed they do not need drink. If it is offered them they will show that they do.

Give them clean quarters. Don't say they are only hogs and prefer filth. I believe hogs are much maligned in this respect. A hog may lie in filth, but that is no reason to show that he would not prefer a bed of clean straw. I firmly believe, and observation bears me out, that a pig kept clean by washing will grow faster than one whose skin is plastered with mud and filth. Where there are many pigs it might be convenient to keep them clean, but with only a few a weekly scrubbing will certainly be beneficial.

Come to think of it, why should not a hog thrive better with a clean skin as well as a horse or a cow? It certainly would be conducive to the health of the animal as furnishing a more desirable article of food when his pigship comes to be killed. Charcoal, ashes and salt, mixed, make an excellent preventive of disease for hogs. They will not eat too much if allowed to run to it at will.

Of course, in pushing the pigs it is intended to market them at six or eight months old. The day has gone by to keep them a year or more before selling. They may be made to give greater growth the first six months in proportion to the expense of feeding than ever afterward.

Peas are excellent for pigs. They furnish everything needful to make quick, healthy growth. Corn for the last few weeks, all they will eat, will put them in excellent shape for market.—Ohio Farmer.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success.

Dyspepsia causes Dizziness, Headache, Constipation, Variable Appetite, Rising and Souring of Food, Palpitation of the Heart, Distress after Eating. Burdock Blood Bitters is guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia if faithfully used according to directions.

SOMETHING OF INTEREST

About Pianos!

—:o:—

It Is An Actual Fact

That J. W. CROSBY sells Better Pianos for Less Money than any traveller or outside agent.

1st. Because he has no big salaries or commissions to pay to agents.

2nd. Because his expenses, rent, taxes, etc. in Peterborough, are more than one-half less than travellers and representatives living in the cities.

3rd. Because having the control of the best instruments of all the best Piano makers in the country, competition between the different makers gives him the advantage over the representatives of any one single Piano firm.

J. W. Crosby has sold about 200 Pianos in and near Peterborough. He sells the Williams, Morris, Rheinhart, Uxbridge and Gerhard Heintzman Pianos, and can undersell for quality of goods, price and terms, any and all outsiders. Try him.

Pianos from $200 to $400. He can save you $50 over outsiders or won't ask you to buy.

THE ALPINE CHASSEURS

A PICTURESQUE CORPS TRAINED FOR MOUNTAIN FIGHTING.

A Training Peculiarly Their Own Undergone—Book Rules at a Discount—A Hazardous Service That Has a Picturesque Abandon About It.

There is scarcely a body of troops in any army whose duties are more striking to the imagination than the French chasseurs, who guard the long line of the Alps. His cap hanging lightly over his ear, his rifle strapped across his knapsack, his open tunic showing his sunburned neck, his waist encircled by his wide blue sash, and his muscular calves swathed in the woolen bands, the Alpine chasseur, careless of the weight of his heavy marching equipments, picks his way easily along the rocky cliff, treading solidly over the rock from which the iron of his alpenstock strikes out sparks, and gazes far down into the ravines with the deep eye of a mountaineer. Perhaps he dreams while he keeps guard, for the life is one favorable to contemplation as well as hardihood, and very likely this touch of sentiment attracts the recruits who come to the famous corps from the great cities, though these men are in a minority, for most of the men are recruited among the mighty mountains which they guard.

The Alpine Chasseur undergoes a training all his own. The first thing taught to the young recruit or to the young officer fresh from the academy is that his new life demands of him special obligations. The youth's morals must be carefully cultivated, for he is in constant danger of vertigo, slips and false steps; all trace of timidity must be eradicated. As for falls, there are numerous mortal accidents every year. A stone turns beneath the foot, a crevasse opens in the snow, a peg rolls across the precipice, against such catastrophes there is no guarding. It is so with the landslides, which happen in every season of the year from the rains. Three years ago in the valley of the Tinee three chasseurs of the rear guard of the Twenty-third Battalion were thus swept away, their companions escaping by but a few seconds. And the avalanches! and the deadly vertigo, which will suddenly seize on the hardiest men! and the foolhardy feats undertaken from bravado! Truly it is a life of constant peril.

There are no book rules for the special tactics of marches and conflicts, but a body of tradition based on the experience of past wars and the annual maneuvers is the guide. These are early taught to the chasseur and he is made free of a valuable lesson, that the sun, the stars and a pocketful of compasses are of no earthly use to him; what he needs to know is the lay of the land and the trend of the mountains and valleys and ranges.

The chasseurs leave winter quarters at the beginning of summer for three months' campaigning in the mountains. That is the time to see them at their best—gay, alert, and enduring, marching night and day over terrible roads, drenched with rain or with perspiration, heavily laden, but always keeping the unalterable gaiety of the French soldier, and what lessons they learn during the maneuvres of the tricks that the mountains have in store for them. You hear an infernal fusillade, a fearful thunder, a roll of musketry close beside you surely the attack is being made just there, around that point of rocks. The point of rocks is turned, when suddenly the noise dies down and is heard far behind you. It was an echo, and the battle is raging in the rear. And now again, what is that gentle murmur that whispers among the branches, a distant rolling sound, whose muffled hum does not hush the ripple of the book? There is fighting in the valley across the range. The column advances undisturbed, and scarcely has it gone a hundred paces higher than the din breaks out with intolerable force and the projecting rocks hurl it pitilessly in your ears. The advanced guard is engaged and you already smell powder. The mountain has deceived you again.

And what difficult fighting it is! The battalion comes on in Indian file and spreads out in open order among the rocks, firing as it advances in broken, irregular front. All at once the enemy appears in force. A retreat is hastily ordered and the column makes the best of its way back again in Indian file once more. Suddenly there is a halt. What has happened on the rear guard? A piece has fallen or a landslide has blocked the way. The engineers go hastily to work, and soon is heard the explosion of a dynamite cartridge and the way is clear again. Nor is the chasseur battling only against man, but with the elements, with the terrible snow storms which blind him, the whirlwinds of winter, and in summer the furnace-like ravines where no air stirs, and whose rocks have been blanched by the pitiless sun. Fortunately for him these very dangers will diminish the occasions for combat between himself and his hardy rival on the Italian side if war breaks out between the two countries, for men can not fight each other when nature has decided to make war with them. Between the French and the Italian chasseurs, by the way, there is great emulation and respect. They sometimes meet on the frontier line during manœuvers, and it has frequently happened that they have sat down to a meal together at a table whose legs are carefully planted two in France and two in Italy, with the simple soldier dishes and the country wine in the middle.

The Meaning of Sympathy.

It was a clever Frenchwoman who said: "Those who have suffered much are like those who know many languages. They have learned to understand and to be understood by many. It is an impossibility to fully sympathize with another's experience unless it has been at some time one's own. In trouble or grief we turn instinctively to some one whom we know has been through the same experience. It is the old human longing for companionship that shows itself. The feeling is strong within us that 'she will feel and know with me.' Therein lies the meaning of sympathy."

Separating Cream.

Butter made from cream in submerged cans has not that delicacy of flavor of butter from cream raised in open cans, and is readily detected by a critical observer. A method is fast coming into use which is simple, inexpensive, a saving of ice and labor, preserves the quality of the open can and saves time almost as well as the mechanical separator, without the expense.

The milk, warm from the cow, is strained into a can till it is half full; then fill the can with cold water, which aerates milk, and immediately reduces its temperature to about 70° F., even in the warmest of weather. All the cream will rise to the surface in less than three hours.

The combined milk and water is drawn by a faucet from the bottom of the can till the cream appears, which is then drawn into a separate vessel. As the cream is separated in less than three hours, the can or cans used for the morning's milk are ready to be used for the night's milk; all that need go into the house is the sweet cream, thus lightening the labor there. The diluted skim-milk is fed to the pigs, the costly butter fat extracted from it being replaced by the cheaper fat of corn meal, in such proportions as are needed to feed to growing or fattening stock.

No time is lost, no labor required, nor expensive machinery to keep in repair when using the dilution process. As soon as the milk is mixed with water the separation goes on naturally, while the farmer is attending to other duties.—Ohio Farmer.

Small Fruit and Poultry.

It is useless to expect to raise small fruits and poultry on the same piece of ground, because the two are incompatible and the amateur may as well know it first as last. From the time plants are set ont until the fruit is ripe they will constantly work injury to it. Chicks weighing less than a pound may be permitted to run at large among raspberries, blackberries and grapes after the fruit is gathered up to blossoming time again, and they will be of considerable benefit by destroying insects injurious to these fruits, but from the time the fruit begins to form until they are gathered they must be kept out if a crop is desired, And there is no season or time when chickens of any age or size will do a strawberry plantation any good whatever.

BATTLE AT PING YANG

Chinese Forces Driven From the Field With Enormous Losses.

THOUSANDS TAKEN PRISONERS

Four Chinese Generals Among Those Captured—The Number Killed Amounts to 2,300—The Defeat Sustained by Picked Troops of China's Army.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—A news agency here has received advices from Shanghai announcing a two days' engagement at Ping-Yang between Chinese and Japanese in which the Japanese forces were victorious. Twenty thousand Chinese soldiers surrendered. The despatches further say that no trustworthy details are obtainable, all attempts of British and American correspondents to get to the seat of the war having proved unsuccessful.

Advices from Yokohama say that despatches from Japanese headquarters at Hiroshima confirm the report of a Japanese victory at Ping Yang.

Advices received at the Japanese legation in this city officially confirm the report of the absolute and crushing defeat of the Chinese in the recent engagement at Ping Yang.

Description of the Battle.

A Central News despatch from Seoul, dated 6 p.m., September 16, says a great battle has been fought at Ping Yang between the Chinese and Japanese troops, in which the former were utterly routed. On Thursday a Japanese column from Pong San made a reconnaissance in force, drawing the fire of the Chinese forts and thus ascertaining their positions. The column then fell back in good order with but little loss.

By Friday night all the Japanese were in position for a combined attack upon the enemy. The Gensan column threatened the left flank of the Chinese, the Pong San column threatening the Chinese centre, while the Hwang Ju column operated against the right, which had been reinforced the day before by a detachment of marines from the fleet at the mouth of the Taitong river. The Chinese had utilized the old defences at Ping Yang and had thrown up new works, making the position an exceptionally strong one.

The battle was opened on Saturday at daybreak by a Japanese cannonade of the Chinese works, which was continued without cessation until the afternoon, the Chinese responding. The work with the heavy guns showed good practice.

At about two o'clock a body of infantry was thrown forward by the Japanese and maintained a rifle fire upon the enemy until dusk. Throughout the day only the Pong San column was engaged. The Chinese defences had suffered greatly, but the losses on either side were small, both the Chinese and Japanese having the advantage of considerable shelter. The Japanese troops, however, had gained some advanced positions. The firing continued at intervals during the night, and in the meantime two Japanese flanking columns had formed a cordon around the Chinese.

At three o'clock in the morning an attack was made by the Japanese columns simultaneously and with admirable precision. The Chinese lines which were so strong in front were found to be weak in the rear, and here the attack was a perfect success. The Chinese were completely taken by surprise and were thrown into a panic. Hundreds were cut down, and those who escaped death, finding themselves surrounded at every point, broke and fled.

Some of Viceroy Li Hung Chang's European drilled troops stood their ground to the eastward and were cut down to a man.

The Pong San column, swarming over the defences in front, completed the rout. Half an hour after the attack was opened the positions at Ping Yang were in possession of the Japanese.

It is estimated that 20,000 Chinese soldiers were engaged in the battle. The Japanese captured immense stores of provisions, munitions of war, and hundreds of colors. The Chinese loss is estimated at 10,000 killed, wounded and taken prisoners.

Among those captured by the Japanese are several of the Chinese commanding officers, including Gen. Tso Fung, commander-in-chief of the Manchurian army, who was severely wounded. The Japanese loss is only 30 killed and 270 wounded, including 11 officers. Most of the casualties among the Japanese occurred during the first day's fighting, and very few were the result of the night attack.

The Japanese forces are in active pursuit of the fugitives, who have thrown away their arms and readily yield themselves prisoners. A desultory war may be carried on for some time to come, but unless China shall succeed in getting another army into the peninsula, Corea will undoubtedly remain in possession of the Japanese.

After the Battle.

Within ten hours after the conclusion of the battle the military engineers had completed a field telegraph line from here to Ping-Yang. A large number of prisoners were brought into the Japanese camp from houses in which they had hidden themselves during the final assault. Several thousand Chinese fled toward a valley to the northward and on finding their retreat in this direction cut off, surrendered in a body. Ping-Yang is now being searched in the belief that a number of important Chinese officers are in hiding in the city and under the protection of friendly Coreans.

The number of Chinese killed in the battle is estimated at 2,300. The walls of Ping-Yang were badly shattered by the cannonade which was poured upon them by the guns of the Japanese, but the city itself is only slightly damaged.

The Japanese Emperor has telegraphed from Hiroshima, where the headquarters of the army are located, congratulating Marshal Count Yamagata upon the success of the Japanese army.

Marshal Yamagata has issued a general order commending the valor of the troops which they have demonstrated on the battlefield. The order concludes with an expression of pride on the part of Marshal Yamagata at being in command of so brave an army.

A flying column of the Japanese army is pushing northward with the object of taking possession of the mountain passes. At the same time a proclamation has been issued promising full protection to the Coreans, if they will refrain from acts of hostility towards the Japanese. On the other hand they are informed that if they give shelter to or engage in traffic with Four Generals Captured.

A Central News despatch from Tokio says that four Chinese generals, Tso Pangwoi, Wei Jinkwoi, Ma Yukwang, and Sei Kinlin together with 14,500 other officers and men were taken prisoners by the Japanese at Ping Yang. The Japanese outnumbered the Chinese three to one. the Chinese they will be summarily dealt with by process of martial law.

A despatch from Tokio says: Continuous artillery salutes are being fired in celebration of the Japanese army.

What the Press Have to Say.

The Telegraph says: The Mongolian colossus has feet of clay which are crumbling. If the powers, especially England, were to intervene promptly with friendly counsels the conflict might be ended.

The Graphic in an article under the caption: "The Chinese Sedan" comments on the Ping Yang battle at length. The Japanese, the article says, have managed their campaign with a grasp of military science and soldierly ability deserving of the utmost credit.

The Daily News says: It is difficult to see how China can recover from the blow which reveals the essential weakness of her military equipment and administration. The moment is favorable for the neutral powers to renew their overtures for peace. China might easily grant the virtual independence of Corea and Japan is probably willing to accept.

Japan Will Invade China.

The Shanghai Mercury prints a special edition containing despatches from the front and in its editorial comments on the result of the battle expresses full appreciation of the crushing defeat and great slaughter of the picked troops comprising the Chinese army engaged. The paper dilates upon the consequences of the disaster to the Chinese army and expresses well grounded fear of a speedy Japanese invasion.

Confirmation at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Official confirmation has been received at the Japanese legation of a general engagement between the Chinese and Japanese forces at Ping Yang, near the northern frontier of Corea, on the 15th inst., resulting in a decisive victory for the Japanese forces. Details of the engagement are expected by the officials of the legation, and are looked forward to as of much importance as promising the first authentic official news of the fighting in Northern Corea, respecting which so many conflicting reports have been published.

DEEP WATERWAY CONVENTION.

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—The delegates to the Deep Waterway Convention gathered at the city hall yesterday. The morning was taken up with introducing the delegates to one another and acquainting them with the features of the programme as far as it has been prepared.

The credential committee met at 2 o'clock and afterwards a reception took place in the council chamber when all those who had arrived were present and took part in the function. The managers of the convention anticipate a gathering of about 200 to 250 representatives. The Park Commissioner has had the council chamber decorated for the occasion, and a double row of seats has been placed before the members' chairs to accommodate the delegates.

Among the prominent men who put in an appearance were Engineer Cooley, of Chicago; J. S. Durham, of Chicago; Mr. Snyden, St. Paul; D. B. Smith, secretary Toledo Board of Trade.

The first regular session was held in the evening, when the chairman and Mayor addressed the delegates. To-day and to-morrow there will be three sessions at 10.30, 2.30 and 8 o'clock. These will close the meeting and on Thursday the visitors will be entertained at luncheon and given a drive about the city.

James Snyden, the delegate of the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce to the Deep Waterways Convention, has taken a deep and hearty interest in deep waterways, and is chairman of the committee through whose work largely an appropriation has been secured of $10,000 for a preliminary survey of a ship canal from Lake Superior to St. Paul and Minneapolis. He has with him an outline map and profile of the different possible routes of this canal, and these will be on exhibition at the convention.

Mr. E. V. Smalley, of St. Paul, is also in the city as a commissioner appointed by the Governor of Minnesota.

General Passenger Agents' Convention.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—There were hundreds of thousands of miles of railway and hundreds of passenger steamers represented in the Windsor hotel yesterday. The occasion was a gathering of general passenger agents preliminary to the annual meeting of the national association at Quebec. Mr. Power, general passenger agent of the G. T. R., and Mr. McNichol, general passenger agent of the C. P. R., were on hand and received the visitors. There are about 60 members in the association and they include the general passenger agents of every railway in the United States and Canada. Most of the members are accompanied by their wives and other members of their families, the whole party numbering some 200 persons. The president of the association is Mr. J. C. Anderson, of the New York, Ontario and Western. Two days will be devoted to business meetings, after which the members will participate in excursions down the St. Lawrence

WITH THE METHODISTS

Conferences in Ontario and Quebec Reduced From Six to Five.

HOW THEY ARE TO BE DIVIDED

Seventy Thousand Dollars Bequeathed to the Church by a Deceased Member—A Motion Objecting to a Tribute to John Charlton Voted Down.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 18.—At the Methodist General Conference Dr. Tilley presented the report of the committee on the work. The first clause was decidedly optimistic as to the present and as to the outlook. It recommended that ministers should more effectually enforce the clauses of discipline with regard to class meeting. The report enlarged on a greater effort being put forth in the Northwest. The final clauses suggested that evangelists be required, unless ministers or local preachers, to pass the denominational examinations for local preachers.

The first report of the civil rights committee, composed of conference officers, will memorialize the Governor-General in Council requesting that steps be taken to have permission given to British missionaries in Japan to solemnize the marriages of British subjects there.

There was much applause when Principal Shaw read a letter from Rev. A. Hamilton, Port Colborne, announcing that the late W. Millanby, member for Humberstone Methodist church, had willed $70,000 to the Methodist church, $10,000 for the home missions, $10,000 to the superannuation fund and over $50,000 to the foreign mission fund.

The committee on conference boundaries recommended that the work of the six conferences in Ontario and Quebec be reconstructed and formed into five. After considerable debate it was carried by the necessary two-thirds vote. The vote standing 107 for and 41 against.

The following are the details of division of conference proposed by committee on conference boundaries:

Conference No. 1, 15 districts, composed of London, St. Thomas, Aylmer, Chatham, Windsor, Ridgetown, Exeter, St. Marys, Stratford, Goderich, Kincardine, Wingham, Listowel, Strathroy and Sarnia districts.

Conference No. 2, 14 districts, composed of Hamilton, St. Catharines, Milton, Brantford, Woodstock, Guelph, Galt, Palmerston, Mount Forest, Walkerton, Wiarton, Norwich, Simcoe and Wellington districts.

Conference No. 3, 13 districts, composed of Toronto East, Toronto Centre, Toronto West, Brampton, Uxbridge, Bradford, Orangeville, Barrie, Collingwood, Owen Sound, Bracebridge, Parry Sound and Algoma districts.

Conference No. 4, 13 districts, composed of Belleville, Napanee, Picton, Brighton, Cobourg, Bowmanville, Whitby, Cannington, Lindsay, Peterboro, Campbellford, Madoc and Tamworth districts.

Conference No. 5, 13 districts, composed of Montreal, Kingston, Brockville, Matilda, Perth, Pembroke, Nipissing, Sudbury, Ottawa, Quebec, Stanstead, Waterloo and Huntingdon districts.

Rev. A. C. Courtice presented the report of the committee on Sabbath Observance. Several delegates objected to the tribute it contained to John Charlton, M.P., for his efforts for Sabbath Observance in Parliament. Mr. P. E. W. Moyer, editor of the Berlin News, moved that the name of Charlton be omitted. Rev. W. C. Henderson seconded the Moyer amendment, which aroused strong feeling and was voted down by a large majority.

The Sunday School and Epworth League committee will unanimously recommend to the conference that a Sunday School and Epworth League secretary be appointed, who is to be at the head of this department, devote all his time to its interests, hold institutes, and organize Sunday Schools and Epworth Leagues. The committee will also present a revised constitution for the Epworth Leagues and recommend that the Sunday Schools and Epworth Leagues be placed under the control of one board.

Sad Drowning at Windsor.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 18.—Phillip Bowers, a well-known Windsor young man, was drowned in the Detroit river by the capsizing of a row boat, and John McCarty who was with him at the time had a narrow escape from meeting the same fate. Powers was popular in Windsor and a singer of some ability. He was about 24 years of age and had been a cripple all his life. He resided with his widowed mother at 59 Parent avenue, and his father, who was a veteran of the Crimean war, died about two years ago and shortly after one of his brothers was killed on the Grand Trunk railway. His mother has been ill for the last few weeks and has been completely prostrated since the news reached her.

Suicided From a Vessel.

HAMILTON, Sept. 18.—Detective Outram, of Scotland Yard, who left here some days ago with embezzler Jaynes, of London, Eng., in charge, has written to Chief McKinnon that he and Jaynes arrived safely in London. Detective Outram also took charge of Thomas Cornish, a young Englishman, who was arrested here on a Sunday morning while attempting to drown himself in the bay. He had just arrived from England and was held in jail here until Detective Outram agreed to take him home. The detective writes that Cornish jumped overboard during the voyage and was drowned before an effort could be made to save him.

Through a Plate Glass Window.

HAMILTON, Sept. 18.—A high spirited horse owned by S. R. Hammond, livery man, and driven by Mr. Wm. Lee, jumped through the plate glass window at William Gray & Son's carriage warerooms. The horse which was valued at $140, had one leg almost severed from its body by the plate glass and had to be shot. Mr. Lee was uninjured.

A Chatham Merchant Assigns.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 18.—John Wall, dry goods merchant of Chatham, has assigned to C. B. Armstrong, of this city. This is one of the heaviest failures in that section of the country, the liabilities amounting to about $20,000.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1894.

THE Empire professes to believe that a resolution of the Local Legislature announcing that all future sales of Crown timber would be subject to manufacturing conditions in Ontario would and could not possibly be construed into discrimination by the United States Government. An official of the latter Government, says the Globe, recently visited Ottawa, Quebec and Toronto and other seats of our Local Government, to ascertain if anything of a discriminatory character had been placed on the statute books of the country. Supposing he had discovered such a resolution as above outlined, and as advocated by the Meredith party and the Empire, would his Government not have regarded it as a discrimination? No doubt about it. Another proof that the Ontario Government deals with our timber in the public interests, and that their policy of holding periodical sales of timber, is a wise one, is afforded by the terrific forest fires this summer, which swept away millions of feet of timber, involving enormous losses. If the limits where the fires occurred were those of private persons, the loss will fall upon them and not upon the Government. While it is unfortunate that private individuals should suffer loss, it is the part of the Government to protect in so far as lies in their power, the public interest in our timber resources. If these limits had not been sold, the province would have had to suffer the loss. The timber of Ontario is a valuable asset and its conversion into cash as the requirements of the lumber industry demand is a mark of wisdom and prudence.

SOME valuable information concerning the debts of nations have been compiled by the United States census bureau. It appears that nations having a population altogether of 1,192,000,000 owe the sum of $27,624,976,915. To grasp these figures is, of course, impossible, but an idea of the growth of borrowing may be obtained from the fact that since 1848 these nations have increased their obligations by $20,000,000,000. Half of this sum was borrowed between 1870 and 1890, so that the upward tendency was most marked in a time of general depression. France has a larger debt than any other country. Russia comes next, and then Great Britain. The United States is seventh, and Canada fourteenth. When the per capita burden of the debt is taken into consideration, the Australian colonies lead, that is, they owe more per head than any other country. England is twelfth, Canada twenty-third, and the United States thirty-sixth. Only three countries—Great Britain, Spain and United States—have decreased their debts during the last decade. It seems to be the fashion to pile up debt, and in that respect, the Mail remarks, Canada is quite in style.

THOSE who desire to be placed upon the voters' lists now being revised will do well to remember that they have just one month in which to do so. The preliminary lists will close on the 15th of October, and a month slips by very fast. Under the Ontario system of preparing the voters' lists, once a voter always a voter, but under the useless and disfranchising Dominion Franchise Act, a man may have been a voter for half a century and still, if he votes on the "wrong side" he is exceedingly liable to have his name omitted from the list. The voters of to-day have to fight again for the liberties that their forefathers fought, bled and died for in days gone by. The Dominion Disfranchise Act is a statutory outrage and the leaf of the statute book containing it, should be torn out and burned in a very quick fire.

THE national debt of Great Britain is now £664,163,141. In 1880 it was £738,501,605. The Canadian public debt in 1880 was $194,634,440. In 1893 it was $300,054,525. Our Conservative rulers at Ottawa, though they lay claim to a monopoly of loyalty to Britain and British institutions, do not follow British precedent and practice in either financial or fiscal matters. Great Britain, which can well afford to be in debt, nevertheless steadily reduces her debt, while Canada, which cannot afford to be in debt, as steadily adds to the burdens of the people. The Conservative Government of Canada is neither patriotic as respects Canada nor respectfully loyal to Great Britain.

Before the next meeting of the North-West Legislature, which was prorogued a few days ago, a general election will take place in the Territories. The Legislature now expired is the second since the North-West received local government. It has witnessed a political crisis in which the Executive, under the leadership of Mr. Haultain, was defeated but regained office through gains in the bye-elections. The writs will be issued for some date in October, so that the election will be over before the winter. In the coming contest, the Territories will enjoy the privilege, for the first time, of voting by ballot.

WHEN it comes to the point, woman is a powerful factor in politics. Col. Breckenridge, the "hero" of the celebrated Madelene Pollard breach of promise case, in which his lack of morality and principle were strongly brought out, was a candidate in Kentucky for the democratic nomination for Congress, but was defeated and the despatch states "it was the women who did." A man that "goes back" on a woman should not be astonished if the women "go back" on him.

THERE'S something in a name in spite of Shakspeare's questioning. The Patrons have nominated Mr. Haycock, of Frontenac, as their leader in the Local Legislature. No doubt the Patron party in the House will loom up as big as a haycock—an aggregation of Haycocks.

The earlier symptoms of dyspepsia, heartburn and occasional headaches, should not be neglected. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla to be cured.

Northwest Immigration—Sealers' Claims Against the United States.

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—Prof. Tanner, of London, Eng., who is interested in farming in Manitoba, is here on his way to the Old Country, after spending the summer in Manitoba and the Territories. Speaking to a reporter, he said that the immigration this year was very poor. In his opinion, any kind of half measure which the Government would adopt to encourage immigration would always end in failure. There were a number of settlers going into the Territories, but they were from the United States.

In an interview Sir C. H. Tupper characterized as a "fake" the despatch from Washington recently circulated that an offer of $425,000 had been made by Mr. Gresham, Secretary of State, in lieu of the claims of Canadian sealers for seizure damages under the modus vivendi. This offer, he affirmed, was made to Sir Julian Pauncefote and no action had since been taken except that at a meeting of the sealers interested it was estimated that they were willing to accept the sum offered. Nothing was likely to be done in the matter, however, until the time approached for the House of Representatives to vote the money.

Sir Hibbert Tupper and Mr. Quimet leave here to-day on a political tour through the Northwest and British Columbia. They will be away for about six weeks. Mr. Daly, who is in Manitoba, will join them.

Mackenzie Bowell is besieged with applications to open and speak at fall fairs. He has accepted an invitation to open Woodstock Fair on September 26, and if public business will permit he will open Peterborough Exhibition the day previous.

The last part of the report of the Intercolonial Conference which sat here during the last days of the Parliament's session has been published in blue book form and made its appearance yesterday.

A protest has been sent to the Methodist conference by the Epworth League of Christian Endeavor in the city against the changing of the name of the society to Epworth League, making it altogether too denominational.

Children Who Suffer

from scrofulous skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't cure in every case, the money is returned.

For Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Cramps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery and Summer Complaint, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt, safe and sure cure that has been a popular favorite for over 40 years.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

WINDOW-SHADE HINTS.

Always place roller in brackets with shade rolled up.

If the shade is tacked on properly it will hang toward the window.

To fit a shade to a window with inside shutters, measure inside molding next to shutters.

If the spring is too strong, remove roller from brackets with shade rolled up, unroll a few turns and replace.

To strengthen the spring, draw the shade down a few revolutions, remove roller from brackets, roll up shade and replace.

In replacing a window shade that has been torn from the roller, use nothing but one ounce tacks; longer tacks injure the spring.

U. S. RAILROADS.

The railway system of the United States comprises 176,461 miles of track.

Railroad stock in the United States aggregates in round numbers $10,506,235,410.

The receipts of all railroads for last year were $1,220,751,874, while the expenses were $827,921,299.

It requires 34,788 locomotives, 31,884 passenger cars and 1,047,577 freight cars to operate the railroads of the country.

During last year 593,560,612 passengers were carried on all the railroads in Uncle Sam's domains and 745,119,482 tons of freight transported.

Like Lightning.

The rapid action of the "great pain cure," Polson's Nerviline, in relieving the most intense pain, is a matter of wonder to all who use it. There is nothing surprising in its results, for it is made of the strongest, purest and most efficient remedies known in medicine. Nerviline cures toothache instantly; cramps in five minutes; neuralgia after two applications; rheumatism is at once relieved by its use; and the same may be said of all kinds of pain. Sample bottles, costing only 10 cents, at any drug store. The large bottles only 25 cents. Polson's Nerviline sold by druggists and country dealers.

A Common Trouble.

With many people in this climate there is a large portion of poisonous, purulent discharge which drops into the throat during sleep, and is swallowed. This disturbs the functions of the stomach, causing weakness of that organ, and producing indigestion, dyspepsia, nausea, and loss of appetite. There is no better remedy for these troubles than Esoljay's Liver Lozenges. They can be had at all drug stores at 25 cents a box or 5 boxes for a dollar.

Pin Money.

A curious custom that once prevailed in the south more widely than in the north was that of giving the woman whom one invited for a drive or outing a small sum with which to buy flowers, fruit, or confectionery to enhance the pleasure of the event. This money, which probably varied with the fortunes of the gallant, was called "pin money." A writer tells of a young woman, now a grandmother, who encountered the custom many years ago at Saratoga, when that place was still the resort of good southern families. She had been invited to drive with a stately old-school southern gentleman and his daughter, and after she had accepted the invitation, to her surprise the father opened his handsome purse and gave her a silver dollar. Puzzled at so queer a proceeding, she called up an elderly woman who was a social authority, who explained to her that it was "pin money," and it was decided to invest in a bunch of roses to carry in the hand while driving.—Good Housekeeper.

Kipling Doing Good Work.

Rudyard Kipling continues to pour out ballads and short stories. He has four books in the press now. I with many others have modified my views of him within three years, for within that time he has done his best work, which has in it a promise of something really like genius. At all events, what he does is masculine—much of it jolly brutal, as if he revelled in an excess of gender—and whatever his failings no one can accuse him of exhibiting any effeminacy in his work. Probably the very best evidence of his large, overweening sex in writing is the fact that women do not care for him. They cannot read him without shrinking a little at his fresh and riotous candor. But I think this very quality is a capital answer to the laments of the Sarah Grands and the Devereux Blakes that our men are all writing down to the desires of weak girls. It is a comfort to think that somebody can write so that weak girls will not read. Mr. Kipling retains in whatever he does the smell of the barracks. The weak girl prefers the smell of macassar.—Nym Crinkle.

The Most Miserable of Men.

The most wretched man on earth is said to be a monarch—Norodom, King of Cambodia. He has a gorgeous palace furnished according to the most expensive ideas, but he adheres to the customs of his ancestors, and sleeps on an ancient carpet in a kind of shed that has not been cleaned since the creation. He is a miserable victim to hypochondria, and all day long he heaves long sighs of utter wretchedness. This monarch is a short, fat person with one eye.

TAKE NO CHANCES.

Your Baby's Life is Too Precious.

USE PURE LACTATED FOOD.

It is far easier to prevent disease than it is to cure.

No loving mother should take chances with her baby.

Experienced mothers and nurses are aware of the fact that dysentery and diarrhœa come on often with a surprising suddenness in the early autumn.

In order to prevent such attacks, baby's daily diet should be pure Lactated Food. This wonderful nourisher strengthens the stomach and all the organs of digestion, and keeps the baby bright, healthy and vigorous.

To mothers who have weak and delicate babes, we confidently say, give Lactated Food a week's trial, and see what it will do for your little one in the way of building it up. The trial may be the means of saving your darling's life.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Rejoice Together.

Fine Year Old Maggie McRitchie, a Victim of Chronic Fainting Spells and Nervous Weakness, Completely Cured by South American Nervine After all Other Efforts had failed. The Mother, a Sufferer From Nervous Prostration and Indigestion, Likewise Cured. Hear What the Thankful Father Has to Say.

MRS. JAMES McRITCHIE AND DAUGHTER.

A leading local physician, whose profession takes him among the children of the various public institutions, remarked to the writer, that one would hardly believe that so many children were affected by nervous troubles, which sap the system and prevent proper development. In many cases the doctors are powerless to cure these troubles. They can relieve the suffering little ones, but in South American Nervine we have a medicine that does more than simply give relief. Its peculiar strength is that it completely cures where physicians relieve. A case in point came to us the 24th ult., in a letter from Mr. James W. McRitchie of Bothwell, Ont. He says:—"My daughter Maggie, aged 9 years, was afflicted with nervous fainting spells for over a year, which left her in such a condition of weakness afterwards that the child was practically an invalid. We tried several remedies and doctored with her in one way and another, but nothing gave relief. Seeing South American Nervine advertised, as particularly efficacious in nervous diseases, I decided on trying it for her, and I must say that I noticed a decided change in my daughter for the better after she had taken only a few doses. As a result of using this medicine, she is now entirely free from those fainting spells and possessed of that life and brightness that is the happy lot of childhood. I am satisfied it is an excellent medicine for any nervous weakness. My experience has been further supplemented in the fact that my wife has also been using South American Nervine for indigestion, dyspepsia and nervous prostration, and has found very great relief."

Whether the patient be man or woman, young or old, South American Nervine provides a complete medium for restoration to health. It is a medicine differing absolutely from every other. A cure is effected by application to the nerve centres of the human system, and science has proved that when these nerve centres are kept healthy the whole body is healthy. For these reasons failure is impossible.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society.

Miss McWilliams, a returned missionary from Indore, Central India, will address an open meeting in St. Paul's church on Thursday, Sept. 20th, at 8 p.m. Everyone welcome. Silver collection. Remember the date.

In Messrs. Hall, Gilchrist & Co's. advertisement in yesterday's EXAMINER, the date of the millinery opening was given as Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 19th and 20th. This was an error. The correct dates are Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 20, 21 and 22nd. The display will repay inspection.

Harvest Festival.

St. John's annual harvest festival is to be held on Thursday of this week, 20th inst. This popular service is intended as a joyful thanksgiving for the fruits of the earth and all the other blessings which the harvest includes and symbolizes. Even the smallest contributions of grain, fruit and flowers will be thankfully received from all who desire to recognize the Source of earthly blessings. The church is now being decorated for the occasion. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Wm. Farncomb, rector of Fenelon Falls.

The Sale Goes Gloriously On.

The public are happy, securing cheap goods. We are happy, handing them out, even if we do it without profit. The bargains to be had at the household clearing sale of the H. Ladies out shopping in the afternoons are advised to attend these special sales. Books, stationery, fancy goods, wall paper, etc., at almost your own prices. J. HAGGART, auctioneer.

A Generous Bequest.

Enthusiasm was aroused in the Methodist general conference, on Monday, by an announcement by Dr. Carman, which, he said, would cause deep gratitude to God. The communication which was read by Principal Shaw, the secretary, was from Rev. A. Hamilton, of Port Colborne, Welland county, stating that the will of the late W. Mellanby, a member of the Humberstone Methodist church, had left a sum equal to $75,000 to the Methodist church. It was to to be divided thus:—$10,000 to the home missions, $10,000 to the superannuation fund and over $50,000 to the foreign missionary fund.

Death of Mr. H. A. Walker.

Fuller particulars are to hand regarding the death of Mr. H. A. Walker, brother-in-law of Mr. Alex. Fitzgerald, Ashburnham, and Mr. H. Denne, town. The Port Hope Guide says: The good people of Port Hope and vicinity were dreadfully shocked to hear on Sunday morning that a well-known and highly respected citizen of Hope had been found dead Saturday night, on the road. H. A. Walker, one of the richest and best known farmers of the township, was in town on Saturday afternoon with a load of cheese. He left town somewhere in the neighborhood of six o'clock, and was found dead on the roadside by William Clarke. It is supposed that the night being dark and stormy Mr. Walker had somehow missed the turn leading to his residence, and was not aware of the fact until crossing the bridge over Haskell's creek. It would appear that he had wheeled the horses on the road with the evident intention of turning around, and by some means fell out of the wagon and was found lying between the wheels with lines in his hand and his pipe in his mouth. The doctors think that heart disease was the cause of his death. Mr. Walker has been for years treasurer of the township of Hope, and was highly respected by all. It was a dreadful shock to the family. We extend to his widow and family our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of affliction, and we are quite sure that in doing so we voice the public sentiment of Hope and Port Hope.

We sell the best goods made in Canada, and our prices are 25 cents on the dollar cheaper than you can buy them elsewhere. —Grafton & Co.

Rumor has it that many of Peterborough's most popular young men are on the "qui vive" with regard to the lecture to be delivered by Prof. Alexander, on Wednesday evening, on "Love, Courtship, Marriage and Jealousy." The ladies, of course, affect an indifference about the matter, but it is a noticeable fact that they have been well represented so far, and it is safe to predict that they will be out in force to-morrow night. The lecture is the most popular of any given by the professor, and judging from the crowds that have been in attendance so far, there will not be standing room to-morrow night. The Temperaments will be the subject of to-to-night's lecture.

Death of Mr. Isaac N. Dixon.

Mr. Isaac N. Dickson, youngest son of Mr. W. J. Dickson, of Otonabee, died at Nicholls' hospital yesterday of consumption at the age of 27 years. The young man had for the past few years been residing in the west and with his brother in Winnipeg and was a sufferer from lung trouble for some time, and came home in order to seek health and strength, but his condition showed no signs of improvement and he was forced to enter the Nicholls' Hospital, where, in spite of the best medical treatment, he gradually grew worse until death ended his sufferings yesterday. The funeral took place this afternoon from con. 2, Otonabee his father's home, and proceeded to Little Lake cemetery.

Undenominational Sacred Benefit Concert.

An undenominational sacred benefit concert, in aid of the widow and family of the late L. Seward, will be given in the George street Methodist church, on Friday evening, Sept. 28th. In order to reduce the expenses to a minimum, the trustees of the church have kindly given it free for the occasion. The object is a worthy one and will be a deserving tribute to the memory of one of the best musicians the town ever possessed. Besides the programme, the concert will have a high musical merit of its own. Herr Klingenfeld, late of Leipzig, but at present of Toronto, a violin virtuoso of the highest rank, will contribute two numbers. Herr Klingenfeld has performed in the chief cities of Europe and won the highest praise of the critics of those musical centres. While his executive ability is of a high order, his fine, Sphor-like breadth of tone fits him specially as the performer of solemn and sacred music. He will also be assisted by his wife, Mrs. Marie Klingenfeld, who, amongst her selections, will render the aria from the Passion music of St. Matthew, by J. S. Bach, with violin obligato. The balance of the programme will be contributed by the best local talent, ladies and gentlemen, who will sing in chorus, duet, etc. Further particulars from day to day. The admission price has been placed at the popular figure of 25 cents.

Special Temperance Service.

The Temperance Committee of St. Paul's Y. P. S. C. E. intend holding a week's service in the church, commencing Sept. 23rd. The services will start with the Sunday services and continue throughout the week with the exception of Friday and Saturday nights. The meetings will be conducted as follows:—The Sunday services will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. F. Torrance. The Sunday School service will be held in the church, Mr. W. J. Garvin giving an illustrated temperance address. Parents and friends of the children are cordially invited to attend this service. On Monday evening, the service will be conducted by the C. E. society, in the school room, Miss Quinn leading. Address, "A terrible charge," by Mr. M. McWilliams and two of the Cleveland addresses "Woman and Temperance," by Miss Francis E. Willard, presented by Miss Blanche Browne. "Christian Endeavour vs. the Saloon," by John G. Woolley, presented by Mr. Archie Wood. Tuesday evening service to be held in church; song service from 7.45 to 8 o'clock, Mr. John Gilchrist presiding. Devotional exercises, Rev. E. F. Torrance address, "Christian Stewardship," by Rev. W. C. Beer; anthem by the choir; address, "Individual Responsibility," by Rev. A. MacWilliams; selection by choir; address, "Gospel Temperance," by Rev. J. J. Rae.

Wednesday evening service to be held in Sunday school room, prayer service, Mr. W. W. Madill leader. Subjects, "Our Children," by Mr. Jas. Fife; "Our Young People," by Mr. A. J. Johnston; "Our Parents," by Mr. W. Simpson; "Our Responsibility as a Church," by Rev. E. F. Torrance.

Thursday evening service in the church; song service from 7.45 to 8 o'clock, Mr. G. M. Roger, president. Devotional exercises, Mr. Sheriff Hall.

The Rev. R. Johnston, of Lindsay, will address this meeting.

These meetings will be interesting and are not confined to the members of St. Paul's church, soley, but are open to the public, and with such speeches as the Rev. Mr. Johnston, Rev. Mr. Rae and Rev. Mr. Beer, should warrant a large attendance at all these meetings.

—A fire brigade is shortly to be organized in Minden.

—There was a blank at the Police Court this morning.

—Street Inspector Pope had the heavy street roller engaged to-day on some of the principal streets.

Street Inspector Craig has a staff of men busily engaged in repairing the different streets of the village.

—Considerable interest is being manifested in the 57th Battalion rifle matches, which take place on Thursday.

—The different fruit merchants of the town report that the sales in grapes and peaches still keep up, the latter fruit being in great demand.

—The Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the George street church will hold a social this evening at the residence of Mrs. H. P. Lindsay, George street.

—The following figures show the number of ministers and members in each of the five conferences of the Methodist church in Canada: No. 1, 233 ministers and 43,782 members; No. 2, 222 ministers, 43,531 members; No. 4, 235 ministers, 39,023 members; No. 4, 180 ministers, 38,345 members; No. 5, 210 ministers, 37,568 members, a total of 1,070 ministers and 202,249 members. The number of members in the average congregation is 289.

—A child of J. H. Sisson's, Minden, a boy about a year and a half old, was sitting on a chair near the kitchen table Friday last, when Mrs. Sisson set a five quart pail of boiling water on the table and turning about she did not notice the little one reach out and grab hold of the pail, upsetting it and scalding itself so badly that it died the following day. The funeral took place Monday and was very largely attended, the services were conducted by Rev. A. Lawrence, Anglican missionary.

—A party composed of Messrs. W. King, Robt. Logan, A. Plummer, and W. Monarief returned home yesterday from the back lakes, where they spent some days on a fishing and duck shooting expedition. While at the lakes they state they saw a big bear in the water, but the reason they did not bring it home in order to furnish proof was that they had no fire arms with them at the time. They fully expected when out there to live on roast duck, but their friends in town have "roasted" them for their inability to secure any game.

Australia's Cattle Trade.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—During the coming winter Australia will go into the business of competing with Canada for the live cattle trade. A recent steamer from Australia brought 19 bullocks of three different grades, fat, partly matured and stores. The cattle, which are now at Deptford, were shipped from Sydney, and although they have lost weight, are in fairly good condition. The meat is excellent, having cost in Sydney four pence per pound. The head have been sold here at sufficient profit to induce regular shipments. It is the opinion of experts that cattle can be imported equal to those of the United States or Canada and sold at a profit.

A Heavy Criminal Docket.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 18.—The assize court, Judge Robertson presiding, opened at Sandwich yesterday. The criminal cases are: Queen vs. Joseph Trusky, for murder; Isaac Buchanan, criminal assault; Charles Stewart, arson; George Steers, theft, Joseph and Charles Harrison, assaulting and wounding; John Neal, theft; Thomas McDonald, theft; J. L. Sugden, criminal libel; Alfred Riley and James Clay, highway robbery. Judge Robertson in his address to the grand jury stated that the criminal docket was the largest and the civil docket the smallest in his whole experience on the bench and asked them if possible to ascertain the cause.

Prof. Wright's Statement Refuted.

HALIFAX, Sept. 18.—The sailors of the steamer Miranda deny the statement of Prof. Wright, of the Oberlin College, that they were drunk. The men assert that it was the passengers who drank the liquor. They say the Arctic expedition acted like babies when the steamer struck and all got into life preservers.

Barn and Contents Burned.

WARKWORTH, Ont., Sept. 18.—During the heavy thunderstorm here the barn belonging to Mr. James J. Way was struck by lightning and burned to the ground, together with the whole season's crop and farming implements. Loss about $4,000, insured for $1,200.

AN EXCITING BEAR CHASE.

A Number of Local Hunters Come Across Bruin and Two Cubs a Short Distance From Town.

The following account of an exciting bear hunt is furnished by a member of the party:

"A party consisting of W. Gould, A. Patterson, J. Brady and Harry Nail, started out for a hunt yesterday afternoon. They went out about seven miles, put their dogs into the woods and got a good fox start, when a farmer came running out of wind and full of excitement and said that their was a bear and two cubs in the opposite swamp. As soon as the hunters could get the dogs off the fox they started after the bear, but the dogs would not hunt bear and they separated and each took for the bear swamp, but "Miss Bruin" hearing of their coming started, and they very nearly overtook her and the two cubs, getting within 75 yards of her. They let fly at her and her family, but their ammunition only being loaded for rabbits the shots were only like peas out of a blower, they had no effect, so Bruin got away, but as they were starting for home she ran across the road about 80 yards in front of their horses, and got the best of them again and disappeared in the jungle. Nevertheless, the party got two foxes and three rabbits. Harry Nail shot one fox and Alex Patterson the other. They are going out this afternoon with reinforcements and a sheep waggon to bring home bruin and her cubs if they are not out of sight.

LAID AT REST.

The Funeral of Misses Maggie Kennedy and Ada Alford Takes Place Yesterday—An Impressive Funeral Service Held—A Large Gathering at St. Andrew's Church.

The joint funeral of the late Misses Maggie Kennedy and Ada Alford, the victims of Friday evening's drowning accident, took place yesterday afternoon, and was an intensely solemn and impressive event. A funeral service was announced to take place in St. Andrew's church at 3 o'clock, but shortly after two the edifice was packed to its utmost capacity by a large gathering, anxious to assist at and to pay the last tribute of respect to the two unfortunate victims. The pulpit and choir loft were draped in black and white and beautiful floral offerings were strewn in front of the pulpit. Shortly after three o'clock the organ pealed forth the "Dead March in Saul, and a death-like stillness prevailed in the church as the two caskets were carried down the aisles and placed in position in front of the pulpit. Each casket was literally covered with floral offerings, among them being a "Gates Ajar" presented by the employees of Hall, Gilchrist & Co., and a beautiful floral wreath from the above firm, also a beautiful floral offering from St. Andrew's Y. P. S. C. E. The floral display was truly a beautiful sight.

The funeral service opened with the singing of the hymn, "Asleep in Jesus," by a full choir, after which a prayer was given by Rev. J. J. Rae, of the Charlotte street church. The Rev. Mr. Bennett then read an appropriate scripture text which was followed by a beautiful hymn, "Beyond the Smiling and the Weeping," by the choir.

Rev. Mr. Torrance at this juncture made a brief address. There were, he said, certain occasions on which it was necessary to say but few words, and such an occasion presented itself that day. God had spoken and we should listen to the voice of God and not of man. There is but a step between life and death, and the spiritual world is so close at hand that the partition between it and the natural world is very thin. We think of our young friends starting out that evening without the thought of death and in a few minutes they passed into the unseen world, and how little removes the division which separates these two worlds. The wise ones are they who live in constant reference to the approach of death and it was a comfort to us all to know that the two friends who were called to their Master were not unprepared, but were ready to go when the summons came. Let us recognize that our life is but a vapour which in the next minute passes away. There is a time when we all will be made clay, when the mysteries will be cleared up and we will see all. The dear friends of the dead were weeping over the lost, but let them, he said, take comfort, in the words of St. Paul, the apostle, in his epistle to the Romans:—"All things work together for good, to them that love God."

During Mr. Torrance's effective address many in the congregation were moved to tears, and the occasion was a sad and solemn one.

The choir next rendered a selection, "Days and Moments Swiftly Flying," Mr. Mulligan, choir leader, taking the solo and after an impressive and feeling prayer by Rev. Mr. MacWilliams the service came to a close. The entire funeral service was of a solemn nature and there was hardly a person in the edifice but was moved to tears throughout the ceremony. The caskets were then borne out to their respective hearses to the strains of the "Dead March in Saul," and the sad funeral procession, which was an unusually large one, wended its way to Little Lake cemetery. The streets on both sides of the route were thickly lined with people, and the tolling of St. John's church bell at the instance of the officers of the church, gave added solemnity to, and made the occasion one long to be remembered in Peterborough.

The following gentlemen acted as pall-bearers for the late Miss Kennedy:—Messrs. W. G. Morrow, J. Connal, W. White, Wm. Webster, W. Rabey, and —. Johnston. Messrs. H. Beall, Dickson Hall, S. G. Cowan, W. Robinson, A. J. Hamilton and E. E. Lord were the pall bearers for Miss Ada Alford.

The employees of Hall, Gilchrist & Co., and the Lock Works were represented in large numbers at the funeral, both establishments being closed out of respect to the relatives of the deceased.

The service at the graves of the young ladies was an affecting one and was conducted by the different clergymen who were present at the service in the church.

The death of the two young ladies, who were so intimate in social circles, as well as in church work, and their double funeral made the occasion a most solemn and affecting one and gave citizens of all denominations an opportunity of showing the high respect in which they were held, and of demonstrating the fact that a strong bond of sympathy exists between our citizens.

REGULATING THE WATER SUPPLY.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In your issue of Saturday last, commenting on the resolution of the Board of Trade, respecting the regulation of the water on the upper reservoirs, you stated that "there was, no doubt, ground for complaint, that the lakes between Lakefield and Balsam lake, the natural reservoirs for the control of the waters of the Otonabee, are not quite efficiently managed," and that the water is not held in these lakes in the spring. Now, as the proper regulation of the water is a most important matter to navigation and to the interests of this town, if your statement is correct, and if you make it, you should be prepared to prove it—the matter should be rectified at once.

It is the easiest thing in the world to drop in stop logs in the dams, when the water is high and hold the water in these lakes, but who is to pay the damages done to lands and water powers? Or why does not the Ontario Government follow out your idea and hold the water in Balsam Lake which is one of the largest sheets of water in the district. The Ontario Government officer, who has charge of that dam knows, if he were to hold the water in this lake, that every farmer on the lake would file a claim for damages to his land by flooding. The fact is that none of the lakes, from Balsam down, are, properly speaking, reservoirs, as, at the most, only a few inches of water, over and above that required for navigation in those lakes, can be held in them without serious injury to the adjoining land and mill owners. The main source of our water supply has to be held in the numerous lakes above, where, you mention in your article, from five to ten feet of water is held.

It seems to me important that the facts in relation to regulation of our water should be more widely known.

Yours truly,
"ONE WHO KNOWS."

Hot Bargains for Fair Time.

Everywhere you look—everywhere you turn—extra preparations are on foot for the Peterborough Central Fair. The Peterborough Bookstore has inaugerated a September special sale of Wall Papers, Window Shades and Cornice Poles. This store is on the warpath — tomahawking high prices. Greater faith is put in the nimble sixpence than in the slow shilling. Our advice to visitors to the fair is to arm themselves with a few crisp dollar bills, prepare for the low price crush, and be on hand in time. The sale is now in progress. In Wall Paper there is joy by the roll—in Window Shades joy by the yard—in Cornice Poles joy by the foot—and dollar doubling joy in everything. See our ad. elsewhere. A. H. STRATTON & Co. dw

CENTRAL EXHIBITION ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED.

Everything Points to a Successful Exhibition—The Art Loan Exhibit a Fixed Fact—In Charge of Mr. D. A Shaw, the Artist—All Other Arrangements Complete.

A well attended meeting of the directors of the Central Exhibition, which begins on Monday, Sept. 24th, was held at the Morgan House hotel parlours on Monday night. A good deal of general business, in fact all that was necessary, was done in the direction of completing details for the coming exhibition; the gate keepers and ticket sellers were appointed and the details of the important speeding events which will form this year so prominent a feature of the exhibition, duly considered. In one sense the most important new feature dealt with was whose details were outlined in these columns a few days ago. The directors decided to proceed with the Art Loan Exhibition, and placed Mr. D. A. Shaw, our local artist, in oils, in charge of the arrangements. Mr. Shaw is not only an artist of unusual taste and proficiency, but is a true artist in that he has at heart the promotion of the interests of art and the education of the public taste to a standard of appreciation of the higher achievements of the pencil and brush. He has worked energetically for the promotion of the Art Loan Exhibit and has been met in a liberal spirit by the directors of the Central, who have placed funds at Mr. Shaw's disposal and wisely placed him in charge of the arrangements. Mr. Shaw, from his connection with the artistic world, will be able to avail himself of the contributions of the most clever artists of the Art Society of Ontario. The pictures they will send are many of those exhibited at the World's Fair, Chicago, and consequently their best canvasses. Several of our citizens, possessed of paintings of more than usual merit, have kindly placed them at the disposal of Mr. Shaw, for this exhibit, and any others having pictures will not only give pleasure to the public, but will give an aid to the popular appreciation of good artistic work by loaning any picture they may be possessed of. Among the pictures exhibited will be the celebrated painting which created such a furore of admiration at the Toronto Industrial—Delorme's "Blacksmith"—a homely subject, but painted with such strength and realism as to make its view a delight not soon forgotten. A large tent will be set up, fitted properly within for the display of the pictures and on the whole the Art Loan Exhibit will be the most interesting of the many interesting features of the Central Exhibition of 1894.

A REGATTA AT CHEMONG PARK

The Annual Meet of the Chemong Park Boating Association.

The annual regatta under the auspices of the Chemong Park Boating Association, will be held at the Park on Friday, Sept. 21st, when a strong competition will take place for the following prizes:

Single canoe race—2 mile course, 1 mile and turn—1st money, $13; 2nd $4.

Double canoe race—2 mile course, 1 mile and turn—First money, $13; second, $4.

An entrance fee of 50 cts. will be required of all competitors in each race. Single canoes must not be less than 28 inches beam and 16 feet in length; double canvas must not be less than 30 inches beam and 16 feet long. The judges will be Messrs. H. LeBrun and Sam Rav. Mr. Ed. Brown will act as referee and Mr. T. Eastwood as starter. A large number of entries is expected and close and exciting events are looked for. First race will be called at 2.30 p. m. This event should attract a large attendance of those interested in aquatic sports.

WE COVER ALL.

It is one thing to cover up your body. Robinson Crusoe like, with goat skins and tanned palm leaves. It is quite another thing to get well-fitting, neatly-made Suits, Boots and Hats of the latest designs, without paying an exhorbitant price.

MEN'S HATS!
MEN'S SHOES!
MEN'S CLOTHING!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR!
MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

This store appeals to Men—and to Women also. The field of trade is widening continually. Instead of confining ourselves to Clothing, we have, for the fall of 1894, brought together under one roof such things for men's wear as they have shown themselves to want.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $2.65.
On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 85c.
On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.
On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.
Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

On the best $3 Men's Selected Shell Cordovan Balmoral or Congress, with Dunraven toe, we take off 40c., and ask only $2 60.
On the best Men's Fine Waxed Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1 25.
On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.20.
On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 63c., and ask only $1.98.
Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

FOR SALE AT

J. D. TULLY'S DRUG STORE.

CAST OUT the disorders, diseases, and weaknesses peculiar to women—by the prompt action of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. A woman's beauty depends on her health—beauty in this case can be purchased. A bad complexion, a muddy skin, a wrinkled face and sunken eyes, follow the disorders of the womanly functions. Cupid is in demand for healthy woman—not for sick and ailing ones.

The "Favorite Prescription" is a powerful, invigorating tonic, and a strengthening nervine to be used in all those distressing troubles which make woman's life miserable. You'll find relief from sleeplessness, backache and bearing-down sensations. It's a medicine prescribed by an eminent physician for those nervous conditions brought on by functional disorders—such as Nervous Prostration, Excitability, Fainting Spells, Dizziness, and St. Vitus's Dance. In every case of "female complaint" if it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

LOCOMOTION OF THE FUTURE.

Leaders of Science Learning to Fly—Maxim's Aerial Machine.

For sheer exhilaration there is nothing to compare with a trip on a flying machine. It beats switchbacks, toboggans and shooting the chutes all put together. It does not matter if the flying machine only flies along the ground, it is a novel and exciting sensation; and the step from this to flying through the air is not so great as might be imagined. This was the practically unanimous verdict of a distinguished company who traveled down to Bexley one glorious morning recently, in order to see for themselves and to try the famous aerial machine which Mr. Hiram Maxim has been engaged on for the last eight years.

There were Lord Kelvin and Lord Rayleigh, Sir Douglas Galton, Earl Russell, Prof. Vernon Boys, Sir Guilford Molesworth, Prof. Bell Pettigrew, of Edinburgh, and the science correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette. After a short inspection of the beauties of Baldwyn's Park and the house, guarded by a formidable looking Maxim gun placed in the entrance hall, the party were escorted to where the monster flying machine stood facing the 300 yards of track on which it is allowed to run.

Every one gets on board for a preliminary spin, and began to inspect the construction.

The platform seemed to be an oblong framework, covered with a wooden grating, and running like a "bogie" on four heavily flanged wheels. A web of stays and steel supports stretched upward from this, bearing aloft the main aeroplane, a double stretched sheet of balloon cloth, like an awning, tilted slightly upward in front—and covering, so it was stated, 1,400 square feet. With this the machine is just enabled to run lightly on tip-toe, as it were, without any risk of its leaving the track, and projecting itself into space. When all the canvas is on there are ten of these aeroplanes, arranged in tiers or decks, and measuring across the extreme tips of the wings 150 feet. It is impossible to say yet what would happen if the machine were started with all these trappings, for Mr. Maxim is too careful a man to run risks until he has made sure of every individual detail.

At the stern, starting from shafts some ten feet from the floor, were two enormous propellers, on which the interest began to be concentrated. A turn of a lever set one of these in motion, and as the revolutions became swifter and swifter the slender framework shivered and shook. When the second started a hurricane grew up. The machine rocked violently backwards and forward, straining at the anchor that held it, and threatening to break all to pieces; clouds of shavings and debris arose behind, showing what the force of the push must be; and at last, when everything was ready, and the propellers were at maximum speed, a shrill whistle gave the order to "let go," and the great bird-like structure bounded forward with the speed of an express train upon its brief career across the meadows.

It was rather alarming. The lightness of the frame gave a feeling of instability, and when the lift came on to the aeroplane one hardly seemed to touch the ground. Every heart rose to its respective mouth, and every hand grasped convulsively at some solid object, as though life depended on holding on, and the general sensation was one of a fierce tornado. When the end of the track came in view it seemed absolutely impossible that one could stop. A rope was stretched across the course; we crashed through it, then through a second, then a third, and, lo, we drew up in the gentlest and most graceful manner imaginable within a few feet of the thickest hedge. It was an extremely clever piece of brake work. The ropes were wound round friction capstans, and the pull increased as they were paid out, until the combined action became sufficient to arrest the enormous impetus of the machine rushing at forty miles an hour.

Then everybody laughed and declared it was delicious, and decided to try it again. —Pall Mall Gazette.

Sufferers from dyspepsia have only themselves to blame if they fail to test the wonderful curative qualities of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In purifying the blood, this medicine strengthens every organ of the body, and even the most abused stomach is soon restored to healthy action.

Lines About the Mouth.

A writer in Buckwoods who has made a study of facial expression says that, generally speaking, it is a strenuous contest with minor difficulties that produces a thin and rigid set of lips. It is seen almost invariably, he has observed, in housewives of the Martha type, who are careful and troubled about many things, "and whose souls are shaken to the centre by petty worries within doors and strife a l'outrance with the shortcomings of the scullery maid or the cook." It is, therefore, persons of weak will, he argues, who have habitually compressed lips, for the strong will is conscious of its strength, if not agitated by the little worries of the hour. The same writer, after citing the unconscious imitation of all of us in giving back frown for frown and smile for smile and yawn for yawn, says: "I know a tutor whose peculiarities of speech and carriage have been adopted more or less by every one of his pupils within the last six years, and several of them have come to resemble him in feature." He concludes with the interesting query: "Has it occurred to many careful parents that the good looks of their daughters may depend in no slight degree upon their choice of nurse girl or governess.

Their Wedding Journey.

Two families were recently greatly disturbed over a telegram. A son and a daughter of these families had married and gone away on a bridal tour of three weeks or a month, as the case might be. Two days after the three weeks were up the bride's parents received a telegram, which read:

Have had a row with my husband. Am coming home. KITTY.

To say this was not startling would be to say what was not true, and the bride's parents at once hastened to the home of the bridegroom's parents, only to find there a similar message, except that it read, "Have had a row with my wife." Messages were wired at once, but no replies were received, as the couple had evidently started home immediately after they had sent their communications. Then there followed an anxious waiting, and thirty six hours later the facetious and happy couple turned up smiling, with the explanation that it was a row on the river they were talking about, and they weren't to blame if the telegraph didn't pronounce words correctly.

Fruitarians.

"Fruitarians" are the latest novelty in the world of cranks. They are ascetic beings who consider modern civilization far too luxurious, and therefore agree to live upon nothing but fruit and water, to live in bare huts without any comforts, and to wear as little clothing as possible. The society is headed by a retired German lieutenant, who has gone to the Sandwich Islands to found a colony in some out-of-the-way spot, where his disciples can follow out their doctrines undisturbed.

A DISAPPOINTED MAN.

Thought he Was Going to Die Before Summer Was Out But He's Alive and Well and Working To-day.

Somerset, Man., Sept. 17th.—"Hard times" is the cry from farmers in this country. Arthur Coley, a farmer living near here, has had double reason to cry "hard times," for eight months ago he lay on his back in bed, a victim of Bright's Disease. He acknowledges that he expected to be dead before the end of the summer, but his expectations have been most pleasantly disappointed, and all summer he has worked on his farm just as though he had never known a day's illness. Last spring he began taking Dodd's Kidney Pills and a few boxes completely cured him, as they have every other victim of this disease, who have used them.

Some people laugh to show their pretty teeth. The use of Ivory White Tooth Powder makes people laugh more than ever. Its so nice. Price 25c. Sold by all druggists.

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

A CYCLIST'S TRAINING.

HINTS FROM AN INTERESTING TALK WITH CHAMPION ZIMMERMAN.

How to Pedal Properly—The Steep Not a Gain in Long Distance Riding—Other Exercise Required Than Mere Machine Work—Influence of Habits.

This article was inspiren by a conversation with Champion Zimmerman just before he sailed for Europe, and many of the suggestions are the fruit of his wide experience in bicycle riding for pleasure and profit.

The first item to merit attention is the matter of pedaling. How many riders pedal properly? How many get all there is out of the force applied without waste of power and consequent fatigue? Not one amateur in a thousand. They just press their feet down, and keep pressing them until the pedal comes uppermost again, and to a certain extent the pressure is continued the whole way round, even when it is a waste of power. The movement of the pedal is round a circle. As soon as it passes the top of the circle the weight of the foot drives the wheel until it passes the lowest point, and then the power of the foot on that pedal ceases to be a driving power and becomes, to a greater or less degree, a break or deterrent power. It is to the practical application of this one item that much of the phenomenal speed of the professional is due. The way to develop this method is to commence and ride slowly, watching the pedals, then slowly increase the speed, and practice until it becomes second nature.

Another very important item is to sit fairly upright in all ordinary riding. The stoop is all very well for speeding or turning corners, but it is more fatiguing for any distance over a mile, and so is a loss instead of a gain. If the handles are tightly gripped, and the arms used as rigid levers to brace the feet, a much more graceful and easy style of riding will result, with none of the cramped feeling the following day. When going up hill a rider will find he instinctively levers himself upon his arms to obtain the greater motive power, and that should be sufficient to show at once the importance of this style of leverage in ordinary straight riding for a distance. By persistent stooping a false growth or development is obtained, which will eventually not only round the shoulders, but will cramp the space occupied by the lungs, and so impede the breathing.

No bicycle rider should confine his or her exercise to the machine only. The machine only plays upon one set of muscles, and therefore the others are in more or less danger of losing some of their usefulness. Those who ride the wheel for health, as well as those who ride it for speed, will do well to devote a few minutes a day, in the morning and evening preferably, to the use of indian clubs and and dumb-bells. These should be used in the most free and swinging action, and in addition there should be a certain amount of brisk walking done after the ride. This is to set the inactive muscles to working.

For those who wish to develop speed and enter for racing, there are many pitfalls to be avoided, for the system of training has totally changed around of late years, and from being injurious in many cases, has become a great aid to the health of young people if they will take only one precaution, viz., not go beyond their strength. Both for speed and long-distance riding the same rules hold good. The first great essential is not to attempt to diet in any way! Eat what you feel inclined to, but avoid much pie, pastry and milk diets, and eat your fill of good meat and vegetables slowly, masticating well. The use of tobacco should be as limited as possible. The only other items are work, work and again work.

Jump out of bed in the morning, take a cold bath, use the clubs and bells for 10 or 15 minutes, and eat a couple of crackers just to stay the stomach, then get out of the house and walk a mile or so, finishing with a slow dog-trot run, just fast enough not to drag, until tired, or the wind gives out, but under no circumstances continue to cover a set distance to the distress of the runner. Then cast off, and walk quietly home so as to run no chance of taking cold, while eating a hearty breakfast exercise has prepared the stomach for. Take a light but substantial lunch, and wait until the evening before again exercising. This may be before or after meals. Riding should never be indulged in immediately after a heavy meal. Get out the "bike," see that all is right, mount and start to ride slowly, getting the pedaling automatically correct as before described.

Then increase to a good, hard, level pace, according to the road, and continue this, if possible, for at least two miles, increasing the distance as the condition improves. Never spurt at the end, nor in any way distress yourself. Do this every day, without a miss, rain or shine, and the result will be apparent in a very few days. If a race is in prospect, it will take a month to produce any condition to speak of, and not until the last week should the racing distance receive attention, then the ground may be covered twice a day (if under five miles) to accustom the rider to the distance posts, but no racing must be permitted, no speeding against the watch;

No person should travel without a box of Ayer's Pills. As a safe and speedy remedy for constipation and all irregularities of the stomach and bowels, they have no equal, and, being skillfully sugar-coated, are pleasant to take, and long retain their virtues.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

too many races, both of men and horses, are run the day before the race itself.

Have a friend to time you some day when you do not know it, and so get a fair gauge of your speed, but the great secret is to sing away to the extent of your strength the whole time you train, without ever passing the limit where the sustained effort falters. The rider who does this most successfully is the one who wins.

When the race comes off never mind about the others or what they are doing. You know what pace you can set; if you are in front keep steadily along; if you are behind you know that the pace must bring them back to you unless they are very superior to you, and in that case you have no business in their company.

Such training as this will not only produce "condition," but it will improve the health and strength of every boy who undertakes it.

If caught in the rain and soaked do not stop riding until you reach home or shelter, where you can take your clothes off. Colds are never caught by continuous movement in wet clothes, but only by sitting or standing around in them. Get them off, put the feet into hot water, if possible; rub the entire body, and feet especially, with whisky. Then put on the dry clothes, or, if at a roadhouse, roll in between the blankets until the clothes are thoroughly dried.

Girl or boy, carry a needle and thread in your case, and, more important than all, a bottle of calendula, which can be purchased for fifteen to fifty cents at any homeopathic or drug store; this is the most sovereign remedy for bruises or cuts, and is simply marvelous in its effects, far, beyond arnica.

For thirty years this method of training has been in vogue in Europe, and for the boy who proposes a holiday trip on his bicycle a two weeks' course will prove in every way most valuable.—St. Louis Republic.

Cooking Water.

One of the secrets of palatable food is knowing how to cook water. The secret is to put fresh filtered water into a clean kettle already warm, to let it boil quickly and to use it the instant it is boiled. To let it steam and simmer means to have a combination of lime, iron and dregs in the kettle and all the good water evaporated into air.

It is surprising that many housekeepers, otherwise neat and particular, seem to think that a kettle will stay clean without active measures on their part. The mere fact that nothing but water is boiled in it does not guarantee it against the need of scouring. It will soon become coated with a rusty-looking layer of slime, unless it receives the same care as other cooking utensils. Food cooked with water which is not properly boiled or which is boiled in a kettle coated with dregs, has not the same flavor that properly cooked food has. Moreover, it is dangerous to health.

Big Families in Quebec.

It was only five years ago that the Province of Quebec passed a law providing that 100 acres of public lands should be given to every father of a family who had twelve children living, issue of a lawful marriage, and since then no less than 1,742 fathers of twelve or more children have complied with the conditions of the act and received the State bounty of 100 acres. How the size of families up in Quebec compares with those of Massachusetts may be seen by reference to the last census figures of this State, which make the number of families having twelve or more living children 375, and the population of the Province of Quebec is considerably less than that of Massachusetts. It is quite apparent that the Quebec law is accomplishing its purpose of giving marks of consideration for fruitfulness in the sacred bonds of matrimony.—Boston Herald.

Average Life of Physicians.

One of the most curious statistical records that has been compiled this century is that by Dr. Salzmann, of Essling, Wurtemburg, on the average duration of life among physicians. He found, on going over the ancient records of the kingdom, that in the sixteenth century the average duration of life among that class was but 36.5 years; in the seventeenth century, 45.8; in the eighteenth, 49.8, and at the present time they reach the favorable age of 56.7. It appears from the foot notes to the above that this very great increase in longevity is due to the disappearance of the "black pest," the introduction of vaccination and the great diminution in the number of typhus epidemics, three classes of diseases which formerly decimated the medical practitioners.

"I wish you wouldn't use coarse slang when you talk, John," replied Mrs. Billus.

"What is the young fellow's name?"

"His name is Leech."

"Maria," observed Mr. Billus, after a thoughtful pause, "you see I wasn't talking slang."—Chicago Tribune.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success

SEVEN PERSONS PERISH

FOUR JUMP FROM THE ROOF

They Were at Work in the Fifth Flat and Were Driven to the Roof by the Flames—The Bodies Recovered Were Burned Beyond Recognition.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—A fire alarm yesterday called the fire department to the corner of Massachusetts avenue and K streets, where a fire had been discovered in the mattress factory owned and operated by Stumph & Bros. This was soon followed by a general alarm, and in a short time all of the engines in the city were on the scene, but so quickly did the flames spread that the operatives employed on the fourth and fifth floors were obliged to flee to the roof and compelled to jump for their lives before the trucks carrying the long ladders had arrived.

One of them, James E. Vaughn, sustained fractures of both legs and internal injuries, from which he died a few hours after. The other three who leaped escaped with more or less severe injuries, but all will recover. Albert J. Haake had both legs broken and was otherwise severely injured. Arthur E. Bevans was bruised inwardly and had his wrist sprained, and Harry Bacon was badly bruised.

So rapid and complete was the work of the flames that within less than half an hour from the time of their discovery the greater part of the four walls had fallen in and by 2.30 p.m. the firemen had pulled down the sole remaining piece of brick work over 20 feet in height which marked the location of the handsome five-storey structure which had stood there two hours before.

The work of searching the debris for the bodies of those who were known to have been in the building and not accounted for was begun. So far as could be learned the missing ones are Henry Fowler, Phil Ackerman, Robert Reitzel, William Tennyson, Willie Ache, a little boy, and one other, an engineer, name unknown, and this includes all of the dead.

It was not long before the searchers found three bodies close together about 15 feet from the K street entrance, every particle of clothing burned from them and the bodies charred beyond hope of recognition. One of them of smaller stature than the others is supposed to be that of the boy Ache. It was not until half-past 5 o'clock that the searchers found another of the missing ones. This body was discovered within a few feet of the engine on the ground floor and is presumably that of the engineer, and this also was burned beyond any chance of recognition. The four bodies lie at the morgue, one barely distinguishable from the other except for the numbers placed on the charred corpses.

The fire, besides destroying the Stumph building, consumed the Woodruff building, a factory where all the government files are made, and the falling walls of these buildings crushed Hall Germack's furniture house, filled Benner's marble yard and injured the Homeopathic dispensary building on the Massachusetts avenue road. On K street beside the Offenstein horse shoeing establishment, an oyster depot and a building occupied by a Gospel mission and the Horse and Cattle Food Do. suffered demolition. The entire loss will probably be about $85,000.

Fatal Accident to a Pleasure Party.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 18.—A pair of horses ran away last night with a pleasure party, including James Burns and James Criswell of Atglen, and the Misses May, Emma and Nellie McCarter, of Philadelphia. The young people were thrown out. Burns was instantly killed and May McCarter fatally injured. The others are slightly hurt.

A Bicyclist's Terrible Death.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Sept. 18.—Walter Walling, son of D. C. Walling, a Kendallville manufacturer, while riding a bicycle collided with a buggy. The handle bar was forced into his abdomen and he died from the effects of hemmorrhage.

Scotch Mine Strike Collapsed.

EDINBURGH, Sept. 18.—The strike of the Scotch miners has collapsed. Ten thousand miners descended into the pits and the pickets who had been stationed about the works were withdrawn.

Explosion in a Mine.

HAZELTON, Pa., Sept. 18.—A premature explosion of a blast occurred in Honey Brook mine yesterday. Three men were seriously and eight slightly injured.

Riding to Save a Life.

A Georgia newspaper gave an account of the heroism of John Potter, a ten year old boy who rode a horse twelve miles to Macon for the purpose of calling a physician to attend his mother, who was believed to be dying with colic. The doctor could not be found, but a kind druggist gave the lad a bottle of medicine and ordered him to hurry home. The brave lad rode home, delivered the medicine, and then fainted from nervous exhaustion. The medicine cured the sick woman, and the boy as well. It is only necessary to say that the precious medicine was Perry Davis' PAIN KILLER, which never fails to cure disorders of the stomach. 25c. old popular price, for New Big Bottle

PETERBOROUGH PRIME CHEESE.

A Regular Meeting of the Cheese Board—Resolution of Condolence.

A regular meeting of the Peterborough Cheese Board was held to-day. There were present the following buyers: Messrs Wrighton, Cook, Spence, Cluxton and Hodgson.

Before the Board opened Mr. Hodgson announced that Mr. H. A. Walker, of Hope, a prominent salesman of the Board, had died suddenly, and it would be a fitting thing for the Board to forward a letter of condolence to his family. He therefore moved, seconded by Mr. Cook, that the secretary draft a resolution to be signed by himself and the president, sympathising with the family of the late Mr. Walker in their bereavement. The following are the factories and number of boxes boarded:

Manchester	—	Orono	65
North Dummer	70	Newtonville	50
Hope	—	Darlington Union	110
Valentia	65

Mr. Cluxton started the bidding by offering 10½c, Mr. Hodgson raising it to 10⅝ and Mr. Cluxton to 10¾. Mr. Hodgson then bid 10 11-16 and Mr. Cluxton 10¾. Keene, Warminster, Shearer, Central Smith, North Smith, Norwood, Missing Link, Westwood, Oakdale, Lakefield, Pine Grove, Peterborough, Maple Leaf, Lang, North Dummer, Lakeview, Trewern, Bensfort, Ida, Mount pleasant, Warsaw Cherry Grove and Otonabee Union accepted. Mr. Cluxton bought the September make only.

Mr. Cluxton again bid 10⅝, Mr. Hodgson 10 13-16, taking Ormond, Daisy D., Perrytown, Fraserville, Orono, and Newtonville. Mr. Cluxton then bid 10⅝, Fleetwood accepting.

Mr. Cluxton again started with 10 11-16, taking Mariposa, Fenelon Falls, Scotch Line, Manilla and Cameron. Derryville accepted 10⅝ for last half of August and first half of September. Dunsford and Cambray also accepted this offer for both lots.

Mr. Hodgson then took Melrose Abbey 10 13-16.

The remaining factories were allowed to sell off the Board, and an adjournment was made for two weeks when the last half of September will br offered.

GOOD TEMPLARS FRATERNIZE.

City Lodge No. 404, I.O.G.T., and Westwood Lodge, No. 842, Spend an Evening Together.

Last evening two 'bus loads of the members of City Lodge No. 404, I.O.G.T., drove out to Westwood and paid a fraternal visit to the lodge of that village and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The members of Westwood Lodge had everything prepared for their reception, and after the arrival of the first load of visiting Templars a session of the lodge was held and the usual business transacted. At the close of the meeting a few minutes was spent in social intercourse after which the Westwood lodge provided refreshments which is needless to say were partaken of in a thorough business-like manner by the visiting brethren. Chief Templar Wilson, of Westwood lodge, and Mr. Simpson of City Lodge, then presented the following programme which was well received:

Instrumental	Sis. Blezard, Westwood
Reading	Bro. H. Breckenridge, Westwood
Song	Mr. T. Begley
Recitation	Bro. Munro
Mouth organ duet	Bros. Bradley and Milne
Recitation	Sis. Emmerson
Song	Mr. T. Begley
Recitation	Bro. Munro
Mouth organ duet	Bros. Simpson and Freeburn
Speech	Bro. Jas. Stubbs

Misses T. Kindred and Ellis played the different accompaniments very acceptably.

At the close of the programme votes of thanks were tendered to Westwood lodge for the reception tendered the visitors and to City Lodge for the excellent programme presented, after which the proceedings came to a close.

LACROSSE.

A meeting of the Junior Lacrosse Club is requested for this evening at 8 o'clock at the Palace Restaurant. All members expected to be present.

Thursday's lacrosse match between the Shamrocks and II Peterboroughs for a silver cup promises to be an exciting and interesting one. There is considerable rivalry existing between both teams and both are confident of winning the game. The ball will be faced at 2.30.

The junior Peterboroughs went to Hastings, yesterday, and played a friendly game with the team of that village, and succeeded in defeating the village's by three straight games. The match throughout was a good one and splendid play was witnessed on both sides, but the home team seemed to excell in combination work, and played much faster lacrosse than their opponents. The games were taken by Wasson, Guy and Rickey. Following are the teams:

WIDE AWAKE WARSAW.

From Our Own Correspondent.

In re-examining the papers Mr. Brown reports that John Robeson passed the entrance. This puts the school at the head of the list for the county, passing 100 per cent. of the candidates.

The sidewalks have recently been repaired. They are much improved. Mr. Morgan, the pathmaster, is a hustler.

The water is now very low.

Mr. E. H. Devline is attending the Norwood High School.

Miss M. Morgan and F. Tully, are visiting friends in Apsley.

Raccoons are reported to be scarce this year.

A large number went from here to visit the Toronto Exhibition. Rev. Mr. Robeson has been attending a camp meeting there. The pulpit was filled creditably by Dr. Couch and Mr. S. R. Payne during his absence.

A football match between the Warsaw and North Dummer junior teams will take place on Saturday at the school picnic.

Suicide in a Box Factory.

QUEBEC, Que., Sept. 18.—The box factory of Mr. Pare, St. Rochs, was the scene of a suicide yesterday. When the engineer of the establishment arrived to open the doors he found one of the foremen of the satchel department, Alphonse Soucy, awaiting admittance. An hour afterwards he was summoned by one of the girls to the stairway leading from the upper story on to the street. Here he found Soucy laying on his side moaning and making frantic efforts to vomit. When asked what was the matter he replied, "I have poisoned myself with oxalic acid." Before medical aid could be summoned he had expired. Deceased recently showed showed signs of despondency, it is said from the inability of his hands to acquire the art of making satchels, but this seems to be premature as he was very successful in his department and turned out good work. He leaves a wife and mother.

Jumped From the Elevated Road.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Charles Heckmen, a cabinet maker, 48 years old, attempted suicide yesterday by jumping from a moving train on the elevated road at 110 street, where the structure reaches the height of 110 feet. In falling he turned over twice and when 50 feet from the ground struck a telegraph wire. The wire bore the shock for a second only and then parted. The body of the man turned over once more in the air and struck a puddle of water with a tremendous splash and a sickening thud. The man lay apparently lifeless, crushed and bleeding. Heckman was taken to the Manhattan Hospital, where it was found he was fatally injured.

To New Orleans in a Cedar Skiff.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 18.—P. H. Cusack, who is making the trip from Webwood, Canada, to New Orleans, a distance of 2,300 hundred miles in a cedar skiff, has arrived here. Cusack left Webwood on July 16, on a wager that he could not accomplish the feat before October 16. He is to receive $900 in case he succeeds. He expects to reach the Crescent City ahead of time.

A Policeman's Strange Death.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 18.—Policeman Christian Otto was found dead at the foot of an electric light pole on Washington avenue. It is supposed he leaned against the pole while it was charged with electricity and was killed by the current.

A Good Appetite

Always accompanies good health, and an absence of appetite is an indication of something wrong. The universal testimony given by those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, as to its merits in restoring the appetite, and as a purifier of the blood, constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be urged for any medicine.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ills, bilious ness, jaundice, indigestion, sick headache. 25c.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum and all looseness of the bowels. Never travel without it. Price 35c.

TURNBULL'S
Millinery Opening Days
WILL NOT BE TILL
Wednesday and Thursday
SEPT. 26th AND 27th,

When our Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms will be opened for the Fall and Winter trade, crowded with all the latest novelties the season produces. We are a week later than some of our neighbors but as early as other seasons, and are giving our milliners ample time to do their work properly, and show all the leading shapes trimmed in the various styles and colours, and have, when our lady friends visit us, something worth showing to suit every taste, and the weather is likely to be more seasonable. Those who wish to get the correct style and have the largest stock to choose from should not purchase till they see ours. We have been very careful in selecting our Mantles to get the latest cuts and styles of Trimmings and buy only from the largest manufacturers, therefore we are confident we are showing a range of Mantles that for style and prices is not often seen in Peterborough. A cordial invitation is given to all to visit our show rooms and inspect our stock.

DR. CARMAN ELECTED

He is Still General Superintendent of the General Conference.

NEW EDITOR FOR THE GUARDIAN

Dr. Dewart to be Succeeded by the Rev. A. C. Courtice—Other Officers Elected—Visitors From the Presbyterian General Assembly at the Conference.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The election of officers of the Methodist General Conference took place yesterday. The ballot for General Superintendent stood as follows: Rev. Dr. Carman, 166; Rev. Dr. Potts, 28; Rev. Dr. Sutherland, 4, and a few scattering individual votes. Dr. Carman was elected.

Rev. W. Briggs was re-elected book steward, the vote standing: Dr. Briggs, 204; Rev. H. S. Matthews, 4.

There was a buzz of excitement when the next vote was reached. Dr. Dewart had held the position of editor of the Christian Guardian for twenty seven years and only consented to again stand at the earnest request of many friends.

The first ballot stood: Rev. A. C. Courtice, 89, Rev. Dr. Dewart, 84; Rev. J. W. Annis, 14; Rev. Dr. Rose, 11; Rev. Dr. Ryckman, 5.

On the second ballot Rev. A. C. Courtice received 123; Rev. Dr. Dewart, 87; Rev. J. W. Annis, 4.

Rev. A. C. Courtice was thus elected. He feelingly acknowledged the honor.

Rev. Dr. Withrow was re-elected editor of the "Canadian Methodist Magazine" by an almost unanimous vote.

For general secretary of missions the vote stood: Dr. Sutherland (re-elected), 139; Dr. Withrow, 37.

For general secretary of education, Rev. Dr. Potts (re elected).

The honorary position of treasurer, clerical and lay, of missions, were alloted to Rev. Dr. Sutherland and Hon. J. C. Aikens.

The Conference met again at 4 o'clock, when Rev. Dr. Stewart introduced following delegates from Presbyterian general assembly: Rev. Principal Caven, Toronto; Rev. Dr. Cochrane, Brantford; Rev. J. A. Murray, London; and Mr. John Cameron, proprietor London Advertiser, an elder. These gentlemen were enthusiastically received and addressed the conference in a happy and appropriate way. A resolution was passed thanking them for their kind words.

Mr. John Cameron, delegate from the Dominion Alliance, then read an address from that body, after which Mrs. May Thornley, president Dominion W. C. T. U., made a very interesting and forcible speech, being heartily applauded. Resolutions were then passed thanking Mr. Cameron and Mrs. Thornley for greeting and promising support of the church in their labors.

The committee on conference boundaries decided that No. 1 should be known as London, No. 2 as Hamilton, No. 3 Toronto, No. 4 Bay of Quinte and No. 5 as Montreal. The changes outlined in committee and reports are to take effect on May 29th, 1895.

Shot and Killed His Wife.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 19.—Samuel A. Kilpatrick, a son of the ex-superintendent of the House of Correction, fatally shot his wife in their house at Tacony. No cause except temporary insanity can be assigned for the deed. A number of Mrs. Kilpatrick's relatives visited her and a party was given in their honor. Kilpatrick, who is a sober and respected man, danced with his wife and appeared to be in good spirits. Immediately after the guests left he drew a pistol and shot his wife in the abdomen. She died a few hours later. A few moments before her death Mrs. Kilpatrick made a will, leaving her fortune of $40,000 to her seven children. Kilpatrick is under arrest, but does not seem to realize what he has done.

Poisoned by Poke Berries.

MILLVILLE, N.J., Sept. 19.—While strolling in the woods Emil Klafeter and two companions dared each other to eat poke berries. They ate nearly two quarts of the poisonous fruit. When they started for their homes Klafeter became unconscious. Another boy then dropped. Klafeter died before a doctor arrived. The other boy died soon afterward in terrible agony. John Schwarts, the last of the trio, had by this time been attacked. The doctors said he could not live until morning. When his mother learned this she seized an axe and tried to kill herself. She injured herself severely.

Fatal Ending to a Hypnotic Seance.

VIENNA, Sept. 19.—A hypnotic seance given last evening in the house of a wealthy landowner named Salomon, at Nyiregyhaza, Hungary, had a fatal result. The landowner's daughter, Elia, was one of the subjects experimented with. While she was in the hypnotic state, the hypnotizer, a man named Neukor, told her she was afflicted with consumption. The girl immediately fell dead with a shriek.

Fined for Publishing a Fake Story.

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Herr Kupfer, editor of the Lokal Anzerza, and a journalist named Kroker have been sentenced to pay a fine of 50 marks each for falsely publishing the announcement of the sinking of one of the steamers of the Hamburg American line.

What do you take medicine for? Because you are sick and want to get well of course. Then remember, Hood's Sarsaparilla CURES.

SIR HIBBERT'S MISTAKE

The Offer to Canadian Sealers Was Not Made With Authority.

SECRETARY GRESHAM EXPLAINS

He Thought a Certain Sum Might be Paid the Sealers in Lieu of Their Claims, But the Foreign Committees Refused to Take Action in the Matter.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The positive statement attributed in an Ottawa interview to Sir Charles H. Tupper, Canadian Minister of Fisheries, that an offer of $425,000 had been made by Secretary Gresham in lieu of the claims of Canadian sealers for damages for seizures in Behring Sea under the modus vivendi, if correct, indicates once more the inability of even the best informed officials of the British provinces to appreciate the difference between the methods of government in the United States and in Great Britain and its colonies. As near as can be gathered from the cautious admissions of the State Department officials Mr. Gresham did convey to Sir Charles H. Tupper, during his visit to Washington, just before the adjournment of Congress, an intimation that the payment of a certain amount by the United States, which may have been $425,000, might perhaps be regarded as a satisfactory settlement of the disputed question left open by the Paris award.

Such an admission on the part of a British minister would of course be regarded as binding on the government and it would be carried out, but in Mr. Gresham's case all he could do was to wait on the proper courtesies of congress and ask them to recommend the necessary appropriation.

Mr. Gresham went up to the Capitol accompanied by Sir Charles H. Tupper. He had interviews with prominent members of both the Senate and House foreign committees and the result was a flat refusal to ask Congress to take any action in the matter at that session. It is regarded as quite possible that some recommendation may be sent by the President to congress when it reassembles to pay a rental sum for Canadian damages, but in the meantime it should be understood by Canadian claimants that the state department has made no "offer" to Canada because it had not the authority to do so.

COLLINGWOOD REGATTA.

The Peggy of Wiarton Wins the Free-to All Yacht Race, Lalla Rookh Second.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., Sept. 19.—The annual regatta of the Georgian Bay Yacht Club was sailed at Collingwood yesterday over a 30 mile triangular course. The events were a yacht race, free to all yachts on the upper lakes, for a solid silver cup presented by James Playfair & Co. and a purse of $100, and a ...she men's race, free for all fishermen.

In the yacht race owners were obliged to sail the yachts. The entries and starters were: Lalla Rookh, Collingwood, John Birnie, Jr., owner; Peggy, Wiarton, Ra...h Ely, owner; Yendot, Collingwood, Wm. Watts, owner; Carlotta, Sturgeon Bay, James Playfair, owner; Single Wing, Cheboygan, F. Dillon, owner.

There was a fresh northwest wind blowing when the yachts were let go on the fly at precisely 10 o'clock. The Yendot got over the line first, closely followed by the Lalla Rookh on a close haul for the first buoy in the harbor. The Yendot came about to fetch the buoy, but was cleverly cut out by the Lalla Rookh, who turned the first buoy 30 seconds ahead of the Yendot, who turned second, the Peggy, Single Wing and Carlotta turning in the order named. The Lalla Rookh increased her lead around each buoy on the first round, but at a critical period in the second round she split her main topsail right in two and the pieces got foul of the haul yards and put her second to Peggy, a large bat-rigged yacht, who finished first, four minutes ahead of the Lalla Rookh. The Yendot came in third and the Carlotta fourth, Single Wing giving up the race on the second round.

It was a magnificent race from start to finish and the Lalla Rookh would have undoubtedly won only for the mishap to the topsail.

In the fishermen's race there were twelve entries and starters, the prize winners being: 1st, Rambler, sailed by Robt. Bishop; 2nd, Grainger, sailed by Matthew Bishop; 3rd, Mary F., sailed by Wm. Farr. The time was 5 hours 30 minutes for the full course.

A Jealous Woman Attempts Murder.

HAMILTON, Sept. 19.—Mrs. A. Stroud, wife of Alfred Stroud, hide dealer, went into Mrs. Oxley's fancy goods store on York street, and, pulling out a revolver, fired two shots through an inside glass door at Mrs. Oxley. Neither shot took effect. Jealousy is supposed to have caused Mrs. Stroud to act thus, as Mr. Stroud was seen to come out of the store shortly after the shooting occurred. No arrests have been made.

A Sydenham Farmer Killed.

HAMILTON, Sept. 19.—Adam Dyment, a farmer of Sydenham, was thrown from his cultivator while at work on his farm. The handle of the machine struck him in the stomach and he was so badly injured internally that he died. Deceased was 35 years of age and leaves a widow and two children.

A Case of Infanticide.

SPRINGHILL MINES, N. S., Sept. 19.—A shocking case of infanticide came to light here. The body of a fully developed child was found by a woman looking for mushrooms. Its neck had been hacked by a blunt instrument and it had bled to death. There is as yet no clue to the cruel and unnatural mother.

Death of a Prominent New Brunswicker.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 19.—Hon. Frank Wood, for many years a representative of Queens county in the Local Legislature, and later a Legislative Councillor up to the abolition, died yesterday. He was the most extensive farmer in his county and was a man of considerable wealth.

Electrical Association Convention.

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 19.—The annual convention of the Canadian Electrical Association opens here to-day. A large number of electricians from Ontario and other parts of the province are present and numerous papers on electrical subjects will be read and discussed.

FOR DEEP WATERWAYS

J. Enoch Thompson Reads an Important Paper to the Convention.

CANADA'S INTEREST IN CANALS

She Has Already Spent an Immense Sum in this Direction—The Chicago Delegate an Enthusiast on Matters Pertaining to Increased Canal Facilities.

TORONTO, Sept. 19.—E. V. Smalley, vice-president of the Deep Waterways Convention, occupied the chair at yesterday's session. The attendance of delegates was augmented by several fresh arrivals, among the new comers being H. D. Goulder, Cleveland; James Battle, Thorold; Thomas F. Judge, secretary of the association constructing the new sanitary canal at Chicago; H. L. Crocker, president Minneapolis Board of Trade; H. Gifford, grand secretary Patrons of Industry, Meaford; and H. W. Cook, Patrons of Industry, Halton; John Dunlop, Trades and Labor Council, Toronto; and Alan Macdougall, representing the Canadian Institute, also registered.

Ald. J. Enoch Thompson treated in an able manner the question of "Who shall pay for deepening the waterways?" The paper presented by Ald. Thompson was a practical exposition of the great needs of deepening the waterways of the great lakes to the ocean, and presented a reasonable scheme for defraying the great expenditure. After contrasting the sums already spent by Canada and the United States upon the construction of canals, Mr. Thompson pointed out that official statistics showed that ships carried nearly one fourth as much freight as all the railways of the United States. The Suez Canal had less traffic than the St. Mary's Falls Canal, the Soo. Canada had spent $50,587,856 to benefit not over 3,000,000 of her people directly interested, and the United States to benefit 26,000,000 of her people living in the States bordering on the lakes had only spent $7,931,000 on the improvement of the waterways which are used on the same terms by the vessels of both nations.

Viewing the financial aspect of the proposed deepening Mr. Thompson proposed as a solution of the problem that the cost should be distributed according to the territory and interests beneficially affected which would be a comparatively small matter. Although the only practical route is within Canadian territory the business of this country is not sufficient to justify her undertaking the work alone. As an example of his purpose he explained the frontage system of assessment in vogue in Toronto for local improvement, where property-owners pay in proportion to frontage. This principal, he contended, could be applied to canal deepening. The deepening of the canals should, in his opinion be a joint and international affair.

Mr. Fowler, of West Superior, spoke briefly to the paper, and among other good things he said that the west had two clever railway magnates. One, W. C. VanHorne, of the C. P. R., a Yankee, living in Canada, the other, Jim Hill, of the Great Northern, a Canadian resident in Yankeeland.

Mr. O. A. Howland, M. P. P., made a strong speech in favor of the establishment of the International Court of Arbitration with ascertained powers to determine and settle any dispute arising between the British Government and the United States. The suggestion was most favorably received by the Convention, and a committee composed of Messrs. Howland, Toronto, Dobell, Quebec, and Mr. McGuirk, Davenport, Ia., were appointed to draft a resolution along the lines proposed by Mr. Howland.

Mr. Dobell, of Quebec, said Canada wanted reciprocity in the free use of canals. American vessels had the free and untrammelled right to use Canadian canals, but in the State of New York there were fifteen miles of canal closed against Canadian vessels.

Mr. John Brown, Toronto, demanded twenty feet waterways and no transhipment.

Mr. Cooley, of Chicago, spoke of Chicago as the centre ridge of the great deepened waterways problem. There was only one real route for a great trunk waterway through the American continent, and that was by the Gulf of St. Lawrence via the great lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. Chicago could see both ways. His part of the country would use every endeavor, argument and resource to get a 26 foot waterway and would prefer to postpone the consummation of that desire for a generation if possible to obtain that end. Mr. Cooley spoke with authority upon the various phases of the canal question that he averred to and showed that he was a very clever and well informed canal enthusiast, and believed in a grand future for the lake shipping transportation with improved canal facilities.

In the afternoon Peter McIntyre read his paper on "The Economy of 20-foot Canals," and he was followed by Mr. James Saydam, of St. Paul, in an address on improved canals.

DEATH IN A SEWER.

A Hamilton Laborer Buried Under Ten Feet of Earth.

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept 19.—Fred. H. Austin, of 129 Ferguson avenue, with other laborers, was employed excavating for sewer construction on Wood street yesterday when the bank of earth caved in and Austin was buried under ten feet of earth. The weight of the earth coming down on the water pipe which became exposed caused it to break and the water gushed into the sewer.

It was a couple of hours before the water was turned off and fully five hours before the laborers could reach Austin under the bed of earth. He leaves a widow and three children.

Of the other men who were in the sewer, James Nevilles, of 425 John street, was buried up to the arm pits and was injured internally besides having both legs badly bruised. Four others who were working in the sewer were not seriously injured.

HOW "PROTECTION" PROTECTS.

The people of Canada have been and are asked to submit to high taxation for the benefit and development of manufactures. Our high tariff government has been repeatedly urged by Liberal members of parliament to take the duty off raw materials and thus encourage and foster manufacturing industries. But the pig-headed Mr. Foster has decided to stand by his fatuous policy and the result is that one of the largest manufacturing concerns in Canada is about to "pull up stakes" and remove to the United States, and is trying to take his twenty hundred Canadian workmen with him. The following despatches are interesting, if painful, reading:

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 17.—The announcement made last week that the Massey-Harris Manufacturing Company, of Toronto, employing 2,000 men, and shipping their products to Australia, Mexico, Brazil, and other near and remote points on the globe, has determined to remove its factory to the United States, and is looking about for a site near Niagara Falls, is further confirmed in an interview with Mr. H. A. Massey, president of the company, published in the Niagara Falls Cataract.

Mr. Massey is reported as saying:—"It is perfectly true that we intend moving the bulk of our business to the United States. Our company is a very large concern, and we naturally seek the cheapest field. The Canadian Government reduced the duty on manufactured goods entering that country from 35 to 20 per cent., but kept the duty on the raw materials as high as ever, thus enabling the Americans to ship in there their manufactured goods very readily. That is one consequence of the action of the Canadian government. Another is that our raw material in Canada costs us much more than your raw materials in the States under the new Democratic tariff which lowers the duties on raw materials all round, and our manufactured goods are necessarily, therefore, more expensive. Now, under such conditions, how could we compete in the markets of the world? We simply could not. We would either have to withdraw from the foreign fields or go to the other side (the United States), and we intend to go to the other side, but whether to your city or not I am as yet unable to determine. Now, just look at it. We use little lumber in our manufactured articles, the principal materials used being steel, pig iron, bar iron, and nails. McCormick, of Chicago, and the Deering Company also, can get a ton of pig iron for $9, while it costs us $16.50 a ton and this though we buy our iron from the same company. This is because of the Canadian high tariff. Similarly with steel, bar iron, nails, etc. The difference between the Canadian duty and the new American duty is very great, being at least 50 per cent. higher in Canada. Just as $9 is to $16.50, so is our ability to compete with American manufacturers in the foreign markets, so long as we remain in Canada. We had, I repeat, either to withdraw from the foreign markets or go to the United States and we intend to go to the United States.

"That new Democratic tariff of yours will benefit the country immensely. By freeing raw materials it will cheapen the cost of manufactured articles both to manufacturer and consumer. It will draw to your side manufacturing concerns from Canada who want a wider market, and an opportunity to manufacture goods cheaper and more profitably. It is that new Tariff bill which has attracted us to your shores."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 17. — The Massey Manufacturing Company have written to Secretary Carlisle, stating that they desire to remove their factory either to Buffalo or Niagara Falls, and asking if they could bring with them their present force of Canadian workmen. Secretary Carlisle replied that by the Act of February 26th, 1884, aliens under contract were prohibited from landing in the United States, and that that law was still in force and was being strictly enforced.

This is a splendid example of how "Protection" protects.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A game of baseball was played at Cavanville on Wednesday between our ball tossers and a team of that town. The game was concluded at the end of the eighth innings by a score of 15 to 12 in favour of Mount Pleasant. The game was a very good exhibition of ball and was keenly contested from start to finish. Mr. F. W. McLean umpired the game in a creditable manner.

Miss Flora Little returned to her home at Lindsay on Monday, after a pleasant visit among her friends here.

Mr. T. W. McLean attended a meeting of the Executive Committee of Durham teachers in Port Hope last Saturday.

Mr. Foster Eaglestone was awarded the contract of gravelling the Middle Road near the Long Swamp. The council let the work on Monday.

Mr. Preston, of Lindsay, has taken the work of blacksmith in Mr. J. J. Sadler's foundry.

We learn of the return of Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Best from a long and pleasant trip to North Dakota and Manitoba.

Mrs. Harry Ewing, of North Dakota, with her two youngest children arrived at her father's in Millbrook last week. We regret to state that Mrs. Ewing is not in the best of health, but hope that time will greatly improve her condition.

Our Good Templars visited their brethren and sisters at Springville on Friday evening. An enjoyable time was spent.

Messrs. W. H. Broad, Jos. Bland, H. Follott and James McLean were at the Toronto Exhibition last week.

Mr. Wesley Elliott, an old Mount Pleasant boy, was married at Mount Albert last week. Miss Eva Elliott attended the wedding. Wes. is G. T. R. agent at Mount Albert, and we extend to him our hearty congratulations.

Children Who Suffer

from scrofulous, skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't cure in every case, the money is returned.

For Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Cramps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery and Summer Complaint, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt, safe and sure cure that has been a popular favorite for over 40 years.

MILLBROOK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

For some few weeks an agent of the Canadian General Electric Co. has been trying to induce the citizens to place an electric light plant in town. It was decided that the council should visit a few towns, look thoroughly into the system of each town, and report to the ratepayers what kind of light they thought best to be placed in Millbrook. When the council met on Monday evening a large number of ratepayers was present to hear the report of the council and discuss the question. After some other business was disposed of the reeve, on rising to his feet, said he noticed a number of ratepayers who were present no doubt to hear the report of the council on the electric light system. He might say on behalf of the council that they had visited Niagara and Arouras, and had come to the conclusion that if lights were to be placed on the streets at all, the incandescent would do, and were by far the cheaper. He then went very minutely into the cost per night of each light, the amount of coal consumed and the number of lights used. He was just stating what he saw, however, and was not here to throw cold water on the scheme, but would invite discussion. He closed a neat speech by stating that if a company or a private party could make money out of it why could not the corporation take hold of it and do the same.

Mr. Ashworth, representing the Canadian General Electric Co., was present, and laid the matter very clearly before the meeting. He pointed out that their object was not to make money by running the plant but to open up markets for their supplies. They would put the plant in and operate it themselves, or would sell it to the corporation or any private party at any time. All that they asked of the Council was that they should take thirty lights for the streets. A great deal of discussion then followed, in which the Councillors, J. C. Kells, R. J. Doak, T. B. Collins and T. G. Kells took part.

As Mr. Ashworth's proposal was a very reasonable one the following motion was moved by Coun. Pickup seconded by Coun. Richardson and carried, "that the corporation of the village of Millbrook rent from the Canadian General Electric Co. for three years 30 thirty-two candle incandescent lights at twelve dollars and a half a light. The contract will be drawn up without delay and it is expected the plant will be in working order by Christmas. There are over three hundred lights subscribed for, for houses and shops alone. Then there will be the churches, the Town hall and skating rink. There will be fourteen lights on King street and the other sixteen will be placed around the back streets. It is likely the plant will be erected on the north side of King street, east of the iron bridge.

The lightning on Saturday evening did not pass over this section of the country without doing some damage. Mr. Geo. F. Elliott, of this town, owns and works a farm some few miles south east of here. He had just harvested one of the best crops ever produced on the farm and had his peas all threshed ready to draw to market, but the barns were struck by lightning and nearly everything destroyed. His two sons were standing in the stable door at the time, but fortunately escaped uninjured. The horses were thrown to the floor with the shock but were removed in time. A quantity of hay, four hundred bags of peas, a lot of wheat, and a new self-binder were destroyed. There was no insurance on building or contents, which were worth $2,000.

Harry Martin, after having spent the summer with his sister, Mrs. John Allen, returned to his home, in Toronto, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wood, together with Misses Annie and Gertrude, returned home from Niagara Falls, last Friday.

Miss Wood left town, last Monday, to attend college, in Toronto.

Miss Annie Vance has returned from an extended trip down east, in the vicinity of Kingston.

Mr. W. A. Stratton, of Peterborough, was in town, last Wednesday.

Mr. Fred. Deyell, of Souris, Man., who has been spending the summer in town, left for home, Tuesday.

Port Hopes are trying to get a game of lacrosse on with Millbrook.

The rapid action of the "great pain cure," Polson's Nerviline, in relieving the most intense pain, is a matter of wonder to all who use it. There is nothing surprising in its results, for it is made of the strongest, purest and most efficient remedies known in medicine. Nerviline cures toothache instantly; cramps in five minutes; neuralgia after two applications; rheumatism is at once relieved by its use; and the same may be said of all kinds of pain. Sample bottles, costing only 10 cents, at any drug store. The large bottles only 25 cents. Polson's Nerviline sold by druggists and country dealers.

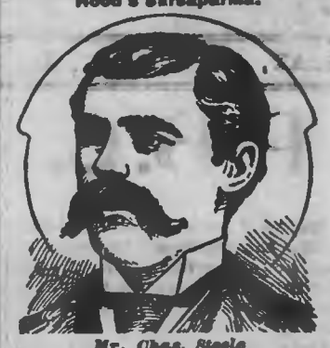
Appetite and Health Restored by Hood's Sarsaparilla.



Mr. Chas. Steele
St. Catherine's, Ont.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"For a number of years I have been troubled with a general tired feeling, shortness of breath, pain in the back, and constipation. I could get only little rest at night on account of the pain and had no appetite whatever. I was that tired in my limbs that I gave out before half the day was gone. I tried a great number of medicines but did not get any permanent relief from any source until, upon recommendation of a friend, I purchased a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which made me feel better at once. I have continued its use, having taken three bottles, and

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Y. P. S. C. E. NOTES.

ST. PAUL'S SOCIETY.

At the regular meeting, Monday night, Mr. James Connal took up the topic and gave an interesting address. The meeting throughout was interesting. At the opening, the president, Miss Best, presented a letter of condolence to our sister society, at the loss they sustained by the sad accident, depriving them of two of their most active members. The letter was drafted by the executive, adopted unanimously and forwarded to St. Andrew's society while they were in session. Next week, this society will be active. The temperance special services will be on. All Endeavourers are requested to help in these meetings.

The social committee of St. Paul's society intend holding a social, on Thursday evening, October 4th, and a very interesting event they intend to make it.

By the sad drowning accident, which happened Friday evening, St. Andrew's society lost two of their most active members. Miss Kennedy was an enthusiastic Endeavourer. Her most sincere desire throughout life was how she could further the interests of the society. She took charge of the junior department after the death of Miss Mercer, and was very successful with the young Endeavourers. Miss Alford had charge of the social department, and through her management the society has become noted for its sociability. Both these young ladies have been connected with the society for a number of years and by their sudden demise the society has received a shock, the effects of which will be felt for some time.

How about "Kingston '94," are you going? If so try and work up some enthusiasm. The societies in this district should have some of the life that characterizes Endeavourers throughout the land. Pass along the cry, "Kingston '94!" Probably you may not be able to go yourself but by your enthusiasm you may induce others to go.

What is the matter with some of our country brethren getting up a Christian Endeavour pow-wow? All you need is a large barn. Your city Endeavourers will attend to the rest. Come you ruralists and give us town folks a chance to have a night in the country. Don't all speak at once because we may find it impossible to respond to the many invitations. In what district are we going first?

We are going to discontinue this column unless the Endeavourers give us more encouragement. We have asked the different societies to send us reports of their meetings. A few have done so, but the majority failed us. Now we are not publishing this column for the fun of doing so, because it is not a little bit funny. Our desire is to give to all Endeavourers some live news that will interest them. What will be the verdict? To live or die. We have done our part, now 'tis your turn.

The Riverside mission society held a successful and interesting meeting Monday night. Miss Quinn address the meeting. This society decided to send a delegate to Kingston. This is the proper idea and some of the older societies might do well to take pattern after this society. Every society in the district should be represented at this convention.

SOME OF J. G. WOOLLEY'S VIEWS ON CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

"The Christian Endeavourers must work to raise public sentiment so that it will tolerate no licensed drink shop in the length and breadth of the country. I will not support any church or any party which will tolerate the licensed saloon in this republic. Before I work very hard to get some drunkards to join your church, I was to ask a few questions about your church. If the pastor is non-committal, I don't want to take a drunkard there. Is your board of elders in favour of high license? I don't believe that is a safe place for a drunkard.

It is time that Christian men become a definite quantity in this thing. To be a Christian ought to mean that one is an everlasting, uncompromising foe of the saloon. Then you will see the saloon fold its tent like the Arab, steal something and go away. A man who on the election day votes the same ticket as the saloon keeper, is fastening the liquor traffic.

We have tried to sing the saloon keeper to death, but he can stand a heap of music. We have tried to drown him with tears, but he is a powerful consumer.

"In national affairs I will belong to a party, and be true to it, so true that when it goes wrong I will leave it and go straight ahead until it catches up. I will scratch the wickedness out of its ticket, and then throw it away, unless I can stand with it upon a clean, brave, open platform. A man who is false to himself cannot be true to anything, and a party that asks a man to belie himself and speak easy his convictions, will in time betray both him and the country. A coward is potentially a traitor. I will square my politics to my church or leave the church."

ST. ANDREW'S JUNIOR C. E.

Again we are reminded, as junior workers, that our work may soon be done. God has called another of our superintendents to himself—Miss Maggie Kennedy, of St. Andrew's church. How we shall miss her in our work. Always so ready to do what she could for the juniors. Our hearts go out in great sympathy for the society that has so soon again been deprived of its leader. But God knows best, and

"All is right that seems most wrong
If it be His sweet will."

Surely God is speaking to us very plainly, telling us that we must work for the time may be so short. Are we ready? Who will take up Miss Kennedy's work? How faithfully she tried to fill the place so sadly made vacant by Miss Mercer's death. God help and bless St. Andrew's Juniors in this time of sore trouble.

The junior rally will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, Saturday, Sept. 22nd, at 2:30 p. m. Short addresses will be given by Miss Kennedy, Mr. H. Owens, Mr. W. J. Padey and others. Each society will respond to the roll call. Those who attended our last union meeting were delighted and we are sure that every junior, as well as senior, will find this meeting equally interesting and helpful. All friends of the juniors will be made very welcome. It is to be hoped the parents and members of the Y. P. S. C. E. will endeavour to show their practical interest by attending.

CLEVELAND ECHOES.

On Sunday evening, Sept. 16th, Miss Sherin and M. Ovens, the county delegates to the Cleveland Convention gave their reports in the Methodist church in Havelock. There was a large audience and the excellent reports of the good things seen and heard at "Cleveland 94" were listened to with keen interest and appreciation. Havelock has two societies, one each in Methodist and Presbyterian churches. South Dummer is now anxious to organize and would like the delegates to report there. The vice-president of this district will no doubt take steps at once to meet the desires of the South Dummeronians. Norwood heard the Cleveland delegates on Wednesday evening, 19th inst.

NORWOOD NOTES.

On Friday, evening, 7th inst., the members of the Presbyterian C.E. Society gave a reception to the Model School students, and a loyal, hearty, Christian Endeavour reception it was. Every stranger was met at the door of the commodious S S. room and welcomed by a reception committee who presented him with a card on which was written a question or an answer. He was expected to find the person who had the answer to his question or the question for his answer. A very happy substitute for formal introductions of all who were present. A very pleasant evening was spent in conversation, interspersed with singing and recitations, that were highly appreciated by those who listened to them. Refreshments were served, and after another short interval of "free and easy" conversation this most enjoyable evening and successful "at home" was concluded by all joining in singing "God Save the Queen."

We are looking forward to the organization of another society here soon, in the Baptist church, when, no doubt, a Local Union will be formed.

Dishonest Only in Small Things.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—Elias Watson (colored), a clerk in the postoffice, was arrested by Inspector Stuart while rifling a decoy letter containing $20. Watson was formerly an attendant at the bath-rooms of a prominent hotel. Six years ago he found a package containing $90,000, which had been dropped by a bibulous customer. Although this was an opportunity for Watson to make himself rich, he took the money to the hotel office and turned it over to the clerk. The next day the money was returned to the owner, who presented Watson with a gold watch.

Train Robbers Foiled.

FORT MADISON, Ia., Sept. 19.—Four masked men attempted to hold up train No. 5, the Utah and Colorado express, on the Atcheson, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad near Gorlon, Mo., 75 miles west of here. As a result, "Dad" Prescott, the engineer of the train, is probably fatally wounded, two of the bandits are believed to lie dead or wounded in the woods that surround the track, and the other two are fleeing across the country pursued by railroad detectives with blood hounds. The attempt to rob the train failed completely.

Wheelman Searl After a Record.

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 19. — The Chicago wheelman, R. P. Searl, who is en route to smash the New York record, arrived in Erie at 4.30 last evening. He rode forty miles out of Chicago without dismounting and his first stop, four hours, was at Fremont, and his next, three hours, at Painesville. If he keeps up his present gait he will beat Smith the mail carrier's record to New York, two days and a few hours. He left for Buffalo in the rain and expects to make it by daylight.

Funeral of Professor Wright.

PICTON, Ont., Sept. 19.—Prof. Wright was buried yesterday from the old homestead in North Marysburg with masonic honors. The funeral was possibly the largest ever seen in the county. About 180 masons were in the procession. The distance from the house to the place of burial was about one and a half miles and the procession occupied fully one mile. One large carriage was completely filled with floral tributes to the memory of the dead.

Bought a Wife for Seventy-Five Cents.

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 19.—John H. Burnham, white, of Boston Corners, Suffield, Ct., appeared at the police station and asked the police to look after his wife who had deserted him. The woman is colored and Burnham bought her for 75 cents from Charles H. Wilford, of Hartford, he signing a bill of exchange. The woman was at last found in this city, but declared that Burnham was no good, and departed on her own way.

Nothing Strange

Intelligent people, who realize the important part the blood holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, find nothing strange in the number of diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles result from impure blood, the best way to treat them is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes the blood.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

Ladies out shopping in the afternoons are advised to attend these special sales. Books, stationery, fancy goods, wall paper, etc., at almost your own prices. J. HAGGART, auctioneer.

Funeral of the Late H. A. Walker.

All that was mortal of the late H. A. Walker, sr., was laid away in the Welcome cemetery Tuesday afternoon. A very large number of friends and neighbours gathered at the family residence, lot 16, 2nd con., Hope, to pay the last token of respect to one whom they had known and honoured for many years. Rev. Jas. Thom, pastor of the Welcome circuit conducted the solemn service at the residence and cemetery. The funeral cortege was a very large one, many prominent Port Hope people being in attendance. The members of Hope Township council attended in a body.—Guide.

Effects of the French Treaty—Clarets at Half Price.

The Bordeaux Claret Company established at Montreal in view of the French Treaty are now offering the Canadian connoisseur beautiful wines at $3 and $4 per case of 12 large quart bottles. Her Last Trip This Season.

The steamer City of Peterborough ran her last trip on Saturday and is now tied up at the Ashburnham wharf where she will remain until the opening of navigation next year. The City of Peterborough since the day she first kissed the waters has had a very successful run. Her crew was a very obliging and courteous one and the excursions down the river this summer on this steamer have been a source of enjoyment to all who patronized her. The directors intend opening the season early next year and it is quite likely that the resorts along the river will see many large gatherings next season.

Wednesday's Market.

To-day's market was very well attended. Prices were firm and grain is much sought after. Oats advanced to 29 and 30 cents per bushel. Hay is selling well at $8 per ton. Choice butter in roll brought 22c, crock 18 to 20c, eggs 10 to 11c. Fruit is getting to be a scarce article on the market, but the supply of apples is far from being exhausted. They sold this morning at 50c per bag. Vegetables are plentiful and prices moderate. Potatoes sold for 50c per bag. The live stock market is brisk this week, especially in hogs, a large number being weighed and sold at advanced prices.

Officers Elected.

A meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Charlotte street church was held yesterday afternoon with a good attendance. After the transaction of business the following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. Taylor.
Vice-president—Mrs. (Rev.) Rae.
Cor. Secretary—Mrs. Allen.
Rec. Secretary—Mrs. Bacon.
Treasurer—Mrs. Gourd.

McBain's Warehouse Improvements.

Mr. J. J. McBain has been compelled, by his largely increasing business, to widen and improve the approaches to his grain warehouses, corner Aylmer and Charlotte streets. Three feet have been added to the width of the drive, and new planks make the approach an excellent one, a circumstance that will be appreciated by the numerous farmers who patronize him, and facilitate the conducting of his large business.

A Treat for To-night.

Judging from the crowds that have attended Prof. Alexander's lectures during the past week or more, the opera house will be jammed to the doors to-night when he delivers "Love, Courtship, Marriage and Jealousy." In Toronto when he gave this lecture the Auditorium could not accommodate the people and the lecture was repeated twice. To-morrow afternoon the professor will lecture to "ladies only" on "Our duty to our children," and in the evening to men only on "The social evils of the day.

An Elocutionary Treat.

At the grand undenominational sacred benefit concert in aid of Mrs. Seward and family, in the George street church Friday evening Sept. 28th, in addition to the numbers contributed by Herr an Frau Klingenfeld, violinist and vocalist respectively, Miss Lola Ostrom, the brilliant elocutionary star, will give an entirely new selection, "The Sign Painter," with appropriate Delsarte movements. This is a most effective selection and the little artist recites it to perfection. The other contributors to the programme will be noted later.

A Collision Averted.

This morning about eight o'clock a hand car containing a number of men while coming around the curve on the Missing Link near the Protestant Home had an exceedingly close call to a collision. They had just neared the bridge crossing the creek at the end of the curve when a freight train came dashing along bound for Lindsay. The men saw the danger drawing near and put forth all their efforts to bring the hand car to a standstill before being struck by the engine. They had barely time to stop the car, dump it from the track into the creek and jump for their lives before the freight was upon them. Those who viewed it say the men had a narrow escape.

Trent Valley Canal.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Empire says:—Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, chief engineer of railways and canals, returned from the Trent Valley district to-day. Since Tuesday last he has made a thorough inspection of the line of the proposed Trent Canal work from Peterborough to Lake Simcoe. In about three weeks time tenders will be called for portions of the work, on which construction is to be commenced without delay, namely, the 9-mile section between Peterboroug and Lakefield, and the 14-mile section between Aros, on Balsam Lake, and Game Bridge, on Lake Simcoe. Between Aros and Lakefield there is at present uninterrupted water communication.

A Successful Social.

A very successful social was held last evening at the residence of Mr. H.P. Lindsay, George street, under the auspices of the George street Methodist church Auxiliary of the W. M. S. There was a large number present and the evening was very enjoyably spent in social intercourse by all present. During the evening refreshments were served by the ladies of the auxiliary and were thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. R. J. Winch acted as chairman during the evening and introduced the following programme, which gave entire satisfaction:—

Vocal duet	Misses Lumsden
Address	Chairman
Reading	Miss M Fife
Vocal duet	Misses Annie and Clara Belleghem
Address	Mr. Jas. Stubbs
Reading	Mr. G. K. Munro

Miss Melrose and Mr. Geo. Schneider were the accompanists of the evening.

Opening To-morrow.

Everybody should be present to-morrow at Miss Delaney's first opening display of new Fall Millinery and Mantles, which will be matchless in quantity, in variety, in newness, and in richness. The latest New York, Paris and London novelties in pattern hats and bonnets, and a profusion of ribbons, laces, jets, birds, wings, flowers, etc., selected personally with the greatest care and attention, will be on exhibition. The newest ideas of refined and genteel taste which skilled hands have produced for the season's wear, will be exposed. Nothing is wanting—not a requisite feature missing. Every lady should be present to inspect the beauty, novelty, magnitude and artistic merits of our first opening reception. Elegant, imported mantles, jackets in many styles and elegant trimmings, will add to the attraction of our opening and will repay a careful inspection.—MISS DELANEY. 3d

HURLED A STONE AT THE DRIVER

Two Young Men Arrested on a Serious Charge Last Night—They Attempt to Board a G. T. R. Train—When Ordered Off One of the Number Strikes the Driver With a Stone.

Two young men, B. Weese and David Welsh, were brought before Mr. R. Davidson, J. P., this morning at the Police Court. Weese was charged with stealing a ride on a Grand Trunk train without the consent of the parties in charge. The charge against Welsh is a serious one, that of throwing a stone at a Grand Trunk Railway train. Both were remanded until Saturday.

It appears that the two young men boarded the 8.55 o'clock express for Port Hope Monday. At Fraserville they were noticed by one of the train hands and ordered to get off. When the train was leaving Fraserville the young men again attempted to board the train, but were again ordered off. This evidently did not please them, as one of the number picked up a stone and hurled it at the engine, crashing it through the window of the cab and striking the driver, Mr. Geo. Mills, on the head, inflicting a severe scalp wound. An attempt was then made to capture the two young men, but without success, and after fifteen minutes had been lost in stopping the flow of blood from the wound in the driver's head, the train started for Port Hope.

Weese and Welsh then started for Peterborough and last night a G. T. R. detective arrested both. Weese was found at the residence of his parents on Water street and Welsh at a boarding house on Charlotte street.

This morning Weese pleaded guilty to the charge of attempting to steal a ride, and Welsh stated he threw the stone in self defence, because a piece of coal had been hurled at him from the train.

The following is the Port Hope Guide's version of the affair:—

"Last Monday evening, just as the train from the north (Conductor Boundy) due here at 10:10 p. m., was pulling out of Fraserville, the engineer, Geo. Mills, noticed a couple of young men jump on the front end of the baggage car, just behind the tender. He applied the brakes, brought the train to a standstill, and ordered the fellows off. The train was started again and the same performance was repeated. The brakes were again applied and the young men were given the same orders, which they reluctantly obeyed, but were evidently very much displeased as one of them picked up a stone and sent it crashing through the cab window, hitting the engineer on the head, inflicting an ugly wound, from which the blood flowed pretty freely.

"The train again was stopped and all hands started in pursuit of the rascals, but the night being dark, they made good escape. A brakeman, on his way east, was among the pursuers, and had captured one of the desperadoes, but brakeman "Jim" coming along after him, mistook his comrade for the villain, and started to choke him, which compelled him to let his man go, and he therefore made his escape. "Jim" felt rather sore when the true situation was forced upon him. It is unfortunate that the villains were not caught and visited with the punishment their dastardly act deserved.

"Mr. Mills' wounds were attended to and the train proceeded on its way south, having been delayed fifteen or twenty minutes."

MATCH MAKING AT THE CENTRAL.

Wedded on the Grounds—Bridal Trip "up in a Baloon."

It is to be observed by the balloon cuts, in the window of the Secretary of the Central, Mr. Green, that a couple are undergoing matrimonial manacling at the hands of a clergyman. The happy pair are prepared at once the knot is tied, to start upon their honeymoon, in a balloon that is pictured tugging at her moorings, ready to ascend into the clouds—poor souls, as if they couldn't find clouds soon enough without meeting them half way by balloon route. Any romantic pair wishing to do likewise, and thus get even with our American cousins, will have a chance at the Central Exhibition on Tuesday, Sept. 25th. To the couple accepting this offer the following merchants will contribute to the wedding trousseau and outfit, as below: Mr. W. J. Green, free marriage license; Mr. W. A. Sanderson, gold wedding ring; Mr. R. H. Kells, bridal veil and gloves; the EXAMINER, free publication of the marriage lines; Mr. W. H. Hill, an accident policy of $10,000. A clergyman, who will be on the grounds, will settle the matrimonial harness upon the shoulders of the candidates for wedded bliss and, if it should ever be necessary to prove the marriage, tens of thousands of spectators will be on hand as witnesses. The sight of the ceremony will be free to all. The ceremony will take place at four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon and immediately thereafter the bridal balloon will ascend on the "high old" wedding tour. Be sure not to miss this unique occasion.

PETERBOROUGH CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

Special Attraction—Association Football Tournament—Open to the County.

The Directors of the Peterborough Central Exhibition have decided to give a handsome silver trophy for competition among the Association Football clubs of this county. The Rugby Football competition, also open to the county, will take place on Tuesday, Sept. 25th, and the Association competition will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 26th. All entries to be sent at once to the secretary, Mr. W. J. Green; there is no charge for entry, and it is expected that several of our best clubs will take part. Lovers of this healthful game will please take notice, and act accordingly.

ON A TOUR OF INSPECTION

Mr. J. H. Balderson, of the Department of Railways and Canals, Visits the Proposed Route of the T. V. C.

This morning Messrs. J. H. Balderson, secretary of the Department of Railways and Canals, Major Sam. Hughes, M. P., Lindsay, and Mr. R. B. Rogers, superintendent of the T. V. C., left this morning for Lakefield on a tour of inspection of the route of the Trent Valley Canal. They will, it is expected, make a thorough inspection of the northern section and will be absent two or three days.

What Does "Hard Wood" Mean?

A recent issue of the "Timberman" contains the following legal decision in regard to what constitutes "hard wood": A certain man had a contract with a railroad company to deliver "hard" cord wood, and he delivered poplar in part fulfillment of the contract. The railroad company objected, but the contractor won his case in court in consequence of the judge's decision that botanically any tree that had a leaf as distinguished from a needle was a hard wood, regardless of what the actual texture of its fiber might be. This is strictly in accord with other decisions based upon the technical and commercial nomenclature of the wood. There may be no particular reason for saying that Lombardy poplar or basswood or cottonwood is a hard wood, but such it is commercially as decided by the courts. If this new decision, based upon botanical consideration, is sustained, it will merely add strength to the old position.

SAUNDERS.—On Tuesday, Sept. 18th, 1894, Bertha Pearl, infant daughter of Mr. Jos. Saunders, aged 5 months.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Additional local matter on eighth page.

—The Drum Corps will meet to-night at 29 Louis street.

—Football promises to boom throughout Ontario this year.

—There is some talk of establishing a bicycle factory in Kingston.

—A harvest home festival was held last night in Zion under the auspices of the English church. Quite a number attended it from town.

—Jas. Rogers was charged with having liquor in his possession—internally,—this morning, and was allowed to go by the P. M., on condition that he left town at once.

—A hotel employee was charged this morning with stealing a sum of money from the proprietor of the hotel. He was released on bail and the case will be tried to-morrow morning.

—A pigeon flew into the Methodist Tabernacle, at Belleville, on Sunday evening last, and alighted on one of the largest pipes of the organ. Whether from fright or exhaustion, it fell down the pipe, and an hour's work was necessary to dislodge it.

—In the Roman Catholic church three days are set apart four times a year for fasting and prayer, and for imploring God's blessing on the fruits of the earth, and on the priests and deacons ordained at these times. These days are termed "Ember Days," and to-day, Friday and Saturday are the ones chosen.

—Mr. W. J. Green, secretary of the Peterborough Central Fair, received to-day from the secretary of the Prisoners' Aid Association, Toronto, a plan and design of a model house of refuge with a request that it be placed in a conspicuous place at the Fair. Mr. Green will place it in position in the crystal palace, where it can be viewed by the public.

—The organization of the Kingston Carriage factory is completed. The name will be "Kingston Vehicle Co., (Ltd.)" Permission will be asked in the charter to raise the capital stock to $70,000. The capital to commence with will be between $35,000 and $40,000. G. Richardson was elected president, Mr. Walton, manager, and J. S. Muckleston, secretary.

THE RIFLE MATCHES TO-MORROW

Everything Completed for the Different Events—A Successful Meet Anticipated.

The annual rifle matches of the 57th Battalion will take place to-morrow at the ranges, Ashburnham. All arrangements have been completed and some first-class shooting is expected to be done in the different events. The range officers will be Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, and Lieut.-Col. R. W. Bell. The matches will begin at eight o'clock. The ranges will be 100, 200, 300, and 400 yards.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE JOTTINGS.

The Winners of Scholarships and Honor Certificates.

Principal Fessenden received from the Educational Department, yesterday, the names of the pupils, who were successful in winning the scholarships and certificates of honour, awarded to them on their standing at the recent departmental examinations.

To the pupil obtaining the highest aggregate number of marks at the Senior Leaving examination, a scholarship of the value of $50 is awarded. For the Junior Leaving examination, the scholarship is worth $30, and for the Primary examination $20.

To the pupils standing second at these examinations, certificates of honour are given. The Senior Leaving scholarship was won by W. J. Spence, the Junior Leaving by Douglas J. Thom and the Primary by Miss L. Primeau.

J. F. Sullivan stood 2nd at the Senior Leaving examination, Chas. Butler at the Junior Leaving and Miss F. Erskine at the Primary.

Special mention must be made of Mr. W. J. Spence, the winner of the Senior Leaving scholarship, whose course through the Collegiate has been a very brilliant one. The average pupil in Peterborough completes his Collegiate course in 4 years, taking two years after entrance to prepare for the Primary, one year for the Junior Leaving and one year for the Senior Leaving. This average is lower than that of the majority of the schools in the province. Mr. W. J. Spence spent one year and a half in preparation for the Primary, won the scholarship at the Junior Leaving the following year and now, at 15 years of age, has taken the first place in a class of 13, at the Senior Leaving examinations, which is much more difficult than the University first year examination. Mr. Spence is to be congratulated on his having thus won the highest honour which can be achieved at the Collegiate.

We would also call attention to the fact that the other two scholarship winners are from the village of Ashburnham, which may be used as an argument for the speedy annexation of that suburb.

Mr Hampden Burnham who has frequently shown in a practical manner his interest in higher education, offered a prize last year to the pupil showing the greatest proficiency in Unseen Latin translation. The papers were kindly read by Mr. Jas. Skeele, B.A., Classical Master of Caledonia High School, who has awarded first place to Mr. A. F. Anderson.

The scholarships prizes and certificates of honour will be presented at the annual commencement exercises which will be held some time in the near future.

Up to date there have been enrolled 214 pupils, the highest number in the history of the school.

Little fault can be found concerning the punctual and regular attendance of the pupils at the Collegiate, as the average attendance throughout the year is over 90 per cent. of the number of pupils on the roll, yet there are a few parents to whose serious attention we would commend the following departmental regulation:

"Every pupil once admitted to the school and duly registered, shall attend at the commencement of each term and continue in punctual and regular attendance until its close, or until he is regularly withdrawn by notice to the head master to that effect; and any pupil violating this rule forfeits his standing in his form, and he shall not be entitled to continue in the school, or be admitted to any other, until such violation is certified by his parent or guardian to have been necessary and unavoidable."

Miss Marty, modern language master, was at Kingston on Tuesday, writing on an examination at Queen's University.

The Rugby football club has organized and is practising steadily for the fall matches.

The annual sports in connection with the Collegiate will be held sometime during the present month.

AN ODDFELLOW REMEMBERED.

Bro. Jas. A. McGill, P.G., Presented With an Address.

A largely attended meeting of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., was held Monday evening in the lodge room, which was also attended by members of Peterborough Lodge. After the business of the lodge had been disposed of an interesting event took place. Bro. Jas. A. McGill, P.G., who has been for the past number of years an indefatigable and zealous worker in the interests of Oddfellowship, has decided to leave town for Vernon, B.C., where he has accepted a position, and the brethren decided to take this opportunity of expressing their regret at his departure and their appreciation of the efforts he put forth on behalf of the order. Bro. Alex Rutherford, N.G., requested Bro. McGill to come forward, when the following address was read by Bro. Dr. A. Rose:

To J. A. McGill, Esq.:

DEAR BRO. MCGILL,—Your brethren of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I. O. O. F., desire to express in some degree the regret they feel upon learning of your expected departure and also our appreciation of the valuable and willing services rendered to our Order. We also hope that wherever you chance to be in the future you will remember, with pleasure, the many happy hours spent in this lodge room with us.

Since it has been our good fortune to be associated with you, we have learned to regard you as a good citizen and a faithful and invaluable labourer in the cause of Oddfellowship.

Your brethren pray that the greatest success and prosperity may attend your future, and the sterling character that you have displayed will doubtless conduce to that desirable result and eventually lead you to a happy enjoyment of the blessings of that brotherhood which is co-expressive with the career of fully developed manhood.

Yours in Friendship, Love and Truth,
ALEX. RUTHERFORD, N.G.
JAS. A. TULLY, V. G.
ANDREW ROSE, R. S.

Bro. McGill replied to the address in feeling terms, referring to the pleasant hours he had spent with the members of the Order in Peterborough.

Bro. Dr. Bell, P. G. M., and Bro. A McFarlane, P. G., of Peterborough Lodge, also made short addresses, in which they referred to the valuable services rendered Oddfellowship by their departing brother, and deploring his loss.

At the close of the lodge, the brethren repaired to the dining hall, where excellent refreshments were partaken of, served by Bro. Hooper. Bro. McGill intends leaving for British Columbia next week.

Big Snap in Cloth-Bound Books.

Just received at the Peterborough Bookstore direct from the United States Book Company, New York, 800 volumes of cloth bound books, purchased just in the nick of time at rock bottom prices. We have decided to put the entire lot on our bargain counter and will commence on Saturday to run them off at the following emaciated prices for such handsomely cloth bound books:

Books worth 50c for 25c.
Books worth 75c for 50c. gilt edge.
Books worth $1.00 for 75c.

Do not fail to have a chance at these rare bargains. Come in early on Saturday and look over the popular titles and authors. The above phenomenal prices should clear the stock out rapidly, as this is the first time this fine issue of books have been offered at so small a price. — A. H. STRATTON & Co.

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Joe Knox is talking about building two stores on his vacant lot next the post office. Go on Joe, don't be afraid; bustling Havelock is bound to grow.

Mr. W. W. Ellis, living in Belmont, a few miles from Havelock, was attacked by seven bears last week and had a close call for his life. He had a gun with him, but only three cartridges, with which he made good use. He killed two of the old ones and wounded a third and when the others got within a few feet of him he ran up an old leaning tree out of reach and the bears left shortly after. Mr. Ellis says this was the closest call for his life he ever had.

Phillips Bros. have just received a car load of American and Canadian coal oil and are selling the American brand at 20c. per gallon.

Mr. Webb has sold out his butcher business to Mr. Crossen, who intends to carry on the business in the same premises.

Ex-Reeve McAuley, James Henry and Joseph Rose have returned from Belleville, where they were attending court in a case of the C.P.R., which has been on trial now for the third time.

Philip Bros. are selling steel cut nails on a base of $3 per keg.

The Methodist congregation here will hold their annual Harvest Home dinner on Friday, 21st September, on the church grounds. Rev. J. Rae, of Peterborough, Mr. Anderson, of Norwood, and other speakers are expected to be present. The admission this year is only 25c.

Mr. A. V. Fuller and Mrs. Arthur Fuller have returned from a visit to Colborne.

Two representatives of the Cleveland Epworth League spoke in the Methodist church last Sunday evening.

Mr. Drain, proprietor of the Public Hall, over Mr. Dryden's store, was in Toronto the other day and procured some attractive scenic effects for his hall.

Clerk Phillips was in Peterborough on Tuesday attending the Judges' Chambers and assisting in the revision of the Dominion Voters' List."

BEARS ARE PLENTIFUL.

A Number of Them are Seen a Few Miles from Peterborough—Hunting Parties to be Organized.

Bears seem to be plentiful in the back country if all reports are true, and the local bear hunters are making active preparations for a great slaughter, if all they say is carried out. A number of local hunters who figured so prominently in the unsuccessful attempt to capture the bear and two cubs seen about seven miles from here, an account of which appeared in yesterday's issue, started out yesterday in search of the trio, and had everything completed for their capture, but the bear and its cubs had left that quarter.

During the day, however, a report reached town that the bear and cubs had been seen near Mr. Z. Burnham's woods, Otonabee, a short distance out of Ashburnham. The people in that locality are terribly excited in consequence.

A professional man and wine clerk, who were in the back country yesterday state they saw a bear quite close to where they were driving.

A citizen of the town whose word can be relied upon, as he states positively he never was on a fishing expedition in his life, was heard to remark this morning that the bears can be seen in great numbers in the back country, and remarkably close to the thickly settled districts. He gives it as his opinion that the recent bush fires have forced them to safe quarters. Bears are said to have been seen quite close to the village of Bobcaygeon, and if the present excitement keeps up among the local hunters, the different hardware merchants of the town will have to order a large consignment of ammunition, and the farmers in the bear districts will certainly consult their own interests if they house their cattle for the next few weeks until the excitement dies out, for there is no telling what will be shot for a bear.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Alex. McFee, who has been in Dakota for some time, is back again renewing old acquaintances.

The owners of fast horses are getting in some hard practice on the race track.

The Indians are now gathering their harvest of wild rice and report the crop above the average.

Mr. Hewson, of Campbellford, has been employed as head miller in the Allandale mills.

Court Otonabee, No. 1319, I. O. F., will have their church parade on Sunday, Sept. 23rd. Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Hastings, will preach for them, in the Presbyterian church, Keene, service to commence at 7 p. m. All are invited.

The programmes are now out for the third series of normal and institute meetings for the Otonabee Sunday school, under the auspices of the Sabbath School Association. The topics are, "The life of Christ" and "The lesson study."

AN EXPRESSION OF GRATITUDE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Permit me through the medium of your valuable paper to express, on behalf of the bereaved families, our sorrowing congregation and myself, sincere gratitude to the various pastors who so kindly assisted in our hour of need, for the great kindness of Hall, Gilchrist & Co., the firm in which the deceased laboured, and for the universal kindness and sympathy of the whole town manifested in such a multiplicity of ways. Believe me, dear friends, this kindness and sympathy are deeply appreciated, shall never be forgotten, but shall ever be a sweet memory and will greatly strengthen all to bear the burden, so heavy, laid upon us by the hand of the Loving Father.

WE COVER ALL.

It is one thing to cover up your body, Robinson Crusoe like, with goat skins and tanned palm leaves. It is quite another thing to get well-fitting, neatly-made Suits, Boots and Hats of the latest designs, without paying an exhorbitant price.

MEN'S HATS!
MEN'S SHOES!
MEN'S CLOTHING!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR!
MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

This store appeals to Men—and to Women also. The field of trade is widening continually. Instead of confining ourselves to Clothing, we have, for the fall of 1894, brought together under one roof such things for men's wear as they have shown themselves to want.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $2.65.
On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 85c.
On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.
On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.
Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

On the best $3 Men's Selected Shell Cordovan Balmoral or Congress, with Dunraven toe, we take off 40c., and ask only $2 60.

On the best Men's Fine Waxed Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1 25.

On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.30.

On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 62c., and ask only $1.98.

Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

IT TAKES YOUR MONEY

—only 25 cents to buy a glass vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets — but then you get a lasting benefit and a permanent cure of your Bilious or Sick Headache, Coustipation or Indigestion, loss of appetite, and all those troubles which follow a disordered liver.

The time to treat an inactive liver is before it becomes a disease. If these tiny Pellets were in every day use people would be germ-proof. The germs of disease make their entrance to the system through the liver—your health and well-being depends on the liver.

If you suffer from wind and pain in the stomach, giddiness, costiveness, disturbed sleep, you get immediate relief from the use of "Pleasant Pellets."

They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money returned.

ATTACKED CHINESE TRANSPORTS.

Japan Scores Another Victory—Li Hung Chang Deposed.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News telegraphs as follows:

"While Chinese transports were landing troops at Yalu a Japanese fleet attacked the Chinese warships conveying the transports and a severe battle followed. The Chin Yuen and another Chinese warship were sunk and the Chao Yung and Yang Wei went ashore. The Japanese lost three vessels. It is reported that the Chinese admiral Ting and Col. Von Hannecken and another foreigner were killed."

"The Chinese report that their loss at Ping Yang was 6,000 men."

The Times publishes a despatch from Shanghai dated yesterday saying: "The Chinese admit their defeat outside of Ping Yang but deny that the city was captured. It is reported that 20,000 Japanese have landed west of the Yalu river."

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Pall Mall Gazette's Shanghai correspondent says the Japanese are rapidly advancing upon Moukden. The correspondent says it is reported Viceroy Li Hung Chang has been deposed.

The Central News says: After the first feeling of surprise at the Japanese victory has worn off, it is admitted by experts who know the respective qualities of the armies that the result is a natural one. Marshal Yamagata, the Japanese commander-in-chief was trained in European schools and the other Japanese commanders and staff officers were similarly educated. The best friends of the Chinese do not believe them capable of holding the ports in Gulf of Pechili against the Japanese.

The Daily Chronicle's Paris correspondent says that in consequence of the developments in Coren, M. de Lanessan, Governor-General of French Indo-China, will shorten his leave of absence and will start on September 30 on his journey to his post.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette telegraphs: The Japanese, in three divisions, attacked Ping-Yang. The assault was entirely unexpected by the Chinese, who, though poorly armed, fought well behind their earthworks. After a series of desperate battles the Chinese were completely routed and all their arms, ammunition and stores were taken by the enemy. The fire lasted throughout the night. Bright moonlight enabled the Japanese to use their field guns with much execution. Three hundred Japanese were killed. The Pong Yong garrison numbered 20,000.

Windsor's Real Estate Boom.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 19.—For the first time in the history of Windsor there is a boom due entirely to American capitalists who will before the week is over purchase property to the value of at least one million dollars, all of it within the city limits. Last week some eastern capitalists paid $225,000 for property on the west side of Ouellete avenue but now western capitalists have taken hold and have secured options on all property they could procure for a reasonable figure. This morning Ingalls Carleton, Ill., paid into the Essex County Bank $65,000 as the purchase money for 205 lots on Goyeau street which belonged to Cameron & Curry.

Officers After Green.

CORNWALL, Sept. 19.—Two officers are after Charles Green, the man who is charged with causing the death of Patrick Cosgrove. He was located at North Lawrence, N.Y., and while the officers searched the house of his mother she gave the signal to Green, who was in his brother's house across the river. The fugitive made for a hazel swamp, and, night coming on, the officers gave up the chase.

An Empty Canoe Adrift.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont., Sept. 19.—A canoe half filled with water with two single and one double paddle drifting ashore was found near the Chautauqua grounds yesterday. One paddle was marked "Nada." There was also found one jersey marked "W.E.," a pair of tennis shoes, a pair of short trousers and two or three cushions, one of which was marked "P.R.E."

Burglars in Fergus.

FERGUS, Ont., Sept. 19.—Burglars entered the store of Mrs. Kemp, but failed to get anything, having been frightened away before securing anything. Of late two or three attempts have been made at burglary in different parts of the town and every time they have been unsuccessful.

Sufferers from dyspepsia have only themselves to blame if they fail to test the wonderful curative qualities of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In purifying the blood, this medicine strengthens every organ of the body, and even the most abused stomach is soon restored to healthy action.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

ELOPED WITH AN HEIRESS.

But As He Had Two Other Wives Living He Lost the Prize.

MONTREAL, Sept. 19.—A fortnight ago or so a good looking couple, giving their names as James H. Jones and wife, arrived in the city and engaged rooms at No. 6 Tansley street, east. They came from Chicago and a few days after their arrival the man left for that city again. He told the boarding house people that he was undertaking the trip on business, but did not add that the business was the attempted pacification of his wife's friends, who were annoyed at his having eloped with the young woman. It appears that her father is a wealthy hotelkeeper of the Windy City, Parker Mason. Jones has been employed in Mr. Mason's hotel as a waiter for only one month, when he managed to gain the affections of his daughter, was only 17 years of age, and eloped to New York, where they were married.

The girl's parents were unable to locate their daughter, but instituted enquiries which convinced them that Jones had already two wives living. Consequently when Jones returned to Chicago he was promptly arrested on a double charge of bigamy and abduction. In his pocket was found a photograph taken by a St. Lawrence street photographer and a card giving the address "Mrs. Jones, No. 6 Tansley street, Montreal." These addresses were sent through the Chicago police to Chief Detective Cullen, and that officer proceeded to the address and found the girl.

Mr. William Mason, brother of the girl, came to this city with authority from his father to take her back with him. When she was shown proof of Jones' rascality she willingly accompanied her brother back to Chicago. Mr. Mason stated that his sister had a fortune of $40,000 in her own right and that the family suspected that it was the money that Jones was after.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 19, 1894.

Grand Trunk returns of traffic for the week ending September 15 show a decrease for 1894 of $6,526.

At the Ingersoll cheese market 4,370 boxes August make offered, 140 sold at 10 3-8 and 1,125 at 10¼. Market dull.

The Farmers' Market.—Wheat is quoted 54c. for white and 53c. for red. Feed barley—200 bushels changed hands at 41 to 42. One hundred of peas brought 58 and 500 of oats 31 1 2 to 32 1-2. Outside prices were unchanged.

The wheat market in Chicago was quiet, closing 1-8 a 1-4c. higher. Corn closed firm half up. Oats closed steady.

At East Liberty, Pa., sheep were, extra $3.25 a $3.50; good $2.50 a $3; yearlings $1.50 a $3.40; lambs $3 a $3.85.

At St. Louis sheep receipts were 3,000; native mixed sheep $2.45 a $2.80; lambs $3.50.

The New York Stock Market was irregular. Sugar certificates and Chicago gas in particular closed at no great distance from the lowest figures of the day. Railway gross earnings reported for last week compare less favorably of late. Of the special developments, the break in sterling exchange was perhaps the most significant.

A DISAPPOINTED MAN.

Thought he Was Going to Die Before Summer Was Out But He's Alive and Well and Working To-day.

Somerset, Man., Sept. 17th,—"Hard times" is the cry from farmers in this country. Arthur Coley, a farmer living near here, has had double reason to cry "hard times," for eight months ago he lay on his back in bed, a victim of Bright's Disease. He acknowledges that he expected to be dead before the end of the summer, but his expectations have been most pleasantly disappointed, and all summer he has worked on his farm just as though he had never known a day's illness. Last spring he began taking Dodd's Kidney Pills and a few boxes completely cured him, as they have every other victim of this disease, who have used them.

MRS. J. H. HORSNYDER, 152 Pacific Ave., Santa Cruz, Cal., writes:

"When a girl at school, in Reading, Ohio, I had a severe attack of brain fever. On my recovery, I found myself perfectly bald, and, for a long time, I feared I should be permanently so. Friends urged me to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, on doing so, my hair and I now have as fine a head of hair as one could wish for, being changed, however, from blonde to dark brown."

Began to Grow,

"After a fit of sickness, my hair came out in combfulls. I used two bottles of and now my hair is over a yard long and very full and heavy. I have recommended this preparation to others with like good effect."—Mrs. Sidney Carr, 1460 Regina st., Harrisburg, Pa.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for several years and always obtained satisfactory results. I know it is the best preparation for the hair that is made."—C. T. Arnett, Mammoth Spring, Ark.

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

INDISCRETION.

Red tulip-buds last night caressed
The sacred ivory of her breast.
She met me, eager to divine
What gold heart-bud of hope was mine.

Nor eyes nor lips were strong to part
The close-curled petals round my heart;
The joy I knew no monarch knows,
Yet not a petal would unclose.

But, ah!—the tulip-buds unwise,
Warmed with the sunshine of her eyes,
And by her soft breath glorified,
Went mad with love and opened wide.

She saw their hearts, all golden-gay,
Laughed, frowned and flung the flowers away.
Poor flowers, in heaven as you were,
Why did you show your heart to her?
—London "Black and White."

John Stuart Blackie.

Prof. John Stuart Blackie, of Edinburgh, who has just celebrated his 85th birthday, is thus described by a correspondent:

"I encountered him one day beating eastward against a half gale, his cloud of white hair tossing against his head and flapping up against his big-brimmed soft black hat, his cheeks rosy with the winter wind, and his kind eyes dancing with the delight he takes in his favorite walking exercise. It was hard to believe he was in his 85th year. I told him how I had come across a book in which it was said that he loves to play the role of a peripatetic philosopher. How he laughed. 'Do they say that of me? Ho! ho! ho!' And then he trolled a 'Hi-ti-trumpty-tum,' snatching an air, as his habit is, from some half forgotten song, winding up with a mutter of Greek, looking the while as if he were a prophet, apostrophizing the gods. 'Don't mind the confusion of tongues,' he added. 'Greek, Latin, Gaelic, English—it's all the same to me. I borrow the phrase that comes readiest for the thought. But the Greek is the great language.' He has been in love with Greek for more than sixty years; he taught it during half that time; he knows it as well as he knows English; he reads Greek newspapers, he has the best Greek library in the kingdom, and I daresay he dreams in Greek. He had been extolling the master tongue and all things Greek with so much zeal that I said: 'You talk as if in spirit you were more a Greek than a Scotchman.. 'Not that'—he half sang the words—'Oh! bonny Scotland for me. A man should stick to the land where God put him.'"

The Centre of the Earth.

Did you ever stop to consider the fact that in all probability the centre of the earth is a globe of gold, iridium and platinum? The metals are, of course, in a liquid state, the iridium at the exact centre (that is, providing there is not some heavier metal at present unknown to man occupying that place), the platinum next and the globe of gold surrounding the other two. "But," you say, "what proof have we that your proposition is a tenable hypothesis?" In answer I would say two proofs at least, and perhaps more: First, the three metals mentioned are the heaviest known substances, compared bulk for bulk; this being the case they would be naturally attracted to the centre of our planet. "In the beginning," as Moses would say, the earth was liquid, if not gaseous. In either case the heavy metals mentioned were held in solution. By gradual condensation the metals settled to the centre; iridium first (with the proviso above mentioned), platinum next, gold last. Ages ago when the crust of the earth was thin, very thin, all the gold now known was vomited out in volcanic eruptions. This last mentioned fact is the second reason for believing that our globe has a golden centre core woven around a nucleus of iridium and platinum. A third reason for believing that there is gold at the centre is this: The earth as a whole weighs five times as much as a globe of water of the same bulk, while the rocks forming the same outer crust are less than three times as heavy as water.

Taxes to Pay Cheerfully.

There are two taxes that every farmer should pay cheerfully. The first is the school tax, and the second is the road tax. Good schools makes good citizens—good roads help to depopulate Hades, and, well they save our horses, our wagons and our temper.

Keep the Boys on the Farm.

Give your own sons as good a chance at least as you give the hired man.

Irish Blackthorns.

In the County Cavan, said an Irishman to a reporter, blackthorns are reared as tenderly as babies. A blackthorn is not cut at random in a wood, as most people think. A promising shoot is marked and watched day by day until it is thick and strong enough to cut.

The roots growing are the best, and they are carefully dug up so that enough of the bulbous root is left to make the handle knob. It is then pruned, the butt placed in warm ashes night after night to season, and then it is cut into shape and placed in pickle.

After this it is oiled and rubbed with chamois leather for hours at a time. Then a magpie is killed and the blood drained into a cup, and with this blood the blackthorn is polished until it becomes black and glossy. Then the iron ferrule is put on, and it is ready for a ruction.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. "There is no invidiousness involved in the assertion that no other Canadian company in existence can point to such a record of rapid, substantial and uninterrupted progress and prosperity as that exhibited in the successive annual reports of the Sun Life. . . . Most assuredly are its directors, shareholders and policy holders to be congratulated upon the very flourishing condition of the Company, and especially upon the result of the business of a year which was marked by the prevalence of conditions—the influenza epidemic, for instance—which proved disastrous for so many life companies. And with no less certainty can it be said that the very great progress made by the institution has been mainly due to the able and energetic efforts, guided by the sagacity and prudence which pratical experience alone can bring, of the President and Managing-Director, who has been efficiently assisted by the Secretary. Massey-Harris Company to Move.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The Massey-Harris Manufacturing Co., of Toronto, has determined to remove its factory to the United States, and is looking for a site near the Falls, to gain the advantage of cheap power. H. A. Massey tells a reporter for the Cataract that it is the new tariff bill that has attracted him to these shores. He says: "The Canadian Government reduced the duty on manufactured goods from 20 to 35 per cent., but kept the duty on raw materials as high as ever, thus enabling the Americans to ship in here their manufactured products very advantageously. Under such conditions we could not compete with the markets of the world. That new Democratic tariff will help your country immensely. By freeing raw materials it will cheapen the cost of manufactured articles both to manufacturer and consumer. It will draw to your side many manufacturing concerns of Canada which want a wider market and an opportunity to manufacture goods more profitably."

Will Celebrate Its Centennial.

BOWMANSVILLE, Sept. 18.—One hundred years ago three families landed on the north shore of Lake Ontario, near the present site of Bowmansville, and next Saturday the centennial of this first settlement by white people will be celebrated, when the Lieutenant Governor, Hon. J. Dryden, Minister of Agriculture; Dr. John Hoskin, Q. C.; Mr. E. M. Murphy, of the York Pioneers; Mr. D. Burke Simpson, grandson of the first settlers; Mr. James McFeeters, the first Mayor; Mr. J. B. Fairbairn, first postmaster; Geo. Haines, first Police Magistrate; Lieut.-Col. Cubett, Mayor R. R. Loscombe and other descendants of the first families are going to take active part in the celebration.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 18, 1894.

THE FARMERS' MARKET—On the street 300 bushels of wheat sold at 54 for white and 53 for red; 100 of peas brought 58, and 500 of oats 32. Outside wheat was worth 51 to 52, outside peas 52 to 55, and outside oats 27.

The wheat market in Chicago was mainly local and on reports of a slight increase in the visible supply and light offerings, prices advanced and the close was 1-8 to 1-4 higher. Corn was firmer and closed 1-2 higher.

At East Buffalo all offerings of Canada lambs were taken at from $4 to $4.50.

The visible supply of barley at Buffalo was very largely increased during the past week and now exceeds a million and a half bushels. Trade during the past week has been rather dull, central New York dealers bought several lots for malsters; in the west trade has been fairly good. At Oswego, as here, only a meagre quantity of Canada was offered and the rates quoted 60 to 65 at Oswego, 60 to 70 here are little better than nominal quotations.

The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: Harvesting is being actively carried on throughout the chief British producing regions. The crop is of average bulk but is inferior in quality.

The London markets were irregular, closing dull. Americans were depressed by persistent bearish articles in the financial press. As previously cabled, the best houses here were not interested in the recent rise, hence a further but not severe reaction is probable.

Half a dozen stocks were singled out on Wall Street for violent handling by professional adventures and as the balance of the list was pretty much neglected, the market moved in a rather unusually varied manner. As a rule the railway stocks were very gently treated, the grangers in particular, thanks perhaps to the large interest already existing in them, holding singularly firm.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success

About Pianos!

—:o:—

It Is An Actual Fact

That J. W. CROSBY sells Better Pianos for Less Money than any traveller or outside agent.

1st. Because he has no big salaries or commissions to pay to agents.

2nd. Because his expenses, rent, taxes, etc. in Peterborough, are more than one-half less than travellers and representatives living in the cities.

3rd. Because having the control of the best instruments of all the best Piano makers in the country, competition between the different makers gives him the advantage over the representatives of any one single Piano firm.

J. W. Crosby has sold about 200 Pianos in and near Peterborough. He sells the Williams, Morris, Rheinhart, Uxbridge and Gerhard Heintzman Pianos, and can undersell for quality of goods, price and terms, any and all outsiders. Try him.

Pianos from $300 to $400. He can save you $50 over outsiders or won't ask you to buy.

ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

INDISCRETION.

Red tulip-buds last night caressed
The sacred ivory of her breast.
She met me, eager to divine
What gold heart-bud of hope was mine.

Nor eyes nor lips were strong to part
The close-curled petals round my heart;
The joy I knew no monarch knows,
Yet not a petal would disclose.

But, ah!—the tulip-buds unwise,
Warmed with the sunshine of her eyes,
And by her soft breath glorified,
Went mad with love and opened wide.

She saw their hearts, all golden-gay,
Laughed, frowned and flung the flowers away.
Poor flowers, in heaven as you were,
Why did you show your heart to her?

—London "Black and White."

John Stuart Blackie.

Prof. John Stuart Blackie, of Edinburgh, who has just celebrated his 85th birthday, is thus described by a correspondent:

"I encountered him one day beating eastward against a half gale, his cloud of white hair tossing against his head and flapping up against his big-brimmed soft black hat, his cheeks rosy with the winter wind, and his kind eyes dancing with the delight he takes in his favorite walking exercise. It was hard to believe he was in his 85th year. I told him how I had come across a book in which it was said that he loves to play the role of a peripatetic philosopher. How he laughed. 'Do they say that of me? Ho! ho! ho!' And then he trolled a 'Hi-ti-trumpty-tum,' snatching an air, as his habit is, from some half forgotten song, winding up with a mutter of Greek, looking the while as if he were a prophet, apostrophizing the gods. 'Don't mind the confusion of tongues,' he added. 'Greek, Latin, Gaelic, English—it's all the same to me. I borrow the phrase that comes readiest for the thought. But the Greek is the great language.' He has been in love with Greek for more than sixty years; he taught it during half that time; he knows it as well as he knows English; he reads Greek newspapers, he has the best Greek library in the kingdom, and I daresay he dreams in Greek. He had been extolling the master tongue and all things Greek with so much zeal that I said: 'You talk as if in spirit you were more a Greek than a Scotchman.. 'Not that'—he half sang the words—'Oh! bonny Scotland for me. A man should stick to the land where God put him.'"

The Centre of the Earth.

Did you ever stop to consider the fact that in all probability the centre of the earth is a globe of gold, iridium and platinum? The metals are, of course, in a liquid state, the iridium at the exact centre (that is, providing there is not some heavier metal at present unknown to man occupying that place), the platinum next and the globe of gold surrounding the other two. "But," you say, "what proof have we that your proposition is a tenable hypothesis?" In answer I would say two proofs at least, and perhaps more: First, the three metals mentioned are the heaviest known substances, compared bulk for bulk; this being the case they would be naturally attracted to the centre of our planet. "In the beginning," as Moses would say, the earth was liquid, if not gaseous. In either case the heavy metals mentioned were held in solution. By gradual condensation the metals settled to the centre; iridium first (with the proviso above mentioned), platinum next, gold last. Ages ago when the crust of the earth was thin, very thin, all the gold now known was vomited out in volcanic eruptions. This last mentioned fact is the second reason for believing that our globe has a golden centre core woven around a nucleus of iridium and platinum. A third reason for believing that there is gold at the centre is this: The earth as a whole weighs five times as much as a globe of water of the same bulk, while the rocks forming the same outer crust are less than three times as heavy as water.

Taxes to Pay Cheerfully.

There are two taxes that every farmer should pay cheerfully. The first is the school tax, and the second is the road tax. Goop schools makes good citizens—good roads help to depopulate Hades, and, well they save our horses, our wagons and our temper.

Keep the Boys on the Farm.

Give your own sons as good a chance at least as you give the hired man.

Irish Blackthorns.

In the County Cavan, said an Irishman to a reporter, blackthorns are reared as tenderly as babies. A blackthorn is not cut at random in a wood, as most people think. A promising shoot is marked and watched day by day until it is thick and strong enough to cut.

The roots growing are the best, and they are carefully dug up so that enough of the bulbous root is left to make the handle knob. It is then pruned, the butt placed in warm ashes night after night to season, and then it is cut into shape and placed in pickle.

After this it is oiled and rubbed with chamois leather for hours at a time. Then a magpie is killed and the blood drained into a cup, and with this blood the blackthorn is polished until it becomes black and glossy. Then the iron ferrule is put on, and it is ready for a ruction.

No person should travel without a box of Ayer's Pills. As a safe and speedy remedy for constipation and all irregularities of the stomach and bowels, they have no equal, and, being skillfully sugar-coated, are pleasant to take, and long retain their virtues.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 18, 1894.

THE FARMERS' MARKET—On the street 300 bushels of wheat sold at 54 for white and 53 for red; 100 of peas brought 58, and 500 of oats 32. Outside wheat was worth 51 to 52, outside peas 52 to 55, and outside oats 27.

The wheat market in Chicago was mainly local and on reports of a slight increase in the visible supply and light offerings, prices advanced and the close was 1-8 to 1-4 higher. Corn was firmer and closed 1 2 higher.

At East Buffalo all offerings of Canada lambs were taken at from $4 to $4.50.

The visible supply of barley at Buffalo was very largely increased during the past week and now exceeds a million and a half bushels. Trade during the past week has been rather dull, central New York dealers bought several lots for malsters; in the west trade has been fairly good. At Oswego, as here, only a meagre quantity of Canada was offered and the rates quoted 60 to 65 at Oswego, 60 to 70 here are little better than nominal quotations.

The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: Harvesting is being actively carried on throughout the chief British producing regions. The crop is of average bulk but is inferior in quality.

The London markets were irregular, closing dull. Americans were depressed by persistent bearish articles in the financial press. As previously cabled, the best houses here were not interested in the recent rise, hence a further but not severe reaction is probable.

Half a dozen stocks were singled out on Wall Street for violent handling by professional adventures and as the balance of the list was pretty much neglected, the market moved in a rather unusually varied manner. As a rule the railway stocks were very gently treated, the grangers in particular, thanks perhaps to the large interest already existing in them, holding singularly firm.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success

SOMETHING OF INTEREST

About Pianos!

—:o:—

It Is An Actual Fact

That J. W. CROSBY sells Better Pianos for Less Money than any traveller or outside agent.

1st. Because he has no big salaries or commissions to pay to agents.

2nd. Because his expenses, rent, taxes, etc. in Peterborough, are more than one-half less than travellers and representatives living in the cities.

3rd. Because having the control of the best instruments of all the best Piano makers in the country, competition between the different makers gives him the advantage over the representatives of any one single Piano firm.

J. W. Crosby has sold about 200 Pianos in and near Peterborough. He sells the Williams, Morris, Rheinhard, Uxbridge and Gerhard Heintzman Pianos, and can undersell for quality of goods, price and terms, any and all outsiders. Try him.

Pianos from $300 to $400. He can save you $50 over outsiders or won't ask you to buy.

What Causes Pimples?

Clogging of the pores or mouths of the sebaceous glands with sebum or oily matter.

The plug of sebum in the centre of the pimple is called a blackhead, grub, or comedone.

Nature will not allow the clogging of the pores to continue long, hence,

Inflammation, pain, swelling and redness, later pus or matter forms, breaks or is opened, the plug comes out and the pore is once more free.

There are thousands of these pores in the face alone, any one of which is liable to become clogged by neglect or disease.

What Cures Pimples?

The only reliable preventive and cure, when not due to a constitutional humor, is Cuticura Soap.

It contains a mild proportion of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, which enables it to dissolve the sebaceous or oily matter as it forms at the mouths of the pores.

It stimulates the sluggish glands and tubes to healthy activity, reduces inflammation, soothes and heals irritated and roughened surfaces and restores the skin to its original purity.

This is the secret of its wonderful success.

For bad complexions, red, rough hands and shapeless nails, dry, thin and falling hair, scaly and irritated scalps and simple baby blemishes it is wonderful.

It is preserving, purifying and beautifying to a degree hitherto unknown among remedies for the skin and complexion.

Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin and complexion soaps.

Sold throughout the world.

Women full of pains, aches and weaknesses find comfort, strength and renewed vitality in Cuticura Plaster, the first and only pain-killing, nerve-strengthening plaster when all else fails.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From our own Correspondent.

Mr. John Williams is, we regret to learn, exceedingly ill.

Mr. F. E. Perney, principal of the Model School, was on the sick list for a couple of days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, of Norwood, were in Peterborough this week attending the funeral of Miss Maggie Kennedy, who was drowned there last week.

W. C. Harrison has purchased the electric light plant and business from H. G. Buck. Mr. Harrison is having a building put up for the dynamos on the site of the planing mill. He expects to be ready to move the machines about the 15th October. Mr. Isaac Puffer will remain in charge of the lights.

The annual harvest home festival will be held in the Methodist church next Sunday and Monday. Special sermons will be preached on Sunday by Rev. Mr. Joliffe. On Monday evening tea will be served in the basement from 4.30 to 7 o'clock, after which speeches will be delivered by a number of gentlemen. A good musical programme is being prepared for the occasion.

Mr. Geo. Duffield secured a first prize on a white pointer hen pigeon, exhibited at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition. Also a second prize on a white fantail cock.

The High School Football club organized for the season last week. The following officers were elected :—

Honorary President—J. Davidson, M.A., LL.D.
President—D. Cason.
1st Vice-President—R. Ward.
2nd Vice-President—C. Ritchie.
Secretary-Treasurer—J. A. O. Carmichael.
Captain—Jas. Brackenridge.

The club is open for challenges from other high school teams of the province.

A most enjoyable social was given in the Baptist church on Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served, after which a very delightful programme was rendered. A large number were present and all departed well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

At a meeting on Monday evening a village lawn tennis club was organized and the following officers elected :

President—S. L. Forest.
Vice-President—J. Davidson, M.A.
Secretary-Treasurer—W. Rutherford.
Executive Committee—Dr. Pettigrew, F. Pearce, W. A. F. Campbell, with the president and secretary.

The grounds adjoining the Union Bank have been leased and the work of fitting them up will be begun immediately.

SMITH.

(From a Correspondent.)

On Sunday morning last at the close of the teaching of the young ladies' Bible class, Miss McGregor, who is about to leave us, was called forward and after a few remarks from the teacher, he presented her with a handsome copy of Byron's poems, bound in morocco. Miss McGregor, though somewhat surprised and overcome, made a very touching and eloquent reply. In the evening she was also presented with the Endeavour pin, which is given to all the members of the society who leave us. The one who now leaves us has been a fatithful, zealous and active worker, not only in the Endeavour, but in the Sabbath school and she will be greatly missed.

The grim monster has again visited our neighbourhood, this time laying his hand upon a young lady, the flower of the family. Last winter, about Christmas time, Miss Jennie Paul took LaGrippe and seemed to be progressing favourably when she suffered a relapse, which settled on her in the form of that dread disease, consumption.

During her long illness she manifested that patience and resignation which is characteristic only of those who have found the "Pearl of great price" and who know where to cast all their burdens. She was confined to her bed only about a week when on Thursday morning, the 6th inst., as the sun was rising upon the earth, dispelling its darkness, her spirit rose from this darkness to enjoy that mansion where no darkness ever dwells. Her funeral on Saturday afternoon was very largely attended, showing in what respect she was held in the neighbourhood.

The casket was covered with wreaths and bouquets of flowers, among others was one presented by the Endeavour society, of which she was an active member.

She always manifested great interest not only in the Endeavour but also in her Bible Class, in both of which places we shall greatly miss her; but she will be more greatly missed in the home circle, as she was the youngest daughter and the one upon whom they had built great hopes. But let us not look into our loss when we remember what great gain it is to her.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

The Ministers' Northwest Trip Abandoned —Absconder Neale Arrested.

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—The trip of the Ministers to Manitoba, the Northwest and British Columbia has been for the present abandoned. It is said that Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper is unable to go, owing to illness in his family.

Mr. Thomas Connolly, who has been for twenty-two years Dominion immigration agent in Ireland, with headquarters at Dublin, has just returned to the city from a trip across the continent to Victoria, B.C. Mr. Connolly, who intends making a report to the Government, is eloquent in his description of the Rockies and of the grandeur of the scenery from thence into British Columbia. He describes the Edmonton district as the garden of the N. W. T.

A cable received at the Justice Department says that P. R. Neale, absconding customs collector at Fort MacLeod, Northwest, has been arrested in London, Eng., under the Fugitives' Act. He will be brought back to Canada to stand his trial for embezzling $6,000.

Harry Corby, M. P., and R. R. McLennan, M. P., are in the city on business with the railway and other departments.

Lord Aberdeen has advised Lieut-Governor Schultz, of Manitoba, that he will be in Winnipeg not later than the 25th inst. The vice-regal party desire to reach British Columbia before the rainy season.

It does not seem likely that MacWherrell will know his fate before the 1st of October, the time fixed for the hanging. The Minister of Justice is away and there is not a case of any importance on record where Council voted on a commutation of a sentence in the absence of the Minister of Justice.

D. L. Scott, Q. C., of Regina, will likely be called to the bench of the Supreme Court of the Northwest territories in the place of the late Justice McLeod.

A meeting of the committee, which was appointed last year to consider the question of holding a winter carnival here, and which adjourned until September this year, was held last night in the Russell House. On motion of F. Colson, the committee appointed a canvassing committee to collect sub-criptions and then adjourned until the 9th of October. By that time it will be seen if enough funds can be raised to go on with the affair. About $5,000 will be required.

The General Passenger Agents Association.

QUEBEC, Que., Sept. 19.—There was a meeting of the General Passenger Agents in the Frontenac yesterday. Several points of interest regarding the association were settled and steps were taken to guard against the issue of free tickets from certain irresponsible railways in America. A check is needed in that way to prevent small railways which are not recognized by the Trunk lines, in order to safe-guard the agents from such contraband deadheads. It was decided to accept the invitation of the Quebec M. C. Railway to visit the famous shrine of Laboune St. Anne. The meeting was adjourned to meet in a semi-annual session in New York.

An Agrarian Fight in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Sept. 19.—Michael Callaghan was killed by a party of excursionists near Brockagh, County Tipperary. Callaghan, who had been evicted from his farm, was being j-ered by the excursionists. He had a gun with him and fired into the crowd, fatally wounding a man named Kelly. The latter's companions then attacked Callaghan and beat him so severely that he died in a few hours. The excursionists were arrested.

Attempted Burglary in Caledonia.

CALEDONIA, Sept. 19.—An attempted burglary was made at the hardware store of R. E. Walker, ex-reeve. The thieves forced an outside back door, but the door leading into the store proved too strong a barrier. Failing here, they went to the front and knocked out one of the windows. The noise of falling glass awakened Mr. John Earle, who lives directly opposite, and he gave the alarm and they left.

Feigned Insanity, Now He's Insane.

LONDON, Ont., Sept 19.—W. S. Ives, charged with blackmailing Gus May, a local insurance agent, was committed to the asylum yesterday. Ives shammed insanity for the purpose of escaping punishment, and strange to say, according to Superintendent Bucke of the London asylum, in explanation to the judge, he has really become insane.

Levi P. Morton Nominated.

SARATOGA, N.Y., Sept. 19.—The Republican state convention last night nominated Levi P. Morton as the party's candidate for governor.

Welland Liberals.

WELLAND, Ont., Sept. 19.—At the Reform convention held here yesterday, Jas. A. Lowell, the present member, received the nomination and is to give and answer soon. The usual resolutions in the confidence of the party leaders was passed. Also one of condolence to be sent to the widow of Hon C. F. Fraser.

Walker's Case Will be Postponed.

BRAMPTON, Sept. 19.—The Assizes were opened yesterday. Walker, accused of the murder of Mrs. Williams, will be brought in and the case postponed until the Spring Assizes.

Rails to the Arctic.

The new Northern Trunk Line of Sweden has been completed. It was dedicated by King Oscar a few days ago and opened for public traffic. The king made a memorable speech. The festivities surpassed everything seen in this part of the world at a similar event and will go down to posterity as an epoch in Sweden's history. The new railroad connects at Boden, near the Gulf of Bothnia, with the northern most railroad in the world, running from the seaport of Lulea up to the Gellivara iron ore mountains, forty-seven miles north of the arctic circle. This road has been in operation for a couple of years and may be considered as the end piece in the string of railroad of a length of about 1,250 miles, which passes from south to north through the whole length of Sweden.

Norrland needs the railroad for that Swedish province provides no less than 20 per cent of the entire lumber supply of the globe, or more than Canada and almost twice as much as the United States. The enormous Gellivara iron mines are situated in Norrland. These mines, the largest in the world, are considered capable of supplying the present demands of the whole world for centuries. The cost of this northern part of the Swedish railroad net has been about 350,000,000 crowns. This includes the rolling stock.

TURNBULL'S
Millinery Opening Days
WILL NOT BE TILL
Wednesday and Thursday
SEPT. 26th AND 27th,

When our Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms will be opened for the Fall and Winter trade, crowded with all the latest novelties the season produces. We are a week later than some of our neighbors but as early as other seasons, and are giving our milliners ample time to do their work properly, and show all the leading shapes trimmed in the various styles and colours, and have, when our lady friends visit us, something worth showing to suit every taste, and the weather is likely to be more seasonable. Those who wish to get the correct style and have the largest stock to choose from should not purchase till they see ours. We have been very careful in selecting our Mantles to get the latest cuts and styles of Trimmings and buy only from the largest manufacturers, therefore we are confident we are showing a range of Mantles that for style and prices is not often seen in Peterborough. A cordial invitation is given to all to visit our show rooms and inspect our stock.

CHINA'S NAVY CRIPPLED

The Engagement in the Yalu River Was a Serious Reverse.

PARTICULARS OF THE FIGHT

The Chih Yuen and King Yuen Were Sent to the Bottom With 600 Officers and Men—Two Other Cruisers Set on Fire—The Transports Landed Safely.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—A despatch from the Central News from Shanghai, dated yesterday (mid-night) says:

A number of officers who were engaged in the naval battle on the Yalu river have arrived at Port Arthur with half a dozen warships badly damaged and filled with wounded men.

A despatch says that Admiral Ting's fleet left port on Friday evening to convey seven steam transports conveying a large force of troops. A number of Europeans in the service of the Chinese admiralty accompanied the troops, which were to be landed near Wipi, from which point they were to be sent to the front.

These troops comprised some artillery but were mostly composed of infantry. Nothing was seen of the enemy until the Chinese fleet reached the mouth of the Yalu river, when a fleet of Japanese warships was sighted. Thereupon the transports were hurried forward and the warships were cleared for action. The efforts of the transports to land the troops were successful and most of them were gotten ashore before the naval battle began.

The Chen Yuen was the first vessel to open fire, and was soon engaged with two Japanese warships of about the same size, one of which supposed to have been the cruiser Chiyoda. Soon all of the vessels of both fleets were engaged. The Chinese cruisers, Chih Yuen and King Yuen were sunk, and 600 officers and men on board of them were drowned.

Only a few of the men struggling in the water were picked up. The Chao Yung and Yang Wei, in manœuvring for more advantageous positions, got into shallow water and ran aground. The stranded vessels were helpless under the fire of the big guns of the Japanese ships and were finally set on fire by the enemy's shells and became wrecks.

It is feared some of the transport ships were sunk, including one whose troops had not yet been landed. The Chinese loss is estimated at 1,500 killed and wounded and the Japanese loss is supposed to be 1,000; but none of the Chinese officers giving accounts of the battle know the names or size of the four vessels of the enemy which are alleged to have been taken.

Taking the Chinese best view of the battle it is plain that the encounter has resulted in seriously crippling the naval strength of China.

Commenting on the naval engagement, the Times says: "Unless the result at Yalu is wholly different from what it appears to be, the troops which were hastily landed must be in a helpless state. An alleged Chinese victory would not be likely to favorably influence the course of the war. The Chinese naval, like the military leaders, appear to have formed their plans without the smallest appreciation of the elementary principles of warfare. It is doubtful if they will ever recover the advantages they have forfeited by the ineptitude of their counsel and their delay in execution."

The Times also publishes an article congratulating the Central News on the excellence of their war despatches from China, Corea and Japan, both in respect of quantity and quality, as well as in the matter of accuracy and promptness.

Hope for China Yet.

The Post says the boast of Count Ito, prime minister of Japan, that the Japanese was the next strongest fleet to that of China in the Northern Pacific, and far more serviceable, has been justified, but there is no reason to suppose that China will not wipe out the Yalu disaster in subsequent engagements.

Praise for the Japanese Admiral.

The Standard speaks in high praise of the tactics of the Japanese admiral in securing a position of rare advantage, and expresses the opinion that it is exceedingly unlikely that China will recover her position in Corea for a long time to come, if ever. "Japan's arrangement of the campaign," the Standard says, "contrasts strikingly with the utter want of definite and decided preparations on the part of China. There is something almost childish in the latter's conduct."

The Powers Should Interfere.

The article concludes by urging that the moment is propitious for the powers to intervene in spite of the failure of their previous efforts to prevent the outbreak.

The Cholera in East Prussia.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—The health authorities of East Prussia report that during the week ending September 17 there were 28 new cases and 9 deaths from cholera. In the Elbe district one new case is reported and one in Hesse-Nassau.

President of Colombia Dying.

PANAMA, Sept. 20.—Advices have been received from Bogota that Dr. Rafel Nunez, President of the Republic of Colombia, was not expected to live. He had been suffering from an attack of fever.

FOR DAYS IN A CISTERN

Charles Green, the Fugitive, Run Down by Detective Grier.

HE IS HELD FOR EXTRADITION

He Was Arrested at North Lawrence, New York State—The Man Kearney Divulges Names of Others Who Are Implicated in the Murder.

CORNWALL, Sept. 20.—The citizens generally are pleased. Green, who it is alleged murdered Cosgrove on the night of Monday, August 10, and who made his escape and was afterwards squealed on by his pals, Kearney and Henderson, who were captured at Morrisburg, was arrested by Detective Grier, of the Provincial detective force, and Policeman Smith of this town. Grier was the right man in the right place and his speedy capture of Green is generally commended.

"NORTH LAWRENCE, N.Y., Sept. 19.
Green arrested here at 7.30."

There was great excitement when the news was bulletined at the telegraph office. The capture of Green was the topic of conversation on all the street corners, stores and hotels of the town and the doughty Grier has won for himself ecomiums from the citizens for his prompt capture of the criminal who has given the local officers a big chase during the past week.

County Crown Attorney Dingwall made out extradition papers last evening, and, while rather premature, it will quicken the extradition of the prisoner.

Kearney told Coroner Hamilton he would give him some valuable information in regard to the murder of Cosgrove when he next saw him. Coroner Hamilton visited Kearney in the jail and he made good his promise by giving the names of several others who will figure in the trial for their lives.

It is not yet known whether or not Green will return. It is altogether likely he will fight extradition.

Found in a Cistern.

UTICA, N.Y., Sept. 20.—Charles Green, charged with the murder of Patrick Cosgrove at Cornwall, Ont., last [illegible] was arrested at North Lawrence, N.Y., last night. He was found hidden in a cistern where he had evidently been for several days. It is thought that he may return to Canada without being extradited.

METHODIST PARLIAMENT.

Meetings of the New Conferences—The Superannuation Funds.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 20.—At the Methodist General Conference yesterday the committee on conference boundaries recommended that conference No. 1, as formed the other day, shall be named London; No. 2, Hamilton; No. 3, Toronto; No. 4, Bay of Quinte; and No. 5, Montreal. The changes will take effect on May 29, 1895. The present Guelph conference is to meet at Galt on May 25, to complete and wind up its business, but not to station its men. The new London conference will meet at Strathroy, June 8, and the new Hamilton conference at Hamilton on June 1. Uxbridge district is to be connected with the Toronto conference and Whitby district with the Bay of Quinte conference forthwith.

The Epworth League Committee has prepared a model constitution. The Discipline Committee has recommended that not more than one class leader and one assistant leader from each church be given membership in the quarterly official board. A motion of Rev. A. Langford, that at examinations into ministerial character the question be asked only once for each district, instead of once for each minister, was adopted on a close vote.

The superannuation fund committee decided to recommend to the conference to give to certain widows who were claimants on the fund at the time of the union ten years ago, and whose claims appear to have expired, the same standing that their husbands would have received under the basis of union. Also that the clause of the basis of union respecting the rights of superannuated ministers be so construed as to make them claimants for their natural lives.

The new scale of minimum salaries recommended by the discipline committee is: Married members, $750; single, $400; probationers, $350.

The discipline, as it affects the duties of the editor of the Guardian, is now attracting renewed attention. It provides that the editor shall have the editorial management under the direction of the book committee. The next clause says: It shall be the duties of the editors to make their respective periodicals soundly scriptural and instructive.

Two Canadians Among the Victims.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The body of Robert Reitzel was taken out of the ruins of the Stumph mattress factory. One other is yet to be found. Six men met death in the building. One died at the emergency hospital and another is in a critical condition there. All the bodies were taken to the morgue Monday and the ones found yesterday have been identified as follows: William Ash, 15 years old; Whitney M. Tennyson, 58; Philip Reichman, 50; Francis Fowler, 33; Robert Reitzell, 21. Fowler is a Canadian, who came to Washington from Brantford, Ont., a few years ago. Harry Bacon, who was injured, came from the same place.

Fire in Jordan.

JORDAN, Ont., Sept. 20.—The residence of Solomon Overholt, Jordan station, was totally destroyed by fire, the members of the family escaping only with their lives. Quite a large sum of money was also burned. Mr. Overholt, after leaving his room, not being able to enter it again. Loss on building and contents, $2,000; insured for $1,000.

A Disease Resembling Cholera.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20.—A special to the Tribune from Selkirk says that a strange disease has broken out among the Icelanders at their settlement on Lake Winnipeg and many are dying. They are seized with violent pains and vomiting. The disease resembles cholera and the whole settlement is greatly alarmed. There is no medical attendance.

THEY SHOULD ORGANIZE

A Permanent Association Should Be Formed in the Interest of Canals.

SOME PRACTICAL RESOLUTIONS

The Depth of All Channels to the High Seas Recommended to Be Twenty-One Feet—Interesting Statistics in Connection With Lake Traffic.

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—At the canal convention yesterday the question of permanent organization was thoroughly discussed, the subject being introduced by Mr. John Brown, a city delegate. In order to have an effective organization it would be necessary, in his opinion, that the convention should take into consideration the difficulties and the opposition to be overcome before success could be attained, the principle of which was railway domination. Why Canadian railways should assist in obstructing the waterways question was a puzzle to him. Thorough organization would be a valuable club in the hands of the convention. The absence of any form of thorough and systematic organization had forced a sort of guerilla warfare against an enemy entrenched behind a barrier of wealth, selfishness and indifference. A broad, international platform should be selected. He advocated personal interviews with every governor, Senator, Congressman and member of parliament, and such pressure brought to bear as will make him willingly or unwillingly forward the great work they were assembled to promote.

Discussion on plans of organization followed, in which Messrs. Mackenzie, Blain, Steele, Toronto, and Smalley, St. Paul, participated. The latter was applauded vigorously when he observed that American canal enthusiasts might ask Congress for an appropriation to give a twenty feet waterway between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. The interest of Americans in the west was also so great in regard to the St. Lawrence route to the ocean that he believed Congress would aid the Ottawa Government in making the St. Lawrence safe and navigable for deep draught vessels.

In enunciating commercial and financial reasons for deep waterways, Mr. D. B. Smith, of Toledo, urged that a common interest, unrestricted trade and a common destiny ought to control their movements. If the purpose of the convention was to promote a broad and comprehensive policy that will include and invite the greatest internal commerce on earth to seek an outlet to the ocean through the Dominion on terms corresponding in all respects to the advantages of Canadian ships, such a policy, while it may not aid Canadians in building their great work, it would aid them in supporting it. Local desires only would result in failure. After quoting statistics relative to the exportation of grain from Russia, India, the United States, the Argentine Republic and Canada, Mr. Smith argued that a reduction in the cost of reaching the markets of the Old World would not only add to the value of our present producing domain, but every one cent per bushel thus saved expands this producing area into new fields, and where agriculture is supported there follows the merchant and trade and manufacturing and commerce.

Comparing ocean and lake freight rates, Mr. Smith made a strong point, showing that the average freight rate on wheat from San Francisco to London is 20 cents per bushel. The average cargo is under 70,000 bushels. The average trip out is four months, which is eight times greater than that given steamers from lakes. This calculation gives 3½c per bushel as a parity with the ocean trip. Direct exportation was the solution of the problem. In closing he expressed the hope that the United States would be induced to undertake the great work.

Col. J. H. Davidson read an ably prepared paper on "The Objects and Purposes of the Convention."

Senator Ferguson, by the permission of the chair, assured the convention that the idea among the American delegates that Canada had discriminated against American cargoes in grain cargoes was a mistaken one and should be removed. Mr. Barlow Cumberland, in a most effective speech, declared that Canada warmly welcomed American vessels to the use of canals upon the same terms as are accorded to Canadian vessels. Vice-president Smalley replied, and as the discussion was rapidly drifting into a dispute respecting reciprocal trade relations between Canada and the United States, the chairman terminated it by calling on Mr. Frank Moberly, who explained to the convention his project for an air line between Collingwood and Toronto.

The committee on resolutions, after a session lasting about eight hours, decided upon the following points:

First—That the draughts of all channels to the high seas be not less than 21 feet.

Second—That this convention recognize the utility of the natural routes by way of the St. Lawrence and Hudson rivers.

Third—That we recommend to the Canadian and United States Governments the appointment of a commission to determine all matters as to mutual cost.

That this convention approves all projects designed to extend marine commerce from the Great Lakes to the Northwest Territory.

Also, resolved in favor of locks being constructed at St. Mary's Falls of 26 feet depth.

Resolved in favor of a permanent court for the decision of all points of an international character.

Resolved that copies of these resolutions be forwarded to the Governments of Great Britain, the United States and all the British colonies.

The proposals from the Toronto Board of Trade in favor of 14-foot locks were not considered feasible and were thrown out.

Will Have an Investigation.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—The Montreal city council has at last decided to meet the general demand of the citizens for an investigation into the workings of the police department and have appointed a committee from the members of council to hold an investigation. All parties having charges against the police will be asked to come forward.

THE CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

There is no event during the year the should be of greater interest to the farming community than the Peterborough Central Exhibition, which takes place on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 24th, 25th and 26th. This year the directorate have made special and successful efforts and everything gives the assurance that the coming exhibition will be far in advance of any of its predecessors. The grounds and buildings have been greatly improved and the prize list largely added to, greater inducements being offered in the way of prizes, which will evoke a livelier competition in the peculiarly agricultural and stock departments of the show. It is the duty of every farmer in his own interest to visit the exhibition and view the results of improved farming and stock breeding methods. The products of the fields of the very best farmers in this district and the output of the very best stock breeders will be present, and to the farmer anxious to learn, especially since advanced knowledge of the means pursued to achieve will bring increased farm and stock results, will be sure to be on hand. There has been advance in farming as in other callings. The day has gone by when scientific farming is sneered at; for, experience shows that the farmers who have availed themselves of the lessons that scientific research and experiment have taught, are the successful farmers; and the farmer who jogs along in the old rut, farming, but under altogether different climatic and soil conditions, as their forefathers tilled the soil, is the one that fails. At the Central Exhibition much can be learned that will repay every farmer in the country richly to attend. Let them attend and bring their boys and girls and place them in touch with the results of the advanced methods and and improved results of good farming. Besides there will be a great deal in the way of entertainment and recreation and it will do the boys and girls, good, and even the "old man" and "old woman" themselves, will be all the better of a day or two at the Fair, where they can see sights that will form material for table chat for the rest of the year, and meet their old neigbours, and enjoy the delights of a delightful gossip. Be sure and attend the fair. The exhibition will be a first class one. The exhibition belongs to the farmers and the farmers' boys can, for a quarter of a dollar, have a mortgage on the balloon ascension, the sports and other events that appeal particularly to the youthful mind. Make a day or two of it and attend the great Central Exhibition. The several numerous attractions of the exhibition will be found detailed in several places in this issue.

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.

The Annual Meeting Held—Reports Presented and Officers Elected.

The Womens' Christian Temperance Union held their annual meeting on Tuesday at the residence of Mrs. Geo. Paton, Brock street, which was well attended. The president, Mrs. Paton, presided, and presented her report as follows:

DEAR SISTERS,—We, as a Union, have done a good work in Peterborough this last year for both town and county.

First of all we had to face the plebicite vote the first of the year. We had a lecture on "Voting." Small attendance. We posted one hundred leaflets, 25 to ladies in town. We were sorry so many of our ladies did not vote and help to roll up numbers against the curse of the world, for it is a ruination to mankind in general. Right is right, and right shall win the day was our prayer. The Lord is on our side.

Then the prize question came for the entrance class in temperance. Last year we gave three prizes. This year we have done the same with good results, for which as a Union I thank the public in general for their kindness to us.

On the seventh of August the petition for the curfew bell was presented to the council with good results.

The Dorcas bag has helped three mouthers last year and a bag was given in a case of necessity.

Death claimed one of our sisters, Mrs. Aldridge. She has gone to her reward. She sleeps in Jesus—blessed sleep.

We have worked on 10 departments. Lumber camps, 16 bags, 298 lbs.; railroad vans, 18 bags, 1281 papers; Grand Trunk Railway, 3003 papers; Canadian Pacific Railway, 3053 papers; unfermented wine in churches, 26; 300 bouquets and 2 wreaths have been given away. The bouquets were distributed amongst the gaol, Protestant Home and hospital.

Again thanking the ladies that have helped me in the work for God and home and native land, I remain

Yours in the work,
ISABELLA PATON.

THE FINANCE REPORT.

The treasurer, Mrs. Bacon, presented her report, which showed that the receipts during the year had been $40.30, and the expenditure $41.30. The Union had $18 in the bank to their credit.

THE OFFICERS ELECTED.

In the election of officers, there was no change from last year, except in the corresponding secretary. The officers are as follows:—

President,—Mrs. Geo. Paton.
Vice-President,—Baptist church, Mrs. Stratton; St. Paul's Presbyterian, Mrs. Alexander; St. Andrew's Presbyterian, Mrs. Lane; Charlotte street Methodist, Mrs. Dobson; George street Methodist, Mrs. Rutherford; Mark street Methodist, Mrs. Wand.
Treasurer,—Mrs. Bacon.
Secretary,—Miss Launderville, Matron of Protestant Home.
Corresponding Secretary,—Mrs. Thomas.

Children Who Suffer

from scrofulous, skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't cure in every case, the money is returned.

DEAR SIRS,—I have used Yellow Oil for two or three years, and think it has no equal for croup. MRS. J. S. O'BRIEN, Huntsville, Ont.

PRESBYTERY OF PETERBOROUGH

In Session at Port Hope Wednesday—The Business Transacted and the Standing Committees Elected.

The Presbytery of Peterborough met in Port Hope on the 18th Sept. There were present 15 ministers and 11 elders.

The Rev. Jas. Cattanach was chosen moderator for the next six months.

The committee on the reconstruction of stations was reappointed with instructions to continue their efforts to rearrange the fields formerly occupied by Messrs. Ewing and Bennett.

Reports were received from the mission fields under the care of the Presbytery and the necessary action taken in connection with them.

A call from Norwood to the Rev. T. F. Somerville was sustained, salary promised $800 and manse. Induction fixed for October 16th at 2 o'clock p.m. Dr. Smith to preside, Mr. Reeves to preach, Mr. Scott to narrate the steps leading to the call, Mr. Thomson to address the minister and Mr. Sutherland the people.

A similar call from Lakefield to Mr. A. C. Reeves was sustained and accepted. The stipend promised $800 and manse. It was agreed that the ordination and induction of Mr. Reeves take place on the 2nd October at 3 o'clock p.m. Mr. Hyde was appointed to preside, ordain and induct, Mr. Johnson to preach, Dr. McLelland to address the minister and Mr. Cattanach the people.

Committees were appointed to examine the students within the bounds and to certify them to their respective colleges. The following are the names of the students under the care of the Presbytery, viz: Messrs. McKay, 2nd year in Theology; Roxburg, 1st in Theology, and Hall, 2nd year in Arts.

The next meeting of Presbytery was appointed to be held in St. Paul's church, Peterborough, on the third Tuesday of December, at 9 o'clock a.m.

The following are the standing committees for the current year, viz:

Home Missions—Messrs. Torrance, MacWilliams, Cattanach, ministers, and Messrs. R. Tully and A. J. Johnston, elders.

Augmentation—Messrs. Hay, Thompson, Lord, ministers, and Messrs. W. E. Roxburgh and R. Graham, elders.

State of Religion—Messrs. Duncan, MacWilliams, Johnston, ministers, and Russell and Tough, elders.

Temperance — Messrs. McLeod, Scott, McLelland, ministers, and Messrs. Matheson and Spears, elders.

Sabbath Observance — Messrs. Hyde, Thompson, Laird, ministers, Brown and Archer, elders.

Systematic Beneficence — Messrs. Gilchrist, Oswald, Anderson, ministers, and Clark and Rutherford, elders.

Sabbath Observance — Messrs. Sutherland and Andrews, ministers, and Rev. A. McNaughton, elder.

Statistics — Messrs. Bennett, Cleland, ministers, and W. Moncrief, elder.

Superintendent of Students — Messrs. Smith, Ross, Lord, ministers, and Roxborough, elder.

The Presbytery recommended that, if possible, the committees on the State of Religion, Temperance, Systematic Beneficence and Sabbath Observance report at the December meeting of Presbytery.

Mr. Bennett was appointed to take the necessary steps for the election and ordination of elders in Cardiff as soon as possible.

Messrs. Duncan, Gilchrist, Lord, ministers and Mr. John Underwood, elder, were appointed a committee to examine the proposed church Hymnal and to report at next meeting.

Lakehurst, Havelock and Centreville were granted leave to mortgage their respective church properties.

Mr. Cleland, treasurer of the Presbytery fund, presented his book for inspection as duly audited.

Further arrangements were made in the interests of the aged and infirm ministers' fund. It is expected that reports from congregations, not yet heard from, will be presented at next meeting.

Sufferers from dyspepsia have only themselves to blame if they fail to test the wonderful curative qualities of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In purifying the blood, this medicine strengthens every organ of the body, and even the most abused stomach is soon restored to healthy action.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

For Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Cramps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery and Summer Complaint, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt, safe and sure cure that has been a popular favorite for over 40 years.

Hood's Cured After Others Failed

Scrofula in the Neck—Bunches All Gone Now.

Sangerville, Maine.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
"Gentlemen:—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For five years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the soreness had gone, and before I had finished the second the bunches had entirely disappeared." BLANCHE ATWOOD, Sangerville, Maine.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

PHYSICAL EXERCISE FOR OUR YOUNG PEOPLE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—While we feel proud of our churches, schools and all other institutions and organizations, in fact, the town generally, there is yet another institution necessary, which would prove an important adjunct to it.

For some time past, my thoughts have been actively engaged in how we could provide for the physical well being of our young people. There are hundreds of young ladies and gentlemen engaged in sedentary occupations who require physical exercise suitable to their strength and capacity, and if a well appointed gymnasium was established and a swimming bath attached, I feel sure it would be highly appreciated.

Of the gymnasium, the moral training influenced by the instructor, should be a power known and felt, and should be all the more effective in a quiet way, because having proved to those under his charge, both the competency and his genuine and deep interest in their physical well being, it gives access to many young men, who cannot be reached in any other way.

Give our young men a clean and sound body, and they will have a brighter and better vision of their higher moral duties.

Of the young ladies, let us sympathize with those sitting all day upon an office stool, or in the sewing rooms of the dress making, millinery and tailoring establishments of our town; the results are stiffness in the column of the body and in the lower limbs. And why? Because each and every part so affected has been employed in a manner out of accordance with its natural laws. If we cannot have a gymnasium will not the friends of these ladies make an effort and provide a suitable room for them so they may take the required exercise weekly? If so, in a short time a decided change would be apparent and the employers would notice greater activity and cheerfulness in their respective establishments.

With reference to the swimming bath, every child should be taught to swim. There is a very simple and easy way of doing it. Nearly every one likes to bathe and if a bath could be provided I believe large numbers would avail themselves of its use, for all those who delight in a plunge know how enjoyable and healthful it is and those who cannot swim would have an opportunity of learning.

I would ask our good citizens to consider this matter seriously and suggest some plan to start on for the coming long winter evenings.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,
I remain yours truly,
E. G. RUNDLE, Sergt.-Major,
Director gymnastics.

LOON LAKE LACONICS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The harvesting is about all done in this vicinity. Grain and hay is reported below the average. Many of the settlers are digging their potatoes—small quantity but extra quality.

Great preparations are being made for the coming hunting season. A number is expected in from the front townships for that event.

There are a number of visitors in the vicinity of Loon Lake this summer.

Miss May Hart, of Rochester, is visiting her friends, Mr. A. Doxsee, and family.

Miss Sarah Elmhirst is the guest of Miss Mary E. Woods, who is with her sister, Mrs. Prouty, at Island Bay. Both young ladies are recovering from their late illness.

Miss Young, who is teaching in No. 7 section, has resumed her duties after a short but severe illness.

A number of young people called at the residence of Mr. C. S. Prouty on the evening of the 11th inst. to celebrate the 78th birthday of mine host. A pleasant evening was spent in song and dance, interrupted by a bountiful repast, furnished by the callers. The party and day broke simultaneously, and the boys "went home with the girls in the morning," well pleased with their reception and wishing their esteemed and aged friend many happy returns of the day.

Last Tuesday evening, or more properly Wednesday morning, a young gentleman was driving two ladies home from the surprise party at Mr. Prouty's. When about a half mile on the road the carriage was accidentally upset, throwing the occupants out. Fortunately none were seriously injured. Miss Woods was compelled to return to her sisters for a few hours to recover from her shaking up, but Miss Tanner was able to resume her way at once.

On Sunday last a young gentleman and lady were out canoeing, when on returning to the shore the lady was in the act of getting out of the canoe and stepped on the deck board of another boat which broke down, throwing her into the water. She was fortunately rescued just in time, for the water was about four inches deep.

Mr. H. S. Prouty and family, were the guests of their father on Sunday, and Miss H. Graham was also one of the party at Island Bay.

Mr. J. L. Winter and son are away on a fishing trip. They are, it is said, having good success.

Miss R. Woods was visiting at Mr. Hawke's on Sunday.

LASSWADE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Jas. Patterson, of the Ridge, had quite a successful bear hunt, one evening, last week. Just about dark, his boy saw four bears at the edge of a bush, not far from his house, and ran and told his father, who at once took the rifle and started in pursuit. He soon came face to face with Mr. Bruin and a family of three cubs. He fired three shots and as many bears lay dead at his feet, but one of the cubs escaped and climbed a tree. It was too dark for Mr. Patterson to see to shoot him, so he built a fire and prepared to stop all night with him. He sent for some of his neighbours to come and keep him company. Among those that came was a reverend gentleman, staying on the Ridge, a hunter too, by the way, who thought this would be a fine thing to tell his friends about when he went home. When daylight came, Mr. Hunter took the rifle and tried to shoot the bear. He fired six shots with intent to kill, and made big holes in the surroundings but didn't touch the cub. Then Mr. Patterson took the rifle and at the first shot, killed the quarry. It is said that Mr. Hunter can bearly bear to hear a bear mentioned now.

Mr. Aaron Rast killed a very large bear Tuesday evening.

Magistrate Anderson held court at Apsley, on Saturday. Mr. Ed. Wigg, of Burleigh, was charged by the Game Warden with a breach of the game laws. It seems that Mr. Wigg and a party of neighbours had killed two deer out of season. After hearing the evidence, the magistrate imposed a fine of $45, and $5 costs. The East Road case was settled out of court.

Mrs. J. A. McCall returned home, on Wednesday, from Wooler, where she had been visiting friends.

Mr. Alfred Bass, East Road, is busy drawing lumber for his new house. He intends raising the frame on Thursday.

Mr. Jack Frost paid this neighbourhood a visit last week, and did considerable damage.

Mrs. H. S. Prouty and Miss Hattie Graham were the guests of Mrs. Radcliff, on Saturday.

A Well Disciplined Man.

Army discipline is supposed to be very strict indeed, and orders must be obeyed swiftly and silently. The best disciplined soldier ever in the Russian army lived in 1777. He was stationed before the door of the palace during a heavy flood, when the Empress, seeing from her balcony that the water had reached the sentinel, called to him to retire. This the soldier refused to do; and when the Empress asked if he knew who she was, the man replied affirmatively. Although he knew her Majesty he would not leave his post until his corporal relieved him. The water increased until it reached the sentinel's knees. The Empress sent several messages to him, but he refused to obey her. Finally she was compelled to summon the corporal, who was sound asleep, and he was obliged to swim to relieve the honest private, who by that time had only his head above water, and would composedly have suffered himself to be drowned rather than disobey orders while obeying his sovereign.

A Grand Feature

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that while it purifies the blood and sends it coursing through the veins full of richness and health, it also imparts new life and vigor to every function of the body. Hence the expression so often heard: "Hood's Sarsaparilla made a new person of me." It overcomes that tired feeling so common now.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, always reliable and beneficial.

A Common Trouble.

With many people in this climate there is a large portion of poisonous, purulent discharge which drops into the throat during sleep, and is swallowed. This disturbs the functions of the stomach, causing weakness of that organ, and producing indigestion, dyspepsia, nausea, and loss of appetite. There is no better remedy for these troubles than Esaljay's Liver Lozenges. They can be had at all drug stores at 25 cents a box or 5 boxes for a dollar.

A Freak of Nature.

Mr. John Burnham, M.P. of East Peterborough, has been presented by Mr. Orde, of Otonabee, with a great curiosity, a cream colored squirrel, same size as a black squirrel. It was shot with a black one in a tree at the same time. Mr. Burnham is having it mounted by Mr. Elcome, taxidermist, and any person desiring to see it may do so on application to Mr. Elcome at his residence, Harvey street north.

Bowmanville Centenary.

Centennial Day at Bowmanville next Saturday is attracting great attention and is likely to be attended by an immense assemblage of old settlers from this and other counties. The Lieutenant-Governor and other distinguished gentlemen will honour the occasion and a very interesting ceremony is arranged. It is the second day of West Durham exhibition and will no doubt be one of the biggest days the town has ever seen. Grand Trunk issues return tickets at single fare, good till Monday night. Persons having old relics are requested to take them for exhibition.

A Handsome Car.

Last evening "The Daisy," the new palace car, built for the Kingston electric street railway at Peterborough, the Whig says, was put on the track on Ontario street and assisted to the store house. The car was prepared for a trip and at midnight started around the belt line and worked well. She answered the power as given by the motorman and showed she was capable of great speed. She is one of the two cars built for special purposes, and is a credit to the manufacturers, who may not have made as much out of the contract as they deserved. She is painted an olive green with gold borders and finished inside with white mahogany. She is modern in every respect. The seats are upholstered in olive plush and are very comfortable. The car will be hired for picnic purposes and only used on special occasions when visitors are entertained by members of the company. There are two refrigerators with ample room for ice and double heaters so that passengers in the car in the winter will be as warm as they would be in their own homes.

Millinery Reception To-morrow

Every lady should be present to-morrow at Miss Delaney's second display of new Fall Millinery and Mantles, which will be matchless in quantity, in variety, in newness, and in richness. The latest New York, Paris and London novelties in pattern hats and bonnets, and a profusion of ribbons, laces, jets, birds, wings, flowers, etc., selected personally with the greatest care and attention, will be on exhibition. The newest ideas of refined and genteel taste which skilled hands have produced for the season's wear, will be exposed. Nothing is wanting—not a requisite feature missing. Every lady should be present to inspect the beauty, novelty, magnitude and artistic merits of our first opening reception. Elegant, imported mantles, jackets in many styles and elegant trimmings, will add to the attraction of our opening and will repay a careful inspection. Miss Delaney returned this week from Toronto where she has been visiting the retail Millinery openings at Murray's, Stitt's and other leading houses. In order to afford the fullest opportunity for inspection a renewed opening will be held next week.—MISS DELANEY. 2d

The Service at St. John's This Evening.

To-day the flag is flying from St. John's church tower in honour of the harvest thanks-giving. The church is handsomely decorated for the service this evening, which will begin at 8 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Wm. Farncomb, of Fenelon Falls. All seats are free and everybody is welcomed.

At the Butts.

The annual rifle matches of the 57th Battalion are being held to-day, at the butts, Ashburnham. Although the weather this morning was not very encouraging, still some very good shooting was done, and a large number of the men of the different companies were present. It is expected the complete scores in the different matches will appear to-morrow.

A Missionary from China.

A fair attendance was present last evening at the open meeting at St. Paul's church under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. The address of the evening was delivered by Miss McWilliams, a returned missionary from Indore, Central India. The address was an exceedingly interesting one and the customs of the people and conditions of the country were well described by the lady missionary.

Game on the Trent River.

Sportsmen have been rewarded on the waters of the Trent river, south of Campbellford. At Bradley Bay, on Wednesday, of last week, one man, who is acquainted with the movements of the duck in that locality, had the pleasure of dropping thirteen birds. The day following, another man, who is no stranger to the river, placed nineteen in his canoe. Maskinonge has been slow in taking the troll, but some excellent catches of bass and pike, with hook and line, are reported. The Trent river from Percy Boom to Chisholms Rapids, has had a host of visitors since the fishing season opened in July last.—Herald.

Bless the Babies.

Won't there be a splendid flock of cherubs at the Central Exhibition, when Gough Bros. baby show is on? Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap men, though they are now the greatest clothiers on the continent, were babies once themselves, and though they and their big business have outgrown babyhood, they have still a cosy corner in their hearts for the youngsters, and, therefore, for the finest baby under one year, they offer a prize of a 10 dollar suit for the father, a 10 dollar dress for the mother and a 5 dollar gold piece for the baby to whom the judges, at the risk of their lives, award the prize. Gough Bros. have prizes at their great store for grown up babies every day in the year, still you must not miss the baby show at the Central.

Liquor Cases Disposed of.

A number of liquor cases engaged the attention of the police magistrate this morning.

Three proprietors of hotels were charged by the Chief with not complying with the regulations of the Liquor License Act as regards the blinds on the bar windows. The charges were withdrawn, the defendants agreeing to pay the costs and to comply with the regulations in the future. They claimed innocence in regard to the regulations.

Two hotel keepers were also charged with selling liquor during prohibited hours. One case was enlarged for a week, and the defendant in the other was fined $40 and $5.20 costs.

Another hotelkeeper was charged with not having the necessary hotel accommodation required by the Liquor License Act. A number of witnesses were examined and the case was remanded until to-morrow.

A liquor merchant was fined $20 for selling liquor on his premises on Sunday, Sept. 16th. Two young men who were charged with buying the liquor were remanded until to-morrow.

The Delineator for November

Which is called the Thanksgiving Number, is the first of the three great winter issues and presents a table of contents that is most varied and interesting. The fashions for the month appear even more attractive than usual, and with such becoming styles womankind should appear at her best during the winter at hand. A timely illustrated paper on evening and dinner dresses supplements the regular articles and appropriate contributions for the season are the Thanksgiving Dinner, a Thanksgiving in New England, Table Decoration and How to Serve Apples and Pears. The initial paper of two new series appears in this number; one treats of the House, its Location, etc.; the other of the Mother and Son. One of the most interesting papers of the month is a "real conversation" between Edith Thomas and Dr. Elliott on the subject of Woman and War, which is followed by a charming little poem on the subject in Miss Thomas' best vein. The third article on the Kindergarten takes both teacher and student through attractive work and there is fascinating employment provided in Venetian Iron Work and The Uses of Crepe and Tissue Papers. Mary Law McClintock writes of The Women's College of Baltimore, and Lucia Gilbert Runkle contributes an able article on Private School Teaching as an Occupation for Women. What to do in Illness contains good advice for the mother of a family and there are also the popular Tea Table Talks, the description of a China Wedding and special papers on Crocheting, Knitting, Netting, Tatting and Lace Making. The subscription price of the Delineator is only one dollar a year. Single copies, fifteen cents each. Address orders to A. H. STRATTON & Co., the Peterborough Bookstore.

A Proposed Scheme.

We are credibly informed, says the Lindsay Watchman, that a movement is on foot among our local steamboat men and the owners of summer resorts to boom our inland waters and place them properly before the residents of the leading Canadian cities, but the American cities as well. The proposition is to form a company embracing steamboat men and run regular line boats from Lindsay to Fenelon Falls, Rosedale, Coboconk, Bobcaygeon, Chemong and Lakefield. In this way joint action can be successfully taken to boom the routes and, with the assistance of summer resort men, the different points of interest can be advertised to the world. There is no reason why this scheme should not work successfully. Perhaps there is no finer chain of waters to be found in the world than right here in our own locality, but strange to say it is unknown to the out side world. In addition to the beautiful scenery, the fishing is not to be surpassed in America, and other game can be found in abundance, and it is just the place that sportsmen and lovers of beautiful and romantic scenery would seek when desiring recreation. By all means form your company. Let the world know just what we have kept in reserve, and in place of a few strangers arriving each year at some one of our favourite points of interest—directed there by some private source—and then going away before the "half is told," we will have hundreds of foreign visitors every summer frequenting the different resorts in quest of health and recreation. This is certainly one of the cases wherein "union is strength" and in a few years we will find that it will require twice as many palatial steamers to meet the requirements of the travelling public as well as demanding increased hotel accommodation.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The Fall Assizes will open in the Court House on Monday next before Justice Ferguson.

—The celebrated Denman Thompson "Old Homestead" company is making a tour of Canada.

—The American visitors who have been at Cobourg during the summer are now returning to their homes.

—A joint stock company in Colborne are raising funds with which to purchase land for a race track near the village.

—The larceny case against an hotel employee was further enlarged until Monday at the police court this morning.

—An abusive language case was disposed of this morning by the Magistrate, the defendant being fined $2.00 and costs.

—Mr. John Sweet, of Warkworth, lately exhibited in that village a radish that measured eighteen inches in circumference.

—Rev. Dr. Gardiner, Belleville, is seriously ill and his recovery is doubtful. He is one of the oldest Methodist ministers in the province.

—Remember the auction sale of household furniture in Snowden's block, Simcoe street, to-morrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock, John Haggart, auctioneer.

—The annual convention of the Canadian Electrical Association is being held to-day at Montreal. The Electric Light Company of Peterborough is represented by Mr. H. O. Fisk, who is a member of the Executive Committee.

—The EXAMINER has received an invition to attend the centennial celebration at Bowmanville on Saturday, and another from the High School Board to be present at the commencement exercises at the High School on the same day.

—We are now midway between the longest and shortest days of the year, to-morrow, 21st inst., being the date of the autumnal equinox, when the sun crosses the equator going south and when the day and night is of equal length throughout the world.

—During the heavy thunderstorm Saturday night the barn belonging to Mr. James J. Way, of Percy, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground, together with the whole season's crops and farming implements. Loss about $2,000; insured for $1,200.

—At the next election there will be a solid united vote cast by the P.P.A. of Campbellford, as we are informed its membership has increased to about one hundred, and the list continues to swell. This is the result of Mrs. Shepherd's late visit to this village.—Herald.

—During the heavy storm which passed over here last Saturday night, the lightning struck a barn belonging to Mr. Geo. F. Elliott, of Millbrook, destroying his outer buildings and contents which were situated about a mile south of our village. Loss about $1,400. No insurance.

—The young domestic who appeared in Court Tuesday, charged with stealing a number of articles from a former employer in town, came up for sentence this morning. The Magistrate gave the young girl some wholesome advice and allowed her to go. She left for Colborne to-day, where she has been employed.

—An amusing incident occurred at the Opera House last evening. Prof. Alexander had just commenced his lecture with the statement that the proper destiny of every young man and woman was the marriage state, when a two year old youngster in the front row threw up its hands and enjoyed a hearty laugh, which, it is needless to say, brought down the house.

SPRIGHTLY SUMMER SPORTS.

LACROSSE.

On Monday afternoon next the last lacrosse match of the season will take place on the P.A.A.A. grounds between the Shamrock and Junior Peterboroughs for a silver cup. The Shamrocks have stated during the year that the Junior Peterboroughs were not in their class—that they were too young to battle with, but the Juniors are confident of winning the game and the Shamrocks are just as sanguine. Considerable interest is being manifested in the game and both teams are going in to win.

FOOTBALL.

Lovers of Association Football are requested to meet in the rooms above the Palace Restaurant at 7.30 o'clock this evening. Important matters will come up for discussion.

Hot Bargains for Fair Time.

Everywhere you look—everywhere you turn—extra preparations are on foot for the Peterborough Central Fair. The Peterborough Bookstore has inaugerated a September special sale of Wall Papers, Window Shades and Cornice Poles. This store is on the warpath — tomahawking high prices. Greater faith is put in the nimble sixpence than in the slow shilling. Our advice to visitors to the fair is to arm themselves with a few crisp dollar bills, prepare for the low price crush, and be on hand in time. The sale is now in progress. In Wall Paper there is joy by the roll—in Window Shades joy by the yard—in Cornice Poles joy by the foot—and dollar doubling joy in everything. See our ad. elsewhere. A. H. STRATTON & Co. dw

Quebec Notaries Have a Grievance.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—A meeting of notaries of the district of Montreal has been called for Saturday evening. Some of the local French papers say that the real object of the meeting is to discuss the abolition of the profession, or at least important modifications in the present state of things. Several members of the profession state that the object is to consider what means should be adopted to prevent the ever increasing diminution of their business. They claim that a large percentage of the work formerly done by them is now entrusted to lawyers, and if lawyers take over notaries' business there should be a compensation by allowing notaries to appear before the courts, or in other words the two professions should be united in one.

Mr. G Gumpricht is in town. Orders may be left at Messrs Taylor & Macdonald's or at the Peterborough Bookstore.

Like Lightning.

The rapid action of the "great pain cure," Polson's Nerviline, in relieving the most intense pain, is a matter of wonder to all who use it. There is nothing surprising in its results, for it is made of the strongest, purest and most efficient remedies known in medicine. Nerviline cures toothache instantly; cramps in five minutes; neuralgia after two applications; rheumatism is at once relieved by its use; and the same may be said of all kinds of pain. Sample bottles, costing only 10 cents, at any drug store. The large bottles only 25 cents. Polson's Nerviline sold by druggists and country dealers.

CHEMONG PARK POINTERS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Now, having the benefit of a couple of weeks about the lakes, among marshes, ducks and maskinonge, your correspondent is again prepared to furnish the EXAMINER with all the items of interest that can be gleaned, while yet the beautiful autumn prolongs sojourners from the hum of city life, out at this unsurpassed country-lake resort.

Since our last letter, many tourists have returned to their habitual haunts, while yet again, many others have arrived, the latest of whom are:—Mrs. E. H. Giroux and Master Herman, Peterborough; Alderman J. W. Kelly, M. Koudolf, Rochester; A. C. Coleman, manager of of the Mattawa summer hotel, Kingsville, Ont. Mr. Coleman is no adept fisherman, but merely to test the strength of the country wide fish reports sent up from this remote spot, untouched by any railroad, he, yesterday, went out upon the water. When evening came, he returned with two fine maskinonge, weighing respectively 12 and 4 lbs. Another one broke away from him, Mr. Coleman says, which he feels sure would weigh 18 lbs.

Other lucky catches were lately made by Mrs. Giroux, Mr. A. St. A. Smith, Wm. Conway and G. Gray. Messrs. Kelly and Koudolf were agreeably surprised indeed, when they captured 12 fine 'lunge; and now say that Chemong cannot be beaten for maskinonge fishing.

Among the features of attraction at the Park this summer and one that does credit to the place is Mr. John Pope's new boat house. Neat and well laid out, it has a capacity of about 25 boats, besides office, bed room and toilet rooms. The boats, including skiffs and canoes, have the inviting appearance of being well kept and some of them, especially the skiffs, cannot be surpassed at any boat house. A person dropping into an arm chair in one of John's skiffs among rugs and cushions cannot well be disappointed with the pleasures of boating at Chemong as one meanders about the gamy 'lunge beds. The Idle Hour, too, was a boon to the Park although the trim little steamer did encounter some little difficulty owing to the steamboat's inspector's negligence, during the earlier part of the season. However, the Idle Hour turned out to be highly satisfactory, making wonderful speed and gaining the approval and patronage of the many summer people of the Park.

To-morrow (Friday) is looked forward to as a big day at this place, the annual regatta taking place with more than ordinary enthusiasm. It is a well known fact that in this section are to be found some of the brainiest and most skillful paddlers of our day. Of late years there has advanced a peculiar feeling between the white and the red athletes as to who really should possess the championship. This will be one of the interesting features of the day, while other races in classifications will include the programme of aquatic sports. There is no finer race course in America, and the elevated banks afford an unsurpassed view of the course, so that there is ample space for a person's comfortable view of the entire regatta without being trodden on by eager bystanders. There is only one way to reach the Park from town now, that way is by driving. The trains have discontinued, also has the Idle Hour, making it now for the liverymen to convey the pleasure seekers out to Chemong Park.

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY.

Elaborately Written up in the "Electrical Engineer."

The "Electrical Engineer" for Sept. 19th, has an elaborate article by Mr. T. C. Martin on the "Development of Electrical Engineering in Canada." The article is full of interest and covers fifteen of the large quarto pages of the "Engineer." Seeing that the Canadian General Electric company being the chief factors in electoral developement in the Dominion the article is largely devoted to the operations of that important establishment. The article is illustrated by numerous half tone engraving, presenting views of the work, exterior, and of the several departments of the interior, of the machinery, outputs, etc., of the different processes. The letter press accompanying is written by an expert, and the entire lengthy article, as description of an industry, of which Peterborough has just reason to be proud, is well worth reading. It is too lengthy to reproduce in these columns, besides it would greatly lose in interest by the necessary omission of the illustrations, which of course it is impracticable to procure. Copies of the Electrical Engineer containing this most interesting article, may be obtained on application to the Peterborough Bookstore

LOVE, COURTSHIP, MARRIAGE.

An Instructive Lecture by Prof. Alexander Last Evening.

The opera house last evening was packed to the doors with a large audience, comprising the best people of the town anxious to hear the lecture on "Love, Courtship and Marriage" by Prof. Alexander. Shortly after eight o'clock the speaker appeared, and for over an hour the audience listened to one of the most eloquent and sensible talks on this important subject ever given in Peterborough. The lecture was replete with passages of eloquence, pathos and wit, and good sensible advice was given to all present and the old time fallacies exploded. The lecture was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause and the words of the speaker were heartily approved. Last night's lecture was by far the best yet delivered by the professor. At the close of the lecture two prominent and well known young ladies and gentlemen were invited to the stage and their delineation was a remarkably correct one and gave entire satisfaction. The visit of Prof. Alexander to Peterborough will certainly result in a large amount of good being done. To-night a lecture will be given to men only on "The Social Evils of the Day." To-morrow afternoon a lecture will be given to ladies only on "Fashion and Maternity," and to-morrow evening to men only on "What every man should know before Marriage."

AN OMEMEE BURGLARY.

Burglars Visit the Village of Omemee And Make a Haul.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

This morning, when J. P. Parsons, Omemee, entered his grocery store, he discovered that the safe had been blown open and rifled of its contents, amounting to between $30 and $40, chiefly in American money. The cash drawer was also taken out, and the change in it taken. The safe cracker entered through the cellar from an outer door. He drilled a hole through the top of the safe, threw some bags of grain around it to deaden the report and a piece of the fuse that he used to ignite the powder was found attached to a broom handle in the store. The store is isolated and no person sleeps in it, but the explosion was heard and awakened the lodgers in the Bradburn House. There is suspicion against a corn cure peddler that has been here for a few days, but ostensibly left at noon yesterday. It is said that he is a professional safe cracker and has done time more than once. The The lawry, belonging to the section boss at the railroad station, was also stolen last night, and it is supposed that the burglar used it to make his escape.

A SUMMER HOTEL DESTROYED.

Mr. P. J. Galvin's Hotel, Jacob's Island, Destroyed by Fire, Wednesday Morning.

That popular summer resort, Jacob's Island, was visited by fire Wednesday morning, about four o'clock, and the frame summer hotel, owned by Mr. P. J. Galvin, was wiped out of existence. The fire had gained considerable headway before being noticed and the occupants of the hotel had barely time to get their clothing and leave the building before it was a mass of flames, and fifteen minutes after the blaze was first noticed, the building was in ashes. Nothing, whatever, was saved from the hotel. There was an insurance of $1,200 on the hotel and effects. It is not known whether Mr. Galvin will rebuild or not.

THE DON'T-KNOW-HOW-I-FEEL-MAN

Or Woman is Changed Into a New Being by South American Nervine Tonic—Takes Away That Tired and Irritable Feeling—Is a Nerve Food That Keeps the System in Good Shape all the Time.

A disordered liver is accountable for countless blunders of men and women. Men act as they feel, and if the liver is out of order they feel badly and act just as badly. Business and pleasure alike lose their charm. South American Nervine changes all this. It makes the weak, irritable, don't-know-how-I-feel man or woman into a new being. Its powers over a disordered digestion are wonderful. Its capacity to restore to its rightful equilibrium the shattered nerves are little short of miraculous. Nervine is a nerve food and can be relied upon, when taken regularly, to keep in prime and healthful condition, the system of men and women, who are compelled by circumstances, day in and day out, to keep the mental and physical machinery in a continual strain. A few doses gives proof of its efficacy. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 25c., and ask only $2.00.
On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 30c., and ask only 85c.
On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.
On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.
Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

warranted not to crack, nor take in washing. Ours isn't the common kind of Boots and Shoes. If anybody can beat the quality, the style, the price, we'll quit the business.

On the best $3 Men's Selected Shell Cordovan Balmoral or Congress, with Dunraven toe, we take off 40c., and ask only $2 60.
On the best Men's Fine Waxed Hand-Made Balmorals we take off 35c., and ask only $1 25.
On the best Fine Patent Leather Oxford Shoes, turn soles, we take off 45c., and ask only $1.20.
On the best French Dongola Kid Button (common sense) we take off 62c., and ask only $1.98.
Misses', Boys', and Children's in same proportion.

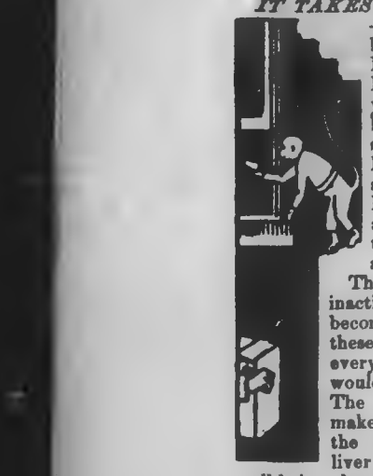
IT TAKES YOUR MONEY



—only 25 cents to buy a glass vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets — but then you get a lasting benefit and a permanent cure of your Bilious or Sick Headache, Constipation or Indigestion, loss of appetite, and all those troubles which follow a disordered liver.

The time to treat an inactive liver is before it becomes a disease. If these tiny Pellets were in every day use people would be germ-proof. The germs of disease make their entrance to the system through the liver — your health and well-being depends on the liver.

If you suffer from wind and pain in the stomach, giddiness, costiveness, disturbed sleep, you get immediate relief from the use of "Pleasant Pellets."

They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money returned.

A "COLD IN THE HEAD" is quickly cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. So is Catarrhal Headache, and every trouble that is caused by Catarrh. So is Catarrh itself. The proprietors offer $500 in cash for any case which they cannot cure. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

IN ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

Hooper at Work in a Tailor Shop—Detective Fahey Very Ill.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—The Montreal grand jury, which has just made an official inspection of the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, saw some noted prisoners there. Hooper was seen in the tailor shop. He wore a large straw hat on his head and kept his face steadfastly turned to the wall, his constant practice in the presence of visitors. The officials give Hooper a good character for quietness and docility. He is getting quite expert in the use of the needle. He is now known in the penitentiary as No. 2,910 in addition to his name.

John Fahey, the former celebrated Montreal detective, who was sentenced some years ago for committing the famous Grand Trunk robbery, and who has still four years of his sentence to expire, is undoubtedly very ill. Mr. Macintyre, the foreman of the jury, was so struck with Fahey's ghastly appearance that, with the full concurrence of the jury, he intends to recommend his pardon. The deputy warden stated that all the officials would be pleased to see Fahey released. He had given no trouble and was undoubtedly in a serious condition.

Revolt Among the Convicts.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary had a revolt on a small scale. Joseph Gammier, a notorious scoundrel, who is serving a seven year term for attempted murder, has been working for some time on the stone pile in company with Joseph Chapleau, a three year term robber. Gammier made up his mind to try a dash for liberty, and as Guard Wm. Gibson approached Gammier seized the stone hammer and made a wicked strike. Chapleau jumped to Gammier's assistance, but the guard was too quick for them. Leaping to one side he raised his rifle, but ere he could fire the cowardly convicts gave up the fight and submitted to arrest. Gammier was sent to the black hole for a week and Chapleau got off with three days in the adjoining cell.

CANADIAN ELECTRICAL ASSOCIATION.

The First Day's Session—The Officers of the Association.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—Many of the most prominent electricians and electrical engineers of Canada are assembled in council here. The occasion is the annual convention of the Canadian Electrical Association which will be continued until to-morrow. Yesterday's session was taken up with the receiving of the reports and other routine business, after which W. B. Shaw, of Montreal, read a paper on "The application of electricity for medical and kindred purposes from light and power circuits," on which paper discussion was left over.

The officers of the association are: Messrs. J. J. Wright, manager Toronto Electric Light Company, president; K. J. Dunsten, local manager Bell Telephone Company, Toronto, first vice-president; John Carroll, secretary-treasurer Eugene Phillips Electrical Works, Montreal, second vice-president; C. H. Mortimer, publisher Electrical News, Toronto, secy.-treas; executive committee: Messrs. W. R. Shaw, Montreal Electric Co., Montreal; D. A. Starr, electrical engineer, Montreal; H. O. Fisk, Electric Light Co., Peterborough, Ont.; Geo. Black, Great Northwestern Telegraph Co., Hamilton; A. B. Smith, Inspector Canadian Board Fire Underwriters, Toronto; L. B. McFarlane, Bell Telephone Co., Montreal; T. R. Rosebrugh, lecturer in electricity, School of Practical Science, Toronto; E. C. Breithaupt, Berlin, Ont.; John Yule, manager Guelph Gas and Electric Light Co.; Thos. Ahern, and Soper, Ottawa.

A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Workman in a Sugar Refinery Killed in a Terrible Manner.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—A horrible accident took place at the St. Lawrence sugar refinery. Henri Debeau was in the act of wiping off the shafting in one of the rooms of the refinery, when in some manner the bagging he was using for the purpose caught his wrist, throwing him forward.

In front of Debeau stood a centrifugal dryer about two and a half feet in diameter. This is run at a terrific rate of speed which is necessary for the drying process. Debeau was thrown head foremost into the dryer and in an instant the life was whirled out of his body.

A brother workman, Eustache Quellette by name, was standing beside the dryer at the time. In the whirl which sent Debeau into eternity his feet came in contact with Quellette's hip, knocking him down and severely injuring him. Debeau was conveyed to his home and an inquest held. Quellette was conveyed to Notre Dame hospital. Debeau had a wife but no children.

What do you take medicine for? Because you are sick and want to get well, of course. Then remember, Hood's Sarsaparilla CURES.

Rev. Dr. George Has an Adventure.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—The Rev. Dr. George was a passenger by steamer Montreal to Quebec. Before entering the boat, however, he had an experience that only just missed being a tragedy. It is the custom of engineers on the river boats to try the paddler just before starting, to clear them of rust, etc., and the engines were started on the Montreal for this purpose just as Dr. George stepped on the gangway. This caused him to lose his footing and fall into the water. An exciting scene followed. Some one threw the Doctor a life buoy and he succeeded in floating, with its aid, until constable Picard launched a boat and pulled him out of the water. In the meantime the crew had launched the life boat and gone in pursuit of the Doctor's valise which was floating down the stream. A hat and umbrella were the only losses.

Wear a Tag.

Before starting on a journey see that your name is clearly marked on some article of your clothing, as well as with your address in your pocketbook. In case of accident it may be of incalculable advantage to you to be immediately identified. While there are frequent and terrible disasters on our large public conveyances, the relative loss of life is much less than by the older and less rapid methods. At all times it is desirable to go tagged, and if people would wear clothes properly marked or carry other means of identification about with them there wouldn't be so many missing people unaccounted for, and many an occupant of a nameless grave would be identified. Letters stitched into the band of a skirt or other garment is probably the surest method.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 20, 1894.

THE FARMERS' MARKET—On the street 400 bushels of wheat sold at 54 for white, 53 for red and 52 1-2 for goose. Some 200 of barley brought 42 to 43 and 500 of oats 31 1-2 to 32.

Wheat was weak in Chicago and closed at about the lowest point. Corn also lost 1c on large estimated receipts and closed weak. Oats closed weak and 1 1-4 to 5-8c lower.

There were 9 cars of Canada lambs on the East Buffalo market. Top price $4.45 was paid for one car, very best outside of this lot sold at $4.35 and most of the others at $4.25.

In London the relapse in stocks was short lived. Americans opened dull but quickly rallied on considerable provincial and foreign buying of a good nature and they closed at about the top with a rise of one-half to one dollar all around.

Having now passed, apparently, through its latest "industrial" nightmare, the nerves of the New York stock market steadied somewhat and the prices of the standard securities improved. The reaction in the railway stocks has not been great, but it went far enough to attract some buying. Sugar trust authorities and whiskey trust authorities are quoted with various suggestions and hints but even the room traders scorned this as evidence.

A DISAPPOINTED MAN.

Thought he Was Going to Die Before Summer Was Out But He's Alive and Well and Working To-day.

Somerset, Man., Sept. 17th,—"Hard times" is the cry from farmers in this country. Arthur Coley, a farmer living near here, has had double reason to cry "hard times," for eight months ago he lay on his back in bed, a victim of Bright's Disease. He acknowledges that he expected to be dead before the end of the summer, but his expectations have been most pleasantly disappointed, and all summer he has worked on his farm just as though he had never known a day's illness. Last spring he began taking Dodd's Kidney Pills and a few boxes completely cured him, as they have every other victim of this disease, who have used them.

The phylloxera, or the vine pest, is making such ravages in the sherry wine districts of Spain, according to United States Consul Adams, at Cadiz, that the Government has appropriated $100,000 for the extermination of the disease.

A special mouthpiece for public telephones is being introduced in Germany with the object of avoiding the spread of the diseases carried by the condensed moisture of the breath. A pad or a large number of discs of paper, with a hole in the middle, is inserted in the mouthpiece and the upper disc of paper is torn off after every conversation.

The question as to which is "the most fashionable language" has apparently been definitely settled by Professor Vanberry, who recently lectured on the subject of "Fashionable Languages" before the members of the Buda-Pesth English Club. "English," he says, "may now be called the most fashionable language in the world."

Certain species of ants make slaves of others. If a colony of slave making ants is changing the nest, a matter which is left to the discretion of the slaves the latter carry their mistresses to their new home. One kind of slave-making ants has become so dependent on slaves that even if provided with food they will die of hunger unless there are slaves to put it in their mouths.

In Cleveland county, North Carolina, monazite mining is becoming a paying industry of the State. Recently a Mr. Gettys, representing the Wisenbach Incandescent Light Company, of Gloucester, N.J., purchased 10,500 pounds, paying six cents per pound. The mineral is recovered from the surface in the beds of streams and washes by the farmers or placer miners in much the same manner as gold, and has associated with it in certain localities some gold.

The art of making rubies, according to a royal institution lecture by Professor Judd, is now extensively practiced. The ruby is simply crystallized alumina or oxide of aluminum. The artificial rubies known as the Geneva rubies are as hard as the natural ones from Burmah, are identical with them in chemical composition and molecular structure, and are only slightly inferior in color and lustre. They are largely used as watch jewels, and doubtless many of them pass as natural stones for other purposes.

At Wingen, in New South Wales, 204 miles from Sydney, is a burning mountain, one of the most remarkable sights to be seen in Australia. It is 1820 feet in height, and is supposed to be a large coal seam which has in some unaccountable way become ignited, and has been burning for many years, certainly long before the advent of the white man in this portion of the colony. The course of the fire can be traced a considerable distance by the numerous depressions of chasms occasioned by the falling in of the ground from beneath which the coal has been consumed.

The process of producing artificial silk, invented by Dr. Lehner, was shown to a party of scientists, at Bradford, England, recently. Waste cotton, wool, jute, or other suitable material is reduced to an emulsion by means of a mixture of nitric and sulphuric acids, when it is formed into threads by forcing it through glass tubes of small bore, and is passed over a series of rollers and wound in the ordinary way on bobbins. Before the artificial silk is used in manufactures, or is sold, it is denitrated to destroy the explosive properties, and is also rendered uninflammable, which will render it suitable for many purposes, especially as it is said to resemble real silk very closely.

M. Charles Margot, of the physica laboratory of the University of Geneva, says "L'Industrie," has just made a curious discovery. He has found that by rubbing on glass with an aluminum point we obtain clear metallic lines, which cannot be removed by washing, no matter how often repeated. This property which aluminum possesses of adhering closely to glass, or in general to any substance having silica as its base, is most plainly shown when the surface is dampened or covered with a very light coat of moisture, as, for instance, when a man breathis upon the surface of the glass. An indispensable condition is that the glass and aluminum point shall be clean.

The Nile Valley is now receiving a good deal of attention from geologists. At a recent meeting of the London Geological Society, Captain H. G. Lyons, of the Royal Engineers, read a paper in which he maintained that it was carved out by the river in the Miocene period. The course of the river above Cairo seems to have been determined by a great fault, which follows the valley for many miles upward. Captain Lyon regards all the sandstone of the Nubian region as an estuarine deposit formed on an area afterward gradually invaded by the Cretaceous Sea. A series of folds runs through this bed of sandstone, and along them occur many springs of the oases, the water-bearing beds being brought by them nearer to the surface.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

MARKS OF PROGRESS.

The Electric Bullet-Finder and Its Mode of Operation.

The electric bullet finder or probe, an invention of Dr. John H. Girdner, of New York, consists of an ordinary telephone receiver, an ordinary metal probe and an extra bulb of the same metal that the probe is made of. Inasmuch as there is no battery connected with the apparatus, it may puzzle even an electrician to discover wherein the electrical element lies. Just here is where the instrument assumes its truly scientific aspect, for its invention proves that there is a definite quantity of electricity in the battery which supplies the current. Dr. Girdner has tried for years to devise some surer means of locating bullets than was possible with the ordinary probe. Some years ago somebody had invented an electric bullet probe which depended on a battery cell to supply the current. But the trouble was that as soon as the end of the probe was inserted in the flesh an electric circuit would be established through the flesh itself and the electric bell would ring. So it was not known whether a bullet had been touched or not. One night it occurred to Dr. Girdner that the body itself might contain enough of a current to operate a bell or a telephone receiver. Experiment proved the fact. The principle of the instrument is as follows: The metal bulb is placed in the wounded person's mouth, the telephone receiver is held to the surgeon's ear and the probe in the hole made by the bullet. The bulb in the mouth and the probe are made of the same metal, copper being preferred, and because they are the same no manifestation is heard in the telephone. But as soon as the leaden bullet is touched it brings another metal into the circuit. The human body then immediately becomes one immense cell, which generates a current strong enough to operate the telephone, so that as soon as the bullet is touched a click is heard in the telephone and the location of the bullet is established beyond a doubt.—Boston Transcript.

An Excursion on Fishing.

"Papa," said Benny Bloobumper, who knew his father's weakness, "you know all about fishing, don't you?"

"Yes, my son," replied the elder Bloobumper graciously. "There is very little about that gentle sport with which I am not familiar."

"You know all about the right sort of bait to use don't you?"

"Certainly."

"That's what I was telling Freddy Bangle, and we agreed to leave something about fishing for you to decide. We had a discussion about it."

"Well, Benny, I am very glad to see you taking such an interest in fishing as well as to see such confidence in your father's judgment. What was the point on which you and Freddy differed?"

"I don't know as we differed, exactly. Freddy didn't seem to quite agree with me, though."

"State the question, Benny."

"Well, fish run in schools sometimes, don't they, papa?"

"Yes."

"That's what I told Freddy."

"Didn't he believe it?"

"Oh, yes, he believed that all right."

"Then what is it you wished me to decide?"

"Well, I told him that when fish ran in schools the proper bait to use was book-worms."

Salt and Sick People.

People who are ill care very little for sweetened foods. Dishes made savory with salt are the most satisfying. Hot foods should be piping hot, and cold foods ice cold, for the diseased appetite is critical. Never prepare a dish or a drink before the sick. Small portions daintily served and clean dry cups and glasses are elements of good nursing. Tea or milk spilled in the saucer may offend the taste of the patient and drive away the appetite so sadly in need of a relish.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success

DEATH OF AN EX-M.P.

The Late Representative of Carleton—Popular in Political Circles.

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—John Rochester, ex-M.P., died at his residence here yesterday. He had been ill for a couple of weeks past. Mr. Rochester was born at Rouse's Point in 1822 and came to Bytown with his father and family in 1837, the period notable for the commencement of the Rideau canal. He was then but six years of age, and has therefore lived 62 years in Ottawa and its vicinity. The family was English, Mr. Rochester, the elder, having come to America in 1816, settling at Rouse's Point, where he remained for two years, then coming to Canada. The deceased sat in the town council as early as 1855, shortly after the organization of the municipal government, and in all served eleven years as councillor and alderman, being selected by his fellow aldermen in 1870 and 1871 as mayor of the city.

In 1863 Mr. Rochester appeared as candidate for the Commons in Carleton but was unsuccessful and did not seek the suffrages of the electors until 1872, when he was elected. He continued to represent Carleton during three consecutive parliaments. For the last few years deceased has spent much of his time in philanthropic and charitable work, the interests of the Protestant hospital and the home for the aged being his particular care. He has all along been noted for his warm-hearted impulses, and has been known to go to the rescue of many a friend and family when they were known to be sorely pressed. In politics Mr. Rochester was a Conservative.

The Free Press editorially says in regard to Mr. Rochester: "We have lost a tried and trusted personal friend, one most intimate and esteemed and knowing him so well as we did, we are the better able to fully appreciate the loss the public has sustained by his departure from the midst of those among whom he has labored so long and well. It may not be amiss to note, and perhaps it will interest our readers to learn, that Mr. Rochester aided in the establishment of the Free Press in the year 1869, and the friendship which then commenced between the deceased and its proprietor has continued unabated and unbroken ever since."

MAJOR BERESFORD'S DEATH.

A Scion of a Noble House Meets With a Sad Accident at Halifax.

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 20.—A horrible accident has occurred here. Major Beresford, of the Royal Engineers, who only came to this station a few months ago, was the victim. He was on the roof garden of the Halifax Hotel, where he boarded with his wife and child. The street is five stories below, and Beresford either jumped off or fell. He shot down head first and struck on the stone curbing, smashing in his head and breaking his neck. Death was instantaneous. He was about 50 years of age.

The verdict of the coroner's jury on the body was accidental death. The inquest developed the fact that the Major has been in poor health for some time, suffering from nervous prostration. His head was frightfully crushed with collision with stone pavment, his brains coming out through the nose. Deceased will be given a military funeral to morrow.

Major Beresford comes from a famous family; Marquis of Waterford was his uncle and Lord Beresford is his cousin.

Abe Neil's Case.

HAMILTON, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Weil, wife of Abe Weil, of Cincinnati, who is in jail here on a charge of stealing $2,222 from Mrs. Gottfried, is in the city. She says Lawyer Speigel, of Cincinnati, told her on Sunday last that the charge against her husband would be withdrawn, Mrs. Gottfried having been paid $1,000 in cash and a house in settlement of her claim. She also claims there are no other defalcations in connection with the Building and Loan Society, of which Weil was vice-president. Detective Wittle has not returned from Cincinnati and Lawyer Mewburn has not heard definitely as to a settlement, but as soon as he gets word he will have Weil before Judge Muir and ask for his liberation.

Shocking Trolley Fatality.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—A terrible fatality took place last night on the Montreal street railway. While a young lad, the son of John Stevenson, residing on Fullum street, was crossing the track on Notre Dame street near Fullum he was run over by an electric car and was almost instantly killed. The poor child was completely disemboweled and the remains were strewn all over the track. The father arrived on the scene shortly afterwards and became crazed by the sight. He had to be removed to his home.

The Massey-Harris Move.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Sept. 20.—While it has been definitely stated by the Massey-Harris Company that they will come to the United States, it is not absolutely certain they will come to this city. Owing to the favorable opportunities offered here as regards site and power it is thought that this city may be selected.

No Funds For the Beer Boycott.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—At a meeting of the leaders of the Socialist party last night it was admitted that the funds contributed and set apart for the furtherance of the beer boycott were exhausted. A resolution was passed appealing to the workingmen of the empire for moral and pecuniary aid in continuing the boycott.

Suicided to Escape Capture.

SARATOGA, Sept 20.—The body of Leonard Blodget, who murderously assaulted Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whittemore, an aged couple, and their young daughter Dora, at Luzerne on Saturday, was found in the Hudson river at Palmer's Falls, twenty miles north of here. He drowned himself to escape capture.

A Shocking Suicide.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Sept. 20.—United States Marshal Johnson went from here to the village of Mayflower to arrest Postmaster J. C. Little for opening a registered letter. Little heard of Johnson's coming and was found dead in bed when the officer arrived. He had cut his entrails out.

Chopped His Wife to Pieces.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Lafe Prince, a farmer living two miles from Nottingham Centre, almost chopped his wife to pieces and then cut his throat with a razor. The woman died in a few minutes and the man cannot live. The tragedy was the result of a series of family difficulties.

One More to a Long List.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Sept. 20.—David Gooseby, colored, who criminally assaulted and murdered Susan Butler, a 10-year-old white girl, paid the penalty of his crime by being lynched. Before being hanged Gooseby confessed his guilt.

EXPERIMENTS IN WINTER WHEAT.

A Valuable Report by the Agricultural College Experimentalist.

Thirteen hundred and forty farmers throughout Ontario are at present conducting important and systematic experiments in agriculture. No less than 8,096 packages of grains, seeds, tubers, and fertilizers were sent out from the agricultural college to these experimenters within the past year.

In the autumn of 1896, nine valuable varieties of winter wheat were selected from seventy kinds tested at the experiment station. These were divided into two sets, with five varieties in each set, the Dawson's golden chaff being used in every instance for the sake of comparison. Each applicant chose the set he desired, and the five varieties were then sent to his address. Each plot was 1.160 of an acre in size, and the seed was sown at the rate of 1 1-3 bushels per acre. One hundred and fifty-seven experimenters with winter wheat have already been heard from this season. Of this number, eight-one favored us with satisfactory reports of carefully conducted experiments, sixty-one furnished partial reports, and fifteen wrote of failure or unreliable results. The eight-one satisfactory reports came from twenty six counties, thirteen of which were situated east and thirteen west of the city of Guelph. The names of the different experimenters and the detailed results of the tests will be printed in the annual report of the Experimental Union for 1894, which is published as an appendix to the Agricultural College report. The nine varieties were grown upon the experimental plots at the station in exact accord with the instructions sent out over Ontario. As the Dawson's golden chaff was sent to every experimenter, it possible to obtain a very reliable comparison of all kinds distributed. The following table gives the average amount of straw and of grain per acre, of the varieties grown on eighty-one Ontario farms:

Dawson's Golden Chaff	1.84	35.7
Jones' Winter Fife	2.02	32.5
Early Genesee Giant	1.88	31.7
Early Red Clawson	1.66	31.5
Surprise	1.73	31.4
American Bronze	1.83	31.2
Golden Drop	1.90	31.1
Early White Leader	1.80	29.2
Bulgarian	1.93	28.8

As the reports of the partial and the unreliable experiments have been discarded, and only the satisfactory ones used for the above table, this summary should be of great value, and one well worthy the careful attention of the farmers of Ontario. The conclusions drawn and the remarks made by many of the experimenters indicate much thought, accuracy and good judgment.

The following facts have been obtained from the eighty-one reports under consideration:

1. The Dawson's Golden Chaff gave the largest yield of grain per acre among the nine varieties tested over Ontario in 1894, as well as among the eleven varieties tested in 1893.

2. The Dawson's Golden Chaff was decidedly the most popular variety with the experimenters both in 1894 and 1893.

3. The American Bronze, Dawson's Golden Chaff and Early Genesee Giant possess the strongest, and the Bulgarian the weakest straw.

4. The Dawson's Golden Chaff and Surprise were the least, and the Early Genesee Giant and American Bronze were the most affected by rust.

5. The Dawson's Golden Chaff and Early Red Clawson were the first to mature.

6. The Dawson's Golden Chaff and Early Red Clawson produced the largest quantity of grain per hundred pounds of straw.

7. The counties of Norfolk, Middlesex, Huron, Lambton, Bruce, Simcoe, and Kent furnished fifty out of the eighty-one best reports received.

8. The average yield of the nine varieties of winter wheat tested over Ontario was 31.5 bushels per acre, and the average of the same varieties grown on similar sized plots at the experiment station was 39.5 bushels per acre.

9. The general behavior of the varieties tested over Ontario was quite similar to that of the same varieties grown at the experiment station.

10. Among the 156 experimenters who reported the results of their tests with winter wheat, only five speak of wishing to discontinue the co-operative experimental work, and much interest is manifested throughout.

For more detailed particulars regarding these nine varieties, as well as those of seventy-one others, which have been tested at the experiment station, the reader is referred to the "Bulletin on Winter Wheat," which is now being printed by the Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

Distribution of Seeds.

The experimental union has furnished sufficient money for the distribution of 2,500 packages of winter wheat over Ontario this year. These will supply five hundred experimenters with five varieties each. The following varieties have been chosen and are divided into two sets as indicated below:

Set 1—Dawson's Golden Chaff, Early Red Clawson, Jones' Winter Fife, Surprise, American Bronze.

Set 2—Dawson's Golden Chaff, Early Genesee Giant, Early White Leader, Early Ripe, Pride of Genesee.

The seed will be sent out by mail free to all applicants, and the produce of the plots will, of course, be the property of the experimenters; and in return we will hope to receive full reports of carefully conducted tests. The grains will be forwarded in the order in which the applications are received until the limited supply of some of the varieties is exhausted. The "instruction sheets" and "blank forms" necessary for the work will be sent at the time the grains are forwarded. Those who wish to join in the work the coming year may choose either of the sets mentioned above.

Wednesday and Thursday
SEPT. 26th AND 27th,

When our Millinery and Mantle Show Rooms will be opened for the Fall and Winter trade, crowded with all the latest novelties the season produces. We are a week later than some of our neighbors but as early as other seasons, and are giving our milliners ample time to do their work properly, and show all the leading shapes trimmed in the various styles and colours, and have, when our lady friends visit us, something worth showing to suit every taste, and the weather is likely to be more seasonable. Those who wish to get the correct style and have the largest stock to choose from should not purchase till they see ours. We have been very careful in selecting our Mantles to get the latest cuts and styles of Trimmings and buy only from the largest manufacturers, therefore we are confident we are showing a range of Mantles that for style and prices is not often seen in Peterborough. A cordial invitation is given to all to visit our show rooms and inspect our stock.

JAPAN'S LAST VICTORY

Further Details Of the Fight Off the Month of the Yalu River.

THE MIKADO RULES THE SEA

His Fleet Has Virtually Obtained Possession of the Gulf of Pechilli—China May Now Be Compelled to Ask for Terms From Japan.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The correspondent of the Central News at Tien-Tsin telegraphs further details of the naval battle off the mouth of the Yalu river as follows:

The work of transferring troops and stores from the Chinese transports to the shore was proceeding rapidly when the Japanese fleet was sighted. Admiral Ting signalled to his fleet to weigh anchor and form in line of battle. In obedience to this order the fleet was formed in a single line with the exception of the cruiser Kwang-Kai and Kwang-Ting and four torpedo boats, which were formed in a second line at the mouth of the river. The Japanese fleet advanced at full speed while the Chinese columns were forming in line until they came within range, when the warships formed in line of battle, nine of them in the first column and three gunboats and five torpedo boats in the second column. The firing at the outset of the engagement was of an indifferent order, but the Japanese were creeping gradually closer to the Chinese ships and their gunners were improving their aim by practice. The Chinese barbette ship Ting-Yuen was the first to suffer any severe injury, a Japanese shell bursting in her battery. A consolute cannonade was kept up on both sides for an hour and a half, when the Japanese ship Saikio was rendered helpless, and, according to the assertion of a Chinese, sank soon afterwards. Two of the big guns of the battle ship Chen-Yuen were disabled, but she continued to use her smaller guns. The vessels of both fleets worked very easily under steam and the Japanese were constantly manoeuvring, but the Chinese held their original position. Suddenly two Japanese cruisers, believed to have been the Akitsushima and Yoshino, endeavored to break the Chinese line. They were followed by three torpedo boats. As the Japanese ships advanced at full speed the Chinese ships Ching-Yuen and Chao-Yung backed full speed astern to avoid a disaster. The Japanese torpedo boats fired, but their projectiles were stopped by nets. The guns of the other Chinese ships were quickly trained on the Japanese cruisers and they retired after a short time, also helpless. The Chinese say they were sunk.

The Ching-Yuen was several times pierced by shells. The Chao-Yung ran ashore while retreating and became a target for the Japanese guns until she was set on fire. The Ching-Yuen was in a terrible plight. A shell burst through her decks and she slowly foundered, while flames burst from all parts of her. The Tei-Yuen withdrew from the first into the second column. The Chinese torpedo boats vainly attempted to put the Japanese on the defensive, but the Japanese remained the aggressors throughout, although two or three attempts were made to break the Chinese line but were repulsed. The cruiser Yang-Wei went ashore stern foremost and met a fate similar to that of the Chao-Yung. After the first three hours of the engagement the firing was intermittent.

The captain of the cruiser Ching-Yuen fought bravely when his ship was little better than a wallowing wreck, until the cruiser was sunk by a torpedo and her crew engulfed. The scenes at this point are described as appalling. Many guns on both sides were disabled, the battered ships rolled heavily and their steam pumps were kept constantly at work to keep them afloat. During the last hour of the battle some of the Chinese ships ran out of ammunition and some of the Japanese ships threatened to founder. At dusk the Japanese ships moved slowly southward in double line.

It seems impossible that the surviving Chinese ships can be repaired before winter.

The Central News has received from Tokio additional details of the naval fight as follows:

When the Japanese sighted the Chinese fleet the latter ships were steaming toward the Yalu river, in which direction they proceeded, appearing indisposed to fight.

The Japanese chased them for an hour when the Chiyoda, getting within range, drew the fire of the Chinese flagship.

A running fight of two hours duration preceded the main engagement in the bay, during which the transports entered the Yalu river safely.

Japan Controls the Sea.

The Chronicle says the Japanese are now virtually in command of the sea and will be for a considerable time. If the war continues at the present rate it cannot be long before China will be reduced to the necessity of asking terms.

The Daily News says it is now impossible to doubt that the chief fruits of victory at Yalu remain with the Japanese.

The Standard, commenting on the situation, says it is difficult to say which of the two has gained any material advantage, but thinks the position of the reinforcements landed at the mouth of the Yalu must cause extreme anxiety in Pekin.

Advancing on Moukden.

The Times says: The Chinese flying columns may yet be in the vicinity of Moukden before winter. As the politicians about the court of Pekin are perfectly well aware what the consequences of the fall of the sacred city would be, they will yield, it may be assumed, to almost any demands rather than risk such a disaster.

In Possession of the Gulf.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Official confirmation is obtained here of the report that four Chinese vessels were sunk and one burned in the recent naval battle. The statement in the first account of the battle that three Japanese vessels had gone down was doubted by the officials of the Japanese legation because no vessels in the Mikado's navy had names such as those given.

The officers of the Japanese legation predict the ultimate success of the Mikado's forces. By the great victory off Hai-Yang-Tao Japan has obtained full possession of the Gulf of Pechili, which is the key to an invasion of the flowery kingdom.

A strong Japanese fleet stationed there stands little chance of being routed and Japanese troops can be landed in China and Corea without serious danger. With the Chinese northern fleet crippled and the southern fleet of little use on account of the ancient character of its vessels the Chinese are not likely to make an advance on the strong force of the enemy in the Gulf of Pechili.

METHODISTS AT LONDON

Members of the Next General Conference Special Committee.

THE SUPERANNUATION FUND

Amendments to the Fund Discussed—How the Contributions Are to Be Made Up—Hon. Mackenzie Bowell Pays a Visit to the Conference.

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 21.—Conference spent yesterday discussing amendments to the superannuation fund, and decided that the Missionary Society shall contribute on behalf of each foreign missionary, in lieu of circuit contributions, the sum of $70 per annum, and on behalf of each foreign Indian or other ordained missionary (except domestic mission) the sum of $50 per annum.

There shall be contributed annually, on behalf of each ordained minister in the active service of the church, who is appointed to a position outside the regular pastorate, by the society, department, institution or conference he serves, in lieu of circuit contribution, the sum of $50.

The law shall apply to the officers of the General Conference, the Missionary Society, the Educational Society and the superannuation fund, to the principals, professors, teachers and agents of the educational institutions, to conference, to conference evangelists and to all ministers appointed to service outside the pastorate.

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Commerce, was introduced to the conference and made a short address.

Dr. Dewart, Toronto, was appointed delegate to the British Wesleyan Conference. Rev. Dr. Lathern, Halifax, to the Methodist Episcopal Church, North, and Rev. Dr. Sparling to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The following were appointed members of the General Conference Special Committee for the next four years:

Ministers—Revs. Dr. Briggs, Dr. Potts, Dr. Burwash, Dr. Ryckman, Dr. Wm. Williams, J. S. Williamson, Dr. W. C. Henderson, Dr. Griffith, Dr. Hearts, Dr. Gailbraith, E. R. Roberts, T. W. Jolliffe.

Laymen—Mayor Kennedy, George A. Cox, Richard Brown, J. T. Moore, Dr. Lavelle, Dr. Ford, Dr. MacLaren, H. T. Moore, John Mann, Sheriff Betts and E. Gurney.

The conference will probably close their business this week.

McCarthy at a Patron Picnic.

CREEMORE, Ont., Sept. 21.—The Patrons picnic, held in Spence's Grove here yesterday, was a grand success. Fully 200 people were assembled to hear the speeches which were delivered by Mr. Dalton McCarthy, J. O. Currie, vice-president of the Patrons, Mr. A. Currie, M. P. P., Mr. J. Sinclair and Mr. Hood. Mr. A. Currie acted as chairman and in a short speech introduced the first speaker, Mr. Currie, who praised the Patrons and their platform at some length. Mr. McCarthy was received with cheers. He said he came on the invitation of Patrons. It would be unfair for him to take part in the celebrations of Patron victories when he took no part in the battles. He dealt at some length with the trade question. His policy was to lower the charges for transportation on farm product and lessen the price on goods they consumed. This, he said, would be for the benefit of the masses. He did not want his hearers to leave with the impression that he was present to ward off a Patron opponent in the coming election. He intended to be a candidate in North Simcoe no matter who ran, and if he was defeated he would retire, knowing his constituents did not approve of the course he had taken.

Walker & Son's New Offices.

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 21.—The opening of the new offices of Messrs. Hiram Walker & Sons, Walkerville, took place yesterday. About 500 business and professional men were present from the United States and Ontario, including large numbers of the most prominent citizens of Toronto. The new offices are said to be unequalled by anything on this continent in their elaborate finish and perfection of appointments. It is just 100 years ago since the original patents were issued by the Crown for the land now occupied by the firm. The guests were entertained in a magnificent style, and no expense was spared to make the occasion a pleasant one for every person present.

The Mystery of Young Evans.

NIAGARA, Ont., Sept. 21.—The canoe found drifting ashore here on Tuesday morning has turned out to be owned by Mr. Ritchie, of Toronto, of the firm of Ferguson, Ritchie & Sweeney. When it left Toronto it was occupied by a young lawyer named Evans, but what has become of him is unknown. There is something very mysterious about the affair, as Evans was seen by some fishermen near the Four Mile Pond to land, pull the canoe up on the shore and walk away. The sea that arose shortly afterwards washed it off the beach again and to the place where it was found. Evan's brother came here and took the canoe back to Toronto.

LORD AVA TO MARRY

Another of Dufferin's Sons to Take an American Wife.

ENGAGED TO A NEW YORK LADY

Elite Circles in the Empire City Have Their Attention Turned From Divorces to Contemplate This Sensation—Not Yet Formally Announced.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The air is still rife with engagements and rumors of engagements, which after all are much better things to contemplate than divorce scandals, and which give the wearied mind some healthy relief.

The latest reported alliance is one of some international importance. It has not been formally announced, and of course until this is done will be cheerfully denied by all parties. However, gossip has it that Miss Grace Wilson, the daughter of Mr. R. T. Wilson, is engaged to the Marquis of Ava.

The Marquis of Ava is the eldest son of the Earl of Dufferin, the present representative to France of Her Imperial Majesty of Great Britain and Ireland. A younger son, Lord Blackwood, married Miss Flora Davis, daughter of John Davis of this city. The Dufferin earldom is of recent creation.

Everyone will remember the Marquis of Ava as a very nice, jolly young man who was over here last year and who was much in attendance at the Union and Knickerbocker Clubs. At present he is in Ireland where there are a number of ultra-fashionable people who have been guests of the Lord-Lieutenant. Among others there the young Duc d'Aosta, the heir to the Italian throne, the Prince d'Oria, the Duc and Duchess of Lugnes and Prince Francis of Teck. The Earl of Dufferin, Lady Dufferin, the Archbishop of Dublin and some other noted people have been visiting young Ava.

The Marquis has his title only by courtesy. His father is Marquis of Ava as well as Earl of Dufferin but Ava will be himself an Earl some day and his wife a Countess.

Stabbed by a Burglar.

JERSEY CITY, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Louise Hile, wife of Elmer Hile, a stereotyper, was attacked by a burglar and stabbed twice. Her condition is serious. The strength of the woman surprised the burglar, and he drew his knife and stabbed her twice in the left thigh. Mrs. Hile fell unconscious to the floor. The burglar then packed up a quantity of silverware and clothes, also a watch and chain which he gathered downstairs and escaped. Mr. Hile was asleep in the room, but did not awake. It is believed he was chloroformed. One arrest has been made.

Violated the Alien Labor Law.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The case of Henry W. Elliot, the property man for Augustin Daly, who is now confined on Ellis Island by order of the Secretary of the Treasury on the charge of having been brought here from London under contract with Mr. Daly, came up before U. S. Commissioner Alexander. A continuation of the case was asked until Tuesday when depositions by Mr. Elliot and others will be submitted. The Secretary of the Treasury will meantime be asked to reopen the case, and, if he requires, a writ of habeas corpus will be asked.

Awaiting That Important Report.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—James L. Huddart, the fast Atlantic line promoter, denies the statement that Brean had been chosen as the British port for fast steamers. The port question is being left entirely in abeyance. Mr. Huddart is awaiting Lord Jersey's report before asking further subsidies or making further efforts to form a company. He says he is well satisfied with the general reception of the project.

Canadian Electrical Association.

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—The Canadian Electrical Association held another interesting session yesterday, when papers were read by Mr. J. D. Kelley, of the Government telegraph service, Ottawa, Mr. Layden, of Toronto, and others. In the evening the annual dinner of the association was held. The election of officers will take place to-day.

A North Bay Merchant Drowned.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Sept 21.—Mr. W. C. Caverhill, general merchant, of this town, accompanied by an Indian guide, while on his way to Lake Tamagumingue in a canoe by way of Trout Lake, Pine Lake, Lake Talleu, Mattawa river and the Ottawa river, was drowned in Lake Talleu. The Indian guide got ashore and reported the sad occurrence.

Aliens Laborers for Canada.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 21.—A New York firm of railroad contractors are fitting out two steamers here to convey 200 mules and 300 men to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, to work on the South Shore Railway Company's railroad from Yarmouth to Shelburne.

The Sale Goes Gloriously On.

The public are happy, securing cheap goods. We are happy, handing them out, even if we do it without profit. The bargains to be had at the unreserved clearing sale of the H. Thompson & Co. stock are multiplying instead of decreasing. On Wednesday afternoon and evening and Friday afternoon and evening the auction sale will be repeated. Ladies out shopping in the afternoons are advised to attend these special sales. Books, stationery, fancy goods, wall paper, etc., at almost your own prices. J. HAGGART, auctioneer.

Killed by a Freight Train.

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—Rufus Page, general merchant, of Bedford, ten miles from this city, was run over and killed by an I. C. R. freight train while walking on the track. He was about 50 years of age.

A Young Truant Arrested in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Sept. 21.—Gertie Fraser, aged 15, is under arrest on request of her mother in Toronto, charged with truancy, and will be sent back. The girl says she left home with her parents' consent.

Burglary at the Capital.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 21.—Butterworth and Co's. hardware establishment was burglarised yesterday. About $200 worth of knives, revolvers, etc., were stolen.

Old Enough to Know Better.

QUEBEC, Sept. 21.—At the recorder's court here yesterday an old man, 95 years of age, was brought is charged with drunkenness.

CANADIAN BOATS GO FREE.

The Constitutional Convention at Albany Pass the Canal Sections.

ALBANY, Sept. 21.—The constitutional convention yesterday passed the canal sections. The amendment providing that tolls be charged Canadian boats was defeated. As amended the provisions are:

Sections 1, 2, 4 and 5 of Article 7 of the constitution are hereby abrogated and section 3 amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 1.—No tolls shall hereafter be imposed on persons or property transported on the canals, but all boats navigating the canals and the owners and masters thereof shall be subject to such laws and regulations as have been or may hereafter be enacted concerning the navigation of the canals. The Legislature shall annually, by equitable taxes, make provision for the expenses of the superintendency and repairs of the canals.

"The canals of the state may be improved in such manner as the legislature shall provide by law. A debt may be authorized for that purpose in the mode prescribed by section 8 of this article, or the cost of such improvement may be defrayed by the appropriation of funds from the state treasury or by equitable annual tax. All contracts for work or materials on any canal shall be made with the person who shall offer to do or provide the same at the lowest price with adequate security for their performance. No extra compensation shall be made to any contractor, but if from any unforseen cause the terms of any contract shall prove to be unjust and oppressive the canal board may, upon the applications of such contractor, cancel such contract.

Boston Garment Makers on Strike.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—After weeks of agitation for better prices, the garment workers of this city have determined to order a strike. A number of contractors have agreed to grant the demands of the employes, and these will be given an opportunity to sign the schedule to-day and continue business. All other ready-made clothing shops will be tied up. Wages have been cut an average of 50 per cent. since Sept. 1, 1893.

Weinberg Will be Extradited.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Papers have been received from the Secretary of State upon which Perry Weinberg will be sent back to Toronto, Canada, to answer a charge of stealing a watch and some money from Mrs. Rose Stein, with whom he boarded. He denies the charge and says that the real object of extradition is to compel him to marry a woman who has brought a breach of promise suit.

Children Who Suffer

from scrofulous, skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't cure in every case, the money is returned.

That hacking cough can be quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. Price 25c

ATTACKED BY BRIGANDS.

Two Grecian Officials Captured and Carried Off for Ransom.

ATHENS, Sept. 21.—A most daring outrage upon the part of Greek brigands is reported from Lamia, near the Turkish frontier and at the head of the Gulf of Volo.

The Procureur du Roi, a judge and two secretaries were returning in a carriage, accompanied by two gendarmes, from villages where they had been collecting information in regard to brigandage.

When the party arrived within half an hours drive of Lamia they were surrounded by Papakyritsopulo's band, who carried off the procurer and the judge, taking them to their stronghold on Mount Othyrys. Later the prisoners were allowed to send word to their friends that the brigands demanded that no pursuit be made until a a ransom was paid.

A detachment of 100 soldiers were sent to attack the brigands and in the fight which followed the brigands were exterminated; but the Procurer du Roi was killed and the judge was mortally wounded. The judge died soon after the fight.

SITUATION AT BLUEFIELDS.

The Elections Pass Off Quietly—General Ortiz a Prisoner.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—Advices from Bluefields by the steamer John Wilson say: The election passed off quietly September 8 and there has been no serious disturbance recently. Gen. Ortiz is a prisoner at Corinto. He is perhaps the ablest soldier in Nicaragua and the foolish arrest may cause a revolution.

On September 13 Senor Madrize, special commissioner, issued a decree prohibiting any stores on the Escondido or Bluefields river. This causes a loss of thousands of dollars to Americans.

On September 14 the United States ship Columbia returned from Corn Island, and the Marblehead steered at once for Port Limon, Costa Rica, for instructions.

A fight is reported as having occurred at Cape Gracios a Dios the reports of which show that no great damage was done.

The Consul Acted the Spy.

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—It is reported that the Emperor has communicated with the Czar, requesting the immediate recall of M. Eubasof, naval attache of the Russian embassy here. This request is made, the Emperor is represented as saying, after proofs had been submitted to him that M. Dubasof not only made copious notes and sketches of German defences, but that in company with a Russian consul, both being disguised, he recently acted as spy upon the German government. M. Dubasof did not return to Berlin at the conclusion of the manœuvres at Swinemunde, but proceeded directly to Russia by order of the Czar, it is said.

Sufferers from dyspepsia have only themselves to blame if they fail to test the wonderful curative qualities of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In purifying the blood, this medicine strengthens every organ of the body, and even the most abused stomach is soon restored to healthy action.

After the Grip
No Strength, No Ambition
Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Perfect Health.

The following letter is from a well-known merchant tailor of St. George, N. B.:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen—I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills have done me a great deal of good. I had a severe attack of the grip in the winter, and after getting over the fever I did not seem to gather strength, and had no ambition. Hood's Sarsaparilla proved to be just what I needed. The results were very satisfactory, and I recommend this medicine to all who are afflicted with rheumatism or other

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an- have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Anniversary of Italy's Unification.

ROME, Sept. 21.—King Humbert was presented with an address of congratulation by the municipal authorities yesterday on the occasion of the anniversary of the unification of the kingdom of Italy. In reply the King expressed full concurrence in the proposal to honor the memory of his predecessor at each anniversary of Rome's deliverance. He concluded by expressing the hope that when Italy celebrates the twenty-fifth anniversary of her unity she will also celebrate her economical resurrection. He made no reference to the relations between Church and State.

Miss Wilson's Engagement Off.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The betrothal of Miss Muriel Wilson and Lord Willoughby De Eresby, which was announced a month ago, has been cancelled. Miss Wilson is a daughter of the Wilsons of Tanby Croft, at whose house the celebrated baccarat scandal arose. Lord De Eserby, who sits in Parliament as the representative of the Horncastle division of Lincolnshire, is the eldest son of the Earl of Ancaster, and is a member of the social group known as the Prince of Wales' set. The reason for breaking the engagement has not been made public.

War Imminent in Madagascar.

MARSEILLES, Sept. 21.—Advices from Madagascar show that the Hovas expect a war with France and are actively arming and constructing fortifications. According to the advices cases of outrage and pillage of French citizens are of almost daily occurrence. The French in Madagascar welcome the prospect of energetic measures to crush the Hovas and to restore security to French citizens and commerce.

Chicago's Crusade Against Gambling.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Mayor Hopkins yesterday issued an order closing all gambling houses in the city. The order had its intended effect and there is not a "game" going on. Deputy sheriffs acting on warrants issued by the superior court, raided the notorious House of David and the Newport Club at 2.30 p.m., but at neither place was gambling in progress.

The Czar Grows Worse.

WARSAW, Sept. 21.—It is reported here that the impending departure of the Russian imperial family for the Crimea is due to the fact that the condition of the Czar has grown much worse, and to the critical state of his second son, the Grand Duke George, who was thrown from his horse a few days ago with the result that he has since suffered from hemorrhages.

Had to be Held on the Scaffold.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 21.—John P. Pointer was hanged in the jail yard here yesterday. His nerve gave way at the scaffold and he had to be held while the noose was adjusted. He died protesting his innocence. Pointer shot and killed Wm. Bolding and Edward Van Kiver, his travelling companions, near Eureka Springs last February.

The Platform Collapsed.

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Twenty young men were injured by the falling of a large wooden platform between the Vagel Block, South Main street, and a building in the rear. The more seriously injured are D. Fayle Harvey, leg broken; Walter Purdue, back broken; Edward Swinson, head and face cut.

Noted German Writer Dead.

FRANKFORT, Sept. 21.—Dr. Henry Hoffmen-Donner, the eminent physician, humorous writer and poet, died here yesterday aged 83 years. His chief humorous work was "Struwelpeter" which ran through 150 editions and was translated into many languages.

Traffic on the Champlain Canal.

TROY, N.Y., Sept. 21.—Canal officials report that business on the Champlain canal is improving, the increase being noticeable in northbound boats, loaded with salt, resin and sugar.

Italian Archaeologist Dead.

ROME, Sept. 21.—Jean Baptiste Rossi, the celebrated Italian archaeologist, died here yesterday, aged 72.

Witnessed Her Father Hanged.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 21.—Wilson Woodtree, colored, was hanged in the jail yard here yesterday. His neck was broken. His daughter sat on the scaffold and without a murmur witnessed her father's execution. Just before the blackcap was lowered over his face the condemned man exclaimed: "I am innocent." Woodtree, in company with five companions last February, murdered Edward Grant, a wealthy farmer of this country. Three of the murderers have been hanged and the others are serving life sentences.

Coke Rioters Sentenced.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 21.—Postmaster Harry Marietta and four other Connellsville citizens who were recently convicted of unlawful assembling in connection with riots in the Coke district were called up for sentence yesterday before Judge Ewing. Marietta was sentenced to pay a fine $500 and costs of prosecution. The other defendants were fined in proportion to their ability to pay. It is thought that Marietta will be removed from office as a result of his connection with the trouble.

Killed by a Live Wire.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 21.—Peter Dillon, of the Allegheny police force, was instantly killed yesterday by catching hold of a live wire. A storm blew the wire down, throwing one end across the street. The officer picked it up to clear the street and immediately fell dead.

Killed by a Boiler Explosion.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Sept. 21.—Sixteen men were standing near a boiler at Frank Carver's saw mill yesterday when the boiler exploded. Wm. Ward, colored, was killed, five more will die and all the rest were more or less injured.

Yellow Jack on the Cambria.

GALVESTON, Sept. 21.—Yellow fever was discovered on board the British steamer Cambria, which arrived here September 18, from Havana.

Like Lightning.

The rapid action of the "great pain cure," Polson's Nerviline, in relieving the most intense pain, is a matter of wonder to all who use it. There is nothing surprising in its results, for it is made of the strongest, purest and most efficient remedies known in medicine. Nerviline cures toothache instantly; cramps in five minutes; neuralgia after two applications; rheumatism is at once relieved by its use; and the same may be said of all kinds of pain. Sample bottles, costing only 10 cents, at any drug store. The large bottles only 25 cents. Polson's Nerviline sold by druggists and country dealers.

DEAR SIRS,—I have used Yellow Oil for two or three years, and think it has no equal for croup. MRS. J. S. O'BRIEN, Huntsville, Ont.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Children Poisoned by Candy.

HAZELTON, Iowa, Sept. 21.—Tremendous excitement prevails here on account of the poisoning of 21 school children. One of the scholars bought two or three pounds of cheap candy, part of which was colored green, and distributed it to the children. The doctors think the candy poisoned the children, while others claim it was caused by drinking water. Nearly all the victims will recover.

Victory Without a Strike.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 21.—Five hundred and fifty men and women engaged in the embroidery industry determined at a mass meeting last night to strike for an increase of 25 per cent. The employers had been notified, and when a committee of strikers made known their demand several who have large contracts on hand gave in at once and 400 employes will resume work at the increased rate to-day.

Going to Fight a Duel.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Senator Heberard has sent seconds to Deputy Arena to arrange a duel in consequence of the publication of an article written by Arene reflecting on the senator.

Eminent Frenchman Dead.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Dr. Eugene Talbot, professor of literature, rhetoric, etc., died at Pouliguen to-day aged 80 years.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 21, 1894.

Wheat was weak in Chicago on cable quotations, closing 1c lower for cash. Corn closed 1 to 1-2c lower. Oats, weak in sympathy with the other markets, lost 3 8 to 3-4c on the day.

The East Buffalo market closed easy with these quotations for Canada lambs: Culls, $3 to $3.25; good, $4.25 to $4.35; extra, $4.40.

At St. Louis sheep receipts were 1,500. Southern mixed, $2.35 to $2.60; native, $2.35 to $2.60; lambs, $3.12 1-2 to $3.60.

At East Liberty, Pa., the sheep supply was fair. Extra, $4.30 to $4.50; good, $2.80 to $3.10; fair, $1.80 to $2.25; common, 50c to $1; yearlings, $1.50 to $3.50; lambs, $2.25 to $4.

Settling down, after the week's "Industrial" commotion, into renewed dullness, the New York stock market offered little of consequence in the movement. The strength in the Granger stocks was due to a motion that the Iowa commissioners may do something to ease the strain on the railroads. Chicago gas was the mark of special interest. The total treasury cash holdings stand to-day $7,200,000 above the August minimum; the gold balance meantime risen $5,700,000.

Home and Abroad.

It is the duty of everyone, whether at home or travelling for pleasure or business, to equip himself with the remedy which will keep up strength and prevent illness, and cure such ills as are liable to come upon all in every day life. Hood's Sarsaparilla keeps the blood pure and best able to absorb the germs of disease.

Hood's Pills are hand made, and perfect in proportion and appearance. 25c. per box.

A Common Trouble.

With many people in this climate there is a large portion of poisonous, purulent discharge which drops into the throat during sleep, and is swallowed. This disturbs the functions of the stomach, causing weakness of that organ, and producing indigestion, dyspepsia, nausea, and loss of appetite. There is no better remedy for these troubles than Esellay's Liver Lozenges. They can be had at all drug stores at 25 cents a box or 5 boxes for a dollar.

ROBERT HALL,

First Fall Opening

—OF—

Autumn Millinery

... AND ...

MANTLES.

I take pleasure in announcing that the formal opening of our New Fall Millinery and Mantle Rooms will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday

Sept. 20th, 21st and 22nd.

The display of Rich Fall Novelties in both the Millinery and Mantle Departments will be of such a complete and attractive character as to merit a visit of inspection from the ladies.

☞It is especially worthy of notice that ALL our Beautiful Goods, Styles and Novelties are perfectly NEW, as this is our FIRST Autumn Opening in these Departments.

Yours respectfully,

ROBERT HALL,

385 George Street.

St. Luke's Church Services.

The weekly evening services at St. Luke's church will be resumed this evening at 7.30. The rector will give an address on "The History of the Church in the Second Century."

Blood and Fire.

The Salvation Naval Brigade of the Army's cruiser, "General Booth," will visit Peterborough Saturday and Sunday, September 22 and 23. This brigade will consist of musicians, vocalists, and a brass band under the command of Staff-Captain Jewer. Don't miss this great treat.

Prof. Alexander's Lecture.

Prof. Alexander will give his second lecture to men only to-night at the opera house and to-morrow evening will lecture to both sexes on the "Twin Evils." This will be the last lecture of the course. The professor's lectures here have been very highly appreciated and have well merited the phenomenal patronage they have received. His examinations, both public and private, have been very satisfactory and have proved him to be a capable and skilled phrenologist, and his coming here cannot but be of benefit to the community.

Furniture.

The long nights are coming and people are preparing to make home attractive. A. Clegg is now receiving, daily, the newest things in furniture. A full assortment in every line. Parlour suites, dining room furniture, all grades very cheap. In bedroom suites, the largest line ever offered in Peterborough, especially in suites ranging in price from $14 to $35—by far the best values ever offered. Fancy chairs, centre tables, spring beds, mattresses, pillows, etc.—A. CLEGG, 427 George street. dw

Struck a Vein of Plantinum.

Mr. Francis Whitter, the Watchman says, who lives near Lorneville, struck it rich, one day last week. It seems he was having a well sunk upon his farm, and when some twenty feet down they met with an obstruction which completely resisted the force of the drill. After a great deal of pounding and hard work, it was decided to hold an investigation. A sand pump was brought into requisition, when a mineral substance was found that resembled lead and very heavy. Samples were brought to Lindsay, and after tests with the blow pipe, which it resisted, it has been set down as a fine specimen of platinum, almost pure. It is supposed that there is vein of platinum here, and if it turns out to be the real Simon pure, it will prove a bonanza for Mr. Whitter. Samples have been forwarded to the school of practical science.

Millinery Reception To-morrow

Every lady should be present to-morrow at Miss Delaney's second display of new Fall Millinery and Mantles, which will be matchless in quantity, in variety, in newness, and in richness. The latest New York, Paris and London novelties in pattern hats and bonnets, and a profusion of ribbons, laces, jets, birds, wings, flowers, etc., selected personally with the greatest care and attention, will be on exhibition. The newest ideas of refined and genteel taste which skilled hands have produced for the season's wear, will be exposed. Nothing is wanting—not a requisite feature missing. Every lady should be present to inspect the beauty, novelty, magnitude and artistic merits of our first opening reception. Elegant, imported mantles, jackets in many styles and elegant trimmings, will add to the attraction of our opening and will repay a careful inspection. Miss Delaney returned this week from Toronto where she has been visiting the retail Millinery openings at Murray's, Stitt's and other leading houses. In order to afford the fullest opportunity for inspection a renewed opening will be held next week.—MISS DELANEY 2d

A HARVEST THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

In St. John's Church Last Evening—Large Congregation Present—Beautiful Decorations—Eloquent Sermon Preached by Rev. W. Farncomb, Fenelon Falls.

The interior of St. John's church presented a beautiful appearance last evening, the occasion being the annual harvest thanksgiving service. On entering the edifice a very pretty picture presented itself. On either side of the centre isle and and adorning the gasaliers sheaves of grain of different varieties were hung, while the chancel, pulpit and altar rail were literally swathed with grain and flowers and other decorations—all suggesting to the worshipper the returning of thanks to the Almighty for the fruits of a bountiful harvest. During the service the rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, referred to the church decorations, thanking all those who assisted in the work. The singing of the choir, too, was of a bright and cheerful character, and the different psalms and anthems were most appropriate to the occasion. Inside the chancel were the following clergymen: Rev. Messrs. J. C. Davidson, rector, C. B. Kenrick, and E. W. Pickford, curates, St. John's church; Rev. Messrs. H. Symonds, rector, and C. H. Hedley, curate, St. Luke's church, and Rev. W. Farncomb, Fenelon Falls. After the bright and fitting service, the Rev. Mr. Farncomb ascended the pulpit and preached a most eloquent and logical sermon, taking his text from the Epistle of St. Paul, the Apostle to the Galatians, Chap. VI., "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

The great Creator has spread before our eyes a book of nature and a book of revelation. He has originated certain teachings in order to bring us closer to the throne of grace, as the text points out to us the unchangeable laws of nature which we must obey if we wished to be called the children of God. Be not deceived, God is not mocked, and you cannot break His laws with impunity. In all ages, from the birth of our first parents man has been such that he thinks he can falter; and when God says "now is the accepted time," he says, no, to-morrow. So it is with men that break laws. God says, give me the loyal service of your heart, and we look unto Him if we refuse, but probably on the morrow God's heart may not be opened to us. Men and women think they can do their heart's desire and live in the hope of going to heaven. Where is heaven? It is within your mind. If you wish to go to heaven you must breathe with the spirit now if we wish to breathe it in God's presence. God placed Adam and Eve in a beautiful garden, gave them a solitary command not to eat a certain fruit—the day they eat thereof they should die. They began to gaze with idle curiosity and the serpent appeared and suggested doubt with God in the mind of Eve. Satan seizes upon her doubt and goes further and says you shall not surely die, for in the day you eat thereof you shall be as God, knowing good and evil, as if God himself was envious of them; but that is what our Lord has promised if we only obey. This act brought sin and God's penalty was consummated and the day they ate the forbidden fruit they died. They did not live one hundred years afterwards, they only existed. People who lead a life in filth do not live; they only exist. What is death? It means a cutting off, a separation. The hour they ate of the fruit they died. They became allied with the serpent and began to crawl in spirit. Before their fall they were innocent and good, but shame, fear and prevarication got possession, and when God summoned them to answer for their misdeeds they hid themselves as if a tyrant was before them. They came before God and when accused the one blamed the other, and God sent them out and in the sweat of brow they shall earn their bread and unto dust they shall return, and they had died. We have seen how they permitted themselves to be tempted. Let us not doubt our Maker, but let us realize what the chosen Apostle says, "As thou sowest, so shall ye reap." There are people who sowed wild oats and expected to reap tame ones. They who sin expect to go to heaven. It means this! If you sow anger you will reap anger, sow malice, reap malice, sow love, reap love, and sow peace, reap peace. Those are fruits of the spirit on the one hand and the works of flesh on the other. If you scatter and sow you will reap, on the one hand, corruption, and the other, life eternal. The speaker here described in eloquent terms the history of the patriarch Jacob, his early life, labours and treatment of his poor old father and of his brother Joseph. How deceit had taken possession of him and how he could not be believed, and lied in his efforts to get the upper hand of Esau. He next described his vision with an angel and how he wrestled with prayer and subsequently became a prince of God. His thoughts had been directed towards God and had prevailed. Let us consider what is sowing to the spirit and to the flesh. In sowing to the spirit, it is cultivating the works of the flesh in our life, adultery, fornication, revellings, etc. In sowing to the spirit, it is the cultivation of love, joy, long suffering, meekness, gentleness and temperance. They who do those things will inherit eternal life. In every Christian there are two natures born of the flesh and spirit, and one is contrary to the other. The nature of the flesh pulls one way and the spirit asks us to come and taste of God's kingdom. A man, in the early morning, who starts out to do something pleasing to himself, sows to the flesh and on the other hand, the man who starts out in the day to work for God, and knows God's eye sees him and all his actions, sows with the spirit,—"Thou shalt love the Lord with thy whole heart"—who takes the Book of revelation, bows his head and bends his knee and says "Our Father which art in Heaven," &c. He goes out with a knowledge of God's surrounding presence. Let us consider what he reaps. He reaps a hope that he need not be ashamed of. Poor he may be, but on he goes and tries to bring others to God and make them rich with the gifts of God. No man can take his hope and peace from him. He looks for the place such "as eyes hath not seen." These things are indescribable, but are laid up in store for him. What has been the result of your harvest? Is it that which you have been sowing, or are you worse than last year? If on the other hand you sow with the spirit, the fruits of the spirit, meekness, gentleness and goodness will be yours, your labours are not vain in the Lord.

While the offertory was being taken the choir rendered a beautiful anthem, the solo being taken with splendid effect by Master Maitland Boswell. The proceeds of the collection were devoted to the Widows' and Orphans' Fund of the diocese.

At the close of the service a large number of the congregation remained and viewed the beautiful decorations.

Have you seen Grafton & Co's new $6.50 suit for this fall?

THE REGIMENTAL RANGE AND RIFLE.

ANNUAL MATCHES OF THE FIFTY-SEVENTH BATTALION.

Very Successful "Autumn Manoeuvres"—Not the Best Weather, but Good Scoring—List of the Winners.

The annual matches of the 57th Battalion were held at the Curtis Ranges on Thursday. The weather was not favourable to high scoring, there being a high left wind. Lieutenant-Col. Rogers acted as Range Officer of the day, Lieut.-Col. Bell being indisposed. As will be seen by the score, Pte. Fitzgerald topped the aggregate again this year, winning the Col. Bell gold medal with a score of 74. There was a close shoot between B and C companies for the team prize—753 and 752 being the scores, B company winning by one. Following are the scores in the several matches:—

REGIMENTAL MATCH.

Open to officers, non-comissioned officers and men of the 57th Battalion, Peterborough Rangers who have performed their lass annual drill. Ranges, 100 yards, 200 yards and 300 yards:

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The band will play in the park to-night.

—The Junior C. E. meets to-morrow afternoon.

—A young man was charged at the Police Court this morning with assaulting a citizen. The accused was discharged.

—The Ladies Aid of the Charlotte street church held a very enjoyable social last evening which was attended by a large number.

—We beg to acknowledge the receipt of a complimentary ticket to the Peterborough Central Exhibition, to be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, from Mr. W. J. Green Secretary, and from the bill of fare presented in prize list and poster, we do not hesistate to recommend all who can to attend. There is a prize of $25 for the best looking baby, and perhaps that is the reason friend Green wants us on hand, to give him a helping hand in picking out the winner of the red ticket. We have none to enter ourselves, but consider that we are a fair judge and being at a safe distance from the likely unlucky mammas, we might be induced to help the directors out.—Millbrook Reporter.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

LIVE LAKEFIELD'S FINE FALL SHOW.

AN EXCELLENT SUCCESS IN SPITE OF WEATHER.

Report of the Proceedings—Large Increase in Exhibits—A Good Hall Display—Splendid Horses and Good Horned Stock—Three Hours in the Horse Ring.

If the annual exhibition of the Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield Agricultural Society had been favoured with the fine weather of its previous years, it would have distanced all past records. Of course the great fall of rain the previous night and the drizzle of the morning of the Exhibition had a most dampening effect. The exhibit in almost every department was far ahead of last year but the attendance was about a third less.

Of course the first day was chiefly devoted to the placing of the exhibits and arranging for the second day's show. The evening of the first day the hall was thrown open but there was a very light attendance of visitors, the steady downpour of rain making it unwise to venture out.

The little spitting showers of the morning of the second day threw a decided damper upon the prospects of the second day. But towards noon the weather cleared away and the exhibition building was packed with visitors who found the inside worth the admiration that was bestowed upon them. The interior exhibit was, taking it generally, well ahead of last year, especially in the departments of ladies work and fruits. The show of grain was also good, numerous and excellent samples of fall and spring wheat being on exhibition. Following naturally from the grain department the visitor found the dairy and domestic departments well represented. Butter and cheese, if not in quantity, at least in quality, were up to the reputation of this district. There was a good show of home-made bread and of preserved fruits in gars. The fruit tables were a delight to behold the pyramids of blushing apples showing that the crop is not a failure in Smith township. The fruit table was also decorated by fine displays of hot house flowers made by Messrs. Richard Simpson and Levi Payne. A begonia shown by the latter was remarkable for spread of branches and profusion of bloom. The ladies' department is where the success was scored. There was a splendid display stretching nearly the whole length of the hall, of every sort of ladies' handiwork—so numerous and varied that no attempt at specific description can be undertaken. Connected with this department was a small but creditable show of fine arts, paintings, etc.

Mrs. Fred Lillicrap had on exhibition a unique hall rack of red cedar, consisting of the trunk and branches highly polished. This was the work of Mrs. Lillicrap herself, whose skill with tools is further shown by two beautifully carved bread plates, whose design as well as execution show the artistic instinct well developed.

Among the miscellaneous exhibits was a pair of canoes—one of basswood and one of red oak, by Strickland & Co., a collection of oak furniture, shown by T. Hendren, a sample of the work of the Gananoque and Brockville carriage company, shown by Mr. W. J. Doughty, Warsaw, a farm wagon of Mr. J. Isbister, and one by Mr. J. H. Davis. Messrs. Gough Bros. and Grafton & Co. had each fine well arranged exhibits of ready-made clothing, illustrative of the resources of their several establishments. The EXAMINER cannot institute comparisons—the public will have to be the jury—but as both firms are "way up in G"—G being the initial letter of both—their respective displays, were worthy of them.

THE OUTSIDE EXHIBIT

was a creditable one, especially the department of horses. There were numerous entries in every class and the animals were of fine quality generally. Smith has good reason to be proud of its horse flesh.

In the department of horned cattle, though the exhibit was not a large one, it contained many excellent animals.

Mr. Joseph Trennum showed a fine herd of thoroughbred Jerseys—consisting of two milch cows, one year old heifer, and three heifer calves, two six months old and one four months. They were beauties and attracted great attention. There were no prizes offered in this class and therefore Mr. Trennum's public spirit in exhibiting them for the laudable purpose of assisting the live stock exhibit and allowing the farmers to see excellent specimens of this fine breed of butter builders, is to be warmly commended.

Mr. Nassau Nelson also deserves credit for exhibiting under the same conditions, a fine, thoroughbred Jersey yearling bull, purchased from the celebrated herd of Mrs. Jones' Jersey farm, "Belvidere," near Brockville.

Mr. John Garbutt showed a fine herd of Durhams—two aged cows, two heifers and two calves.

Mr. John Garbut exhibited a beautiful 3-year old thoroughbred Durham bull.

Mr. J. Fred. Davison also contributed a beautiful 2-year old thoroughbred Durham bull.

Mr. Arch. Strickland also showed a fine thoroughbred Durham cow and calf.

Mr. Walter McIlmoyle showed an excellent herd of high grade Durhams, one of which, a milch cow, is deserving of special mention.

Mr. Jacob Snelgrove's splendid thoroughbred Ayrshire bull was greatly admired. He is a beauty and his sire and other relatives had the honour of winning prizes at the World's Fair, Chicago, last year.

There was a good, though not a large exhibit but some prime porkers were on view.

Mr. Jos. Trennum had a splendid five month old thoroughbred Berkshire boar.

Other exhibitors showed excellent Berkshire grades. Mr. Edwin Jory had a brood sow with an elaborate litter of nine sucklings, industriously sampling what Mr. Wilkins Micawber would call, "The maternal fount."

The other principal exhibitors of Berkshires were H. C. Garbutt, Fred Waldon and Thos. Fitzgerald.

Mr. Fred. Armstrong's thoroughbred improved Yorkshire pig—a fine specimen—was the only representative of the blondes.

The poultry exhibit was not a very large but some beautiful birds were shown.

THREE HOURS IN THE HORSE RING.

The centre of attraction in the afternoon was the horse ring. As mentioned above, the horse exhibit was a splendid one, a special feature of which was the outfits of the horses. The harness and vehicles were of a superior kind, quite in keeping with the fine animals themselves. This feature of the exhibition was in charge of Messrs. J. Fred Davidson, vice-president R. H. Braden and H. C. Garbutt.

The first event was the competition in heavy draught horses in harness and waggon. The prizes fell to, 1st, Silas Pearson; 2nd, Sidney Middleton, and 3rd N. McIlmoyle.

The competition for Grafton & Co's. special prize for general purpose farm team was very keen. The prizes were awarded as follows.—1st, suit of clothes, value $10, S. J. Wallace; 2nd pair of trousers, value $4, S. W. McGibbon, 3rd, pair of trousers, value $3, G. J. Galvin.

Span of carriage horses, 15¼ hands and over—1st, J. R. Frazer, M.D.; 2nd, Wm. Abbott; 3rd, J. B. Fowler.

Road horse in harness and road cart—1st, Wm. Graham; 2nd, G. W. Fitzgerald, 3rd, Robt. Garbutt.

Span of carriage horses, under 15¼—1st, Jas. Jory; 2nd, Robt. Garbutt; 3rd, Samuel Stewart.

Novelty race—walk twice, trot twice and run twice round the track. This event created considerable amusement. The prizes fell to, 1st, G. J. Galvin; 2nd, —— Hayward; 3rd, Thos. Hendren.

Single carriage horse over 15¼ hands high—1st, G. W. Fitzgerald; 2nd, Jno. Richardson; 3rd, Ed. Fitzgerald.

Single carriage horse under 15¼ hands—1st, J. E. Cullen; 2nd, Jno. Cooper; 3rd, Thos. Hendren.

In the ladies competition on horseback, Miss Lillie Edgar won first prize.

Saddle horses—1st, Mrs. Hayward; 2nd, Thos. Hendren.

LADIES DRIVING COMPETITION.

This event, a test of the driving capacity of the fair Jehus, aroused a lively competition, and the scribe did not envy the judge who had the onerous task of selecting the three best out of the seven excellent lady drivers who entered, as follows: Miss Fitzgerald, Miss Nelson, Miss Mabel Cox, Miss Roseborough, Mrs. Robt. Garbutt, Miss Emma Hendren, Mrs. S. Stewart. The ladies competing handled the ribbons admirably, and the way the horses were driven—in different directions, down the outside, up the middle, etc., and at great speed, looked rather risky, but the fair handlers of the ribbons guided their speeding animals and there was not a touch of hubs. The prizes were awarded as follows 1st, Miss Mabel Cox; 2nd, Miss Emma Hendren; 3rd, Mrs. Robt. Garbutt.

The competition for trotting horses, best three in five heats, was the principal speeding event. For this event the entries were: Fred McKee's Nellie, George Fitzgerald's Cheesemaker and J. Walton's Little Billy. The different heats were not crowded with incident, Nellie being an easy winner. The following summary gives an idea of the distribution of the prizes:

Cheesemaker	3	3	3

The order of the horses in the above summary indicates the order of the prizes as awarded.

During the day the Lakefield brass band was in attendance and enlivened the proceedings with music.

The fair was excellently managed by the officials and the thanks of the press is due to the committees in charge of the several classes for appreciated assistance.

On the whole the fair may be considered a success. The entries this year were 978, as against 812 last year, a gain of 166, and had it not been for the unfavourable weather the attendance would have been ahead of, or, at least, equal to that of last year, instead of falling as it did, considerably short of the gate figures of 1893.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

GOUGH BROS.' EXHIBIT.

As you entered the Agricultural Hall the first large exhibit which attracted attention was the exhibit of clothing made by Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap men of Peterborough. This live firm, whose name has become as popular as household words throughout the length and breadth of the country, usually turn up at the Agricultural fairs with a display of their clothing almost big enough to fill an ordinary village store. The number of visitors attracted to their display was what one would have naturally expected from the popularity of the firm. Their exhibit consisted of overcoats and ulsters, suits, pants and vests for men and boys specially adapted for fall and winter wear. They also show a line of heavy wool knit shirts which they are able to retail at 50c. each, and flannelette shirts actually as low as 15c. each. Also good heavy all-wool socks ticketed 10c. a pair. The question is often asked how do Gough Bros. buy their goods to enable them to sell at such extremely low figures? One would think they so controlled the markets as to buy at their own bid. "Always good at Gough's" has been adopted as a trade mark for their clothing, and even the very children and babies could be heard lisping the firm's name. The exhibit was in charge of Mr. Merrill, of the Peterborough staff, who had arranged the goods very effectively on racks and tables, and decorated their corner with large painted illustrated placards, banners, flags and other advertising matter, in which Gough Bros. have a strong and abiding faith.

CANADA CARRIAGE COMPANY.

An exhibit which attracted the attention of scores of visitors was the carriage exhibit of the Canada Carriage Company of Brockville, the amalgamated firms of the well-known Gananoque and Brockville Carriage Companies. Prominent among the specimens of their work are several cutters of new design for 1894 and a handsome Mikado. The remarkable elegance of their finish and the excellent improvements which they combined, was generally commented on. Two cutters exhibited formed part of the Toronto exhibit this year, and were fine specimens of the wood workers' and painters craft. The Improved Solid Comfort Cutter reflected the appropriateness of its name, for in every detail "solid comfort" was apparent. The seats were handsomely upholstered in dark blue cloth, and the curves and corners padded for restful ease and pleasure. The seat in front is adjustable, and can be turned over to make a comfortable foot rest when not used for children. A gentleman's Portland driving sleigh, upholstered in plush high up in the back, nickel plated rails and roped hand parts, was a pattern that secured special commendation. The company supply their rigs with a new shifting rod or bar, for attaching the shafts, which in a few moments can be changed for use on the narrow roads of a city or town or the wider roads of the country. The Mikado shown had many admirers. It was elaborately got up and finished with a dark blue body and gears, and oak pannelling, upholstered in dark blue cloth, nobby sidelights, nickel plated rails and roped hand rods. The accommodation for passengers was ingeniously arranged to face either way as desired. The company's exhibit was in charge of Mr. W. J. Doughty, of Warsaw, the energetic agent for the county, who has been introducing the company's goods for the past year in Peterborough, and reports satisfactory sales, as much on account of the very low prices as the general excellence of the workmanship.

FARM WAGGONS.

Mr. John Isbister, of Lakefield, showed an ordinary farm waggon of his own manufacture, which was pronounced by farmers as substantial and well built waggon as a farmer need want. It was got up independent of the fair, as part of the ordinary every day work of his shop. Mr. Isbister never skimps his work under any circumstances, and if you are looking for poor, cheaply got up work, you will have to look somewhere else, for his waggons are "not built that way." The gearing is strong and heavy and ensures a perfectly easy riding waggon. The motion is entirely free and unaffected by rough roads or the gait of the horses. An important feature is strength combined with weight and capacity. No part has been neglected which concerns the durability and power of the waggon to do good work under any circumstance. The iron, wood and paint must not only be good and sound to begin with, but the workmanship must be such as to produce the very best results to suit Mr. Isbister. These points are characteristic of his waggons and the farmers who are posted and know a good waggon when they see it consider this build quite good enough for them.

GRAFTON & CO.

The visitor was irresistibly attracted to the splendid display of ready-made clothing made by Messrs. Grafton & Co. At the entrance to the building, on the prominent corners of the show grounds, and on almost every post and pillar, "Grafton & Co., Manufacturers of clothing," caught the eye of the visitor. Their exhibit was skilfully arranged alongside the public door leading to the prize ring, where the crowds were constantly passing in and out and could not help being attracted by this firm's display. On shelving racks and broad tables a complete assortment of clothing was exposed. From the toddling boys' short pants to the heavy overcoats and ulsters for men's wear, nothing was missing, and the quality of the garments all first-class. It was an extensive and comprehensive exhibit and showed the volume of business done by this firm. The display was enlivened by neatly coloured badges, and the whole area of their corner was tastily ornamented with flags, banners and descriptive advertising—another endorsement of the power of printers' ink.

The enterprise and liberality of Messrs. Grafton & Co. was strongly exemplified in the societies' prize list. The firm had donated three special prizes to the society, to be competed for in class 2, section 6—general purpose horses, as follows:

GRAFTON & CO'S SPECIAL PRIZES.

For the best general purpose farm team, harness and waggon,—1st prize, suit of clothes, value $10, won by Mr. Sam. Wallace.

2nd prize, pair of pants, value $4, won by Mr. S. W. McKibbon.

3rd prize, pair of pants, value $3, won by Mr. Garret Galvin.

These prizes drew out a lot of competitors, ten entries having been made before the first day, and the firm scored quite a success by the interest which this novel method of advertising themselves among the farmers created. Mr. W. E. Conway, the active and gentlemanly manager of the Peterborough branch of this firm, was on the grounds, and spared no pains in advocating the merits of his "hand-cut-tailor-made-clothing." Mr. Ed. Armstrong arranged the display quite artistically.

THOS. HENDREN'S FURNITURE.

A very large and tastefully arrayed exhibit of furniture was made by Mr. Thos. Hendren, Lakefield's oldest established furniture dealer. It comprised an extensive folding dining table with new revolving leaves, a splendid oak sideboard with handsome plate mirror, an elaborate carved oak bed stead, dressing case and toilet stand and a number of fancy rocking and easy chairs, a worked lamp chair, a fancy ottoman, and stands with ornamented specimens of rope work decorations, on all of which the distinguishing red tickets were to be seen. The principal part of the display were selections from Mr. Hendren's ordinary stock which he keeps on hand all the year round, and showed that he had worked up a trade for some of the best classes of furniture turned out of the large factories. His cabinet and furniture warerooms in Lakefield are always heavily stocked with every article of furniture in demand, from the ordinary household requirements for country life to the latest and most massive styles, with every regard to the taste and comfort of the wealthy and refined classes of the community. Mr. Hendren is well known all over the county; he is also engaged in the undertaking and livery business for which he is always well equipped.

CARRIAGE PAINTING.

In a field outside the fair grounds, a general display of carriage painting was made by Mr. J. Shadgett, carriage painter and repairer. A number of buggies and cutters that had secured the attention of his skilful brush were exhibited, and displayed his work to perfection. The depth of finish which Mr. Shadgett was able to produce after, in some cases, the fifteenth coat of paint and varnish was laid on the wood, was very flattering to his abilities—reflecting the image almost as accurately and life-like as the best British plate mirror. Mr. Shadgett is a practical painter and finisher, having learned his business in London, England. He has taken several prizes in Canada, where his carriage painting has been exhibited, and warrants his work to stand the wind, weather and wear better than any other, as he uses pure English varnishes and other first class materials. The samples of his striping was carefully executed and tastefully drawn. While the painting of carriages, cutters, wagons and sleighs is his specialty, he can execute orders for sign writing and lettering, and also repairs vehicles, turning out a tip-top job every time. His place of business is opposite the Tremont House, Lakefield.

IS HE THE OMEMEE BURGLAR?

Prof. Connor, a Chiropodist, is Accused of the Theft—He Says he is Innocent and Gives Himself up Last Night.

In the EXAMINER account of the Omemee burglary yesterday it was stated that a chiropodist was suspected of having committed the deed. Last night Prof. Connor, of Belleville, called at the police station and handed himself over to the Chief as the suspected party. He says he certainly did not commit the burglary and can prove an alibi, that he was in Peterborough since Tuesday. The professor is about 45 years of age and is married. He was very indignant this morning to think that he would be placed behind prison bars and offered to furnish bail as high as $10,000 if he was allowed his liberty until noon. He will be taken to Omemee this evening on the 5.15 o'clock train, where he will stand his trial.

Big Snap in Cloth-Bound Books.

Just received at the Peterborough Bookstore direct from the United States Book Company, New York, 800 volumes of cloth bound books, purchased just in the nick of time at rock bottom prices. We have decided to put the entire lot on our bargain counter and will commence on Saturday to run them off at the following emaciated prices for such handsomely cloth bound books:

Books worth 50c for 25c.
Books worth 75c for 50c, gilt edge.
Books worth $1.00 for 75c.

Do not fail to have a chance at these rare bargains. Come in early on Saturday and look over the popular titles and authors. The above phenomenal prices should clear the stock out rapidly, as this is the first time this fine issue of books have been offered at so small a price. — A. H. STRATTON & Co.

From the Crown of the Head To the Soles of the Feet

WE COVER ALL.

It is one thing to cover up your body. Robinson Crusoe like, with goat skins and tanned palm leaves. It is quite another thing to get well-fitting, neatly-made Suits, Boots and Hats of the latest designs, without paying an exhorbitant price.

MEN'S HATS!
MEN'S SHOES!
MEN'S CLOTHING!
MEN'S UNDERWEAR!
MEN'S FURNISHINGS!

ALL
ONE ROOF!

This store appeals to Men—and to Women also. The field of trade is widening continually. Instead of confining ourselves to Clothing, we have, for the fall of 1894, brought together under one roof such things for men's wear as they have shown themselves to want.

The Goliath's of the Markets.

Just as buyers flock to the great emporiums like Eaton of Toronto, Carsley of Montreal, Mabley of Detroit and Wannamaker of Philadelphia, so do they crowd to Gough Bros. of Peterborough.

WHY! Because they are the Goliath's of the market—they touch the button and manufacturers pour out their wealth of Bargains to them.

CORRECTING A MISTAKE.—Who sells the cheapest goods—the merchant who is compelled to buy in one higgling market, and is tied down to one grasping manufacturer, or the merchant who has the freedom of all the competing markets and manufacturers of the world? Do men buy Hats cheaper where nothing but Hats are sold, or Boots cheaper where nothing but Boots are sold, or Clothing cheaper where nothing but Clothing is sold?

Might as well expect a farmer to do as well for his family by raising nothing but Pumpkins as if he raised a mixed crop.

HATS and CAPS.

Young men are usually quick to save money. We're able to discount the trade, because of unusual buying power. We go direct to the makers and insure fine qualities by knowing what to buy and what to let alone. The best is none too good for us. If you're a judge of quality, it won't take any talking from the salesmen.

On the finest Fur Fedora Hats we take off 35c., and ask only $2.65.
On the best Fur Felt Stiff Hats we take off 50c., and ask only $2.00.
On Men's Knockabout Hats we take off 20c., and ask only 85c.
On Men's Peak Caps, satin lined, we take off 25c., and ask only 50c.
On Men's Silk Hats, latest styles, we take off 50c. and 75c., and ask only $3.00 and $3.75.
Youths and Boys in same proportion.

BOOTS and SHOES

when pimples, boils, carbuncles and like manifestations of impure blood appear. They wouldn't appear if your blood were pure and your system in the right condition. They show you what you need—a good blood-purifier; that's what you get when you take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It carries health with it. All Blood, Skin, and Scalp Diseases, from a common blotch or eruption to the worst Scrofula, are cured by it. It invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood, and rouses every organ into healthful action. In the most stubborn forms of Skin Diseases, such as Salt-rheum, Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas, Carbuncles, and kindred ailments, and with Scrofula, in every shape, and all blood-taints, if it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. It is the cheapest blood-purifier sold.

WHEN THE MOB SPIRIT IS ABROAD.

Incoherent Movements of People in Times of Unusual Excitement.

In the collective mind images succeed one another incoherently, as they do in the brain of a sleeping or hypnotized man, says the Popular Science Monthly, while most of the individual minds which compose it and which concur in forming that great folly called opinion, and capable of consecntiveness and order in the arrangement of their ideas, M. Delboef tells of a poor German, just arrived at Liege, who followed the crowd to the scene of a dynamite explosion. Some one, seeing him run a little faster than the others, pointed him out as the guilty person, and the whole mob was ready to cut him to pieces. Yet that mob was composed of the best society of the place, attending a concert, and gentlemen could be heard calling for a revolver with which to kill recklessly an unhappy man, of whose nationality, name and crime they knew nothing. When the cholera was raging in Paris in 1832 the report spread through the city rapidly that the disease was the work of poisoners, who, the people were brought to believe, were tampering with food, wells and wines. Immense multitudes assembled in the public places, and every man who was seen carrying a bottle or a vial or a small package was in imminent danger of his life, the mere possession of a flask was sufficient evidence to convict in the eyes of the delirious multitude, and many fell victims to its rage. Two persons, flying before thousands of madmen, accusing them of having given a poisoned tart to children, took refuge in a guardhouse; the post was surrounded in an instant, and nothing could have prevented the murder of the accused men if two officers had not conceived the happy thought of eating one of the tarts in full view of the mob. The mob burst into laughter, and the men were saved.

Using an Incubator.

This is the time to begin with an incubator. Which is the better, the hen or the incubator, for hatching? Such is the usual inquiry. It may be stated in reply that they do not conflict in any respect, and are in no manner connected. The incubator can be made to do service at any time, while the hen will not hatch a brood until she is so inclined. Then, again, hens do not all become broody at once, hence the chicks are of all ages and sizes until they reach the market, and as the hens may not begin to incubate before spring, no chicks may be hatched for the early market at all. With the incubator the case is different. It can be operated when no other work is pressing, and the chicks will bring higher prices because they can be hatched to reach the market when the demand is greatest. Procure the small-size incubator, experiment and learn before beginning for the season. Beginners should invest but little the first year. One must learn to manage the chicks after they are hatched, and there is much to learn that can only be gained by practice and experience.

A Simple Optical Aid.

The introduction of the simple photo meter, brought forward by a Russian inuentor recently, is claimed to meet an important desideratum as a means for testing the power of the eye. It is described as consisting of a pamphlet of twenty four pages, the first page being of a clear gray tint, the next of a double intensity, and so on to the twenty-fourth, the tint of which is nearly black, being twenty-four times more intense than that of page one. On each page are printed a few phrases in black letters of as many different sizes; with such an arrangement, it is stated, the degree of ease or facility with which the words are read on different pages, when held at a certain distance from the eyes, will indicate the precise illuminating power of light prevailing in the room, or, on the other hand, the power of the eyes themselves.

Do you have headache, dizziness, drowsiness, loss of appetite and other symptoms of biliousness? Hood's Sarsaparilla will cure you.

For Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Cramps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery and Summer Complaint, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt, safe and sure cure that has been a popular favorite for over 40 years.

JEWELRY AND SILVERWARE.

A skull of briar wood with silver cross bones for ornament is a smoker's fancy.

The vine-wreathed claret jugs in engraved glass and silver gilt are the most attractive things of their sort.

Graceful silver tete-a-tete coffee and berry sets festooned with garlands bespeak the hospitality of piazzas and arbors.

Large spoons of silver gilt have stems of raised work inclosing plaques of enamel work. These spoons have broken edges of metal and enamel. These, however, only extend half way around the spoon, leaving the working ends sharp and free.

Belt pins are among the novelties. These are enlarged bib pins, intended to effect a better union between the back of the belt and a woman's skirt. They are covered with raised work or occasionally are set with tiny turquoises and semi-precious stones.

In sports yachting supersedes everything else in things ornamental and symbolic leaves and pennants adorn everything. After all this is an amusement that interests few compared with other sports. Yachtsmen and women, perhaps, have more money to spend in trinkets.

Fear as a Cause of Disease.

An eminent medical authority makes the statement that a great deal of contagion is due largely to nervous apprehension and fear. Terror causes radical changes in the secretions and nerve cells, and while the possibility is not the direct cause of disease, it certainly is sufficient to put the person in the proper condition to be attacked by the prevailing malady. It is a well-understood fact that excessive anger infuses a toxic element into the secretions, and the bite of a man in a state of frenzied rage is almost as deadly as that of a mad dog. Fear destroys the resistive capability and, as it were, lets down the drawbridge and makes way for the enemy. In seasons of epidemic, therefore, it is necessary to cultivate tranquility and cheerfulness, to learn not to fear and to surround oneself with an atmosphere of personal, mental and physical defiance of anger.

Babies in China.

What we know the least about in this country is the Chinese baby.

Here are facts about him: Nearly all Chinese babies are blondes. All grown-up Chinamen and Chinese women are decided brunettes. It is a freak for which nobody can account.

The average Chinese baby has a transparent rose and white skin, large eyes, varying from gray and light hazel to brown, and soft, silky hair that is usually auburn in color.

In North China babies are often born with blue or green eyes and light red hair.

During the infancy of her child, the Chinese mother is supreme in the household. If John clatters about the house too much and disturbes the baby, woe to his pig-tail if his wife can get her hands on it.

A DISAPPOINTED MAN.

Thought he Was Going to Die Before Summer Was Out But He's Alive and Well and Working To-day.

Somerset, Man., Sept 17th,—"Hard times" is the cry from farmers in this country. Arthur Coley, a farmer living near here, has had double reason to cry "hard times," for eight months ago he lay on his back in bed, a victim of Bright's Disease. He acknowledges that he expected to be dead before the end of the summer, but his expectations have been most pleasantly disappointed, and all summer he has worked on his farm just as though he had never known a day's illness. Last spring he began taking Dodd's Kidney Pills and a few boxes completely cured him, as they have every other victim of this disease, who have used them.

One of the most interesting spots in the immediate vicinity of Windsor Castle, the summer residence of Queen Victoria, is the celebrated "Graveyard for Royal Dogs."

Seasoned timber is but little liable to decay under the influence of a dry atmosphere, and will resist decomposition for an indefinite period when kept totally submerged in water.

It is said that a man at Heming's Corners, Tenn., shrinks once a month from 180 to 110 pounds and remains in that condition for a week, after which he regains his original weight.

Abram Barton, of Bristol, England, has devised a submarine boat for which he claims a speed of sixteen knots. It is shark-shaped, and is propelled by twin screws located at what would be the fans of the fluke in the fish.

Dr. Schaff, of Vienna, has applied photography to the study of the human skin. A bright light is projected on the part of the skin to be examined, and by direct exposure many small details of the skin, including markings not usually discernable, are photographed.

LOVE'S TANGLES.

Swiss girls in the time of William Tell were married in bright-colored gown, plaid apron, red hose, bridal wreath and a stomacher, on which the bride's name and the date of her birth were engraved in large letters.

In Germany the bride is entitled to the morgenabe, morning gift; the custom having formerly been that on the morning after the wedding she was entitled to ask for what she pleased, and her request could not be refused.

In one country district of Germany "pay-weddings" were in vogue as late as the present century, each guest paying for his entertainment as much as he would at an inn, the receipts going to set up the happy pair in their new home.

Gretna Green was commonly chosen for a place of marriage by English runaway couples, as it was the first village across the border on the west coast road, and the laxity of Scottish marriage laws allowed almost any kind of ceremony.

The Rarens of Burmah have their marriages at a funeral feast. When a villager dies his remains are temporarily disposed of until one or more marriages can be arranged, when they are disinterred, a great feast made and the funeral services properly performed.

When a Chinese girl is married her attendants are always the oldest and ugliest women to be found in the neighborhood, who are paid to act as foils to her beauty. It is said that some exceptionally ugly old women make their living by acting as professional attendants at weddings.

In Sweden and Russia the crown is the bride's chief ornament. It is commonly of silver and often very becoming. During the ceremony the groom must place it on the head of the bride with his own hands, and if by any chance it should slip to one side or fall off the omen is regarded as exceedingly disastrous.

A Brantford Man's Death.

LORDY, N.Y., Sept. 20.—The dead body of Matthew Duggan, a cigar maker, has been found lying on the Erie track in front of the depot here. The head and arms were cut off. It is thought that Duggan threw himself under the train which passed here about midnight. He has not been working for some time and has been drinking hard of late. Duggan came here about four years ago from Brantford, Ont.

Received a Light Sentence.

HAMILTON, Sept. 20.—John Murray, of Waterdown, pleaded guilty before Judge Muir to an indecent assault on Mary Edna Sherwood, his ten-year-old cousin, and was sentenced to six months in jail. Murray is not sound mentally.

Livery Stable and Dwelling Burned.

CARDINAL, Ont., Sept. 20.—The livery stables owned by S. Mahoney and dwelling owned by Mrs. Curry, of this village, were completely destroyed by fire. Loss, $3,000; insurance, $600.

Extraordinary Adulteration.

Wood pulp has been put to many uses, but the most extraordinary is in adulterating woolen yarn. A way of spinning the pulp has been discovered, and the product can be combined with wool in making yarn, in the proportion of one part of wood to two parts of wool. Much of the composite yarn said to have been made into hosiery, and few complaints as to wear have been received.

No person should travel without a box of Ayer's Pills. As a safe and speedy remedy for constipation and all irregularities of the stomach and bowels, they have no equal, and, being skillfully sugar-coated, are pleasant to take, and long retain their virtues.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Mombray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and engaging affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or Irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

ODDS AND ENDS ABOUT WOMEN.

Mrs. Frances Willard is writing a book on bicycling, a recreation to which she has become ardently attached.

Of 1,000 men who marry, 333 marry younger women, 579 marry women of the same age, and eighty-nine marry older women.

M. Casimir-Perier, the new French President, married his cousin, Mlle. Helene Perier, daughter of M. Edouard Perier, who held the post of master of requests to the council of state.

A man can carry a heavier bundle than a woman can carry, but he can't carry so many. If they contain bargains, there is no limit to the number of bundles a woman can carry.—Atchison Globe.

Miss Alice Carson, of Josephine county, Ore., ran against her lover, Jeff Hayes, in that county for superintendent of education. And she defeated him. She was a republican and he was a populist.

NEW AND INTERESTING.

The French war department has reported in favor of a new buckler made of aluminum and copper.

Sirius, the fixed star, now in the ascendant, is computed to be 100,000,000,000 miles distant from the sun.

During the most peaceful years the world has 3,700,000 men who are withdrawn from productive occupations to pose as soldiers.

The West Indian migratory crab is the only creature that is born in the sea, matures in fresh water, and passes its adult life on land.

An old, illiterate man who can quote scripture by the hour is creating a sensation in Kentucky by claiming to be John the Baptist.

In 1702 a salt tax was levied in Great Britain, and during the French wars was raised to £30 per ton, over sixteen times the value of the article.

NEWSPAPERS AND BOOKS.

In 1813 there were 38 papers in London—8 morning and 7 evening, 7 every other day, 16 every Sunday.

Last year the United States and Canada published 19,573 papers, with an aggregate circulation of 3,481,610,000 copies.

The little island of Iceland, with about seventy thousand inhabitants, has the same number of newspapers as the great empire of China.

Types are not used in printing Persian newspapers. The "copy" is given to an expert penman, who writes it out neatly. Then his work is lithographed.

The first English book was printed in 1474. In 1891 the publishers of this country issued 4 665 new books, with an average of 1,000 copies each. During the same year there were 4,429 new books printed in England.

ART.

England expends annually on pictures at least three million pounds.

A statue of Marshal de MacMahon will be erected at Autun. It is to be thirty feet high.

Miss Rose O'Halloran is the only woman member of the Astronomical society on the Pacific. She was nominated to that honor by Prof. Holden.

The memorial statue of the late Right Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald, which is to be erected in Toronto, is now ready for the casting. It was modeled by Hamilton McCarthy.

Two lions in bronze modeled by Edward Kemeys, and cast in Chicago, have been placed in front of the new art institute. They are the gift of the widow of Henry Field.

WITTY AND WISE.

A lucky man is one who saves what he earns.

A wise man is one who has been often deceived.

Do a man more than one favor and he will expect it as a regular thing.

There never was an ugly man who did not excuse his looks by thinking that he was smart.

Some people you like until you find them out, and others you do not like until you find them out.

Sometimes men do not realize that they are lucky until years after they have had their good luck.

SHORT FURROWS.

Most people enjoy the music of interest-bearing notes.

He who is behind with his work must always be driven to it.

The toe of your boot is not a good thing to caress your cow with.

The early morning song of the robin has no charms for the indolent man.

The best cooking school for the daughter is the kitchen, where the mother is skilled in the culinary art.

The corner grocery seems to have a corner on a good many lazy farmers whose hedges need trimming.

NO MORE SCIATICA.

Valentine Fisher is Cured of His Troubles to Have no Return—He is Doing a Flourishing Fruit Tree Business.

COLLINGWOOD, Sept. 10.—About a year ago a telegraphic despatch from here told how Valentine Fisher, who had suffered for years from sciatica, and who was so crippled by the disease as to be unable to work and was generally thought at death's door, was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. That the story was no fiction was known by all citizens of this place. That the cure is a permanent one is now just as generally known, for since his recovery, Mr. Fisher has been hard at work selling fruit trees for Chase Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and has travelled the whole of this section for this firm with most gratifying success
